FOX HUNTERS ENJOY ANNUAL GET TOGETHER

Chilton County's fox hunters enjoyed their annual barbecue and hunt on Friday night, August 20th, with a splendid outing on Mt. Creighton Lenoir's place between Liberty Hill Church and Isabella School.

From all reports from those who attended, this year's hunt was the best ever held in the county. And, the hunt this year was a little different from those previously held due to the fact that only fox hunters and their invited guests were present.

A tasty barbecue was prepared by Mr. C. E. Stapp, president, with the help of the people in the community.

Second place went to Mr. Garrett with Alto, both Goodman hounds—a new type of fox hound in this section of the county. Third place and a yellow ribbon went to Mr. Buddy Ellison, a Chilton Countian, with his Bill.

In showing of the female hounds, Jim Parrish of Clanton walked away with top honors and the blue ribbon when he showed Frances. Second place went to Jennie, belonging to Mr. B. S. Garrett, again a winner. Third place went to Mr. R. T. Carter of Clanton Route 3 when he showed Faye, a hound that was in last year's show. After this, hounds were shown for the coveted cup. Winners in the two previous classes were shown and Mr. B. S. Garrett carried the trophy to Opelika.

A short business meeting was held immediately following the barbecue. The same officers for the Chilton County Fox Hunters Association were re-elected; namely: C. E. Stapp, president; Clark Headley, secretary-treasurer.

A motion was made that a Board of Directors of the Association be elected. A nominating committee was appointed by Mr. Stapp. The following men were selected to serve on the Board of Oirectors: R. T. Carter, Sam Pate, Joe Mullins, Buddie Ellison, Arthur Giles, Fred Smith and D. E. Moore.

Immediately following the business meeting some fifty odd hounds were loosed and several fox were put in the ground during the night. The meeting ended late Saturday morning.

The entire Association wishes to thank all those out-of-town visitors who attended and especially those good people of the community who did so much to put over this show. May future hunts be as successful in ways as the last one.

Dressed Broilers Offer Opportunity

[illegible] aren't many small Alabama towns in which some enterprising farmers couldn't sell 50 or 100 dressed broilers each week.

John P. Weeks, API extension poultryman, believes this side-line project could be carried on without interfering with other farm business. "There are many towns without this service, and only a few extra hours of work by some producer could pay well," he said.

"Many housewives, cafes, and hotels will not use poultry unless they know who produced and dressed it. Most of the housewives today do not want to dress their own poultry, and are willing to pay a top price for high quality dressed broilers. There are many people who would like to produce broilers, but who are not in reach of a wholesale market for their birds.

"These facts have made the home processing plant very profitable and practical. Many producers have been able to double their income on a given number of birds by selling them dressed and drawn. Of coudse to be successful the business must provide a quality product, a dependable supply, and an attractive product.

"In most cases the returns for processing and selling birds are about equal to the returns for growing them. Returns, of course, would vary with the price of the birds but the processing returns are more stable than the live pice of birds,' said Weeks.

County Represented At State 4-H Camp

Auburn, Ala. — Four-H Club boys and girls from every Alabama county are here this week to hold their annual state camp and short course. Over 500 members and assistant county agents began the program on Monday and will finish Friday.

The event is stressing leadership and training, State Extension Service workers who head the 4-H program, declared. They said those attending are receiving instructions which will strengthen county and community 4-H organizations.

BETTER POULTRY, EGG DEMANDS

Smaller supplies and higher prices for red meats plus higher consumer incomes add up to a stronger demand for poultry and eggs through the rest of this year, declares A. W. Jones, PI Extension marketing specialist. Supplies of both chickens and eggs will be smaller than in the last half of 1947 and prices will be somewhat higher.

BETTER QUALITY EGGS

API Extension poultry specialist suggested the following points for conserving quality in eggs: (1) Collect eggs in wire baskets at least three times daily during hot weather. (2) Keep eggs in a cool moist room and away from odors such as onions, lemons, and kerosene 24 hours before packing. (3) Market frequently.

Absorbent, Durable Towel Is Advised

When Alabama homemakers are buying bath towels they should look for those which will be absorbent and durable.

With this advice, Alice Peavy, API extension home economist, explained that a durable towel has a firmly woven base which holds the terry loops securely in place and gives strength to the towel. "To judge the weave of a towel, hold it up to the light. If light comes through in tiny, regular pinpoints, the weave is good. But if large, irregular open spots appear, the weave is poor and will not wear," she says.

"Hems at the ends of towels should be firmly stitched with ends of threads securely fastened. Raw edges should be turned under at least one-fourth inch.

"Soft, medium soft, and hard textures are available," Miss Peavy continued. "The choice of the person who is to use the towel should be considered; some people like rough textures which may be too harsh for people having delicate skins.

"Most colored towels are vat-dyed, and will not fade even when bleaches are used. However, some dark colored towels will 'bleed' during the first few washings. They may also be less absorbent than whites or pastels. It is best not to buy towels with labels suggesting washing only in lukewarm water and neutral soap."

Quitting time?

Time for us Americans to turn our backs and ignore the fact that freedom throughout the world is being threatened?

Time for us to forget how generation after generation of Americans have labored and fought to make freedom a living, working, wonderful thing?

Quitting time?

You can bet your life it isn't!

It's time for us to really start working . . . to start fighting for the way of life we love.

There are millions—only a few air-hours away in other countries—who can't enjoy Labor Day or any other day. They traded personal freedom for economic security—and then didn't get security.

Let's not follow their example. Let's protect our precious human rights here in America. Let's help restore the rights of those who have been victimized throughout the world.

It's not easy to do. Yet not too difficult, either. We simply do our jobs as good citizens. Study political issues. Read newspapers that represent opposing groups. Find out what candidates stand for and why. Our votes can help lock the door against any attempts to steal our freedom.

Let's take more interest in civic groups, too. Attend town meetings, union meetings, school meetings, and sound off when we think our freedom is threatened.

Quitting time?

No indeed! It's time to start working as full-time citizens!

WHAT TO DO ABOUT IT

FIND OUT ELECTION ISSUES. Attend local political gatherings. Hear both sides. Ask questions. KNOW the issues.

VOTE INTELLIGENTLY. No election is unimportant. Vote in all of them . . . according to your conscience. It's your government.

SERVE GLADLY ON JURIES. If you haven't served before, you'll be surprised to find how interesting and important it is.

JOIN LOCAL CIVIC GROUPS. Parent-Teachers' Association or School Board, if opportunity permits. Good education is vital.

VOTE IN UNION ELECTIONS AND STOCKHOLDERS' MEETINGS. Take part in the decisions that affect your life. Don't let someone else do it.

Freedom is everybody's job!

WHITE WAY FOR CLANTON

News is received this week that Clanton is to have a white way.

Some months ago the Clanton Lions Club agreed to sponsor the erecting of a white way on Second Avenue and on the Montgomery-Birmingham Highway.

Erle Ellis was named as chairman of this project, with Ed Mullins as co-chairman. After contacting many available sources and untiring effort plans were made for this project to materialize into a reality.

Property owners in the block between Sixth Street and the Highway on Second Avenue have already paid into the fund for posts and lights to be erected and work will begin shortly.

With this block lighted other blocks will quickly follow and Clanton is assured of taking her place along with other cities in progress.

Surprise Honor For Pastor Hickman And Wife

Rev. A. T. Hickman and family returned last Thursday night from a four day trip to New Orleans and was confronted with the task of catching up with their work. When, Friday, the labor-filled day finally drew to an end, Pastor Hickman and family were having their evening meal when the door bell rang and three or four members of the Temple Church came in.

In a few brief seconds a car stopped in front of the house and in same more people. Within the span of fifteen or twenty minutes the front was full of cars, trucks, etc., and the pastorium was filled with people.

Andrew Hickman and his wife knew what was going on, but Pastor Hickman and his wife did not know what to think of the whole affair. Just as everything looked like a nice party was in swing, about half of the people began to get up and walk out. Not a word was said as the people began to leave as silently and mysteriously as they had come. All this was too much for the Reverend.

He did not know what to think. Just as he was about to go to the front door and see if he could call the people back, they began to come back of their own free will. This time everyone was carrying arms full of groceries. Then it was revealed to Pastor and Mrs. Hickman that the members of the Temple Church was honoring them with a party and grocery shower in honor of their fourth annivesary as pastors of the Temple Church.

The Reverend and Mrs. were beside themselves with surprise and gratitude.

After the shower, everyone retired to the back lawn of the pastorium where they were served their fill of ice cream and cake, which was also furnished by the members of the Temple Church. That was the climax of the party and the people retired to their respectibe places of abode and left Pastor Hickman and family forever grateful to the gracious members of the Temple Church — truly the friendly church.—Andrew J. Hickman.

Clanton Lions Hear Prominent Speaker

Members of the Lions Club were honored in having Mr. T. J. Kries, Jr., of Southern Bell Telephone Company speak to them at their regular meeting last Thursday.

Among the interesting things Mr Kries told the Club were that the Canton Exchange was estabished by Southern Bell on December 1, 1906 This was a home company, a mutual, operated in Clanton at that time and continued for around twenty years. It finally went out of business due to the condition of its system.

On December 20, 1920, this Exchange had only 18 stations which included two former line stations.

As of December 31, 1929, Clanton had 344 telephones.

December, 1941, there were eight positions of switchboard, with a capacity of 507 stations; 88 total calls per day and 495 stations working. At present there are 1,395 stations working and there are 584 people waiting for service.

Recently [illegible] feet of cable and condnit along [illegible] Avenue to 8th Street. This provides outside relief to the whole city. The cost of this project was $75,[illegible]. The cables and condint were laid underground, thus removing overhead wires and improves the looks of the city.

During September, 1947, the local Exchange handled 547 long distance calls, and in July of this year 9,492 calls.

The local company now has 18 employees and two trucks, and a new truck is to be added as soon as possible.

Mr. Kries admitted that Clanton has grown faster than the Southern Bell Telephone Company in late years.

Erle Ellis Writes Voters Of Clanton

To The Voters of Clanton:

As a candidate for Mayor of the City of Clanton, I wish to thank the many friends who have committed themselves in support of me and the principles of good city government for which I stand. There are many voters in Clanton whom I have not been able to contact, but hope to see before election day.

I would like to take this opportunity to state some of the principles I believe are necessary in a progressive municipal government. First, I would like to see the continuation and advancement of a progressive city administration. This can only be accomplished by the untiring efforts and close cooperation of your City Council and Mayor. Second, if elected to the office of Mayor of Clanton, I will do my best to see that no policies are enacted which will be detrimental to the advancement of the City. Third, there are many things that can be done to aid Clanton's growth. All of us desire additional street pavings, sidewalks, the extension of water mains, an enlarged recreational program, improved sanitation facilities and similar projects.

Clanton has grown beyond the limits of a town into the stages of a young city. Its continued growth depends largely on your governing body and the civic-mindedness of you, its citizens. My aim since entering the race to be your Mayor has at no time been one of personal gain; but a sincere desire to be of service to the citizens of Clanton. The office of Mayor of Clanton is no longer an honorary position with no work; but a job, a hard job. I am willing to accept that job with a firm determination to give it my best if you elect me.

I do earnestly and sincerely solicit your vote [illegible]

NEW MANAGER AT RADIO STATION WKLF

Two major managerial changes have been announced recently by officials of the Southeastern Broadcasting Company, operators of Clanton's 1000-watt station WKLF.

The officials first announced the appointment of Robert B. Taber, long connected with the radio business, as General Manager of WKLF, and immediately following the appointment of Jesse A. Culp, a native of Clanton, as assistant manager.

The joint announcements were made by Dr. J. Kelley Robinson, President of the Southeastern Broadcasting Company, and Mr. John S. Robinson, secretary and treasurer.

The two officials in making the announcement said: "We believe that with these appointments WKLF will be [illegible] BS degree of Auburn. We believe we have a promising [illegible] who is in a position [illegible] deal to WKLF's [illegible] munity."

About a year later he was appointed General Manager of Sylacauga station. He took over his new duties as General Manager of WKLF last Monday.

Mr. Culp is a native of the Clanton area and now resides in the Mt Nebo Community. He received his early education in the local schools and spent two years in the Navy. Went to the dentist the other day with the wife and we were just thinking while there, no matter how good a dentist feels he's always looking down in the mouth.

We're awaiting the outcome of our local election with interest. Someone asked us the other day why we didn't endorse a candidate for the office of Mayor. All three of the candidates are fine men. All are good citizens. Who are we to try to influence you to vote for a candidate that you do not want to vote for. We would have better government if the people would do more thinking for themselves instead of letting someone tell them what to do and how to vote.

Here's something we will hammer for though: Where is that parking lot that Clanton needs so badly. Why isn't that vacant lot next to the County Jail being used for such a purpose. The lot stands there year after year unused while our farmers drive round and round the block looking for a place to park long enough to do a little trading. 'Tis true, the lot wouldn't hold all of our overflow traffic, but it would lighten the load just that much.

WATCH OUT FOR THE KIDS

With the opening of the county schools comes our annual warning to motorists to be careful of our school children.

Children are careless and reckless. They do not think of danger; they are too busy living and enjoying every minute of their little lives. It is the duty of every motorist to watch out for the children. It is your duty and it is our duty to protect them from some painful injury if not sudden death. As we said children don't think—we will have to watch out for them.

We don't get it. Howard McGrath says that if you don't vote with the Truman Democrats you lose your membership in the Democratic Party and along comes Mr. McCorvey and says you won't be able to get on the state ticket unless you vote the Thurman-Wright ticket. Now what we would like to know in a case like that, is where the devil are we?

WORRY A CAUSE OF DEATH?

Thousands of Americans die every year from heart diseases or cerebral hemorrhages, both of which are included in the so-called diseases of civilization.

The belief exists that nervous tension and the fast tempo of modern life are responsible for the high blood pressure that often forecasts the end of individual existence.

Some years ago, Dr. William H. Molden, in exploring Brazil, found an Indian tribe where these diseases were unknown. He attributed this to the fact that the Indians are not in contact with civilization and, therefore, "do not worry."

There is also a tendency to believe that complete relaxation of the body in rest will tend to prevent the development of high blood pressure. This includes complete mental relaxation which is difficult for many individuals. The brain, which has been busy for hours, finds many things "to think about" and this mental activity often prevents sound sleep.

About the best answer to the problem, as we see it, is the development of an individual philosophy of life, including the religious aspect, which will bring the individual into harmony with his environment and the higher principals which should govern all human life.

Well, John Studdard made us eat our words. Remember last week we told you we would make John and B. N. prove they were fishermen—well they did. And how. Soon we'll run the pictures of B. N., John and Jerry (who is a son of B. N.) displaying their catch for all to see. These, according to John, were caught 25 miles below Daytona Beach, Fla., at Oak Hill Fishing Camp, two weeks ago. Only thing that worries us is they didn't bring us any.

Speaking of fish Clint Jones brought the prettiest string to town the other day that we have seen in many a moon. He caught them right below the dam and the largest weighed five pounds. He had several that weighed two and three pounds. Oh yeah, they were small mouth bass.

Pig Alley has at last come into its own. In case you don't know where Pig Alley is, it is the street or would-be street running from the highway to the Methodist Church. If ever opened through there it will be Third Avenue. But getting back to the subject. Pig Alley has become mighty popular since folks couldn't get across the bridge on Selma Road. It saves several blocks to folks in our end of town walking home out that way.

Jesse Culp has been named Assistant Manager at Radio Station WKLF. We have been watching Jesse since he was a student at Isabella and he has steadily climbed. The top is the limit for that boy and we're betting our bottom dollar that he makes it. Most sincere congratulations, Jesse.

Removing his shoes, he climbed the stairs, opened the door of the room, entered, and closed it after him without being detected. Just as he was about to get into bed, his wife, half aroused from slumber, turned and sleepily said: "Is that you, Fido?" The husband relating the story said, "For once in my life I had real presence of mind—I licked her hand."

Robert Sewell and wife have opened the Tourist Cafe, five miles south of the city on U. S. 31. According to Robert they will specialize in chicken dinners. The lady said Friday night, August 27th, the Oak Ridge Quartet stopped in and serenaded the customers with song after song while they enjoyed cornbread and buttermilk. Robert tried to get them to play a return engagement so he could advertise it and get a crowd down there but they said they were signed up solid for several months and couldn't find time. There are two or three Ed Edwards in Chilton County besides "Little Ed," but there's only one with a five-gaited horse. Little Ed has trained the one he rides now since it was a colt and he has done a good job. We believe the horse has more "man sense" than little Ed has "horse sense."

TITHING

Over three hundred years before the Law of Moses, Jacob, a grandson of Abraham, promised the Lord in a most solemn vow, saying, "Of all that thou shalt give me, I will surely give a tenth unto thee. (Gen. 28:22). Jacob made the vow at a time in his life when he was homeless, and poor. Although he passed through great perils, and much uncertainty, he was faithful to his vow, and to God. And God was gracious unto him, and allowed him to return in peace to his father's house, and with much riches. This was before the law of Moses. This is proof that the tithing principle had God's unqualified stamp of approval. God had instituted the principle and system, therefore his blessing of approval was upon those who obeyed it.

We have known many cases where people made a vow unto the Lord like that of Jacob when they had practically no income or resources. Their consecration, however, was made by faith in the true and living God, and in His Word: knowing that He is the unfailing source of supply, that every good, and perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning. (James 1:17). Like Jacob, they were greatly tested, but they kept their vow, and invariably proved that God blessed their nine-tenths after they had paid the one tenth unto the Lord, and made the balance to go further with his blessings beyond all thought or expectation. . .God will always keep His Word if we will keep our's. He said, "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the Lord of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing that there shall not be room enough to receive." (Mal. 3:10.)

The Tithe belong to God. If you were to buy and eat a meal in a cafe, upon paying the proprietor, you would not consider that you were giving him a gift. You would simply pay a just and honest debt. The price of the meal would not be a gift, but a debt. Now in Lev. 27:30, we read, "And all the tithe of the land, whether of the seed of the land, or of the fruit of thee, is the Lord's; it is holy unto the Lord. Now since the tithe belong to God, therefore, when we pay our tithes we do not give anything, we simply pay a debt. We pay God that which belong to Him. . .And if the debt is not paid the holder thereof cannot be counted an honest man. . .The man who fails to pay his house rent, or rent on land, is not an honest man. The Christian who does not pay the tithe is a robber in the sight of the Lord. In Mal. 3:8, it says, "Will a man rob God? Yet ye have robbed Me. . .In tithes and offering."

SARDIS

(Too Late for Last Week)

The revival meeting was held here week. Bro. Bill Cox brought soul-stirring messages each time. We received 18 new members. There are 16 for baptism. Let's not let this revival of love for God and for each other die out of our hearts. Let's say here, too, that the church met in conference and called Bro. Cox for our pastor for another year. We feel like we are going forward in the work for the Lord and we will continue to receive a blessing.

We had a fine crowd out for Sunday School and B.T.U. Sunday and Sunday night.

Remember our regular preaching services the second Sunday morning and the baptizing will be that afternoon at 2:30, and services that night. We invite everyone out to these services.—Reporter.

STATES' RIGHTS MUST BE PROTECTED, SAYS HILL

Senator Lister Hill of Alabama, who for over ten years has been on the battle line in Washington fighting for States' Rights, reminds Alabamians that there are other rights, duties and obligations which demand support of our Federal government.

"Ever since I have been your Senator I have been fighting for States' Rights," Alabama's senior Senator said in a Labor Day Speech. "The first speech I made on the floor of the Senate was a speech against the anti-lynching bill. The second longest speech I have made in all my life was against the FEPC bill. And the longspeech I ever made was against the anti-poll tax bill last month, when I held the floor from 12 o'cock noon unti 7 that night. After my speech the fight for passage of the anti-poll tax bill collapsed."

To talk about States' Rights and go no further is to tell only part of the story, Senator Hill declared. He recaled the many programs of our Federa government which have benefited the people of Alabama and the South and protected their rights—the many farm programs, old age and unemployment benefits, the GI Bill for veterans, REA and TVA, waterway development and removal of unfair freight rate discriminations, protection for small business against monopoly, and many others.

Our Federal government could go forward with other efforts for the people if the Republican-controlled Congress did not obstruct many of the programs, Hill asserted.

The chief concern of the world today is peace, Senator Hill said, for "if war comes—atomic war with all its horror and destruction—there will be no States' Rights or any other rights upon this earth."

Although peace depends on the success of United States foreign policy, Hill pointed out that the Republicans had sought to sabotage the foreign policy by denying adequate funds for the Marshall Plan and by crippling the Reciprocal Trade Agreements let. "Republican disregard of inflation invites a depression which will play into the hands of the Communists," he added.

Senator Hill called for "united support of our Federal government in its very effort for peace" and support of a strong national defense to insure the national security and back up America's foreign policy.

Thorsby News

(By MISS C. N. TURNQUIST — Correspondent)

Thorsby Institute News—

School reopens at 10:00 a.m. Wednesday, September 15th, with special exercises. Everyone is invited.

Mrs. Carol Enos, sister of Mrs. Maynard of Thorsby, is to take Miss Leech's place in charge of the boarding department. Because of summer duties which she thought would end sooner when she had made plans to come to Thorsby, she will be delayed in coming until October 1st. Arrangements are being made to carry on the work until she can come.

Mrs. Enos was born in Birmingham. While living there she took courses in cookery in a branch school of Fannie Farmer, whose cookbook is widely known. Later she married and went to Massachusetts to live, where her husband died. She studied in Dr. Farmer's school in Boston and also in Framington State College. She has had much practical experience in Maine and Florida hotels. We are fortunate in geetting her and probably would not have except for her wishing to be with her sister more.

New teachers will be Mr. and Mrs. Martin Wilson, graduates of Clark University, a high standing university that requires thorough work. Mr. Wilson, aside from teaching English and Beginning Algebra, will coach the boys' athletics. He is fond of sports. He was in service as a marine. Both prefer private school teaching. They will drive to Thorsby.

Mechanical Drawing is a very important subject at Thorsby Institute, especially for boys who want to take up engineering, architecture, laboratory work, etc. It is preferably for juniors and seniors. Mr. Hart is an expet in that line having had much experience personally before coming to Thorsby. He has been very successful in teaching it.

Views of a few pupils about Thorsby Institute: "This school has a Christian influence that is inspirational. We are made to feel that life is worthwhile. The subject, Bible, which is helpful in everyday life and work is an important subject taught here.

Another important feature of Thorsby Institute is the individual attention given to the students by the teachers. The students can take active parts in recitation, club programs, plays, and the Glee Club. This makes one feel as if he is a part of the school, and he is prepared to help in social activities.

"Music has meant much to me. Before I came to Thorsby Institute I didn't know how to appreciate good music. Now music gives me a feeling of inspiration that nothing else can give."

* * *

Mr. H. L. Collins and Miss Mary Nell Forrester of Birmingham, Ala. spent the week end here with Wr. and Mrs. H. L. Walker and Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Bice.

Mrs. Idell Kincaid and son, Jimmy. Jr., returned Saturday night from Germany, where they spent the past year with Mr. James Kincaid who is in the service there. Mr. Kincaid will return to the States later on in the Fall. Mrs. Kincaid's many friends are happy to have her back home again.

Mrs. Robert Lambert and young son of Montgomery, Ala., are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Raybon.

Mrs. J. B. Price and lovely little daughter, Yvonne, left Monday for Childersburg to visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burgin Ray, before retuning to her home in Birmingham. Mrs. Price spent all of last week here visiting with her brother, B. V. Ray, Jr., and Mrs. Ray; also with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. B. V. Ray, Jr., spent Labor Day in Childersburg with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burgin Ray.

Mr. Earl Marcus retuned Sunday fom a Birmingham hospital where he went for treatment of a back ailment. Earl is somewhat improved, but is not yet able to come up to his name his friends have given him, that of the "hustler," but we sincerely hope that in a short time, he will bee out hustlingg again as he is greatly missed when not in circulation.

Dr. J. D. Vines of Maplesville was a visitor here Friday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Vines.

Mrs. L. M. Jackson has recently purchased a home in Clanton and expects to make her home in the near future. We regret to know that we are to lose Mrs. Jackson, but since her son, Erskine, is employed there, we know that this is the best arrangement for them both and our loss will be Clanton's gain.

Mrs. J. O. Johnson spent the week end and Labor Day in Birmingham with her daughter, Mrs. Lester Garrett, and Mr. Garrett. While there she enjoyed a visit from her daughter-in-law, Mrs. V. O. Johnson, from Dallas, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Hanson spent Labor Day in Birmingham with the Lester Garretts. Mrs. J. O. Johnson returned with them after a nice visit there.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Lefstead of Chattanooga, Tenn., spent the holidays here with his sister, Miss Alma Lefstead.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Gentry and daughter, Emma Jean, of Birmingham spent Sunday visiting her relatives, the Frank Porters and E. E. Porters. All were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Porter.

Mrs. Lewis Johnson visited several days in Montgomery last week.

Our Firemen were called out three times last week, but there were no serious fires in either case. In one case they answered a call down the highway where a car was on fire, one where some grass had caught on fire which threatened the cotton gin, and one to the home of Mr. Glass where a high pile of trash was being burned and nearly got out of control. There was no damage done in either case since our firemen were right on the job and soon had the trouble under control.

Mrs. A. E. Reagan and Miss Naemi Turnquist had as their house guests during the Labor Day week end Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Foss of Fairfield and Mr. and Mrs. Thos. G. Rogers of Atlanta, Ga. Mrs. Rogers will be remembered as Esther Berlin who lived here with her folks a good many years ago, and she has many friends here who were indeed happy to welcome her back after some twenty years having passed since she last visited here. They were also glad to welcome her busband, who though a stranger to her friends here, soon become acquainted and made many friends during the short visit.

A very happy occasion took place at the home of Mrs. A. E. Reagan on last Sunday when a number of friends gathered together for an indoor picnic dinner honoring Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Rogers of Atlanta, Ga. A real outdoor picnic had been planned, but dus to inclement weather, it was decided to have the dinner indoors. Everyone brought their eats and it was ful dinner, as is always the case when served buffet style. It was a bountia bunch of Thorsby folks get together, and everyone had a swell time. All the guests registered just as a sort of memo for the honor guests and there were 39 in number. Out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Ted Lefstead of Chattanooga, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Foss, of Fairfield, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Peterson and daughter, Shirley, of Calera, Ala.; Mr and Mrs. Erle Ellis of Clanton, Ala.

The Thorsby Junior High School opened last Tuesday morning for another year of work. Two of our teachers were unable to report for duty on the opening day and will probably not be able to start work for several days. Mrs. Akins Collins was unable to report to work on account of the death of her mother, Mrs. L. E. Goodgame, and Miss Ruth Primm could not be present on account of illness. Mrs. Idell Kincaid will supply for Miss Primm and Mrs. J. P. Payne, Jr., will supply for Mrs. Collins.

A meeting of the P.-T.A. will be held in the auditorium on Friday afternoon, September 10th, at 2:45 p.m All members and parents interested in the school are urged to be present.

The Garden Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Roy Kendrick on Thursday night (tonight) at 7:30 p.m., and all members are urged to be present. The ladies are asked to bring their husbands as this is to be a "party" in the garden of the Kendrick home, if the weather permits. Bring a prospective member.

Mrs. A. E. Reagan and Miss Naemi Turnquist made a trip to Birmingham Monday with their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rogers, who were returning to their home in Atlanta. They stopped to visit with several friends in Birmingham.

Please bring your news items to your correspondent at the Bank of Thorsby or to her home.

CHILD LABOR LAW PROHIBITS YOUTH WORKING AT SAW MILLS

Two recent deaths of small boys unlawfully employed in logging and sawmilling in south Aabama have caused alarm as to the prevalence of exploitation of children. Due to the hazardous nature of work in sawmill and logging industries the Child Labor Division of the Department of Industrial Relations has been making a concerted effort to contact as many operators in the State as possible. Many serious accidents to minors, suffered to work in and around woodworking occupations have occurred, making it necessary that all employers, small and large, be familiar with the Child Labor Laws, both State and Federal.

The Alabama Child Labor Law as amended in 1947, raised the standard by providing that no minor under 16 years of age could be legally employed during the time the schools are in session and at no time in a manufacturing or mechanical establishment or cannery. (Agriculture and domestic service exempted.) The following is a partial list of prohibited occupations in woodworking industries for minors under 16 years of age:

(a) Circular or band saws.

(c) Wood jointers.

(d) Planers.

(e) Sand-paper or wood polishing machinery

(f) Wood turning or boringg machinery.

There are other occupations prohibited under the provisions of the law also.

Under the provisions of the Alabama Child Labor Law [illegible] non-hazardous employment. C[illegible] may [illegible] from the Superintendent of Schools or his authorized agent. Certificates [illegible] in Alabama are accepted as proof of age by the Wage and Hour Division, U. S. Department of Labor.

The Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 — the Federal Wage and Hour Law—sets a minimum age of 18 years for work in hazardous occupations. This provision is important to logging and in the operation of a sawmill has been declared hazardous, and any employer who employs boys under 18 may be violating the laws.

Work in logging and in sawmills is declared hazardous under Hazardous Occupations Order No. 4, issued by the Secretary of Labor under the Fair Labor Standards Act. This order declares ALL work hazardous except a few jobs that are specifically excepted and these exceptions do not apply to any portable sawmill. In Alabama there are many portable sawmills and for ALL WORK in or about the portable sawmills the employee must be 18 years old.

There are a few jobs—a very few—that boys of 16 and 17 may do in large, permanent sawmills. These permitted jobs are not directly connected with actual sawing or lumber handling which are considered too dangerous for young persons. Types of work for which 16 and 17-year old boys may be employed are in offices, or repair shops, certain work on the dry chain, clean-up work in the lumber yard, and clerical work in connection with shipping.

Mrs. Cora Price from Birmingham was the week end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Melton and family.

Misses Mary Dalene and Estell Short were the Sunday guests of Mrs. Lester Robinson.

Mr. Penny Rushing visited friends and relatives in Rock Mill, Ala., this week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wilson and daughter, Sandra, and Joda Smitherman spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. James R. Smitherman.

HIGH PRICE FOR CORN SOLD THROUGH STOCK

Farmers point out that soon local markets will be glutted causing a very weak market demand. Others are concerned about declining grain prices.

There is no doubt that farmers will face both of these problems this fall, says Ralph Jones, API extension field crops marketing specialist. He believes that a farmer's best market for corn this fall will be through livestock.

MEETING AND BARBECUE HELD AT THORSBY

The group included District Supervisors from Jefferson, Culman, Shelby, Blount, Bibb and Chilton Counties. The Supervisors together with Soil Conservation Soil Technicians and local farmers from each of these Counties attended. The Supervisors were given a study tour of the work being done at the Nursery by Manager W. C. Young of the Thorsby Nursery, followed with short talks by Mr. O C. Medlock, State Soil Conservationist of Auburn, Ala., and Mr. O. H Bowden, Agricultural Representative, from the TCI plant of Birmingham, Ala.

Others who made short talks were: Mr. R. L. Harrell, District Soil Conservationist of Birmingham, Ala.; Mr. J. R. Howard, Chairman of the Board, and Mr. W. H. Meadows. Mr. T. O. Waldrop represented Cullman, Mr. F. E. Williams, Shelby County; and Mr. R. O. Williams, Chilton County.

Those who attended from Chilton County were: Neil Harrell, Verbena, Ala.; O. A. and S. D. Posey, Charles Childress, Tom Childress, W. H. Rascoe, L. Z. Giles and Clyde Burnett, all from the Pleasant Grove Community. Others were: W. A. Williams, J. N. Dennis, Reedie Taylor, Ben Brinker, N. L. Roberts, Bonnie Wilson, Andie S. Brown, Britton Nelson and Albert Broadhead; Joe Campbell, M. R. Glasscock, J. Archie Ogburn, R. H. Kirkpatrick, Olin G. Fields and B. N. Ivey.

A good many others attended, making about 100 in all. After the program a barbecue picnic was enjoyed and it is said that they had "some feed." Rev. Carlisle Miller of Clanton, Ala., was present and returned thanks.

We are proud of this occasion being held at our nursery, and we are proud of our nursey. Many people do not know anything of the work which is being done out there and do not take time to find out. You should visit your nursery and be on the knowing side of what they are trying to do. They have the nicest group of men employed theme that you would ever find anywhere, and should you take time to go out there, they are always ready to show you around the entire place, and you would probably have the surprise of your life to find out what they are doing. If you have not already done so, make it your business to visit this interesting place.

How to Make Friends

Folks in our town toasted Doc Hollister the other night at a testimonial dinner. But Doc, instead of taking the bows himself, said a word of praise for the American Medical Association, which has done so much to raise medical standards in this country.

It was over a hundred years ago that medical men got together to form the association. Their aim was to set up standards of practice that would not only protect themselves, but benefit the public.

Which is what the brewers are aiming at with their Self Regulation Program: High standards of practice among places selling beer —to keep them clean and law-abiding.

The brewers aren't content to leave it to the law alone. They inspect beer outlets regularly to see that they are clean and orderly. And from where I sit, that's the kind of good citizenship that's making more friends every day for beer, the beverage of moderation.

CARE OF FARM MACHINERY

It's only good, common sense to take time out to keep equipment in the best of shape. The time spent repairing and replacing parts is only a small part of the cost of careless handling —think of the dangers of such equipment.

Life Insurance Is Essential

The Emergency Aid Insurance Company offers immediate cash benefits to its policyholders. When one of our insured persons passes away, the beneficiary needs the benefits of the policy at once, which is the time that all death claims are paid. ALL of our death claims are paid immediately upon receipt of the death certificate. To our knowledge, this is the only company that offers its policyholders this prompt service.

Fertilizer Cooperative Directors Elected

At the annual membership meeting of the Chilton Farmers Union Fertilizer Cooperative which was held in Clanton Saturday, September 4th, the following seven farmers were elected by the stockholders to serve as the Board of Directors for the coming twelve months:

R. M. Foshee, Leo M. Headley, Doyle McRae, P. J. Norwood, B. F. Kasberry, W. H. Kasco and N. G. Smith.

Progress of the cooperative to date was reviewed and discussed and it was reported that several thousand dollars have already been raised. Also some matters which had not been thoroughly understood by some people were straightened out satisfactorily.

The members voted to set December 1, 1948, as the date to have the required stock sold and be ready to start construction of the plant as soon as possible thereafter. It was pointed out that in this way some farmers could help pay for their stock by working on the construction of the plant before the spring rush farming season.

The plant which is expected to be built is planned to be large enough to serve 1,000 farmers and an invitation is extended to all farmers in this area to become a member of the cooperative until the 1,00 memberships are taken up. In recent years, other fertilizer cooperatives have had to turn away many who wished to become members. Many Chilton County farmers who have been unabe to participate in the Centrala Fertilizer Cooperative at Selma are taking advantage of this opportunity to join this cooperative while they can.

SHILOH

The old Harp and Harmony Singing was enjoyed by a large crowd Sunday. We had a nice crowd out for church services Sunday night.

We wish to welcome C. A. and Mildred Turner into our church. We are happy to have them with us.

The B.T.U.'s social which was to have been Saturday night, has been postponed until Saturday night, September 11th. The social will be at the home of Mrs. Cliff Williams.

IMPROVED POULTRY HOUSES

Wall feed bins in the poultry house can cut down the work needed to care for a laying flock. A protected opening in the wall permits filling the bin from the outside, and feed can be taken from sliding doors at the bottom of the bin inside.

TIMBER MANAGEMENT

Timber owners did you know that properly spaced forest trees will grow high quality lumber more quickly? Trees too close together slow down in growth. Trees too far apart will produce big limbs and poor lumber.

TROY STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE

Troy—The enrollment at Troy State Teachers College is expected to reach an all-time peak for the Fall Quarter, according to Dr. C. B. Smith, president of that institution. Electric water heaters, radios, electric washers, oil furnaces and electric stoves, are a few of their featured items. Their beautiful stock of these labor savers on display at their store is the answer to a housewife's dream.

Mr. Herman LeCroy, manager at the Firestone Store, invites the homemakers of Chilton County and Central Alabama to pay his store a visit during this Firestone Harvest Sale and get better acquainted with his up-to-date store.

DENNIS FARM SUPPLY TO OPEN SOON

Within the next week or two Clanton will boast a new feed and seed store. It will be operated under the trade name of Dennis Farm Supply and will be owned by James N. Dennis.

Checker Board Feeds will be featured produced by the Purina Company. A full line of seeds and farm supplies will be found at the new store.

Watch for the announcement of the formal opening in Chilton County News.

POLLS OPEN UNTIL SIX

In the notice of election ran last week it was incorrectly stated that the polls would remain open until five o'clock on election day. This is to notify all City voters that the polls will remain open until six p.m. Monday, September 20th. The hours are from 8 to 6.

NEW SHOE STORE OPEN TO PUBLIC

Mr. Ray Emfinger is this week announcing the opening of the Family Shoe Store, in the location formerly occupied by Wingard Brothers. This it a brand new business for Clanton, and the building has been completely renovated and redecorated throughout, making it a real place of beauty and refinement. Messers A. Reedie Taylor and Emfinger are to be complimented upon this most attractive new store for Clanton, and it is to sell shoes exclusively.

New X-Ray Machine To Aid Fitting

Family Shoe Store has installed a new, modern X-Ray machine in their new up-to-date shoe store. This machine reveals any deformity of the bone structure of the foot and it not only helps to select the proper shape shoe but it also determines if the shoe fits properly as to width and length. The machine is adjusted for three degrees of penetration, low for children; medium for women; and high for men. In this new X-ray machine the flesh as well as the bone is shown so that it is absolutely impossible to fit shoes too short.

This machine permits you actually to see the fit of shoes before they are purchased and worn, thus eliminating the annoyance of returning misfit shoes.

NATIONAL GUARD DAY, SEPTEMBER 16th

WHEREAS, September 16, 1948, has been proclaimed as National Guard Day by the President of the United States (and the Governor of Alabama) and

NOW THEREFORE, I, F. Leo Thompson, Mayor of Clanton, in order that we may continue to live in our community with the assurance of security and safety, urge all of our citizens to join in grateful recognition of the sterling service of our friends and neighbors in the National Guard and to support in every possible way the continuing development of our own National Guard unit.

CLANTON CLINIC ANNOUNCEMENT

The State Crippled Children's Service and representatives of the local health, welfare, and education departments will conduct the annual clinic for crippled children and adults with orthopedic disabilities at the Clanton High School Vocational Building on Thursday, September 23rd. Children from Chilton, Coosa and Bibb counties will be seen at the clinic.

Dr. Earle Conwall, Orthopedic Surgeon and Diagnostician from Birmingham, will conduct the clinic assisted by Miss Thelma Walker, District Orthopedic Nurse of the State's Crippled Children's Service, and representatives of the County Health, Welfare and Education Departments. The volunteer workers will be secured from the church organizations in Clanton to assist the official workers in conducting the clinic. Mr. Foureaux will attend the clinic to check old braces and shoes and to measure for new ones. Mr. G. O. McFaden, District Supervisor of Vocational Rehabilitation Service, will interview any handicapped adults with orthopedic disabilities who attend the clinic.

Funds received during the Easter Seal and Fund Raising Campaign which was conducted in the spring by the Chilton County Society for Crippled Children helps to make it possible to conduct clinics of this type for crippled children in the county and it also helps to provide for care and treatment of a larger number of crippled children in the county.

If you know of a crippled child who is in need of this service, please refer the child to the County Health, Welfare, or Education Departments in order that arrangements can be made for the child to attend the clinic in Clanton on September 23.

HOMEMAKERS CLASS

The Homemakers Sunday School Class of the Baptist Church will hold their monthly business meeting at the home of Mrs. Grady Heflin on Friday afternoon, Sept. 17th, at 3:00 p. m.

This will be a special meeting at which the officers for the forthcoming year will be installed.

Arthur Taylor Writes Voters

As this will be my last opportunity to address an appeal to you before the Municipal Election, I wish to take this occasion to thank each and everyone of you who have assisted me in my campaign. Your service and friendship will always be gratefully remembered. I favor further and continued progress in the City of Clanton. We have one of the best cities in Alabama, and there is no reason why Clanton should not continue to progress constantly in all respects that affect the welfare of its citizens.

I favor the continuation and completion of the program of progress that has been undertaken by the present city administration, and will do my utmost to see that it is completed.

Fire insurance rates in the City of Clanton are entirely too high. The installation of at least one full time member of the Fire Department will result in a radical reduction of fire insurance premiums resulting in the saving of thousands of dollars per year to the citizens of Clanton, and I favor this action immediately. I favor the immediate installation of an adequate garbage collection system. The housewives of Clanton have been confronted with an inadequate collection of garbage in the past, and this situation should be remedied immediately. I have made an independent investigation of the opportunity of carrying out the program as above mentioned, and I am satisfied that these things can be accomplished without any increase in taxes to the citizens of Clanton, and that the present revenues are sufficient to accomplish these objects. I do not favor any further taxation in the City of Clanton under present conditions.

If elected mayor, I can assure the people of every class fair, equal and courteous treatment, and the working man will be just as welcome to my office as any other class of citizen.

Your support and vote on September 20 wil be appreciated.

ARTHUR TAYLOR.

Funds For New Project Provided By 1947 Legislature

The research project for fruit and vegetable experimentation provided for by the 1947 state legislature has been officially located between New Salem and Collins Chapel Communities. The locating commission composed of Dean M. J. Funchess, Director of Alabama Experiment Station; Director P. O. Davis, Alabama Extension Service; and R. E. Cammack, Director Vocational Education announced recently that the Beat 9 Chilton County Area was the most desirable experimental area offered by Chilton County and would be acceptable to the experiment station.

The 1947 legislature and Chilton's representatives are to be congratulated for providing the $35,000.00 necessary to get this station established. Chilton County Commissioners Court also is to be commended for its active support in working for the establishment of this station and for making funds available for land purchases.

The station is to be actively engaged in finding ways and means of more economically producing and marketing fruits, vegetables and nuts in central Alabama. Methods of control of diseases and insects of fruit, vegetable and nut crops will be a big and important activity of this research facility.

Research on the possibility of producing a number of food crops not now being produced will be another important item to be dealt with by the station.

Eventually the station will develop a year-round system of production whereby farm family labor can be utilized consistently throughout the year to produce and sell cash earning crops. Irrigation possibilities, fertilization methods, desirable varieties and hundreds of other factors will be taken under consideration.

C. C. Carlton, now fruit and vegetable Assistant County Agent, has been employed as superintendent of this newly created agricultural improvement.

To make this station possible, careful planning, much hard plugging, and a "wee-bit" of politicing was necessary. Years of careful research must be conducted before its true value will be realized, but eventually it will be a potent force in improving farm practices and farm family life in central Alabama's garden spot "Chilton."

EPISCOPAL SERVICE SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The regular monthly Episcopal Service will be held in the Presbyterian Church Sunday, September 19th, at 3:30 o'clock. The public is welcome to this service.

ALL DAY SINGING AT LIBERTY HILL

The annual all day singing will be held at Liberty Hill Church the fourth Sunday in September. We extend to all singers and lovers of music a cordial invitation to attend. FIRST FOOTBALL GAME OF YEAR FRIDAY NIGHT

The Chilton County High School Tigers will kick off the foot ball season tomorrow night (Friday) at 7:30 against the Hurt School of Montgomery. Nothing is known of the Hurt team at this writing, but "Tubby" Williams, head coach at Hurt, always put out a smart team. Clanton has a light, young and inexperienced team this year and coach Waters says he will be playing this year to hold the score to a reasonably low figure. He is not talking of winning yet.

B. N. IVEY TRANSFERRED TO CAMDEN OFFICE

Clanton loses one of her most valuable civic workers and citizens this month when Mr. B. N. Ivey, local office manager for the Farmers Home Administration completes his stay here and moves to the Camden, Ala. office where he has been transferred.

HOWARD COLLEGE EXTENSION SCHOOL NOW UNDER WAY

The Howard College Extension School got under way last Thursday night with twenty-four present. There were those who attended last year and a few new men and women present. This is one of the greatest steps forward Howard College has made. It is offering help where help is needed most and at such little cost. The courses being taught are helpful both to laymen and pastors. Rev. Luther W. Woodward is principal and Rev. J. W. Jones, Register. A cordial welcome is extended to everyone who will to visit the school at the First Baptist Church Thursday at 6:30 p. m., and investigate for yourself the worth of the school.

Ministers who are not financially able to pay for this training are requested to make application for aid and all expenses will be paid from a fund provided for you.

JUDY BEAN WINS FIRST PLACE IN NEWS CONTEST

Saturday evening, last, marked the close of our thrilling Baby Contest, and at that time the curtain was rung down on one of the most interesting and exciting newspaper features produced in this section in many years.

The prize-winners turned up in the six lovely little children shown in the streamer featuring our front page today. Their pictures and the amounts captured by each of the delightful little participants, the Hughes Twins, of course, serving as one entry, and while you will be gazing at them, perhaps a little enviously, you will look long and search far before you will find a finer pair of boys any place else in this whole country; this also goes for the lovely little ladies and handsome young men who complete the list.

Little Judy's mother worked long and tirelessly, and as is usual in such cases, was rewarded with a splendid victory.

As a matter of fact all the winners deserve special praise for their work in hoisting their little ones into the Victory Class. Many others missed capturing prizes for their sweethearts by the narrowest of margins, which in view of the very keen competition they had to contend with, is in itself something to be proud of.

In all sorts of competitions, there must necessarily be the losers and no one regrets it more than the publisher of this newspaper. However, the Americans are noted as being good sportsmen—all they ask is a fair field and no favorites and this condition has prevailed during the various periods of the campaign. Under these conditions they will prove good losers and should have no regrets; they did the best they could, under conditions as existed in different situations no one can do more.

NATIONAL GUARD DAY

September 16 is National Guard Day. This is the eighth anniversary of the Guard's entrance into Federal service before World War II.

The National Guard has a long and distinguished history. Its tradition of citizen-soldiers, serving their homeland in times of emergency, goes back to 1636 in Massachusetts, when the Old North Regiment was formed from several train bands. In Puerto Rico, the present Guard units trace their ancestry back to 1510, when Ponce de Leon commanded a citizen company for the island's defense.

Five presidents have been members of the Guard. Washington was a lieutenant colonel in the Virginia Regiment at the time of Braddock's Defeat. Jackson led 2,000 militiamen against the British in 1812. Lincoln commanded a militia company in the Black Hawk War. Chester Arthur was Quartermaster General of the New York Militia in the Civil War. President Truman was a National Guard artillery captain in World War I.

The history of each of the 48 states is dotted with the names of its sons who have served as citizen-soldiers, both at home and abroad. Their service to state and nation is a constant source of pride.

In war, the National Guard has fought in our major battles, from Lexington and Concord to Manila. In peace, the National Guard has fought fire and flood, bringing relief to thousands of the disaster-stricken.

At this critical period in our national history, the National Guard is reorganizing a new force for the defense of the nation. Its ultimate strength is set at 684,000 men in 27 divisions, 12 air wings, 21 regimental combat teams, and supporting troops. This will be an M-Day Force, trained and equipped for immediate action in any national emergency.

In only two years of reorganization, the Guard has already grown to a strength of 317,000, a strength greater than that which the Guard took into World War II. The Congress has set its strength ceiling for this fiscal year at 341,000, but that ceiling will be raised by more than 200,000 during the next fiscal year.

The National Guard will always have a place for any man who wants to serve his country. The National Guard will always need men to keep its ranks full, to keep it prepared to fulfill its mission.

Out of its long service has come a motto, "The National Guard Defends America." Those are words we should always remember. They stand for the principles upon which our nation was founded, citizen service, as volunteers, to home, to state, and to nation.

Clark Headley came in to see us the other day. He's working at Selma now but still has plenty of time to devote to his fox hunting activities. Clark is secretary to the Chilton County Fox Hunters Association and informs that the organization is planning a three-day field trial the latter part of October or the first part of November. The exact date hasn't been decided upon yet. Fox hunters from Alabama and all southern states will be invited to the hunt and according to Clark a large crowd is expected to attend. Cohen Stapp is president of the County Fox Hunters Association.

We carried a personal about the Rev. Gibbs, pastor at Faith Tabernacle in our local colmuns last week. For some reason the linotype machine spelled the name "Gobbs." It spells as bad as our typewriter sometimes. However the name is "Gibbs" and we're hearing mighty good reports on the young fellow.

May 15, 1941 Chickasaw Steam Generating Plant, near Mobile, completed and first 40,000 kilowatt unit placed in operation.

Jan. 16, 1944 Second 60,000 kilowatt generating unit installed at Gorges No. 2 Steam Plant.

During the war years, the government necessarily restricted the expansion of electric plants and lines except for application to war needs. Consequently we and other companies could not follow the normal plan of providing additional generating capacity as far in advance of actual needs as normally. Even so, excellent progress is being made.

Nov. 15, 1946 Decision to build a 120,000 kilowatt steam generating plant at Gadsden was announced. Ground was broken June 9, 1947. The first unit is expected to be in operation early in 1949, the complete plant by summer of 1949.

Sept. 11, 1947 Decision made to install additional 22,000 kilowatt generating unit at Mitchell Dam. Generator ordered October, 1947. It is expected to be in operation by late 1949.

Oct. 7, 1947 Manufacturers requested to schedule manufacture of 100,000 kilowatts of generating capacity for Alabama Power Company for installation at points to be selected.

April 23, 1948 Announcement was made that Chickasaw Steam Plant selected for installation of 40,000 kilowatts of this 100,000 kilowatt capacity.

May 28, 1948 Announcement was made that Gorgas No. 2 Steam Plant, in Walker County, selected for installation of the remaining 60,000 kilowatts of this capacity.

July 16, 1948 Decision reached to install 100,000 kilowatt generator at Gorgas instead of 60,000—an increase of 40,000 kilowatts.

A RECORD OF FAITH IN ALABAMA

The plants listed above total 422,000 kilowatts and represent an investment of nearly forty-two million dollars in generating equipment alone! Many other millions have been spent or will be spent for transmission and distribution lines, substations and other equipment to insure adequate and dependable electric service.

Wouldn't you call this a record of faith in Alabama?

SULPHUR FUMES KEEP DRIED APPLES WHITE

Lavada Curtis, API extension food preservation specialist, says that apples to be dried should be cut in quarters or quarter-inch rings. As they are cut, place them in a salt solution. Use two tablespoons of salt and two tablespoons of vinegar mixed with one gallon of water. When apples are ready for drying, remove them from the solution, drain, and place in single layers on wire trays.

Place trays in sulphur box located outside for 20 to 30 minutes. Remove trays and place in sun to dry.

WHEN TO PLOW PECAN ORCHARDS

Pecan orchards which have not been cultivated regularly throughout the growing season should not be plowed until October, or until all danger of new growth is past.

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the Title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages and judgments or other liens, affecting the Title, which an Abstract would set out. FIND OUT HOW SMALL YOUR WORLD IS...ON AIR FORCE DAY, SEPTEMBER 18

Do you know how many hours closer to home the farthest point on earth has been brought — just since V-J Day? Do you realize how the difficulties of defending the United States from air attack have multiplied in the last three years? Do you know the amount of Air Power this country has today? Do you know what it needs in men and material to maintain adequate Air Power?

Every American can find out — and GET TO KNOW YOUR AIR FORCE BETTER — on Air Force Day. You'll discover there's something you can do for America's Air Power.

First, and most important, is for you to learn the facts. Literature will be available at Air Force Day exhibits at Air Force Bases, National Guard Armories, Recruiting Stations and many other places.

If you are a young man from 17 to 34, you'll find that the Air Force offers you splendid training and education, with the opportunity to specialize in skills that can lead to a worthwhile career in aviation. If you are 20 to 26½, single, and have had two years of college or the equivalent, the Air Force offers you the world's finest flight training as an Aviation Cadet.

If you are still in college, you can join the Air R.O.T.C. Or, as a civilian, you can join the Air National Guard. Veterans can enlist or join the Air Force Reserve.

Watch your newspapers for the schedule of Air Force Day events and make a point of attending. If that is not possible, at least stop in and pick up a copy of the special Air Force Day pamphlet, "KNOW YOUR AIR FORCE BETTER," at any Air Force Base or U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station.

HERE'S HOW YOUR AIR FORCE IS MADE UP

THE STRATEGIC AIR COMMAND. Conducts long-range bombardment and fighter operations, independently or in co-operation with land and naval forces.

CLOVER ON BERMUDA FOR MORE GRAZING

Bermuda grass pastures in Alabama will furnish up to four months more grazing by the addition of such clovers as crimson, white Dutch, or Manganese bur.

This was determined in a study by J. M. Scholl, agronomist, and Earnest Stepart, former agronomist of the Agricultural Experiment Station, Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Common Bermuda grass has long been a pest on many farms in Alabama. However, if handled properly it can be a valuable forage plant. As a forage grass, it is well adapted to Alabama and cover a large part of the land now in pastures.

Tests conducted over the state by the Experiment Station show that Bermuda grass pastures can be greatly improved by good land preparation, inter-seeding of legumes, and good management.

TAKE TIME TO PROTECT THOSE WINTER GARDENS

A few minutes work and a little dust once a week will protect your garden from insects and diseases.

"In south Alabama, green bugs may give more trouble than all other pests combined," says J. C. Ford, API extension gardener. To control these pests, he recommends that a 20 per cent sabadilla dust be used. If green bugs are not present, the Auburn-approved garden dust is recommended. It will control most diseases, bugs, worms, and plant lice.

GRAZING MEANS MORE VITAMIN A IN MILK

Eight years of tests by the Agricultural Experiment Station of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute have proved that milk can be rich in vitamin A throughout the year.

However, this is true only when permament pasture is supplemented with temporary grazing and winter grazing crops.

Vitamin A, required by all animals, is necessary for growth, normal vision, and healthy condition of all body tissues. It is necessary throughout life, but is needed in largest amounts by children or young animals during periods of rapid growth.

For detailed information about improved pastures and grazing crops for improved vitamin A content of milk and butter, write to the Agricultural Experiment Station, Auburn, Alabama, for your free copy of Bulletin 266.

To move heavy furniture without maring the floor or linoleum, place a small piece of waxed paper under the legs.

HOW TO UP PROFIT ON SALE OF COTTONSEED

"Last year, cottonseed brought Alabama farmers almost $30,000,000," says Ralph Jones, API extension field crop marketing specialist. He points out that farmers could realize still greater returns for their cottonseed through better harvesting and marketing practices.

To do this, he recommends that farmers pick their cotton crop while dry and keep it off of the wet ground and out of the rain. Also, keep informed through county agents as to cottonseed grades and prices being paid for similar grades throughout the cotton belt.

USE COLLAR TO GIVE DRESS THAT NEW LOOK

One way to make last year's collarless dress look like a new model is to make a separate collar for it.

"A crisp white collar on a dark dress not only gives it a late style touch but also is flattering to the face," reveals Levice Ellis, API extension clothing specialist.

To save the trouble of basting collars onto dresses each time they are washed, she suggests that you make them so they can be snapped or buttoned onto dresses.

A snap on each shoulder may be helpful as well as one at the front and another at the back. "If the design permits, sew a button at the neck of the dress and make buttonholes in each end of the collar," advises Miss Ellis.

Miss Evelyn King, Henry Paul Emens Are Married In Greenville

Cordial social interest in the marriage of Miss Edith Evelyn King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. King, and Henry Paul Emens, of Birmingham, which was solemnized at an impressive ceremony on Sunday afternoon at five o'clock at the First Baptist Church. Reverend Joseph Avery, pastor of the church, officiated in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends.

The church decorations, of unusual beauty and simplicity were confined to the altar and window recesses. The background of southern smilax and ferns was interspersed with gardenias, and against this standard baskets of white gladioli and pom pom dahlias alternated with cathedral candelabra holding burning white tapers. Four candles based in smilax burned in each window on either side of the church.

While the guests were assembling a program of organ music was rendered by Mrs. Philip V. Speir. She played "Romance" (Rubenstein), and "Oh Promise Me" (DeKovan). Mrs. Raymond Mims, of Clanton, soprano, sang "Because" (d'Hardelot), "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" (Herbert), and "How Do I Love Thee" (Lippe). The traditional wedding marches were played for processional and recessional.

The ushers were Hugh Dudley, of Pineapple; Wylie Stanford of Pineapple; Mervin Norton, of Birmingham; John Puckett, of Birmingham; John Morgan Foshee, of Clanton; and Harry Poole of Greenville.

The candles were lighted by Mr. Foshee and Mr. Norton.

Fred E. Emens of Birmingham served as best man.

The bridesmaids were Miss Bobbie King, sister of the bride, Miss Prather Beeland, Miss Rosalyn Anderson, Miss Bobbie Bryson and Miss Emogene Emens, sister of the groom, of Birmingham.

Their dresses were identical in design, made of pastel organdy with off-shoulder berthas edged in organdy ruffles. The bouffant skirts were finished with rows of organdy ruffling. They wore halo hats and mitts matching, Miss Emens wore yellow, Miss Anderson, blue; Miss Bryson, pale green; Miss Bobbie King, pink; and Miss Beeland, pale pink.

Miss Dalene King was her sister's maid of honor, and her gown was of orchid organdy, featuring a ruffled off-shoulder neckline and a full skirt made entirely of organdy ruffles. Her off-face hat and mitts were of organdy in the same shade as her dress.

J. T. King gave his daughter in marriage.

The loveliness of the bride was enhanced by her bridal gown of white satin. Chantilly lace outlined the mist yoke and formed deep lace scallops across the front of the full-flowing skirt and court train. Satin covered buttons fastened the basque bodice and long pointed sleeves. Her veil of French illusion cascaded from a heart-shaped bonnet of shirred illusion and orange blossoms. The bridal bouquet was a crescent of white chrysanthemums.

Mrs. King wore for her daughter's wedding a dress of forest green with matching hat and black accessories. Her flowers were a corsage of yellow pom pom chrysanthemums. Mrs. F. E. Emens, mother of the groom, were gray crepe and her corsage was of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was given for the members of the bridal party and out-of-town guests by the parents of the bride at their home on Fort Dale Road.

The living room was handsomely decorated with arrangements of dahlias and gladioli. In the dining room the bride's table covered with an imported lace cloth, held the three tiered wedding cake which was embossed in pink and white and encircled with ferns. On the top tier of the cake a miniature bride and groom stood under an arch of satin ribbon in which were tied two silver wedding bells.

Miss Sue Dunn cut the cake, and she was assisted in serving by Miss Helen Parrish, Miss Ann Trice, and Miss Nancy Towery.

HIGHLAND

We had good attendance at Sunday School Sunday, also a very nice size congregation at the 11 o'clock worship service. Bro. Deason brought a very timely message, especially for the church members.

We, as church members, would be much better representatives of Christ and the church if we were more consistent in these things. The lost would seek the chuch instead of having to be sought by the church.

We were very glad to have several visitors with us Sunday.

Every Sunday School member endeavor to be at church next Sunday. Officers and teachers for the next associational year are to be elected, and then after the selection, everyone should back them up by our presence and cooperation each Sunday. — Reporter.

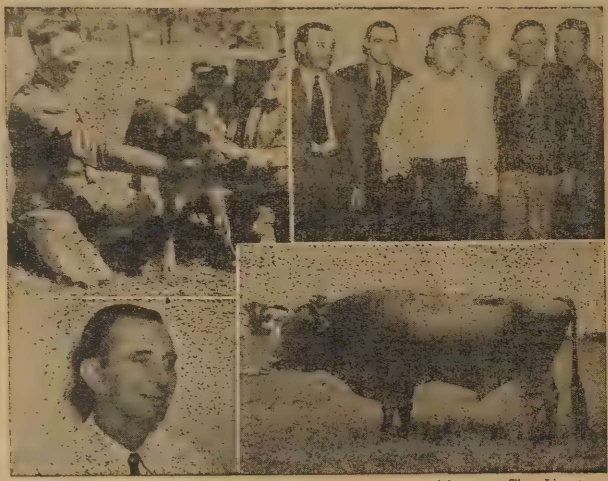
Scenes And Workers In Artificial Breeding Groups



Artificial breeding aids dairy industry. Service of bulls like the one here, is available to dairymen in counties where artificial breeding programs are started. The bull is Ena Donne Belle Son, a four-star jersey and one of 11 males in the state stud at Auburn.

(By BILL KENNEDY)

Auburn, Ala. — Artificial breeding of dairy cows has reached a stage where it is of real service to Alabama dairymen. Its growth in service and efficiency is marked by the series of rapid developments in the past six months.

With these statements, John Parrish, (Russell) API Extension Service dairyman, reports that 3,071 cows were bred artificially during the first six months of this year. Seventeen counties now have active breeding associations.

Parrish says the conception rate for artificially bred cows increased from 40% in 1947 to 57% this year. This rate continues to climb, it was pointed out.

They Had To Work

County artificial breeding associations, assisted by the Extension Service and Experiment Station of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute have made a vigorous attempt to get the program on a sound basis, the report stated.

In April a training course was held at Auburn for county agents and local technicians to acquaint them with techniques and general practices employed in artificial breeding of dairy cattle.

Meetings were held during May and June by all county directors of artificial associations. At each of these meetings Parrish and W. B. Prather, field supervisor of technicians, gave reports on the program and made suggestions on how to improve its functions.

A meeting of county directors was called in July to set up a state organization. This group will advise with local units and govern policies of the program.

What The Program Does

"The greatest advantage of this program is that it makes available to the average dairymen bulls of high quality. The average Alabama cow produces 3,512 pounds of milk and 190 pounds of butterfat, "Parrish continued. "The daughter of that cow will produce 6,090 pounds of milk and 300 pounds of butterfat if the cow is bred to a bull with a high production index like those of the bulls in the state stud at Auburn."

Males in the stud at Auburn include several Jerseys, one proven and two tested, and four Guernseys one of which is proven. Parrish said all bulls are of top quality breeding.

The artificial breeding program is available to all counties in the state that set up breeding associations and register a minimum of 1,200 cows.

Will Speak To Clanton Pilots

The Pilot Club of Clanton is privileged to have Mr. Earl P. Andrews speak before them next Tuesday, September 28th. His subject will be "The Key to Happiness.' MR. EARL P. ANDREWS

JERSEY CATTLE SHOW HERE NEXT SATURDAY

The annual purebred Jersey show is again being sponsored by the Chilton County Jersey Cattle Club. The show is scheduled for Saturday, September 25 and will be held in Clanton at the City Park. Judging will start at 10:00 o'clock.

Approximately fifty purebred Jerseys will be entered in the show. While the show entries are being limited to registered Jerseys, anyone may enter animals regardless of whether they have membership in the club or not.

In view of the fact that Chilton County farmers may soon have a market for their milk, the Jersey show should be of interest to everyone. The sole purpose of a show of this type is to create greater interest in breeding higher producing dairy animals. On the day of the show the best Jerseys in Chilton County will be on exhibit and everyone is urged to see these fine animals.

Awards have been announced and are listed below. Contestants for the purebred Jersey heifer will be limited to 4-H Club members only. This award will be based on showmanship, and on how well the 4-H Club boys' or girls' individual animal is fitted.

GET BEHIND THE MAN

In Monday's municipal election Mr. C. Fenn Jones was elected to serve as Clanton's Mayor for the next four years.

Mr. Jones served as mayor first in 1934 and was re-elected in 1936 for four years. This will be his third term as mayor. He has had the experience to make us a good mayor and during past terms has given Clanton some of her most needed improvements.

It was during his administration that the present water plant was constructed. The city limits were extended and suitable pipelines for water and sewage extended to the new territory.

The present City Hall was constructed. The modern concrete bridge on Lay Dam road was built. Many streets were paved.

Yes, Mr. Jones can make Clanton a good, progressive Mayor The success or failure of his administration depends a lot on the citizens getting behind him and lending every aid in building a bigger and better city.

Our best wishes and congratulations are extended to Mr. Jones and we will work with him in every way for success during his term of office.

Adios, Leo. You can rest assured that yours was a job well done. Clanton has grown faster and progressed more during your term of office than under any other mayor. The people are indebted to you for a clean, progressive administration. The News management congratulates you and your Council on your fine accomplishments.

In line, too, for congratulation today, is Mack Wyatt, long time resident of Chilton County, but now at Montevallo. Mack was elected Mayor of that fine college town in Monday's election. His many friends here will wish him much success in his administration.

HOW TO GET $10,000

Owners of land may make some money by hunting for uranium deposits. The Government has offered a $10,000 bonus, plus substantial royalties, to those who find the ore on their land.

Recently, a farmer in California discovered kaolin and asserts that preliminary tests prove that it is "plenty hot" with uranium. Since the Government is the only miner and only buyer of uranium, those who discover the valuable ore on their land must notify Federal authorities.

So, if you need a little ready cash, all you have to do is to go out on your land, with some knowledge of mineralogy, perhaps, and discover a vein of something that carries uranium in it.

BLOCKADE FAILS SO FAR

The Russian blockade of Berlin has, so far, failed to accomplish the purposes of the Soviet leaders who expected one of two things, either a western withdrawal from the German capital or abandonment of the project to set up a western German government.

Moreover, newspaper writers suggest that the Soviet has done itself immense propaganda damage, losing much ground in their campaign to persuade the Germans that Russia is a real friend.

In addition, the Germans involved in the western government to be set up by the western nations were not very enthusiastic until the Russians blockaded the capitol. This accomplished more than allied persuasion to make the western Germans like the idea.

The western powers remain in a position to block the Russian dream of turning eastern Germany into a Soviet satellite. Nevertheless, the Russians, having failed to secure results by the indirect methods of the blockade, seem to be turning to more direct methods, as witness the operations of Communism mobs against the Berlin city government.

Folks and Things About Town

Understand two ladies started for the ball game Friday night and ended up waiting in front of the City Park for the lights to be turned on. When the light did dawn, it was in their heads and they realized the boys were playing football that night and it was at the high school athletic field and not at the park in front of which they were parked.

Fashion Note: The latest thing in me ladies hats will be featured this late summer and fall at The Hat Shop which will be opened in the near future. Mrs. Chester Mims and Mrs. Joe Calloway are the owners and the location is next door to Calloway's Drug Store.

Aren't we growing though. We will not attempt to name all the new businesses just opened or getting ready to open here, but the number would surprise you. There are at least a dozen.

* * * *

Speaking of new businesses we got to go by Ray Emfinger's and take a look at our feet. First we got to go wash them cause that lady that operates the machine might want to take a look. Understand that the machine is really something and will do away with ill fitting shoes. We might try that thing out on the next pair of shoes we buy if by that time we ain't down to bed room slippers.

* * * *

We were really surprised at the appearance of the Chilton County High School gridiron Friday night. Mr. Patterson Hicks hadn't told us that it looked like a green carpet over there and was a thing of beauty. We are growing in more ways than buildings and businesses around here, what with our city park and our very beautiful high school athletic field.

You never saw such a variety of nice "gifts" as is being displayed by Loren Smith at Upchurch Drug Store. Run into Grady and Mary Heflin there the other night making an inspection tour and they agreed that the display was beautiful. According to Loren he has anything from a dime to ten dollars and just about anything that you could want is there. It would be a nice place for you to buy our Christmas present.

Why do drivers of motor vehicles insist on getting in the way of fire trucks, ambulances, and the like when they should know that it is for their own good to clear the highway or street for any motor vehicle that the law allows to use a siren. Just any automobile cannot use a siren. They are only allowed on vehicles that from necessity must get through traffic in a hurry and thus are allowed the right-of-way. The next time you are driving the highways and hear a siren, pull over and stop until the danger clears. If it wasn't a trip of vital importance the law would not give them the right to that siren and the right-of-way. By obeying the sound of the next siren you hear you may save a life or someone's home or business.

Did you have a Sunday School Class meeting this week? Did your Circle meet? Was there a picnic? A church supper? Well, what did your church do? We are always glad to get reports on this sort of thing and wish you would jot down a few lines each week about the doings at your church and send it in to us. Understand, there is no charge, we're more than glad to get it. Try it next week, and remember, see if you can't get the copy to us before Tuesday noon.

TITHING

The tithing question is forever settled in heaven. It was before the Law; while the Law was in force, and Jesus approved of tithing, saying, "These ought ye to have done, and not to leave the other (paying tithes) undone." The plan has never been changed, and never will be as long as Jesus Christ remains our High Priest, and there is a need for the preaching of the Gospel of Jesus Christ on earth to men. The tithing system and plan is as unchangeable as God Himself since it is His Word. His Word abideth forever.

HOW TITHES SHOULD BE USED

In Numbers 18:24, we read, "But the tithes of the children of Israel which they offer as an heave offering unto the Lord, I have given to the Levites to inherit, therefore I have said unto them, among the children of Israel they shall have no inheritance." The Levites were the minister of the Lord and of the people. They were not to be engaged in business for themselves. They were to minister about the Tabernacle, and of holy things. They were to have no inheritance among the children of Israel. But the tenth of all Israel was to be their portion. This is typical of those who have been called of God, and sanctified by the Holy Ghost to preach the Gospel of Jesus Christ without charge, but willingly, not for filthy lucure sake, but of a ready mind. The tithes of the Christian congregation is to be the portion paid for the minister's service. The tithe of "spiritual Israel" is to be their portion now and forever. Paul writing to Timothy, said, "No man that warreth entangleth himself with the affairs of this life; that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier." (II Tim. 2:4). And again,

"Even so hath the Lord ordained that which preach the Gospel should live of the Gospel." (I Cor. 9:14). If the minister sows unto you spiritual things, is it a great thing if he reaps your carnal things?

Since the Bible plainly teach that the tenth is holy unto the Lord, and that all the tithe, whether of the flock, or of the land, or of the fruit of the tree is the Lord's. It is holy unto the Lord; we should therefore ask ourselves the question, "Is it a sin to steal from God? Or would our withholding the tithe or refusing to pay the tithe, be counted sin in the eyes of the Lord? According to Mal. 3:8, it is a sin of robbery to withhold the tithes and offerings. At the coming of our Lord, those who have withheld God's tithes will find themselves living under Scriptual condemnation, and classed as robbers in the eyes of Almighty God. When the tithes are not paid into the House of the Lord, there is an unspeakable hinderance to the spread of the Gospel of Christ. As the result of this hinderance, unnumbered thousands of souls are lost without hearing the Gospel of Christ. The withholding of God's tithes will result in God's ministers and missionaries to suffer needlessly, and the progress of the work of the Church, both at home, and abroad, to be retarded. The withholding of the tithes also brings a curse upon the guilty robber, and his own spirituality wanes. He becomes lukewarm, and there is a lack of power in his own life to overcome sin. Besides, he suffers many other ways.

In view of the Bible teaching on these facts, with which every rightful thinking person will agree; we would advise those who are waiting for the coming of the Lord, and are wanting to be ready when he comes, not to hold back any part of God's tithes. It will pay ten thousand times to have a clean slate, and a clear conscience on that day when we as stewards are called before the righteous Judge to give account of our stewardship.

CUT MEAT BUDGET BY SERVING MORE FRYERS

The housewife should substitute fryers and broilers for other meats, according to John Weeks, API extension marketing specialist.

His reasons are that there is a short supply of both beef and pork, but there is a good supply of broilers and fryers available.

Poultry furnishes one of the best meat bargains on the market. Weeks says that fried chicken has moved out of the luxury meat class and is now in the same price bracket with roast and low quality cuts of beef and pork.

For the wife that wants to buy her meat ready for the frying pan, most of the larger stores and markets are featuring cut-up chicken. She can select the white or dark meat according to the family likes.

Weeks points out that budget minded housewives usually select all white meat for Sunday dinners and inexpensive wings and backs for a chicken pot pie during the week.

LET'S NOT WAIT UNTIL FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Fire Prevention Week will be observed October 3-9, but right now is always the best time to find and eliminate any cause for a fire on your farm.

The most common causes of farm fires, according to the National Fire Waste Council, include defective flues and heating systems; sparks on combustible roofs; misuse of gasoline and petroleum products; spontaneous combustion of hay, oily rags; lightening striking unprotected building; stoves, furnaces and their pipes; matches and smoking; defective wiring and misuse of electricity; and, hot aches and coals, including open fires.

Play safe, keep causes of destructive fires on your mind and eliminate them from your farm.

HOW TO ESTIMATE YOUR CORN YIELD

Alabama farmers, with at least five acres of corn, who average 50 bushels or more per acre on their entire crop will receive recognition from the API Agricultural Extension Service.

J. C. Lowery, API extension agronomist, urges those farmers who think they might qualify for this recognition to ask the local county agent to help them estimate their corn yield.

"If you have only one acre of corn, you can find out your per acre yield by marking off 100 feet of row in three separate locations. After this is done, harvest and weigh the corn from the 300 feet of row. Mail the total weight and width of rows to the county agent. In a few days you will receive per your acre corn yield. But, remember, to qualify for the special recognition, you must average 50 bushels of corn or more on five or more acres," Lowery says.

He adds that a farmer with five acres of corn should make at least two yield checks. This means that he should measue three, 100-foot row sections at two different places in the field, then figure the yield of each as if it were one acre. Send these figures, along with width of rows, to the county agent.

"For a 50-acre field, make 10 different yield checks," says Lowery. "Be sure they are made in scattered sections through the 50-acre field."

ALABAMA DAIRY SHOWS OFF TO GOOD START

Alabama dairy shows now underway are making it possible for 4-H Club and FFA boys and girls, as well as adult farmers, to see the best dairy animals in the state.

J. R. Parrish, API extension dairyman, says that already shows have been held in Gadsden, Decatur and Fayette. He believes that those who are interested in dairying will want to attend one or more of the remaining shows. The places and dates are Dadeville, September 24-25; Montgomery, September 27-28; and Demopolis, September 30 to October 1.

The state dairy show, planned as part of the State Fair in Birmingham, has been set for October 4-9. "It will wind up the fall series of shows," adds Parrish.

COTTON BREEDER SEED PRIORITY

Commercial cottonseed breeders have agreed to give priority to one-variety cotton communities that place orders for breeder seed prior to October 1.

NATIONAL EGG AND POULTRY SALES

Four billion 400 million dollars were spent for eggs and poultry meat last year. Eggs accounted for the major portion of that total.

PERHAPS YOU QUALIFY FOR 100-BUSHEL CLUB

Anybody in Alabama who grew 100 bushels of corn or more on one acre this year is eligible for membership in Alabama's 100-Bushel Corn Club.

"To find out if you qualify for membership," says J. C. Lowery, API extension agronomist, "you must have measurements of your land and corn yields checked by three farmers not interested in the crop."

He warns that picking special fertile spots of land in a field is not permissible. Also, yield measurements have to be made by a formula furnished by the local county agent.

Lowery urges those who think they might be eligible for membership in the Alabama 100-Bushel Corn Club to get in touch with their county agents.

WHY PROVIDE WINTER GRAZING FOR COWS?

"Dairy cattle get their best and cheapest feed from pasture," declares J. R. Parrish, API extension dairyman.

He emphasizes the fact that cows need less grain and their milk is of better quality when they are on good pasture.

Experiments prove that a good dairy cow on the right amount of pasture will give from 25 to 30 pounds of milk a day. A cow not on good pasture will require a feeding of hay or silage and grain.

Parrish says that the savings on feed alone made by dairy farmers who provide good pastures certainly show what can be done to increase the dairyman's income.

He asks the question, "Will you do your part to make Alabama pastures green this winter?"

FROZEN CHICKEN FOR UNEXPECTED GUESTS

One way to please unexpected guests is to keep a supply of cooked chicken in your home freezing unit.

"The way to prepare chicken for freezing," Lavada Curtis, API extension food preservation specialist, "is to cook it in a pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure for 40 minutes.' She explains that this will make the chicken very tender.

After cooking, cool, then remove from bones and cut in half-inch pieces. Chill, then make a compact roll. Wrap roll in cellophane paper. After this, wrap in heavy paper and store in home freezer unit.

"When those unexpected guests arrive,' says Miss Curtis, "you will have chicken already cooked which you may use to prepare a chicken loaf, chicken a la king, or chicken salad."

Doctor Reports New Drug Which Arrests Leukemia

BOSTON.—Development of a new drug credited with arresting acute leukemia in children was reported by Dr. Sidney Farber, pathologist-in-chief of the Boston Children's hospital.

Dr. Farber said the drug, aminopterin, had been tested at the hospital for several months. In that time, it had caused "repeated remissions" of the white blood count in 11 children stricken with leukemia, he said.

He warned against "false hope," asserting further study and research was required.

The tests, however, marked the first time doctors had been able to reduce the white blood count more than once, Dr. Farber declared.

Fifteen young leukemia victims were subjected to the tests. Eight of them showed great improvement and three some improvement. Three of the remaining four died. The fourth showed no improvement. Dr. Farber said, however, that these four were too seriously ill to be treated fully.

He said present results represented a definite "step in the right direction." The disease is usually fatal.

TURNIPS

Following periods of excessive rain, especially on sandy land, top or side dress turnips with two quarts of mixed fertilizer to 100 feet of row. Also, a pint of nitrate of soda applied every 30 days is worth while.

DEVELOP A CONSTANT MARKET OUTLET

Consumers and trade people demand a constant supply of most farm products. This is an important consideration many times overlooked by farmers when making their production and marketing plans.

SUPPLEMENTAL IRRIGATION

Most supplemental irrigation projects run $100 per acre. Increased yields frequently pay the entire cost of equipment the first year.

EXTRA DOLLARS FROM COTTON

Keep trash out of cotton while picking, handling and storing. It is misleading to think a bigger turn out results from letting seed, dirt and trash go into the bale. Clean cotton always means more money.

FESCUE GRASS ON TRIAL IN ALABAMA

Alabama farmers trying fescue grass find that it is not a substitute for bluegrass, orchard grass, Dallis grass and Johnson grass.

However, these farmers believe that it may have an important place in Alabama for late fall and winter grazing. The dense sod makes grazing possible when grazing could not be done on recently prepared land for crops like crimson clover and ryegrass.

J. C. Lowery, API extension agronomist, says that fescue grass may prove to be a valuable crop to supplement the reseeding winter grazing crops such as crimson clover or burr clover.

He recommends that fescue grass be given a trial on a fairly small scale by a large number of farmers. 'Plantings may be made any time between now and October 15," Lowery adds.

REMOVE SCRATCHES ON STAINED FINISH

To remove fine scratches cut through a stained finish, Alice Peavy, API extension home management specialist, says to mix oil paint, the same color of the finish, with varnish. Add a drop or two of Japan drier. Then, using the tip of a small pointed brush, fill the scratches with the mixture and smooth out the hard edges lightly with a finger.

"When the mixture is thoroughly dry," says Miss Peavy, "add second coat, if needed, making it match the old finish exactly. Let dry and then rub the whole surface with furniture polish."

Alabama State Fair Week Of Oct. 4-9

Probate Judge W. L. Parrish today reminded the residents of Chilton County that the Alabama State Fair to be held in Birmingham the week of October 4-9 promises to be the best in the history of the event and urged all residents of this county to visit the Alabama State Fair if possible.

A brightly colored poster now adorns the walls of the Chilton County courthouse telling of the many attractions of this year's Fair. The poster reminds Chilton Countians that the State Dairy Cattle Show and the State Beef Cattle Show will be held at this year's Fair and that prizes aggregating $10,000.00 will be given the ribbon winners.

Attention is also focused on the new Industrial Arts Building where the story of Alabama industry and the part it plays in the promotion and growth of the state is graphically depicted. This show will be held in the glistening steel and concrete structure that will be opened for the first time during the Fair.

A Coon Dog Show, a Rabbit Show and a Poultry Exhibit are features that will be shown in the Pool Building and has been redecorated for this year's Fair.

There will be the 4-H, FFA, FHA and other exhibits in which the youngsters of the state will show the progress that they have been making in their home and farm work.

In addition to the educational and cultural features this year's Fair will also feature the return of the Royal American Shows, "the world's finest" which assures a good time for everyone.

"Be sure and attend this year's State Fair," Judge Parrish urged, pointing out that "the annual State Fair adds to the cultural, educational and financial improvement of the state as a whole and to every individual citizen. The constant striving to improve stock breeds and the cultural arts is enhancing the revenue coming into Alabama and is bringing more prosperity to the section and to each of its residents. Alabama is progressing rapidly and the State Fair is adding materially to this prograss," Judge Parrish says.

The Judge added, "Remember, too, Chilton County Peaches Are Tops."

VETERANS AGRICULTURE TEACHERS VISIT PFISTER ASSOCIATED GROWERS

On September 13th the Veterans' Ariculture Teachers left Clanton at 5 o'clock to tour the Pfister Associated Growers, Inc., Huntsville, Ala. On the way the teachers stopped in Warrior and looked at the market shed.

The tour at Huntsville began at ten o'clock and the boys saw how hybrid corn was produced. They were particularly interested in a new variety for Chilton County. Hybrid No. 170 and 630 will be on the market this fall. Hybrid No. 170 is a long yellow corn and the 630 is a white variety.

At twelve o'clock the company gave a barbecue which the teachers attended and was enjoyed by all.

The afternoon tour was spent in the field getting first hand information on the development of hybrid corn and then a tour was made to the one variety cotton fields.

Sixty men own over fifty-nine hundred acres and they organized and planted only one variety. The gin will not gin any other variety of cotton and by this method they have their seed certified and sell certified seed. The teachers were very interested in this organization

The teachers making the trip were: Arthur Henley, George Smith, Hilman Mims, Howard Mims, Willie Smith, Raymond Cobb, Glenn Sessions, Hoyt Burgess, Quinton Cummings, Elijah Smith, Dave Tingle, Marvin Lowery, Ferrell Williamson, Marion Headley, Ed Blackmon, Howard Maddox and S. E. Maddox.

I wish that all farmers in Chilton County could make this tour as I know that this trip will mean so much to the Veterans' Ariculture teachers. —Maynard (Dave) Tingle, Head Veterans' Agriculture Teacher.

TIMBER PRODUCTION

It has been proved that Alabama's average yield of four-tenths of a cord per acre per year can be increased four times by a well managed forestry program.

PICK COTTON CLEAN AND DRY

If some cotton must be picked while damp from dew or rain, spread it out on sheets in the field or in wagon or truck beds where it can be turned and dried before hauling. If at all possible let it dry on the stalk.

If you have to do your darning at night, get into the habit of mendink the socks over a lighted flashlight. This will relieve some of the strain on your eyes.

Shoe pockets hung on the inside of a cleaning closet door make a useful container for many small articles such as dustcloths and brushes.

Beer in Cellophane?

Folks in our town are used to buying sweet corn in the husk from Sam Abernathy's bins. Then one day, lo and behold, Sam is selling the corn already husked and wrapped in cellophane!

He got the idea from the State University, which reported that pre-packaged corn could boost sales as much as 100 per cent. Seems that folks like to see what they're getting, and like it attractively presented, too.

The brewers know that—which is why they have their program of Self Regulation. They want a wholesome beverage like beer presented in nice surroundings. When an outlet isn't a credit to the community, they go to the owner and ask him to clean up the place.

From where I sit, if you have a popular product like sweet corn or mellow beer, it's common sense to present it as attractively as possible—in clear cellophane (the corn, that is) and clean outlets.

The best way to remove grime from work clothes is to soak them in a solution of kerosene and water.

When sprinkling garments for ironing, fold them loosely, never in tight bundles. Tight rolling increases the number of wrinkles to be ironed out. Moisture does not evaporate from loosely folded clothing, but spreads more evenly throughout the garments.

Use stepped shelves or half-shelves to utilize all space for storage in kitchen cabinets.

New Grille of '49 Kaiser

MASSIVE HORIZONTAL BARS which blend with a new one-piece, wrap-around bumper feature the front-end styling of the 1949 Kaiser DeLuxe sedan. Extra large parking and directional turn lamps, plus a new hood-mounted "Buffalo-K" emblem, distinguish the simplified grille design. The 1949 model embodies more than a hundred improvements.

Longer, Lower Kaiser For 1949 Features 42 Body Styling Changes

WILLOW RUN, Mich.—Completely re-engineered for 1949, the Kaiser Special and Kaiser DeLuxe sedans have a new look inside and out.

Forty-two changes — which include a new grille, bumpers, body and fender panels, instrument panel and interior appointments — have given the '49 sedans a silhouette three inches lower in appearance than in former models. The new overall length of Kaiser models is 206½ inches, an increase of 3½ inches.

Horizontal bars which blend with a massive one-piece, wrap-around bumper distinguish the new front-end styling. Incorporated in the grille are extra large parking lamps, with a newly designed "Buffalo-K" emblem on the hood as a part of the chrome grille trim.

An actual overall height of 64½ inches has been maintained in the new models, although stylewise the silhouette appears three inches lower through redesigned, longer - skirted fenders and lower chrome-trimmed rocker panels which are integral with the body.

Other exterior features include new pull-type door handles, lower rear license plate mounting, a new trunk lid handle and massive chrome tail and stop lights.

An exclusive in the Kaiser DeLuxe is a distinguishing chrome script plate on each front fender identifying the color in which the car is styled. Fifteen colors are in the DeLuxe body line.

A new instrument panel dominates the completely restyled interiors of the '49 models. Soft, indirect lighting illuminates the dial-type speedometer and other guages in which indicators are silicone-treated to eliminate wavering.

Through a rheostat control, the driver may lower not only the panel lighting, but radio dial illumination as well. Lighting can be reduced to a degree where only the numerals and pointer of the speedometer appear.

Interior fittings have been redesigned throughout, and are finished in chrome in the Kaiser DeLuxe and pearl plastic in the Kaiser Special.

Unusual features are chrome assist handles which provide finger leverage for thumb operation of push-button door controls, and a sliding latch on the face of the upholstery panel which replaces the conventional plunger-type door molding lock.

Additional innovations in the Kaiser DeLuze are a custom ash receiver and electric cigaret lighter for rear seat passengers, and front compartment carpeting with rubber pedal and heel pads in colors to harmonize with interior styling.

Physically Handicapped Week October 3-9

At a meeting held in the local Alabama State Employment Service Office Friday, Sept. 10, a committee was formed to prepare plans for observing the week of October 3-9 as National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week. Representatives from several civic and veterans organizations were present and took part in discussion of ways in which to bring to the attention of the public and employers in particular, the source of available skills in the handicapped people of our country. The following sub-committees were formed with chairmen and co-chairmen as named: Publicity, Raymond Mims, Ben Rath and Silsbee McNeil; Contact and Speakers, Jimmie McDow and Hobson Searcy; Display, Truman Luker and Horace Jones. All these committees will receive the assistance of the Alabama State Employment Service stated Walker Allen, manager of the local office.

All activities during this week will be directed toward developing job openings for the handicapped worker. He finds it more difficult, far more frustrating to match his aptitudes and abilities with job openings than does his unimpaired fellow. Custom has placed a premium on high standards of physical perfection without regard for the demands of the job to be done. Again, this year the slogans will be—Hire The Handicapped It's Good Business and Ability Not Disability Counts. Employers are invited to contact the local employment office where assistance will be given to place the right disabled worker on the right job.

The term "pressing" means setting the iron directly down upon fabric and lifting it directly up without to and fro action. Woolens should always be pressed to avoid ruining the shape of the garment and the surface finish of the material. Likewise, laces, nets and other delicate materials should be pressed to avoid tearing the material.

Iowa Farmer's Offer Of Free Property Draws 'Nice Letters'

LE MARS, IOWA.—Marriage proposals, requests for donations to charitable institutions and just plain begging letters and telegrams are piling up at the home of Herman R. Schultz.

The reason is that Schultz, 75-year-old bachelor, has announced that he wants to give away one million dollars' worth of property to relatives and friends.

The property includes 42 farms in Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota and South Dakota.

Besides the 10,000 acres, Schultz, who started out as a farm hand, intends to dispose of town properties and securities. He will retain only enough to live comfortably.

"I got a couple of letters from widows, enclosing their pictures," Schultz said. "Both of the ladies are very good looking.

"They wrote nice letters. There wasn't anything so crude as suggesting marriage in those, but proposals of marriage are arriving daily.

"I don't want to marry now at my age, but I advise all people to marry. Single life is no good.

"I've had lots of fun amassing this fortune. If those to whom I give it have half as much fun spending it as I had earning it, they will really be having fun.

"But I get more kick out of making money than in spending it.

"I feel amply rewarded for a lifetime of toil, saving and privation by seeing the pleasure others get out of receiving the property."

Farmer Finds His "Rooster" Is Nothing to Crow About

MOULTRIE, OKLA.—Kent Upson thought his chicken was a rooster when it was born. So he gave it the name of Nicodemus.

Then he found that the chicken is not only a lady but likes fancy surroundings for egg laying.

Nicodemus hopped right onto Upson's bed one morning and laid an egg. Up to then the hen had scratched at the kitchen door every morning. When admitted, she headed for the basement to lay an egg.

But now, according to Upson, Nicodemus gets locked out of the house altogether.

Lightweight Streamliner Will Travel 150 M.P.H.

CLEVELAND. — A lightweight train, based on a new concept of railroad design and capable of speeds up to 150 miles an hour is on the planning boards of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway company.

The train is said to mark the most radical departure from conventional equipment since the days of George Pullman.

It will weigh only one-quarter as much as the conventional train, the firm said, and will provide for greater comfort and safety.

The features which will permit the high speeds are the use of smaller units with a drastically lowered center of gravity and employment of a "roller coaster" truck principle.

There will be a single pair of wheels at the rear of each car, with the forward support for each car provided by a coupling to a preceding unit.

In place of standard 36-inch railway wheels, the cars will have 28-inch wheels, using rubber centers.

To be equipped with new type engines, the train is expected to reach speeds of 90 miles an hour from a stationary position in four minutes against nine minutes now required by the largest locomotive hauling a standard train.

Plugging too many electric appliances into one outlet cuts the current and means less power and dimmer lights.

Ex-Drinker Who Lost Millions Aids Alcoholics

BRIDGETON, N. J.—Back in the 1920s, J. Robley Tucker, Camden, N. J., drank away the 10 million dollar real estate fortune which he had amassed at the age of 25 and which had earned him the label, in newspapers and magazines, of "the boy wizard of real estate."

In the next 10 years, unable to hold even a Works Progress administration grass-cutting job, he peddled stockings and razor blades to get money for 10-cent whisky and flophouse lodgings. In 1937 he sobered up.

"I realized finally," he says now, "I had two choices — slow suicide or salvage."

Now the choice he made is paying off—not only for the soft-spoken, blue-eyed real estate broker, back in business on a modest scale, but for scores of other men and women in this area who are waging the fight against alcohol which he himself managed to win.

Trustees Supervise

A board of trustees composed of church officials, business men and civic leaders will take over a 22 room home here called Ivy Manor, which Tucker founded two years ago as a non-profit institution for alcoholics and where he has since succeeded in "drying out" at least 150 of the 200 addicts who have come there. The home, ironically, was built in 1800 by a wealthy liquor distiller.

Tucker came to Camden in 1919 with an army discharge and 89 cents. After selling newspapers and clerking in a law office, he foresaw the potentialities of southern New Jersey real estate as a result of the proposed Camden-Philadelphia highway bridge. Cashing a $100 soldier's bonus and withdrawing $27 savings from the bank, he went into business. His first commission was not cash but a live pig. But by 1922, through astute choice of options and good bargaining, he had $25,000.

Business Skyrockets

In October, 1925, his firm—with a staff of 600 and offices in New York, Boston, Chicago, Miami and half a dozen other cities—did 16 million dollars' worth of straight real estate business. By the year's end, business topped 80 million dollars.

Tucker recalls that he read the annual report and went on a week-long spree. He had been drinking in increasing quantities, but this was the beginning of the end. Rumors spread; within a year word passed that Bob Tucker was going broke. He tried to stem the rumors, once staging a $100,000 week-end in New York for more than 1,000 acquaintances. But the banks began to close in, and his fortune soon dwindled.

DON'T MIX CORN

The trade does not want mixed corn. If you are producing corn for market, grow only one color. If more than one color is grown, then take care that varieties are not mixed during and after harvest.

BUY ENRICHED CORN MEAL

Ingredients added to enriched corn meal are calcium, iron, thiamin known as vitamin B1, riboflavin, and niacin. When these minerals and vitamins are added to corn meal, a good food is made much better.

To preserve the red color of beets when canning them, add no salt and do not let cold water touch the beets after they are peeled.

Wrap dampened colored clothes in waxed paper, to keep them from fading onto other clothes in the basket.

Avoid stale odors in your pressure cooker and other cooking utensils by slightly open when the utensil is not in use.

Carnation Milk Company Ready To Start Milk Routes In County

Recent contacts with representatives of the Carnation Milk Company indicate that the Company is willing and ready to start "B" grade milk routes in Chilton County.

Proposed milk market would be handled on a program similiar to the 1943-44 market. That is, milk will be picked along various roads in the county in 5 or 10 gallon cans and trucked to a central point.

Farmers throughout the County are being contacted and interest is very high in the establishment of a permanent milk outlet.

To determine the volume of milk that can be expected this fall—if now is the time to start—meetings are being called according to the schedule given below:

All meetings will begin at 7:00 p.m.

Mars Hill-Freeman — Mars Hill Church, Thursday, September 16.

Minooka — Shiloh, Friday, September 17.

Pates Chapel—Pates Chapel Church, Saturday, September 18.

Jemison — High School, Monday, September 20.

Pleasant Grove-Macedonia — Pleasant Grove Church, Tuesday, September 21.

Isabella — High School, Wednesday, September 22.

All farmers interested in more details on the proposed milk market are encouraged to attend one of these meetings.

We need a wholesale milk market in Chilton. The price of milk is high now. Interest shown at the above schedule and other meetings will determine whether or not we can begin this important project now.

Horses Run Amuck in Town; Wreck Auto and Stop Sign

MOLINE, ILL.—Police Magistrate Ralph Stephenson had to delve into history to find a complaint on which to issue a warrant for the arrest of Frank Powell, Rock Island, Ill.

Powell left a team of horses unattended in an alley. Children threw rocks at them and they bolted.

They wrecked the wagon, damaged an automobile, almost ran into the front window of a tavern and crashed into a stop sign.

Powell was charged under an 1872 ordinance with leaving horses unattended.

CEDAR GROVE

Next Sunday is our regular preaching day. Everyone is invited to come out and hear the new pastor.

We usually have singing on the fourth Sunday afternoon, but because of the all-day singing at Liberty Hill Chrch we will not have singing next Sunday.

The young people are requested to be present Sunday morning to start a drive or contest to help build up the young peoples' Sunday School class.

We regret that Mrs. J. D. Price has been sick and could not be with us lately.

Mrs. Thomas' brother, Mr. Rolifee Smith, father of Lamerle, has also been in the hospital, but was carried home last week through his condition is still very bad.

Several of us are going to send Lamerle a card or letter to try to help make her days a little brighter while she is in the hospital.

A number of friends and relatives of Robert Eiland enjoyed a real good birthday dinner with him last Sunday.

Those enjoying this happy occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gillespie, Mrs. Henry Eiland, Zed Williams, Knox Gillespie, Mr. and Mrs. Mat Eiland, Bruce Thornton, Jeanette Eiland, Bill Eiland, Robert Eiland and Mr. and Mrs. Turner Eiland.

Pvt. Jesse Fox was home for the week end.

Mrs. Henry Eiland and grandson, Zed Williams, visited in this community Saturday night and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Melton and Jerry Ann visited Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Melton last Sunday.

Mrs. G. D. Melton returned to Birmingham with them for a few days visit.

Dont fo'rget there will not be any singing here next Sunday afternoon, but urging all young people to come out Sunday morning and Sunday night and all adults to come and back them up, and besides, our Bible teacher, Mr. L. E. Riggins, would be pleased to have you in his Sunday School class, we are sure.

Sunday night is also our regular preaching night with Christian Endeavor preceding the preaching hour. —Reporter.

Jungles of New Guinea Still Defy Patrols

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—Even after 64 years of German and Australian rule, large chunks of the mountains and jungles of the New Guinea trust territory, one of 10 subjected lands under United Nations supervision, have never yet come under the white man's control.

Reporting that problem to the U. N. trusteeship council in the first answer by an administering power to written cross-examination, Australia revealed that some 30 per cent of the primitive area had not even been touched by patrols, as of 1941 reckonings.

Of the territory's 93,000 square miles, 38,790 were then under "complete control" of the government, 11,070 under "administration influence," 9,220 under "partial influence," and 6,060 "penetrated by patrols."

Aussies Answer Criticism

Australia's 24-page document replied to searching Council questions on its first annual report of administration to the U. N. The one subject unanswered was the criticism of a projected "administrative union" with Australia's adjacent Papua territory, which will be handled separately. The council has decided to take up the case again.

While New Guinea was self-supporting before the war and the Japanese occupation, Australia replied to a Chinese question that rehabilitation costs would exceed receipts for many years. For 1946-'47 revenue of Papua-New Guinea was 464,006 pounds, expenditure was 2,303,370 pounds. The commonwealth government provided a grant of 2,018,673 pounds and 234,344 pounds for special services.

Assist Natives With Loans

To American questions on aid to natives' economic projects, Australia replied that the department of post-war reconstruction provides gifts and loans, including seeds, planting material and advice by competent Europeans on native cash crops.

In Copra, natives on most coastal areas have at least 20 bearing trees per village unit. Arabian coffee has been grown at an experimental station, and highland natives have been encouraged to plant small coffee plots, with the government buying produce.

If you're using herbs for flavoring, remember that herb flavors are lost through long cooking. It is best to add them to stews, soups and pot roasts about a half-hour before cooking is finished.

When hanging up the family wash, hang all articles straight and by their strongest part to make them last longer. It is better to hang them at bands or other reinforced places, rather than at the edges or corners.

When you are making new pillows, a small quantity of starch in the ticking will help to keep the feathers from sticking through.

When you wax your floors, wax the feet of the furniture too. Then when the furniture is moved around, it will not mar the floor.

If your sink is too low for washing dishes comfortably, have your husband make a wooden slatted rack to place under the dishpan to raise it.

WILDLIFE DOLLARS

Furs valued at $790,000 were trapped in Alabama last year reports Earl Kennamer, API extension wildlife specialist. Hunting rights sold by farmers amounted to $338,480 and fishing rights totaled $35,145.

Your refrigerator should run only one-third of the time. If it runs more, the temperature may be set too low, freezing unit needs defrosting, or gasket on door needs replacing.

When painting dark woodwork white, first apply a coat of stain sealer to prevent the dark stain from "bleeding through" the new coat of light paint.

Archives

For the first time since it was built by the WPA in the early '30's, the concrete-poured Archives & History Museum is getting a gleaming white paint job. "Now we can really be proud in showing it off to our thousands of visitors each year." declared Mrs. Marie Bankhead Owen, museum director.

NEW TELEPHONE EXCHANGE AT MAPLESVILLE

The Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company has completed and will place in service a new telephone exchange at Maplesville on September 30th. The new exchange is a dial system and will have initially 137 telephones with three trunk lines to Clanton for long distance.

The installation of the dial system at Maplesville brings the total number of Southern Bell telephones in Chilton County to more than 1,500 and represents a gain of more than 200% during the past three years.

C. L. Lott, District Manager of the Southern Bell at Montgomery, stated today that in spite of this gain of more than 1,000 telephones in three years his company has on hand more than 700 additional applications for service in Chilton County. This tremendous increase in the demand for telephone service clearly indicates the rapid development which is taking place in this area.

When asked about the waiting list, Mr. Lott stated that Southern Bell is making every effort to reduce this list as rapidly as possible and that other projects are to follow just as quickly as materials and supplies can be obtained.

School Club Is Organized

On Friday, September 17, 1948, the pupils of Mrs. L. C. Warr's new and interesting class met and organized themselves into a club to be known as "The Better Citizens' Club of Clanton Elementary School."

Mrs. Warr acted as temporary chairman and the following were elected as officers:

President, Obra Wilson.
Vice-President, Dorothy Mims.
Secretary, William Kemp.
Treasurer, James Minor.

Corresponding Secretary, Patricia Giles.

The meeting was then turned over to the President, Obra Wilson, who appointed a committee to draft a constitution for the club. The following were appointed and requested to report at the next meeting to be held Friday, September 24th.

William Kemp, Chairman; Mildred Giles and Dorothy Kirkland.

The Club accepted the challenge of their sponsor, Mrs. L. C. Warr, to make of themselves better citizens for their homes, their school and their communities, to attend school every day possible and to improve in every possible way themselves and their environment.

It was unanimously voted to adopt the Club's motto: "If one is RIGHT, there is always a way."

The club voted to make plans for attending the State Fair on October 7th.

The interest and enthusiasm shown at this meeting point toward accomplishment of the aims of this group. They and their sponsor have many interesting plans for the year.

THE CENTRALA SUB-DISTRICT

The last meeting of the Centrala Sub-District was held on September 6, 1948, at Cox's Chapel. Refreshments were served by Cox's Chapel and a very good program was given by Marbury. The churches represented were Clanton First Methodist, Marbury, Verbena, Cedar Grove, Cox's Chapel and Mt. Nebo.

The next meeting will be held at Clanton First Methodist Church on October 4th, 1948. The program will be given by Verbena. All the meetings will be held at Clanton First Methodist Church. — Hilda Messer, Publicity Chairman.

State Kiwanis To Meet At Gadsden

The Kiwanis Club of Clanton will be represented at the 1948 convention of the Alabama Kiwanis District to be held October 8th to 10th at Gadsden, Club President Carlisle Miller announced today.

Fifty-five clubs in the district, which embraces a membership of 2,900 business and professional leaders, are expected to send delegates to the three-day meeting, Miller said.

The speaking program will feature the appearances of Hamilton Holt, Macon, Ga., nationally known marble and granite manufacturer and past president of Kiwanis International, and Charles L. Harris, Birmingham insurance executive and recently-elected trustee of the community service organization.

Albert J. Tully, governor of the Alabama District, will preside at the convention, which will highlight committee conferences, a discussion of plans for the coming year, and election of officers.

Holt, who will serve as the official representative of Kiwanis International, has been active in southern business circles for many years. A past president of the Associated Industries of Georgia and a trustee of Mercer University, he was president of Kiwanis in 1945-46.

Delegates who will represent the Kiwanis Club of Clanton at the convention include Carlisle Miller, Leo Thompson and Lawrence Gerald, Jr.

Mr. J. N. Dennis continues seriously ill in the hospital Wednesday. Members of the family say that his condition was unchanged and that he was a very sick man.

THE TWO THOUSANDTH HOME-OWNED STORE to bear the Western Auto name has just opened in Harrison, N. Y. On hand to congratulate Owner John Ianiri (right) for establishing a numerical milestone in Western Auto history is Samuel Boxer, president of the Harrison Chamber of Commerce. Western Auto Supply Co., which started as a mail order house in Kansas City, Mo., in 1909, instituted the private store ownership plan in 1935. The company does not control the locally owned stores but serves only in a wholesale capacity. In addition to the 2,000 home-owned Associate stores, there are 263 company-owned stores in the rapidly expanding Western Auto system. The Clanton store, established November, 1936, is owned by Claud C. Craig.

THANKS FROM MR. BAZZEL

I am most grateful to the voters of Clanton for their response in my behalf during the recent city election. I wish for the incoming officials a most successful administration, and that they will have the full cooperation of the citizenship.—Sincerely, A. A. Bazzel.

New Hat Shop To Open Here

Mrs. Chester G. Mims and Mrs. Gertrude Callowap haye opened up a hat shop next door to Miller's Five and Ten. Mrs. Mims has been connected with the business life of Chilton County for the past fifteen years, having formerly operated the Helene Curtis Beauty Shop. The past Spring and Summer she has been with an exclusive hat shop in Montgomery getting ideas for her own store here.

Mrs. Gertrude Calloway is a business associate with Mrs. Mims as co-owner of "The Hat Shop." Mrs. Calloway, too, has been associated with the business and professional life of Clanton and Chilton County for twenyt years. She has devoted most of that time to teaching school. And is now on the faculty of Clanton Grammar School, but will be in the hat shop on Saturdays.

At one time or another most people wear hats, and are becoming more hat minded now than ever before. There is nothing, that will help the morale more than fitting yourself up with a pretty hat.

The "Clanton Hat Shop" plans to carry the most complete line of ladies hats in Central Alabama. They will have every price, color and style.

This hat shop will be different from most hat shops, as it will be a more or less help yourself style. Customers will be allowed to select their own, try it on as many times as they please. Then after they have decided, some one will wrap the hat and collect the money. A friendly spirit will prevail at all times, say Mesdames Mims and Calloway.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED AND PLANS DRAWN FOR CAMPAIGN

In a meeting of Democratic nominees at the courthouse last Thursday night committees were appointed and plans were drawn for a vigorous campaign in preparation for the fall election.

The Democrats of Chilton County will present a solid front when they march to the polls on election day and present indications are that the Democratic Ticket will carry by a large majority.

In a letter received today from the Publicity Committee, part of which appears below, they stated that plans had been carefully made and would be actively pursued.

MR. PATRICK THANKS VOTERS OF THORSBY

I wish to express my heartfelt thanks for the splendid support given me in my recent success in the race for Mayor of your good town. The least I can say is that I appreciate everything. Let us now all unite together to make Thorsby a better place in which to live, and a more progressive town. I ask your co-operation in helping me to do my best to please everyone. By doing that you will not be sorry that you voted for me. Please feel free to call on me at any time. I thank you. — W. J. Patrick.

THORSBY P.-T.A. MET

A large enthusiastic crowd attended the informal reception at the Thorsby Jr. High School Thursday night, September 23. A group of interesting, contested games were directed by Mrs. Cecil Cleckler and Mrs. J. P. Payne, Jr. Several musical numbers were rendered by Messrs. Howard and Littleton. The entire group enjoyed a "sing" with Mrs. Wilbert Marcus directing and Miss Naemi Turnquist accompanying. Delicious home made ice cream and cake were served by a group of young matrons.

The new associational officers for the ensuing year will be installed at this meeting by Mrs. Rubie Biscoe. W.M.U. President of Selma Association.

Matters of great importance and interest will be discussed and probably undertaken as our program of work for the first quarter of this associational year.

O. W. (Sleepy) MILLER IN HOSPITAL

O. W. (Sleepy) Miller, for many years shop foreman at Clanton Motors, Inc., has been seriously ill at Central Alabama Hospital. He was given a blood transfusion Monday, and was reported resting better.

To the Editor of the News:

The General Election being not too far off now, it might be well to advise the Democrats of this County that their nominees had a meeting and organized for the coming General Election. Their plans for the campaign have been carefully made and will be actively pursued

Also, at a meeting of all the County officials, which the Democratic candidates were invited to attend the following committees were appointed:

STEERING COMMITTEE — Judge W. L. Parrish, Chairman; J. C. Pattillo, J. A. Nivens, W. A. Gulledge and C. B. Cox.

PUBLICITY COMMITTEE — J. B. Atkinson, Chairman; A. B. Foshee and Howard Boockholdt.

The candidates have expressed themselves as being highly pleased with the reassurance given them at this meeting by the county officials. Judge Parrish's remarks of being 100 per cent behind the Democratic nominees and of his assurance of being actively on the firing line for the entire Democratic Ticket were most reassuring. The spirit and enthusiasm as shown by the other county officers were as much apreciated by the candidates.

This solid front presentation to the voters of Chilton County should leave no one unconvinced that November 2nd will be an overwhelming victory for the Democrats.

Other items of interest regarding this campaign will be presented through the columns of this newspaper from time to time. — J. B. Atkinson, Chairman.

ERLE ELLIS THANKS CITY VOTERS

To the City Voters:

I want to take this opportunity to thank the ones who voted for me in the election last week.

I also want to thank those who worked in my behalf.

Even though I was not elected, I hope everyone, like myself, will pledge himself to cooperate and support the new administration. — Erle Ellis.

A.A.U.W. To Meet At City Hall

The A.A.U.W. will hold an open forum at the City Hall October 7th, at 7:00 p.m. The political issues of the day will be the theme. Everyone is invited to this citzenship meeting. The sole purpose of this meeting is to inform the public concerning the issue of the day.

The A.A.U.W. is not a political organization, (neither does it sponsor any party or any candidate), but an educational club of college graduates who are trying to deal intelligently with the issue of government. This open forum is to discuss rationally the issues of the coming election. The discussion will be led by local talent.

BIG CROPS AND BIGGER INCOME

The farmers of the United States will produce the biggest volume of food in history, according to the Department of Agriculture's estimates and, in return, they will probably get more dollars than ever before.

There is nothing the matter with that, Certainly, if the farmers of the nation produce the crops that the people of this country and of the world need in record-breaking profusion, they should receive more dollars than ever before.

It is somewhat amazing, in view of the record crops that have been produced in this country in recent years, to note that the year's output of corn is estimated at 3,528,815,000 bushels. This is about a billion bushels above the production of 1947. In return for the production of so much corn, the growers are entitled to receive more money than they got for the 1947 crop. The same observation, naturally, applies to the production of other crops.

It would be a travesty if the growers of the basic crops in this country should receive less money for a record-breaking production than for the production of less food in previous years. Certainly, intelligent farmers who produce the food will take steps to insure that the greater the output, the greater the income to the growers.

Life would be simpler if the people on the earth were more sincere.

Money multiplies the power of man, either for better or for the worse.

There are many ways in which people try to have their cake and eat it, too.

What has become of the man who believed everything he saw in print?

Any community of individuals can get along if it has some unselfish leaders.

Apropos the presidential campaign, how many speeches have you read—in full?

In the history of office-holders few have ever tried to save their country by resigning.

About half the people of the world are busy trying to direct the lives of the other half.

When partners have to watch each other the partnership regardless of legal forms is over.

Learn to think for yourself; only then will you be able to live as a real, human being.

Folks and Things About Town

Just returned from down the street. We spent the afternoon at Burton Mullins' sewing, doing fancy work, and the like on his new Necchi. In case you didn't know that's the latest thing in sewing machines and the darn thing will do anything but talk. It might talk, we don't know, we didn't ask it any questions. But you ought to see it work—just turn a button and get any kind of a fancy doo-dad you want.

Clark Polk is insulting. He sat down beside us the other morning at the Dixie and said, "Ben, you forgot your color-back this morning, the gray hair is showing." Now Clark knows better than that. After all the politics we been through the past few years anybody's hair would be turning gray. And Clark's responsible for some of them.

Was standing on the street the other morning talking to Mr. Dave Cohen who operates the Parisian Store. Mr. Dave recognized a pair of shoes going down the sidewalk. He also recognized the colored girl who was wearing them. The day before the girl had come into the store and bought a pair of shoes. While there temptation got the best of her and she purloined another pair of shoes. This was unknown to Mr. Cohen until the next day the girl came into the store and explained that while she was there the day before a pair of shoes had accidently dropped into her shopping bag and she was returning them before he got the law after her.

Acid Test

In a certain insane asylum the men and women inmates who are only mildly deranged are permitted on occasion to meet for friendly conversation in the recreation yard. One morning two of the more trusted women strolled out of the yard and sat together on a bench outside.

"Oh fudge," one of the women finally remarked. "I'm going back inside."

"Why?" inquired the other. "It's very pleasant out here."

"What does a pleasant place amount to," was the rejoinder "when there's no man around?"

The other woman stared long and hard at the speaker. "You'll be getting out of here pretty soon," she finally announced.

"Why do you say that?" asked the other.

"Because," was the explanation, "you're beginning to talk sense!"

TITHING

WHERE SHOULD TITHES BE PAID?

This question is practical and profitable. Honest people who believe in obeying the Bible in paying tithes should know when and where to pay tithes. There are those who have taken God's tithes and distributed them here and there to some favorites, both in the home and foreign field, without any Godly discrimination. But this method of paying tithes is unscriptual, and does not merit God's blessings upon it. We must keep it uppermost in our mind, that in paying tithes we are not giving of our own, but that which belongs to the Lord. This being the case, we have no Bible right to give God's tithes here and there, and to whom and what we think. God tells us very clearly in His Word that the tithe belongs to Him, and where they should be paid.

In Mal. 3:10 it says, "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the Lord of Hosts." . . . Here the Bible says, "Bring all the tithes into the house of the Lord." . . . And again in Deut. 12:12. "Then there shall be a place which the Lord your God shall choose to cause his name to dwell there; thither or there, shall ye bring all that I command you; your burnt offerings, and your sacrifices, your tithes, and the heave offering of your hand, and all your choice vows which ye vow unto the Lord." . . . Those and many more Scriptures tell us where to bring our tithes. . . They are to be brought into the house of the Lord. The place where God has chosen for his name to dwell. None other place, save the place of worship. It is the place where we get our spiritual food, and our spiritual life and strength renewed. Where we are ministered to, and prayed for. The place where we worship God. There, and there alone, the tithes are to be brought, for the support of the ministry.

Those who receive light on tithing, and fail to walk in the light of His Word, do not prosper in the spiritual life. They suffer leanness in their souls; and often times fail to prosper in temporal things as well.

"He which soweth sparingly shall reap sparingly, and he which soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully. (II Cor. 9:6). . . Honor the Lord with thy substance, and with the first-fruits of all thine increase, so shall thy barns be filled with plenty, and thy presses shall burst out with new wine. (Prov. 3:9). Augustine said, "Tithes ought to be paid from whatever your occupation. Tithes are required as a debt. He that would procure either pardon or reward, let him pay tithes and out of the nine parts give alms

God who hath given us the whole, his thought it meet to ask the tenth from us." . . . Dr. Turnbull, Editor of the Sunday School Times, says, "A Christian's stewardship applies only to the nine-tenths of his income. The one-tenth is the Lord's from the beginning, and is not given to us to use as we see fit. The one-tenth is the basket in which the Lord sends us the nine-tenths, and if we do not hand him the one-tenth right back, we steal the basket."

If we ignore the law of the tithe we cease to be God's faithful servants, to whom he has committed talents severally as he will, and from whom, one day, he expects to receive an account. As stewards unto him who gave us all, we should offer, out of the nine-tenths, an offering, in sacrifice and love, acceptable and well pleasing unto Him who gave Himself for us, that we might have life, and that we might have it more abundantly. "He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches."

NIGHT LIGHTS IN POULTRY LAYER HOUSE PROFITABLE IF PROPERLY USED

It may be said that lights, when properly used, aid considerably in increasing egg production during the season when eggs are most valuable. However, experiments have proven that the use of lights does not, as a rule, increase annual egg production.

Lights serve to the greatest advantage for laying hens and pullets. This, of course, makes it very necessary to grade the flock according to age and laying qualities. Hens and pullets of different ages are kept separate and handled in a different way. Lights for cull pullets and hens are not profitable. The first essential in using lights is to employ them regularly. There is not benefit to be derived by using lights for two or three weeks and then suddenly changing the routine. Where lights are used for pullets they should be started September 15, and continued through April 15.

Morning lights have proven superior to evening lights or to a combination of both. Turn on lights at 4:00 a.m. and burn them until dawn, starting at such time that during a normal day of 24 hours there will be 12 hours of light and 12 hours of darkness. Continue to turn lights on at this time until it is daylight at the time they are turned on, thereby, eliminating the trouble of disontinuing lights gradually in the spring.

Feeding is vital to the successful use of lights. The increased working hours may be very easily made a disadvantage when birds are not fed properly. The flock should be heavily on grain. Without this heavy grain feed a rapid reduction in body weight may be expected due to heavy production. This loss in weight will cause the birds to stop laying in the spring. Grain should be fed twice a day—morning and afternoon. The heavy feed should be given late in the afternoon. Generally, 12 to 14 pounds of grain per 100 hens per day will be required where lights are used.

Electric lights are by far the most commonly used, however, gas lanterns and barn lanterns can be used to advantage with farm flocks. Electric lights are more economical, require less labor and offer less danger of fire hazards. Where electric lights are used, one 20-watt bulb to each 20x20 foot house or section of house is sufficient. Suspend light in the center of the house about six feet from floor. If electricity is relatively cheap all-night lights have proven successful. Use a 10-watt light and turn lights on around eight or nine o'clock at night. Later in the winter if production begins to slump a little substitute a 20-watt light for the 10-watt light.

FACTS THE COTTON FARMER SHOULD KNOW

A lack of complete understanding as to cotton loan differentials for grade and staple, and the existing narrow margin between spot prices and loan rate could prove very costly to our cotton producers.

We will use the following example to point out what we mean:

Mr. A. carries a bale of cotton to market. He knows the loan rate is 30.99 cents; the county agent told him this. He knows the spot price for the previous day was 31.25 cents; he read it in his daily paper. He does not know the grade and staple of his bale; very few farmers know this. The buyer offers him 31.40 cents. It is above the loan figure of 30.99 cents which he has in mind; it is above the spot price of 31.40 cents for the previous day. He sells and is pleased that he got better than the loan rate of 30.99 cents, even a few points above the spot price for the previous day. Mr. A., who is pleased, has actually sold his cotton for less per pound than the loan value of his cotton because he did not know that his cotton was one 1-16 inch middling and that the loan differential for this grade and staple was 160 points above the basic loan rate of 30.99 cents for 15-16 inch middling cotton. Lack of information has cost him $7.45 for the bale of cotton.

We are not concerned as to whether farmers elect to use the loan or sell. We believe that it is our responsibility, however, to give farmers the facts about the loan — ALL OF THE FACTS AND THEIR PRACTICAL, EVERYDAY APPLICATION.

LOOKING FOR MEMBERS FOR 100-BUSHEL CLUB

M. R. Glasscock, county agent, said today that he is looking for members for the 100-Bushel Corn Club.

To become a member of this club, he explained that a farmer must submit evidence of having made 100 bushels or more on one acre. "If you believe you have done this, it is time to arrange to check the yields," said M. R. Glasscock.

"Here is what is to be done: A committee of three farmers not interested in your crop is to check your measurements. We need to know now if you think you can become a member, so a committee can be arranged.

"The committee will measure the land and then measure the corn yield by a method furnished by the county agent. Ear counts will not be recognized. The committee will certify to the measurements and submit to the county agent.

"If you think you will make 100 bushels or more on an acre, let's get it checked. We want every farmer in Chilton County who makes 100 bushels or more per acre to become a member of the club."

CHILTON COUNTY'S 1948 CORN YIELD BEST ON RECORD

Corn production on Chilton's 50,000 acres is greatly improved over previous yield records. Many farmers have tried hybrid corn. Hybrids on good land, thickly spaced and heavily fertilized, are producing outstanding yields. A number of 4-H Club and adult demonstrators are expecting yields near the 100 bushel per acre mark. In addition to the demonstrations, many acres of corn throughout the county are going to produce twice to three times normal yields.

Corn yields made in Chilton this year didn't just happen. For the past four years, 4-H Club members throughout the county and a few leading adult farmers have been demonstrating a few basic corn production facts. They have SELECTED GOOD SEED — in many cases, hybrids. They have planted approximately MAY 1. They have left the corn THICK IN THE DRILL and cultivated only ONCE or TWICE. The yield results now and in past years have proven and are continuing to prove the value of recommended corn growing practices.

By continuing to build soil, Chilton County's 50,000 corn acres can be converted from a farm maintainance area to income earning acreage. The present corn acreage can easily be made to produce double present yields with more farmers using the above mentioned practices.

An increase of only 10 bushels per acre on Chilton's large corn acreage, would mean a county farm income of approximately 1,000,000.

All farmers are urged to accurately check 1948 corn yields and to plan now to do even better in 1949 of these practices.

WHAT TO DO BEFORE YOU BEGIN TO PAINT

Before paint is applied, make all surfaces clean, dry and smooth, whether of wood, metal or other material.

Alice Peavy, API extension home management specialist, says that this means free from dampness, grease, or sticky substances, loose paint, and dust.

She points out that oil paint and varnish will not dry on a damp surface nor over a partially dry coat of paint or varnish. They remain sticky, or crack, or peel. Let each coat dry thoroughly all the way through before applying the next coat.

"If a new, unpainted wood or metal surface is in good condition, clean it with steel wool or fine sandpaper and dust it thoroughly before painting," adds Miss Peavy.

PREVENT BARN FIRES; STORE YOUR CROPS SAFELY

"Could you afford to lose your barn and all stored crops?" asks D. R. Harbor, API extension agronomist.

Many farmers suffer this loss each year because hay, corn, cottonseed, or other crops are stored that have been improperly cured. Crops stored in this condition may develop enough heat to kindle a fire.

To eliminate such fire hazards, store baled hay on end and allow space between bales. When stored grain starts to heat, spread it out in thin layers and stir. Grain stored in bins may be moved from one bin to another by mechanical elevator or by hand.

"Any movement of grain allowing circulation of air through it will prevent heating," adds Harbor.

A good dairy cow can supply at least one-fifth of the farm family's food supply.

Most successful legume growers use twice the amount of commercial inoculant recommended by the manufacturer.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK OBSERVED OCTOBER 3-9

All farmers are urged to take action during Fire Prevention Week that will help reduce the staggering toll of fire loss in rural communities.

Last year, the nation's total fire loss reached $450,000,000—an alarming increase of almost $8?,000,000 over the previous year. On farms alone, destruction amounted to $90,000,000 with 3,500 members of farm families burned to death.

To halt this tragic yearly toll of lives and property, observe Fire Prevention Week, October 3-9, by wiping out the usual hazards found on most farms. Consult your local fire department or county agent for advice and suggestions.

Sell all pullets that are undersized, in poor flesh, slow to mature, or sluggish.

SEASON FENCE POSTS BEFORE PRESERVING

After cutting and peeling fence posts open pile or stack them so air will circulate freely around each one.

J. T. Gaillard, API extension engineer, advises that the bottom of the pile or stack be raised at least one foot above the ground.

He explains that it takes green posts and timbers 6 to 90 days to dry and season thoroughly after being cut.

After this, they are ready for treatment. "It is best for the posts not to be left in the woods as they will not properly dry," warns Gaillard.

GARDENS AND ORCHARDS PAY OFF FOR 4-H'ERS

Twenty thousand garden projects were completed by Alabama 4-H'ers last year.

Hanchey E. Logue, API extension 4-H Club leader, says that most gardens were for home use. However, 1,000 projects produced food for market.

Fruits and vegetables were sold through local curb markets, stores, and road-side stands. Some products were sold through Co-ops for sale in distant cities.

"One of the important discoveries made by 4-H'ers who grew gardens for home use, says Logue, "was that the family grocery bill was cut, in most cases, more than 30 per cent.

Farmers who have cotton with a good staple length may be entitled to receive a premium of 200 to 300 points or an additional two to three cents per pound above the quoted price.

Defoliating cotton avoids loss from boll rot, permits cotton to dry quicker so that pickers can start to work earlier in the morning, and improves the grade.

Mr. John Brothers, Leonard Bosworth and Ernie Hanson were among those who attended the base ball game in Birmingham Saturday night. They saw the Barons defeated after what they termed the "worst mess" they had ever seen played on a baseball field. The umpire caused a lot of squabbling between the two teams and after the fans started throwing pillows, bottles and anything they could find to throw, they stopped the game for some time, but they finally finished with Nashville winning the game.

Mr. H. V. Thompson visited here a couple of days last week on his return from a visit to relatives in the North. He was en route to his home in Sebring, Fla. Mrs. E. L. Thornburg, his sister-in-law, returned to Florida with him on last Wednesday after a two weeks visit here with friends. It was really nice seeing Harry on our streets again and we suppose everyone had a watch or a clock for him to repair since he is the one and only "Mr. Fix It." When Harry can't fix it, it can't be fixed. One of his friends even remarked, "You know, our clock hasn't been running for the longest, and Harry came by to see us, and he only smiled at the old clock and it has been running ever since." Come back to see us soon, Harry.

The evening was spent playing pinochle and [illegible] late hour delightful refreshments were served to about 18 guests.

The Logan home has recently been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cobb of Jemison, Ala., and who will come here to reside as soon as vacated by the Logans. Mr. and Mrs. Logan with their family, are moving to Montgomery, their former home before coming to Thorsby. We are sorry to have the Logans leave and we welcome Mr. and Mrs. Cobb into our midst, and hope they will be happy in their new home.

Mr. and Mrs. Rascoe Maddox and David spent the week end with relatives in Midland City, Ala.

Plans are taking shape for paving our streets and work is expected to begin at an early date. This is indeed a welcome piece of news, as this is so very badly needed and will add so much to the comfort as well as the looks of our town. This is one of the projects started by the out going Council and will be pushed to completion by the new set up.

HIGHLAND

Attendance at Sunday School and preaching service were very good Sunday. Bro. Deason brought a fine message.

Another associational year in our church work is almost gone. What have we accomplished, as a church group and as individual Christians? Have we done our best for the One Who has done so much for us? Are our lives purer? Is our faith stronger? Are we sincerely and earnestly trying to find the will of God for our lives, so that we might be just what He would have us be, and do just what He would have us do?

Let's press forward and make this coming year the greatest ever in our lives, our church and in cooperation with our pastor and with our Sunday School officers and teachers.

Let's not let a winter slump get hold of us in our attendance at church services, now that the summer days are over.

Next Sunday is the beginning of a new quarter and new year in our Sunday School studies. So every member should try to be present and resolve to be present with their class each Sunday unless providentally hindered. Show your appreciation of your teacher's efforts, and the superintendent's by your attendance. You need the church and the church needs you.

A cordial welcome awaits anyone who can come and worship with us.

Bro. G. H. Horn will be our pastor for this coming year. Our prayers and best wishes go with Bro. Deason as he goes to new fields of work. Highland Church gave Bro. Deason a very nice watch as a token of love and esteem, on his last Sunday with us

NEW HARMONY

Bro. Oliver filled his appointment this week end and preached some good sermons which we feel sure everyone enjoyed. We were glad to see some visitors out and invite them back.

Mr. and Mrs. Jadie Cleckler's baby is very ill at this writing. Bro. Ivan Gilbert, who's radio program is heard from Birmingham every day, held a healing service in their home Wednesday. Everyone keep praying for the baby and its parents.

Everyone remember and come to church next week end. Sister Mary Curry from Tallassee, Ala., will be preaching for us Sunday and Sunday night. So come expecting a blessing from God.—Reporter.

We should all be well pleased over the outcome of the election, as we have a splendid group of men selected to handle the affairs of our town for another four years. We feel that a splendid job has been done by our Mayor and Council of the past four years, and we hope and feel sure that their good work will be carried on by the group soon to take office. There is much we can do to help these men build our town, if we will all join hands and pull together, instead of trying to tear down and pull against what they try to do. Let's give them our every support.

Chilton Missionary Baptist Association Meets Oct. 13 And 14

Soon the Forty-eighth annual session of the Chilton County Missionary Baptist Association is to be held. It is an annual affair we look to with great anxiety and anticipation as to hearing reports, reviewing the work [illegible] and making plans for extending the Gospel of our Lord. This should be the greatest and largest attended meeting of the year among Baptists.

It is encouraging to notice the interest of the churches voluntary and willful affiliation and participation in [illegible]onary Baptist Asso[illegible] "One Lord, one faith, one [illegible]tism" unites us, and at the same [illegible] distinguishes us the world over. No individual church has to belong to an association, but those belonging [illegible] an equal right and voice in [illegible] the affairs. There are no heads [illegible]ority over any of the churc[illegible] individuals, not even the Modera[illegible] [illegible] what little authority he has is ve[illegible] [illegible] in him by the people and c[illegible] [illegible] ptist that the [illegible] has the right and [illegible]e to shape and direct its proceedings, and even to the point of refusing to seat messengers from a [illegible] churches who are irregular in faith and practice, as interpreted by Missionary Baptists.

If a church calls itself a Missionary Baptist Church, it ought to be just that in faith and practice, or else change its name to fit the belief. Every Christian should have deep and abiding convictions on the Bible and be true to those convictions. Since belonging to whatever church or denomination is a matter of choice and free-will of the individual, one should choose the one that fits his liking and stick to and serve it faithfully. If Christian people would do this it would be much better than to choose the course of lambasting and pronouncing [illegible] judgment upon each other. If one is right in the sight of God and is satisfied with his belief about the Scriptures, there should be no room for prejudice or malice.

It is earnestly hoped that every church in our Association will be well represented, a well-prepared church letter, and that all may be inspired to do greater things toward the spreading the Gospel of our Lord in all the world.—G. G. Williams.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of expressing our thanks and appreciation to the friends and neighbors who willingly gave their assistance in many ways during the illness and death of our brother, Watson Jones. We deeply appreciate every act of kindness expressed in any way. — Wilbur Jones and Mable Jones Gaines.

In view of today's high prices of meat and feed, livestock [illegible] are [illegible] than ever

Every calf lost due to mismanagement or disease, before it gets into full production or reaches market age and weight, is a terrific financial loss and a waste of feed.

Steps to assure the best possible calf crop begin with the proper care and feeding of the pregnant cow. Good quality hay, balanced with minerals, vitamins and proteins, is especially important. Dehydrated hay contains plenty of Vitamin A, for instance, but little Vitamin D. In providing minerals, it should be kept in mind that not only calcium and phosphorus [illegible]

Besides following sound management and feeding practices, the calf raiser should be alert for signs of disease, and take prompt steps if they appear.

AEA Recommends Increased School Appropriations

President Hurlbert, of the Alabama [illegible] Association Monday released recommendations in part which that group will present to the Legislature at the 1949 session. The recommendations were agreed upon at a meeting of the AEA Legislative Committee held in Montgomery Saturday. [illegible]ng to Mr. Hurlbert, the recom[illegible]tions are based in large part on the excellent educational program provided by the 1947 legislature.

crowded classes. Under this schedule salaries paid teachers on the lower levels of professional training increase as this training improves. During the past summer hundreds of Alabama teachers took professional courses in many colleges within the state and elsewhere, and in all probability, many will do likewise next summer. This [illegible] training in many cases raised their salary status. To provide the salaries specified in the allocation schedule established by the 1947 Legislature in recognition of improved training, an additional appropriation approxmating $6,724,000 will be needed.

The second largest amount requested, $683,000, will be needed to improve the retirement benefits payable under the state teachers retirement law. About one-third of this sum will be required to enable the state to match the present teacher contribution of 3½ [illegible] ment fund. The remainder will be required to permit the state to match the teacher contribution, under a proposed increase of rates from 3½ to 4 percent.

The balance of the amount requested will be used to meet increased costs for the hospitalization of crippled children and adults ($200,000), for additional scholarships used in recruiting much-needed teachers for the elementary-school grades ($65,000), for providing additional services through the State Department of Education ($40,000), and for improving transpor[illegible] approximates $75,000,000. However, under present building conditions, Mr. Hurlbert explained, it would be unwise for the Legislature to provide so large a sum at one time. The committee, therefore, is recommending that the Legislature distribute funds approximating this amount over a period of four to five years.

[illegible] the Legislature authorize amendments [illegible] appoint respectively the state superintendent and the county superintendents of education and would set their respective terms and salaries.

The committee, in its report, sets out that the financial needs of state colleges are now being studied and will be reported at a later date.

For thrifty, fast growing and easy-feeding market hogs, cross two standard purebreds. The next best thing to do is cross a purebred boar on good native sows.

One of the chief advantages of crimson clover over other winter legumes is its dependability in seed production and the comparative ease in saving a home supply of planting seed.

IN MEMORY

On Monday morning, September 13, at 8:50 o'clock, the death angel visited the home of Mrs. Maggie Oates Foshee and bore her loving spirit to the land of the faithful and blest.

"Aunt Maggie," as she was affectionately called by a large number who knew her, was born July 7, 1871. When she was quite young, she dedicated her life to Jesus, and lived a devoted Christian life always. This Christian influence was exerted in her home, church, community and every place she went. To know her was to love her. She was a devoted wife, loving mother, and so kind and ready to help any one in need.

During the months of her suffering, she bore it all so patiently, with an unfaltering trust in her Saviour. We shall miss her so much, but we know that she is happy and resting in that wonderful place that God has prepared for those who love Him and do His will. Her life will continue to be an inspiration and a beacon to her many loved ones and friends. Another beautiful flower has been added to His garden to blossom on high.

The husband, G. L. Foshee, preceded her some years ago.

There are two daughters, Mrs. Zack Lowery, Thorsby, and Mrs. E. P. Littlejohn, Clanton; one sister, Mrs. Mattie Chandler, of Birmingham. There are nine grandchildren and thirteen great-grandchildren.

WILLIAMS REUNION

T. Lloyd, Melvin and J. T., Miss Evelyn Johnson, Mrs. Ethel Culver, Miss Virginia Harris, Mrs. G. Harvey, Glenda and Susan, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Boockholdt, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Thomason, Mr. Eschal Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Wright, Harold and William.

Mrs. Fannie Neeley and Mary Magdalene, Mrs. Ruby Stroud, Mary Nell, Sarah Ellen, Ralph and Ophelia, Mr. and Mrs. Larkin Williams, Dorothy, Willie Nell and Thomas, Mr. Barney Smith, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Carter, Miss Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Chambers and Diana, Mrs. J. W. Chambers, Kenneth and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Harrell, Vaubie Maud and Bill Evan, Mr. and Mrs. Fonza Culp and Carson, Eliza and Nelma Joe Boockholdt.

Cereals which are cooked in milk instead of water have a higher food value and improved flavor. However, since milk scorches easily, a double boiler should be used.

Sew buttons on work clothes with dental floss. They will stay on indefinitely. The floss is also excellent for stringing pearls.

Mend clothes immediately after washing, and before they are sprinkled and ironed. This will give them a much better appearance.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

G. M. Harper, Jemison Route 1, is in the process of overseeding 10 acres of Sericea lespedeza with Kentucky 31 fescue grass. Caley peas were seeded with the sericea last July. 700 pounds of 0-14-10 fertilizer and 200 pounds of nitrate of soda will be used per acre. The high rate of fertilizer is used because of a limited pasture acreage and a large herd of dairy cows.

Charlie Patterson is clearing the sweetgum sprouts of some eroded land. The land will be turned and bedded for kudzu planting early nert spring. Charlie also plans to seed Kobe lespedeza on oats next spring. Sericea will be planted for grazing.

L. T. Evans states, "I am about to build some more terraces. If possible I want to have them finished by Christmas."

Marvin Minor is ready to plant a seed patch of grandifloria vetch. Oats are also planted for the vetch to run on.

Hose Wilson, Jemison, Ala., plans to plant two acres of Caley peas on an established stand of Kudzu.

Neal Harrell, Billingsley, Ala., is a firm believer in soil conservation. He is the only Chilton County farmer who practices strip cropping of small grain, Kobe lespedeza, and row-crops. Milk, beef and cotton make up his income. Red poll cows and pasture are his prize projects. The pasture contains Dallis grass, carpet grass, white Dutch clover, common lespedeza and vetch. Neal states: "Fertilizer and mowing are two essentials to keep a good pasture."

To make collars with that professional look, trim the seam to a quarter-inch and clip off the corners after stitching around the edge.

Pack summer clothes away carefully this fall so that they will be in good condition for wear next spring.

RECRUITING NEWS

Mullins of Clanton Route 2. James M. Marcus of Clanton Route 1. James W. Folmer of Jemison, Ray Caldwell of Verbena, James A. Barrett of Titus Route 2. J. B. Robertson and James M. Smith of Route 1, Stanton, have enlisted in the Regular Army and are now taking their basic training at Ft. Jackson, S. C.

Wilbert Lee Smith, a Negro of Verbena, and a high school graduate of Verbena, has enlisted in the Regular Army. For any information about an enlistment in the U. S. Air Force or U. S. Army, see Sgt. Aussant or Sgt. Trimble of the local Recruiting Station, located on the second floor of the New Wades Building in Clanton, or phone 541.

KEEPING QUALITY OF FROZEN MEATS

All frozen meats may be thawed before they are cooked or during cooking.

"However," says Lavada Curtis, API extension food preservation specialist, "meat that is thawed at ordinary room temperature should be cooked promptly because the warm, wet outer surface is an ideal place for spoilage to start."

She explains that if meat is thawed more slowly in the refrigerator, the surface remains cold and the thawed piece can often be held a day or longer without developing off odors.

Facts About The Proposed Fertilizer Co-Op

For the information and benefit of the readers of this paper who are interested in a fertilizer cooperative the following facts are presented:

First, a fertilizer cooperative is being proposed for Chilton County because the cooperative at Selma has demonstrated to farmers here that a saving of about $10.00 per ton can be made through such a cooperative mixing plant.

This plant could not be obtained unless some agency or organization undertook the job of setting up the corporation, arranging legal requirements, etc., and assumed the financial responsibility for various necessary expenses of raising the money for the plant and bonding those handling this money.

A delegation from Chilton County went to the state board of directors of the Alabama Farmers Union and asked this organization to undertake this job. This delegation told the state board of directors that in their opinion the people of Chilton County would be glad to take advantage of an opportunity to get a fertilizer mixing plant of their own.

The state board voted to comply with the request of the delegation from this county and agreed to spend approximately $2,000.00 during 1948 for this purpose. It was understood and agreed that the Farmers Union would have no control in operating the plant as that would be entirely in the hands of the stockholders.

The Farmers Union cannot possibly make any money out of the plant and any dues collected from members who join the Farmers Union because of the fertilizer cooperative will be used to enable the organization to serve these members.

Chilton County uses more fertilizer than Dallas County.

Chilton County's farmers are among the most prosperous in the state, so it would seem that there would be as many farmers in this county intelligent enough to direct the affairs of such a plant as in Dallas County.

Of course, the job is not easy, and could not be put into operation in a short time. However, it would when completed be worth thousands of dollars every year to the farmers of this county and would benefit everyone in the county in some way.

If the farmers want to do something for themselves and will go into it with the determination to stay with it and make a success, it can be done. If the farmers are looking for someone else to put up most of the money for a mixing plant and then in just a few months sell them fertilizer at a big saving, then the best thing to do is to forget about a fertilizer cooperative and go right on paying thousands of dollars of profit every year to the fertilizer trust and black market operators, and stop complaining about the high prices and scarcity, because if a man will not help himself when he has the opportunity he should not expect someone else to help him.

Those who do want to help themselves—and who are fed up with the prices they have been paying for fertilizer, should join the Chilton Farmers Union Fertilizer Cooperative as soon as possible, for nobody is going to go to you and try to high-pressure you into joining; and if the farmers of this county do not prove in the near future that they are ready to take advantage of this opportunity, the project will be dropped.

University Bone 'Bank' Reduces Amputation Cases

KANSAS CITY, MO. — A bone "bank" in the medical center at the University of Kansas has prevented several amputations and speeded the recovery of many patients.

It is a system of preserving human bone sections in a deep-freeze unit until needed in surgery and was set up by Dr. James Weaver, head of the department of orthopedics. Bone sections ranging from tiny fragments to pieces eight inches long and one inch wide are kept in the "bank." No complete bones are preserved.

Dr. Weaver explained that the bone bank does not keep spare arms and legs, since techniques have not been developed to use them, but that the addition of a small bone section frequently enables physicians to save a limb from amputation.

Improperly Knit Fracture

The most frequent use of bone-bank "deposits" is in cases of improperly knit fractures, the doctor said. In such cases the faulty bone area is removed by surgery and a section from the bone bank is fit carefully into the gap. Almost invariably the substitute bone is accepted by the body and the splice heals perfectly.

Dr. Weaver explained that bone-grafting operations have increased in recent years and that many surgeons have performed scores of them successfully. The practice has been to obtain the needed bone sections from other parts of the patient's body—usually the hip or shin —and in many cases this has presented considerable problems.

The bone bank has provided a simple answer to the question of bone supply and physicians at the medical center expect similar refrigerating facilities to be set up by other hospitals. So far there are only three or four in the United States

Obtained From Operations

Bone-bank deposits originally were obtained in the operating rooms at the center. Many types of chest and lung operations require the removal of a rib and these ribs have been placed in the bank if the patient from which they were obtained passed rigid physical tests.

Some types of amputations have yielded bone sections perfect enough for preservation and in one case bone sections have been taken immediately after death.

Written permission was obtained from the survivors of the person who died and the death was the result of an accident. Physicians found those bone sections which were taken under operating conditions, functioned perfectly as graft material. They hope to receive an increasing percentage of the bone-bank deposits from such sources in the future.

CHOLERA SEASON ALL YEAR 'ROUND

Hog cholera knows no season. Precautions must be observed, all year 'round, if American farmers hope to check the ravages of this deadly virus disease of swine.

Veterinary authorities report that complete losses of large droves of swine, due to hog cholera, have occurred in the middle of the winter as well as during the hottest summer months.

Also, there seems to be no scientific evidence to support the old superstition that the feeding of new corn is somehow related to outbreaks of cholera.

The only thing seasonal about hog cholera, according to these authorities, is the proper time for the first vaccination of young pigs. Vaccination at or around weaning time, for each new crop of pigs, is the surest and most effective precaution against devastating losses from this fast-killing virus.

As an added safeguard against hog cholera, farmers are urged to guard against letting sick swine be brought onto the premises.

There are many ways that cholera can be transmitted from one herd to another. Flies, for instance, may carry the virus. But many outbreaks have been traced to infection carried from farm to farm on the clothing of threshing crews, in uncooked garbage, in contaminated feed bags, on wagon and truck wheels and other equipment.

Still other dangers must be kept in mind. Hog cholera virus and hypodermic needles, carelessly handled by persons without the proper training, can spell disaster. Furthermore, pigs should be given a general physical check-up by a veterinarian to be sure they are in proper condition for vaccination, because if they are not in satisfactory condition, they may not develop immunity.

VALUE OF STUMPAGE REPORTED IN STATE

Montgomery, Ala. — "Chilton County landowners received $535,092 from stumpage sold from forest lands in 1947," Conservation Director Bert E. Thomas, announced this week.

"This figure," he explained, "represents the return realized by woodland owners from the sale of standing timber. Sawmills in this county cut 15,288,000 board feet of pine and 18,182,000 board feet of hardwood last year. If the "More Trees for Alabama" program is successful, we can at least quadruple this figure in the next ten years."

The total stumpage value of timber sold in Alabama last year, as determined by Forest Products Severance Tax Reports, was $34,076,000 while the gross return to the State from the lumber industry was approximately $170,000,000, Mr. Thomas said. This amount is the total value of Alabama's forest products when put into use or shipped from the state.

For 1947, the following forest production figures were reported for the state: Pine lumber, 1,343,000 board feet; Hardwood lumber, 687,170,000 board feet pulpwood; and chemical wood, 709,066 standard cords; cross ties and switch ties, 1,146,305; mine ties, 596,900; mine props, 45,162; crude turpentine, 90,231 (400 lb.) barrels; stumpwood, 128,066 tons; poles and pilings, 464,799.

Kale is the leafy vegetable that may be harvested during the period when winter gardens are failing and before spring-planted greens are ready for use.

STATE HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Montgomery, Ala. — Seven hundred and five babies died in Alabama between April and June, inclusive, within a year after birth. This state total included one infant death reported from Chilton County.

County totals ranged widely from 145 for Jefferson to only one each for Autauga, Chilton, Clay, Geneva and Perry.

In making these totals public, the State Department of Health pointed out that they do not necessarily refer to deaths of infants residing in these counties. Instead, it was explained, they refer to infant deaths reported from each county and occurring there.

Clanton Grammar School P.-T.A. Met Tuesday

The parents of the Clanton Grammar School held their October meeting at the school Tuesday afternoon with a very good attendance.

The President, Mrs. J. L. Teel, presided over the business session after which she turned the meeting over to the program chairman.

The program included group singing, led by Mrs. Eunice Sims and Mrs. Mollie Belle Smith, accompanied by Mrs. Jones at the piano. A lovely devotional given by Mrs. John R. Smith and a talk by Mr. Patterson Hicks.

Following the program everyone was invited by Mrs. Teel to go to the lunch room where they enjoyed a very delightful tea hour which was in honor of the teachers. Mrs. Teel had presented each teacher with a lovely corsage and all the teachers were in the receiving line with Mrs. Teel.

The committee in charge of the tea table, the flowers and the social hour in general, are to be commended on the lovely way everything was planned.

The room count was a tie between Mrs. Lecroy and Mrs. Waters and both rooms will receive like awards.

SPECIAL PROGRAM AT MT. NEBO

The MYF of Mt. Nebo will put on a program Sunday night, October 10th, at 7:00 p.m., entitled, "The Bible Speaks Today." The people of that community and other communities are cordially invited.

RAINS WELCOMED BY ALABAMA GARDENERS

Because of recent rains in most sections of the state, conditions are just right to plant turnips, mustard, lettuce, carrots, radishes, onion sets and cabbage plants.

If fertilizer was not worked into the soil before the rains, J. C. Ford, API extension gardener, recommends that some be used at time of planting.

When this is done, only two or three quarts per 100 feet of row should be applied. "Three weeks later," says Ford, "make a side application of two or three quarts to bring the amount of mixed fertilizer applied up to standard recommendations."

THINGS TO DO BEFORE STORING CORN IN CRIB

The only way to prevent weevil damage is to fumigate corn soon after it is stored in the crib.

"However," says W. A. Ruffin, API extension entomologist, "the thing to do before storing corn is to clean the crib and spray the walls and floor with DDT."

After this is done, he recommends that walls and floor be sealed with tarpaper. When this job is completed, fill crib with corn and fumigate.

"Observe all cautions printed on container fumigant came in," warns Ruffin.

USE AN ELECTRIC FAN TO THAW FROZEN BIRDS

Poultry may be thawed in the package just before cooking, or the outside wrapper may be removed and the bird thawed more rapidly in front of an electric fan.

A 3-pound bird requires about six to eight hours per pound to thaw in a refrigerator. However, Lavada Curtis, API extension food preservation specialist, says that an electric fan will thaw a 1-pound bird in three to six hours. Turkeys require more time.

If wrapper has been removed before thawing, the bird should be cooked immediately or there will be danger of spoilage. "Also, says Miss Curtis, "remember that when poultry is not completely thawed before cooking, it is necessary to extend cooking time."

Advertising is the good servant of those who know how to use it.

So far, science has developed no process to make pupils like to study.

In many respects this is an unusual presidential race—if you know what we mean.

TIMOTHY IS NOT ALONE

"I've tried to understand American politics but have failed completely," declares Timothy Davey, one of a group of British school boys who are now visiting the United States.

Timothy need not be unnecessarily discouraged. There are millions of people in the United States who have also tried to understand American politics but have likewise failed completely.

PRICE SUPPORT WITHOUT LOSS

There are millions of people in the United States, mostly in the large cities but some of them in Chilton County, who continually criticize the policy of the Government to support the prices of farm products.

Some of the criticism is based on ignorance. Not many of those who object to the policy know that in the fifteen years, from 1933 to 1948, the Commodity Credit Corporation has shown a lifetime profit of $80,000,000 on its operations, after paying all expenses. About all the critics know, apparently, is what they have read about the Government's buying potatoes at the established price and disposing of them at a small percentage of cost.

Because we think that the price-support policy is essential to the well-being of the nation as a whole, we think it is a good idea to call attention to some facts. When World War II made increased crop production essential to victory, the Government, in order to encourage farmers to plant increased acreages, offered to guarantee certain prices for the commodities raised.

In response to this incentive, the farmers of the nation responded with record-breaking crops. World demands, during the conflict, were sufficient tol utilize all that the farmers raised and, since the end of the war, prices of farm commodities have consistently stayed above the Government guarantee. Recently, however, under the impact of large crops in 1948, there has been a decline in prices.

As the situation stood in September, cotton, oats, peanuts, potatoes, rice, soybeans and wheat were at Government support levels. Other commodities, including butterfat, corn, chickens, hogs, eggs, milk and tobacco, continued higher than the Government support prices.

Up to this time, there has been no worry about unwieldly surpluses but it is apparent that considerable quantities of wheat, cotton, corn and other products will be placed under commodity loans and the farmers will naturally take advantage of the Government program to secure the guaranteed price. Even the surpluses of this year give very little concern and most of the worry relates to what will be the situation if 1949 produces larger than normal production.

While the Government is expected to advance between one and two billion dollars in the year that ends next June 30th, this does not mean that the Government is paying the farmers any such amount. Many loans will be repaid by the farmers and some supplies acquired by the Government will be resold. These operations will naturally cut down the amount of money that the Government would be required to pay. In fact, up to this time, there is no assurance that the Government will lose a single penny on its price support program.

Clifford Jones, we understand, is just about ready to go with his new milling company. Cliff says that his new business will be the finest in Central Alabama and just as soon as the power can be cut on he will be ready to go. The building is located across from the Quick Freeze Plant on U. S. 31, in North Clanton.

Had a meeting of the Clan down at our house last Sunday. They came from hither and yon, bearing bowls of salad, (Lord save us), stuffed eggs, (eeeek), cakes, (yum), baked ham, (oh, boy) and pickles, fried chicken, sandwiches, etc., etc., etc. The occasion was the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Mark L. Tucker, mother of the brood. She was—beg pardon—years old. Thirty-one off-springs attended the party and in the afternoon Mrs. J. Q. Wade came down and paid her respects, completing a full day for mother. A list of those attending will be found elsewhere in the paper this column isn't long enough.

We are very glad to hear that Mr. J. N. Dennis is able to be up again. We don't believe we ever heard nicer things said about anybody than we have heard about Mr. J. N. DO YOU WANT TO BE AN OFFICER?

Because of the large number of men now entering the Army, there are increased opportunities for high-caliber young men who would like to become commissioned officers. This is important news to ambitious young men between 19 and 25 years old, who have graduated from high school or can pass an equivalent examination. If you are a citizen of the United States and can meet the necessary requirements, you may enlist in the U. S. Army for the specific purpose of attending Officer Candidate School, provided, of course, that quotas are not filled.

When your application is approved, you will be enlisted in the Army in the grade of Sergeant (formerly called Staff Sergeant). If you have not had basic training you will be given this training before entering Officer Candidate School. Successful candidates will be commissioned 2nd Lieutenants in the Officers Reserve Corps and placed on active duty for two years. Distinguished graduates of OCS who meet requirements will be given direct commissions in the Regular Army. Other qualified OCS graduates may compete for regular commissions during their active duty hours. Unsuccessful candidates will serve out the term of their enlistment.

You can get full details about applying for commission at the local U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station, located in the new Wade Building in Clanton.

And, too, watch for the opening of the "Dairy Queen" in South Clanton. Snowy Melton and Herbert Poole have that new business about ready for a grand opening. We understand that their stock in trade will be ice cream products only.

Have you gone below South Clanton and tried one of those juicy steaks advertised by Emmett Blankenship? His is the new Steak House just beyond Bowden's Service Station. They are open for business and have a very nice and convenient highway cafe there. Gas and oil, drinks, cigarettes, etc., are also featured here.

FAITH

"Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen." . . But without faith it is impossible to please God." (Heb. 11:1-6). I cannot write everything that could be written on the subject of faith. But the Scriptures I have used tell us that without faith it is impossible to please God; for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him. . . And that faith is the substance of things we hope for, and the evidence of the things not in sight.

Faith in the heart of man give full assurance of the things he hopes for, though it be not in sight. . . Faith is taking God at his Word. Faith is believing when there is nothing in sight. Faith is not a leap in the dark; neither is it a blind act of the soul. Faith has a foundation; this foundation must be tested, it must be tested by evidence; the evidence is the Gospel, the Word of God. This evidence reveals all that relates to man's Salvation; thus the foundation of faith is God's Holy Word. We need no other evidence, no other foundation. Take God at His Word.

What men crave most of all in this world with its dangers, doubts, wonderings, questions, and fear, is something we can attach the word "certainty," and this is faith. Without faith, definite belief in definite things, definite confidence in eternal justice, there would be no happiness except for unthinking fools. Faith is a staff in the hands of man walking over a rocky ground. Faith is a lamp at the feet of one walking in darkness. Faith is the only window through which we can look into the future. Faith is the only bridge over which we can pass from this short life into the next one with its glorious mysteries. Faith soothes men's pathway in life. It soothes in the last hour, the hour when there is no hope of another one to live. Faith gives men courage to endure till the end, and enables men to face death; it enables women to face sorrow worse than death. Faith enables mothers to stand under the trial to see their children born only to sicken and die. Yes, faith moves everything too hard to bear.

Let us by faith rise above the world with all its doubts, wonderings, questions and fear. If we will, these things will shrink into littleness and insignificance compared with Christ. . . . Some time ago, two men hanging in mid-air, looked to the earth from their balloon, and wondered to see how small great things had become. Large fields were contracted into small patches. The large lakes were no larger than a looking glass. The broad river with ships floating on it's bosom seemed like a silver thread. The wide spread cities reduced to small villages. The long rapid flying train appeared but a black caterpillar slowly creeping over the face of the ground. And such changes this old world of sin under-goes to the eyes of him who rises, by faith, to hold communion with God, and anticipating the joys of heaven. Friends, live above it, and look beyond it. This is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith. "HAVE FAITH IN GOD."

of new electrical investment in Alabama

Development and growth in the South are greater today than in most other sections of the country. Alabama shares in this growth.

Power and progress go hand in hand. To stay in advance of this progress, and to satisfy the ever-increasing demands for power, Alabama Power Company's construction program from the end of the war through 1950 will cost 73 million dollars for new power plants, electric lines, and other facilities.

Before you, Mr. Employer, is a man who fought on the Beachheads of Tarawa or Anzio, who flew over bomb-gutted Tokio or fought in the Coral Sea. He is one of hundreds of thousands who marched in the Purple Heart Parade. Today he is an American looking for a job. Behind him are the hardships and dangers of war, the weary months in the hospital, and the long days of training for employment. Ahead of him is a future that is in your hands. What you do with his future is important to him, and to you!

MAN WANTED—We need hard-hitting veterans. We've hired many of them since V-J day. It pays off. Some aren't the same physically as they were before a Kamikaze attack off Okinawa, a shell burst below Cassino, or flak and flame over Kasserine Pass. Some have lost an arm or leg or eye. Others have hidden disabilities. But we have found these disabilities are not handicaps when we place them properly. Their efficiency and productive ability have saved us money. We need more workers of this type. We will continue to hire them throughout the year.

HELP WANTED—We'd like that job you have, Mr. Employer. There's more than a quarter of a million of us either actively looking for work or soon to leave hospitals or finish our training. There are many jobs we can fill capably. We know that surveys show that our fellow disabled veterans have been as efficient on the job as other workers, that they have had fewer accidents and have been reliable workers. We've put away that Purple Heart. Today we'll take our chances on that job you've got. We think you need us and we know we need you. We'll get your work done. And while we're doing that we'll pay for our homes and raise our families.

Disabled Veteran Makes Good

(Photo Courtesy Scott's Studio)

Albert Kendrick of Route 1, Thorsby, Alabama, (pictured above), was one of the many farm boys of Chilton county who received the call to enter the army just as they became 18 years of age and were at the threshold of manhood. Albert was attending school at Mt. Pleasant Junior High and working on the farm afternoons, Saturdays and during vacations, but he was eagerly looking forward to the day when, his education completed, he would have a farm of his own. Building his future in rural Chilton county was his dream and goal.

But—Uncle Sam interrupted and changed this worthy life plan. On April 13, 1943, Albert was sworn into the army at Fort McClellan, Alabama. After Infantry training at Camp Blanding, Florida, and Advance Infantry at Camp Roberts, Arkansas, he sailed on the Queen Elizabeth to Scotland and England. There he was assigned to the 101st Airborne Division as a glider trooper and began his training for the invasion of Europe. On "D" Day he landed in France as a replacement trooper. Five days later he was wounded at Carentan, France, and began the long journey home and the subsequent discharge as a physically handicapped person. A bullet had passed through his left arm at the elbow, entered his chest, gone through his lung and finally lodged in his right shoulder. As a result, strategic nerves had been severed, partially disabling the left arm and hand.

When Albert returned to civilian life, he went straight to the farm to take up where he had left off. All too soon he learned that farming was out of the question. He then tried carpentry, but because of his physical condition, he could not do this work. Finally, after more than a year of fruitless attempts to find a place in occupations familiar to him before his army service, he called upon the Vocational Guidance Center of the Veteran's Administration for help, a service which is provided all veterans with a service-connected disability by Public Law 16, the Vocational Rehabilitation Act.

When Albert reported for his interview at the Guidance Center in Birmingham, it was decided that farm machinery repair would be suitable training. The Veteran's Administration placed him with Shelton and Oglesby, Inc., dealers in International Harvester farm machinery. He had had a few months training before Mr. Shelton joined the organization. Mr. Shelton states that when he was told of Kendrick's handicap, he was surprised, for he had not detected it in his work. He further states that the company rates Kendrick by quality of work and considers his disability of no concern in their business relationship.

Employers who, like Mr. Oglesby and Mr. Shelton, consider ability—not disability—are the hope of many worthy and capable persons who are physically handicapped. All employers of Chilton county are reminded that this week, October 3-9, is National Employ the Physical Handicapped Week, are urged to provide openings for the physically handicapped.

Civic Club—

The Thorsby Civic Club held its regular monthly meeting on Monday night, October 4th, at the Town Hall. This was the first real meeting the Club has been able to have for some months, as it seemed there was always something to conflict with the meeting during the summer months. About twenty members were in attendance at this meeting as well as some visitors and a very enthusiastic meeting was held which we hope will tend to revitalize our Club. Mr. Owen Carter, Club's President, presided at the meeting. Rev. Collie Seymour who has been the Club's Secretary, turned in his resignation, so Miss Naemi Turnquist was asked to act as Secretary for the evening and was later given this office for the remainder of the year. Mr. J. A. Ogburn was made Vice President.

A "Friend of Man the Tree Speaks"—

Ye who would pass by and raise your hand against me, harken ere you harm me. I am the heat of your hearth on the cold winter nights; the friendly shade screening you from the summer sun; and my fruits are refreshing draughts quenching your thirst as you journey on. I am the beam that holds your house, the board of your table, the bed on which you lie, and the timber that builds your boat. I am the handle of your hoe, the door of your homestead, the wood of your cradle, and the shell of your coffin. I am the gift of God and friend of man. Ye who pass by, listen to my prayer. HARM ME NOT. — Quoted.

The above article is an expression mildly stated of the high sentiment of the majority of the people of Thorsby against the removal of our beautiful trees. Those so-called "newcomers" to Thorsby who were instrumental in removing these trees, evidently could not appreciate how we all felt about these trees, nor could they possibly have appreciated their beauty. This act has caused a sore spot in the hearts of many that will never heal.

Dear Ben:

Something seems to have happened to our Chilton County News. We got a couple of issues, then no more. Somehow, it reads better way [illegible] here than down home where [illegible] most of the news by grap[illegible] it gets into the paper. Please see what has happened to it.

We are living in Shanks Village, which used to be Camp Shanks during the war. A lot of Chilton County boys marched from here to a troop transport on the Hudson River 2 or 3 miles from here, and embarked for Europe.

Delos is very busy getting to be Dr. Culp, and I teach kindergarten in a nearby village.

STATE OF ALABAMA

A PROCLAMATION

BY THE GOVERNOR

—[illegible]—

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama, at the Regular Session 1947, ordered an election to be held by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which said amendment is herein set out, and ordered that said election be held at the general election next succeeding the adjournment of the 1947 Regular Session of the Legislature at which the amendment was proposed; and

WHEREAS, the general election next succeeding the adjournment of the 1947 Regular Session of the Legislature at which such amendment was proposed will be held on Tuesday, November 2, 1948; and

WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment is required by law, and by the provisions of the act submitting the amendment, to be given by a proclamation of the Governor to be published in each county in the State of Alabama once a week for four successive weeks next preceding the day appointed for the election:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, James E. Folsom, as Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that on Tuesday, the 2nd day of November 1948, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama, in the manner and form provided by law, upon the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama of 1901:

"JEFFERSON COUNTY SEWER AMENDMENT:

"In addition to any indebtedness now authorized, Jefferson County may become indebted and may issue bonds therefor in an amount not exceeding 3 per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable property in said County in order to pay the expenses of constructing, improving, extending and repairing sewers and sewerage treatment and disposal plants in said County. Said bonds shall be general obligations of Jefferson County but shall also be payable primarily from and secured by a lien upon the sewer rentals or service charges, which shall be levied and collected in an amount sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on such bonds, replacements, extensions and improvements to, and the cost of operation and maintenance of, the sewers and sewerage treatment and disposal plants. Such sewer rentals or service charges shall be levied upon and collected from the persons and property whose sewerage is disposed of or treated by the sewers or the sewerage treatment or disposal plants and whether served by the part of the sewer system then being constructed, improved, or extended or by some other part of such system; and such charges or rentals shall be a personal obligation of the occupant of the property the sewerage from which is disposed of by such sewers or treated in such plants and shall also be a lien upon such property, enforceable by a sale thereof.

"Before issuing any bonds or levying or collecting any such sewer service charges or rentals, the proposal shall first be submitted to and approved by a majority of the voters of the County voting at an election to be called by the governing body thereof. Notice of such election shall be given by publication once a week for four successive weeks immediately prior to such election in a newspaper published and of general circulation in Jefferson County. Such notice and the ballot shall set forth the purpose for which the bonds are proposed to be issued, the estimated cost of the proposed undertaking, the amount of bonds to be issued, the serial maturities thereof, and the maximum rate of interest such bonds are to bear, and a recital that the proposal includes the levying of sewer service charges or rentals to be secured by liens upon the property served. Such elections shall in all respects not herein otherwise provided be conducted and the results thereof ascertained and declared in accordance with the law then in force relating to County bond elections. If at any such election a majority of the voters vote in favor of the proposed undertaking, and the bonds, the bonds so voted may be issued at one time or from time to time as the governing body of the County shall deem advisable.

"With the prior approval of the governing body of any incorporated municipality therein, Jefferson County may take over, own, possess, control, expand, improve, maintain and operate any sewers or sewerage treatment or disposal plants of such incorporated municipality or, if such incorporated municipality has no sewers, Jefferson County may construct sewers therein. Such sewers and plants shall thereupon become a part of a combined and consolidated sewer system for Jefferson County.

"The governing body of Jefferson County shall have full power and authority to manage, operate, control and administer the sewers and plants herein provided for and, to that end, may make any reasonable and non-discriminatory rules and regulations fixing rates and charges, providing for the payment, collection and enforcement thereof, and the protection of its property. Liens for sewer rentals or service charges shall be foreclosed in such manner as may be provided by law for foreclosing municipal assessments for public improvements. This amendment is self-executing.

"The authority to issue bonds shall cease December 31, 1958. The authority to levy and collect sewer charges and rentals shall be limited to such charges as will pay the principal of and interest on the bonds and the reasonable expense of extending, improving, operating and maintaining said sewers and plants; and when the bonds shall have been paid off, service charges and rentals shall be accordingly reduced, it being the intent and purpose of this amendment that the expenses of needed improvements and extensions and maintenance and operation of the sewers and sewerage treatment and disposal plants and no other expenditures shall be paid from such service charges and rentals."

I further direct and proclaim that notice of this election upon Tuesday the 2nd day of November 1948, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama of 1901, be given by publishing the same once a week for four successive weeks next preceding Tuesday the 2nd day of November 1948, in each county in the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and have caused the Great Seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed by the Secretary of State, at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery, on this the 16th day of August 1948.

California Sea Lion Wears Toilet Seat as Neck Piece

SAN FRANCISCO. — A sea lion which lives on the Seal Rocks off San Francisco beach has stuck its big neck through a floating toilet seat, and it apparently can't get the thing off.

Where Buster — that's what Cliff House balcony observers call him from their vantage point overlooking Seal Rocks—found the bathroom fixture is a mystery. It is of the horseshoe type, and a gleaming white.

The other seals on the rocks at first shunned Buster, and then clustered around to inspect the new collar.

Dr. Robert T. Orr, curator of mammals of the California Academy of Sciences, said that the collar ought to be removed but that there is a chance Buster will get along all right anyway—barring a nervous breakdown.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, the coast guard and the navy have all pondered the problem of what will happen to Buster, but they have reached no conclusion. S. P. C. A. officials wondered how they could reach the rocks, which are 100 yards offshore and are in the midst of heavy surf that would wreck small boats.

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the Title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages and judgments or other liens, affecting the Title, which an Abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an Abstract of Title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an Abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

SARDIS

Our attendance has fallen off some at Sunday School and B.T.U. We want to urge that everyone come to church every Sunday. Let's not let the winter months get our attendance down. Now that all of us starting a new associational year, why not make it the best yet? We can by all coming and cooperate with our pastor and each other.

We have had a good bit of sickness in our community, but we are glad to report that they are all better and we will be glad to see them back at church.

Sunday and Sunday night are our regular preaching times. We invite everyone out to these services, and as Bro. Cox said, each one bring some one with you.—Reporter.

CEDAR GROVE

There wll be a get-together singing here next Friday night, October 8th, beginning at 7 o'clock. All the neighboring communities have a special invitation. We are hoping to have our new pastor, Rev. Roundtree, and his family with us. We are also expecting a quartet. Come and bring your song books and let's have a singing.

There was a nice crowd for Sunday School last Sunday morning. The Young People's Class have chosen leaders to bring in more scholars. The leaders are Evelyn Davis and Bryce Thornton. We are looking for this to be an interesting campaign and we hope a Sunday School revival. Although we do have an average attendance it is not as large as it has been.

There were Christian Endeavor services Sunday night as usual. We had an election of officers for the next quarter.

We are very sorry that Mr. G. W. Melton has not been feeling so good lately.

Miss Barbara Jean Price was the guest of Miss Alice Faye Thornton last week end.

Miss Myragene Collins spent the week end at home.

Mr. Tolbert Melton of Anniston visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Melton, over the week end. He visited Mr. and Mrs. Grady Melton a while Sunday. Grady and Dorothy also had as Sunday dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. Max Eiland.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Melton Sunday afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Scroggins and children, Mrs. Mary Scroggins and grandson and Mrs. Susie Abbott, all from Sylacauga.

A group of young folks from here attended the subdistrict meeting that was held at the Methodist Church at Clanton Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Patterson visited Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Cleckler Sunday.

Mrs. Peggy Dean Watley visited Miss Jeanette Eiland Sunday.

Miss Dollie Jean Hayes had as a guest during the week end Miss Geraldine Melton.

Miss Maxine Jones and Jimmie Charles Liveoak visited their cousins, Bryce and Larry Wayne Thornton, last Sunday. Robert Eiland and Bobbie Ray Mims also visited them a while Sunday afternoon.

Don't forget the singing here Friday night. All singers and those who like to hear singing are invited, and we still have prayer meeting on Wednesday night. — Reporter, Mrs. Lula Thornton.

- Our Pilgrim Faith -

OUR ECUMENICAL FELLOWSHIP

"There is one body and one spirit,— one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of us all."—Ephesians 4:4-5.

This verse of scripture points up the oneness of the Christian religion. Today let us consider the ecumenical spirit within our own Fellowship. The attitude of our churches toward union with other Christians is set forth in the Kansas City Statement of Faith as follows:

"While affirming the liberty of our churches, and the validity of our ministry, we hold to the unity and catholicity of the Church of Christ, and will unite with all its branches in hearty cooperation; and will earnestly seek, so far as in us lies, that the prayer of our Lord for His disciples may be answered, that they all may be one."

Congregational Christian Churches have always been interested in Christian unity. The early churches in New England did not consider themselves a denomination, but "Churches of Christ" in New England. Many of them still use the name with Congregational in parenthesis. As an expression of the spirit of unity we practice 'open communion' and welcome to the communion table all who love Christ in sincerity. In fact Congregationalists were so determined not to be guilty of sectarian zeal that they fell into a way of excessive deference to other forms of church organization, and a corresponding lack of aggressiveness in extending their own influence and developing their own life. In many cases we have given up our technical rights in order to further the cause of cooperation. "It is not too much to say that Congregationalism often has lost members and prestige in order to be fraternal.'

But all of this does not mean that Congregational Christians are ready to abandon their convictions for the sake of unity. We cannot see how it will advance the kingdom of God for the denomination that believes in fraternity to leave the field to those who are conspicious for their sectarianism. Congregational Christians believe that they can best serve the cause of the church universal by being loyal to their own ideals, but not considering themselves as sectarian. As one of our leaders has stated it, "We refuse to be a sect, and are loyal to the common faith."

Congregational Christians have never been hampered by loyalty to creedal statements in their efforts toward union.

We have probably made more gestures toward union than any other religious body.

The first large scale plan of cooperation was that between the Cong'lists and the Presbyterians in the Western Territory under the 'Plan of Union' by which there could be an interchange of pastors and members. These churches were to decide whether they would be Congregational or Presbyterian. It turned out that practically all of them became Presbyterian; and that gave rise to the saying that, "Congregationalism is a river rising in New England and flowing south and west into Presbyterianism." The Plan of Union came to an end in 1852.

The first official attempt at union came in 1886, with a proposal to merge with the Free Baptist Church, but it failed.

In 1888 a group of Congregational Methodist Churches came into our fellowship. A proposal for union from the Disciples in 1895 was not favorably received because it included insistence on their form of baptism. At Washington Council in 1925 the Evangelical Protestant Churches were received into our fellowship. The merger with the Christian Churches was completed in 1931 with the adoption of a constitution by both bodies in Seattle, Wash. The latest move for a merger was with the Evangelical and Reformed Church. The Basis of Union has been approved by both groups and it is expected that this merger will be consumated in 1949.

Congregational Christians were active in the movement for the organization of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, and our fellowship is also a member of the World Council of Churches.

We believe in and work for church union because we believe in the unity of the children of God; a world-wide brotherhood with God as a Father, and all men brothers in Him. We believe that the unity of the Church is needed in our time because as Dr. Albert W. Beaven has stated: "If we who love Jesus Christ cannot work or commune unitedly, what hope have we of proposing Christian love as a basis for uniting nations or classes in the world." We believe that churches should unite as "an evidence to the world of oneness of the Church of Christ." Let us make the watchword of the Church of Christ today—TOGETHER. — Collie Seymour.

IT'S TIME TO ORDER COTTON BREEDER SEED

To follow a good seed renewal program, Alabama one-variety cotton communities will require a minimum of 60,000 bushels of breeder seed for planting the 1949 crop.

According to O. N. Andrews, API extension cotton improvement specialist, that is more than double the amount of breeder seed planted this year.

Because of this fact, Andrews urges seed dealers, ginners, presidents of one-variety communities and others to place orders for cotton breeder seed now.

Evidence of what Alabama farmers are doing to improve cotton may be found in each of the 280 one-variety cotton improvement communities in the state. Andrews says that these communities planted over 591,500 acres to adopted cotton varieties this year.

This can be done with one of the many cleaning fluids found on the market. Since they are inflammable and explosive, Levice Ellis, API extension clothing specialist, urges that all dry cleaning be done out-of-doors and entirely away from fire or heat.

Hats that have been cleaned must be allowed to dry thoroughly out-of-doors before blocking. "Several hours are required for the cleaning solution to evaporate," warns Miss Ellis.

A Lesson In Salesmanship

Slim Jones was back in town the other day. He's a button salesman . . . and he was around to get an order from Sam Abernathy's general store.

I commented on how well and spruce he looked, and Slim says: "Well, the health is mine, but the appearance is partly the Company's doing. They want their representatives to look spruce to give the product a good name."

Smart policy, that! Like the brewers, with their program of Self Regulation. They want outlets selling beer to present a clean, orderly appearance—so they inspect them regularly, and call on the proper authorities to discipline any that might give beer a bad name.

From where I sit, the public judges by appearances And they should! Folks with pride in their business—as the brewers are proud of wholesome American beer—should want to see it presented in clean, respectable surroundings.

Be it resolved by the Court of County Commissioners of Chilton County in regular session on this 11th day of October, 1948, as follows:

Official entry blanks are available only at Hocutt's Electric Store. To qualify, it was announced, a contestant should visit the local Bendix automatic washer dealer and see a demonstration of the new Bendix with the latest development in the home laundrying field — an automatic soap injector. On the entry blank, the contestant will then tell, in 25 additional words or less, why he likes the Bendix automatic soap injector. Closing dates for the respective contests are October 16, 23 and 30-November 6, 13 and 20.

Diphtheria Found In Chilton County

Within the past few days there has occurred in five families six cases of diphtheria in Chilton County. One at Calera Route 1, one at Montevallo Route 1, one at Jemison, two at Thorsby and a fatal case at Maplesville, which is to be regretted.

Usually children under six months of age have inherited immunity from mother. The highest incidence of diphtheria is from one to four years of age, after that time acquired immunity is present in some proportion. Children six and over may have diphtheria, but are not as likely as in the early age group.

There is available at all times from your family physician diphtheria toxoid, which is usually given two doses thirty days apart. At your Health Department this service is given in Clanton Thursday p.m. and Saturday a.m., at Maplesville on Monday p.m., and at Thorsby on Friday p.m.

As your Health Officer I urge all mothers to avail for their children in the age group six months to six years the protection that is always at hand. School age children rarely ever have the disease. — E. M. Moore, M.D., County Health Officer.

Clanton Lions Club Had Guest Speaker

Last Thursday night the Clanton Lions Club had as their guest speaker Mr. Walter F. Buhl, who is a special representative for the Bureau of the Census.

Mr. Buhl was introduced by Mrs. Flora Stripling, who is the District Supervisor for the Clanton office.

Mr. Buhl's talk was of much interest to the Club as many phases of the census work was explained.

The Census Bureau is under the supervision of the Department of Commerce, and was written into the Constitution of the United States as a vital necessity.

Most people think the Bureau consists of taking a census of the population once every ten years, but there are many other objectives.

Some of these objectives are: cotton statistics, business statistics, labor force and lumber statistics.

It was of interest to learn that in January of this year Alabama had only two offices, one in Birmingham, the other in Clanton.

Clanton was chosen because of its location in regards to area in which the government was much interested.

Among the things the Census has found is that there is a migration from some areas to others because of labor. Alabama has gained in this, while our neighbor, Mississipi, has lost more population thany any state in the Union. California has the largest gain.

At the present time most of these census are taken on a sample basis, which has proven to be within one-tenth of one percent accurate, when taken on a 100 percent basis.

From these census manufacturers are able to tell what items are selling in what area, the amount of labor available in any given location.

Business men are able to compare their increases or decreases in business with other localities, which kinds of stores are increasing in number and which are showing a decrease.

Mr. Buhl impressed upon the Club the secrecy of this work which is not available to the public until compiled by the U. S. Government and published. A heavy fine as well as imprisonment are the penalty for divulging information given any census taken.

The cooperation of the public was asked in regards to answering questions for this work.

The next national population census will be in 1950.

CLANTON PLAYS MONTEVALLO FRIDAY NIGHT

Tigers Wallop Columbiana 7 To 0; Coming Team Undefeated

The Chilton County Tigers got back in the win column Friday night of last week when they defeated a strong Shelby County team from Columbiana by the score of 7 to 0. The Tigers presented a crippled line-up and it was a surprise to some of their friends when they came through to win. Columbiana put a good looking team on the field and the score tells just how close the game was.

Friday night of this week, October 15th, the local boys take on the boys from Montevallo High. Montevallo brings an undefeated team for this season to Clanton, having won four straight games. The Tigers will have to be really up for this game if they are to stay on the winning side.

This game will begin at 8:10 p.m. instead of the usual hour of 7:30. The starting time was delayed due to the revival going on at the Methodist Church. It has been announced that the church services will be over in time for any one attending to also see the football game.

Mrs. M. D. Foshee, Jr., program chairman, presented a very interesting and informative program on the work of the Jew in America and Palestine.

Mrs. Yeager gave a lovely devotion. Others taking part on the program were Miss Bonnie Clyde Griffin, Mrs. E. B. Allison, Mrs. Thomasine Lecroy, Mrs. Virgil Powers and Mrs. Leo Spivey. Two new members were welcomed, Mrs. Eddie Waters and Mrs. Ivey, a new resident of Clanton.

COMPETITION: PROGRESS FACTOR

Competition, many economists agree, is a factor stimulating the progress which keeps America great. It is appropriate, in view of the fact that Thursday, October 14th, is being observed as "Oil Progress Day," an occasion when oil men give an account of their public service activities to citizens of the communities in which they operate, to take a look at the competition factor in the petroleum industry.

According to the U. S. Department of Commerce periodical, "Survey of Current Business."

Twenty-two hundred more companies are currently producing—oil taking it out of the ground—than were engaged in that work at the beginning of 1944.

In 1946 and 1947. some 48,600 new service stations opened, while only 13,400 closed, for a net gain of 35,200. The figure becomes even more striking when it is realized that 95 per cent of those stations are owned or leased by independent businessmen.

In addition there was a net gain of 1,300 new oil marketing firms throughout the country DURING THE PAST YEAR, according to the Petroleum Register.

The over-all picture is even more striking. From a mere handful of companies in 1859, when the first oil well was drilled, the industry has grown steadily until now 34,000 competitive firms, plus a quarter million service stations, have been established to meet the ever-increasing oil needs of the American people.

Isn't it amusing to set back now and watch the editorial writers twist the governor's statements about Truman's name being on the ballot, to suit their individual taste?

We still say when you get a letter with a big "important" stamped across the face of it—it's important to the sender, not to you.

STOP AND THINK

One of our good friends from down Pletcher way came in to see us last Saturday and one of the thoughts he dropped made us wonder if some of our Democrats could be a bit lost because of the confusing differences within the party.

The most important duty of the Democrats of Chilton County is to concentrate on electing our county nominees in November. Don't be sidetracked by the issues.

The eleven Electors who will cast Alabama's vote for the President have already been named. They were elected in our Democratic Primary last Spring. Whether or not we agree now with the way they cast our electorial votes cannot be helped, the die has been cast. All are pledged to east their ballot for Thurmond and Wright.

What the Chilton County Democrat has to do now is to get busy and see that more crosses are marked under the Democratic Rooster than under the Republican Elephant.

Now, don't mistake us. We are not in favor of building a fence around Chilton County and merely forgetting that we are a small part of the whole, but we have a big job to do here at home and we believe that since there is nothing we can do about the national situation as things now stand, we should concentrate on the work at hand. Get together and pull together for a winning ticket in November.

If there must be appeasement we think the Soviet should appease the United States.

It is not "un-American" to disagree with others, regardless of what positions they occupy.

Oil Progress Day is today. (Oct. 14). See how dumb you are. You didn't even know. Well we didn't either until the Chilton County Oil officials called us down to the Dixie Cafe the other day to tell us about it. R. C. Williams, we believe he's president, A. A. Bazzell, B. N. Studdard, J. P. Lawrence; we don't know how Herman LeCroy slipped in there unless (oh, yeah, he owns the Shell Service Station), but he was there anyway. They were drawing plans for the big day. Read our editorial on Oil Progress Day in this issue and see their ad on another page.

They tell us that the folks who live in the block with Alonza Askins are getting ready to run him off. Not the ladies who live in the block, it's the men. Recently he has been caught several times helping Mrs. Askins beat the rugs, and commit several other prohibitive services around the house. The husbands who live on that block are agin' it and are saying so. That kind of thing is dangerous and could be catching.

Thanks to Mr. Patterson Hicks you can now see the football game even though you sit on the bottom row of seats at the games. He has done a good job of educating the "standees" into believing that those on the bottom row have a right to see the football game too. We have been down there when you spent more time trying to get somebody to sit down from in front of you than you did looking at the game. Now he has things different. Those who stand up stay back towards the end zone pretty good.

We got to tell this on Mr. Sid Littleton down at the Shell Station whether he admits it or not. One day last week when it was raining to beat the band, Mr. Littleton was out in front of the Station watering the sidewalk with a hose. We can prove it because he tried to drown us while he was doing it.

To The Merchants of Alabama:
Greeting:

It has long been known that all business establishments were, and are dependent upon payrolls for their existence. Therefore, it is evident that all merchants, bankers and other business interests, including Chambers of Commerce, Rotary Clubs, etc., should place their work and influence behind any move which would create payrolls and place into the channels of trade an increased buying power of the people.

The Manufacturers Association of Syracuse, N. Y., and the Wall Street Journal have made the statement that the payroll of a plant employing 150 people will sustain 300 homes, 320 automobiles, 37 stores, keep up an 18-room school house and its teachers, and consume the products of 6,000 acres of farm land. At $12.00 per day the payroll of 150 people would be $468,000.00 per year. Now,

We in Alabama have some 120,000 people over the age of 65 years, for the State and County governments to suply $15.00 out of each $40.00 paid to the needy old people of Alabama, which would create one of the most substantial payrolls the State has ever known and bring to the State from the Federal Government from 36 to 40 million dollars a year which would go into the channels of trade which we do not now have.

To add to these Federal funds the 20 to 22 million dollars the State and Counties would furnish would bring to a grand total of about 60 million dollars in buying power of the people of Alabama. To base the turnover of this money on the same bases as the Wall Street Journal used for the plant employing 150 people, which was 7½ times a year; we would have an increase in business of approximately a half billion dollars a year.

The increased revenhe to this State by virtue of the increased volume of business, figured on a basis of the present volume of business and the revenue derived therefrom, shows that such investment in the care of the old people of our State would be a very profitable venture.

The measure of care we extend to our aged is rightly the measure of civilization gy which we may be judged.—Dan J. Baker, Troy, Ala.

DALLIS POISONING MUST BE WATCHED

W. H. Gregory, A.P.I. extension livestock specialist, explains that the [illegible]-heads are poisonous when infected with a disease called ergot. The [illegible] is very common and causes the [illegible] heads to turn black.

Since the poison is located only in [illegible] seed-heads, most of the trouble can be avoided by mowing the pasture. Gregory says that the first evidence of ergot is a sticky substance on the seed-heads. Later a black growth replaces many of the seeds. Smutty stains will be found on cattle grazing ergot-infected Dallis grass.

Poisoning by diseased Dallis grass can be prevented if cattle are removed from infected pastures. Cattle poisoned by Dallis grass will usually recover if given good care, adds Gregory.

PUT PITCHFORD IN SAFE PLACE

Pitchforks are misused more than any other tool. Don't take chances with a fork. For outside work, carry it over your shoulder and stick it securely in the ground when not in use. When the job is finished, see that pitchfork is hung up or stored in a rack in the barn.

WEEDS IN WINTER GARDEN

Keep down weeds by mulching or cultivation; they do just as much damage in winter as in summer.

KEEP THAT RICH RED IN COOKED TOMATOES

"When preparing and cooking tomatoes," says Lavada Curtis, API extension food preservation specialist, "keep them away from iron or steel, except stainless steel. A chemical action takes place when the acid in tomatoes comes in contact with iron. If this happens, the tomatoes may turn almost black."

Also, natural color of tomatoes may be lost from long slow cooking. "When cooking down tomatoes for sauce and relish, use a wide shallow kettle which allows for rapid evaporation/ thus making the cooking time shorter," advises Miss Curtis.

AVOID DAMP STALLS

Damp stalls, pens or bedding may lower a calf's resistance and lead to pneumonia or other infections. Also, calves need plenty of fresh air; let them exercise on dry, clear days.

RESEEDING WINTER LEGUMES

Use of reseeding winter legumes is a new practice being adopted by many Alabama farmers.

PLANT OATS FOR MORE GRAZING, GRAIN, HAY

Alabama farmers who plan to produce grazing, grain or hay from one crop are planting oats.

J. C. Lowery, API extension agronomist, points out that oats may be grazed in the fall and winter. Then, in the spring, the crop may be combined or cut for hay. Also, oats may be planted in a mixture with vetch or Austrian winter peas for grazing or hay.

Last year, thousands of bushels of oats were certified in Alabama. "For best results with oats, plant these certified seed," advises Lowery.

CARE FOR HOGS

Some simple, low-cost buildings and feeding equipment for hogs will pay big dividends. Of all domestic farm animals, hogs are most susceptible to changes in weather conditions.

CHANGES IN FREIGHT RATES

All railroads recently increased charges five per cent for protective services, including icing and heating farm produce.

Did you know that salt will raise the boiling point of water? The next time you are cooking in a double boiler, add some table salt to the water container section of the boiler. This lessens the time necessary to cook the food in the inner container.

TIPS ON MAKING MEAT AND VEGETABLE SOUP

The best cooks know that slow cooking brings out the flavors of meat—especially is this true of meat in soup.

"But here's a tip," says Mary Hulsey, API extension nutritionist. "Although the bone and meat should be cooked slowly for the best flavor, the wisest cooks make their stock the day before."

By doing this, Miss Hulsey explains that the stock is cold by the time soup-making starts the next day. When the stock is cold, the fat can be lifted off easier. Besides, there won't be any chunks of fat found in the soup.

MARSHALL COUNTY VOTES TO STAY "DRY"

Montgomery, Ala. — Marshall County last week balloted to remain "dry" as far as the legal sale of whiskey is concerned.

With three-fourths of the count completed, 3,495 votes were cast against installing an ABC system in that county, while 920 voted in favor of putting in the system.

RECRUITING NEWS

The following named men of Chilton County have enlisted in the Regular Army and Air Force. Wayne Atkinson of Verbena has enlisted in the U.S. Air Force and being a high school graduate of Verbena High School he will soon be taking specialized training in the field of his choice. William F. Schuffert also of Verbena has enlisted in the Regular Army and is now taking basic training at Ft. Jackson, S. C. Austin Carter, Jr., of Marbury, and Cleveland Jarrell have enlisted in the Regular Army and are also taking basic training at Ft. Jackson, S. C.

Under orders of the Secretary of Defense, no person in the Government except the President will have an airplane assigned for exclusive use. The Air Force's 16th Special Air Mission Group will provide authorized [illegible] transportation for Governmental agencies and individuals.

Men in basic training may now enroll for (United States Armed Force Institute) studies. A new directive extends the privilege to all personnel on active duty. The courses previously were not available to basic enlisted men in training.

The Air Force on Air Force Day, September 18, boasted an increase in personnel of 89,000, during its first year as a separate Service. The total rose from 311,000 to over 400,000. Approximately 130,000 are stationed overseas. The Air Force is readying a training pay plan for 11,000 officers and 17,000 enlisted men on the USAF Reserve. Public Law 460, enacted last March, authorized such payment.

For any information about an enlistment in either the U.S. Air Force or U.S. Army call by the Recruiting Station, located in the New Wade Building, Clanton, Ala., or phone 541.

"Oil Progress Day" Recalls Industry's "Pot Still" Days

One day some ninety-odd years ago a tall, stoop-shouldered cana boat man named Samuel M. Kier was stirring a sticky, evil-smelling brew in an iron kettle which squatted on a stove in the cellar of a shack just outside the city limits of Pittsburgh. The mess on the stove was a sample of Kier's Rock Oil, a patent medicine in which Sam had invested heavily but which tasted so vile that few people would buy it. Kier was trying to salvage his investment by seeing what would happen if he ran the unsavory stuff through a primitive still.

As the petroleum began to boil vigorously, Kier slapped a home-made "worm" on top of the kettle. A dribble of colorless liquid ran out of the still. He touched a match to it and the liquid burned slowly. Inspired, he put some of it in an empty whale oil lamp. The lamp glowed brighter than it ever had before!

That was how Sam Kier discovered kerosene and became America's first petroleum refiner. The petroleum industry, which is paying tribute to Sam Kier, to all of his successors and to the pioneering spirit of the American people as a whole during the observance of "Oil Progress Day" on October 14, has come a fabulously long way since those ante-bellum years.

Instead of a handful of struggling companies, the industry now consists of 34,000 competitive firms. Instead of one well—that brought in by Colonel E. L. Drake at Titusville, Pa., in the summer of 1859—oil companies have drilled around 1,200,000 wells and oil is produced in 25 states. Some 428,000 of these wells are producing oil today. Instead of a transport system consisting of a few rickety wagons and canal boats, the oil companies have a remarkable system of 150,000 miles of pipelines, plus large fleets of ocean-going tankers, inland-waterway tankers, barges, railway tank cars and tank trucks. Instead of peddling their products in five gallon tin cans, oil men now include thousands of wholesale distributors, and operate a quarter million modern, clean and efficient service stations.

Today, oil and natural gas supply almost half of this nation's heat and power requirements. From crude oil comes a grand total of more than 1,200 useful products—products which everyone uses almost every day of his life.

"Oil Progress Day" is being observed this week. Members of the industry will report such things as the above to citizens of the communities in which they operate. Oil men are making that report to call the attention of their friends, customers and neighbors to the fact that they operate in the American tradition of free, competitive enterprise. As a result they are doing an outstanding job in their efforts to contribute to America's progress and well-being. They are, in fact, echoing Sam Kier's cry: "We're making progress."

An Explanation to my Readers of This Column—

You no doubt noticed the loose connection in my column last week in regard to the article about "The Tree Speaks" and below is a word of comment. The comment was meant to be on an article which a reader wrote for publication protesting against the removal of the beautiful trees in the park along the railroad. This article was later withdrawn without my knowledge, leaving only my comment with the article on trees, which of course did not have the proper connection. Pardon Please.

Mrs. Varnie Wyatt is able to be out again after being confined to her home for several days with a severe throat ailment.

Mrs. Onice Wood of Utah, Ala., spent the week end here with her husband, our assistant police.

The Ogburn family took off for the State Fair last Friday afternoon, and had themselves one good time. They took in the chibits in the afternoon and enjoyed the grandstand performances that night. They report that the fair in general was a good one this year.

Mr. and Mrs. John Floyd Mims, Mr. Fred Honeycutt and Miss Joan Christiansen made up a merry party and attended the fair last Friday.

Mr. Sam Pate was among the many who attended the fair last week, but to tell the truth, we believe that he mixed a little politics in with his trip—but then, guess he enjoyed both.

Misses Elizabeth Jean and Frances Collins of Alabama College, spent the week end at home with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Akins Collins.

Miss Jane Barham and Billy Gene Davenport of Auburn, Ala., were among those who were home for the week end.

Mrs. A. N. Laurell returned last week from a delightful visit of two weeks with her sister in Chattanooga and also with friends in Birmingham.

Mrs. George Wright and Carroll Wright of Venita, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Wright of Meridian, Miss., Miss Margaret Ward of Birmingham and Mr. J. D. Wright were among those relatives who were called here last week, due to the death of Mr. Will Wright, who passed away quite suddenly last Thursday. Dr. George Wright, a brother was already here on a visit at the time of his death. He was buried at Pleasant Grove on last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Headley (Peggy Raybon) are enjoying a vacation trip in Charleston, S. C., and Jacksonville, Fla. This is in the way of a delayed honeymoon trip since they were both unable to get away for a trip at the time of their marriage.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Phares Raybon of Tuscaloosa, Ala., will be glad to learn that they are the proud parents of a 7-pound boy who came to them on October 7th. They have named the young fellow Michael Phares.

Mrs. A. E. Reagan, Mrs. Marie Peterson, Mrs. Albert Peterson, Misses Alma Lefstead and Naemi Turnquist visited in Jemison on Sunday afternoon. They enjoyed a coffee party with Mrs. Martin Peterson on her 75th birthday, after which they called on Mrs. Lina Dyrhovd. On their return home the called on Mrs. Inga Anderson, who has been a Shut-in for some time. She is getting along nicely now and is able to be up and around some.

It is with deep regret that we announce the loss of the Williams family. Rev. Williams, who has been pastor of the Baptist Church here for some years, leaves us to go to Wilton, Ala. Losing Rev. Williams and his family is indeed a loss to Thorsby and to the entire county, as we earnestly feel that this family will be hard to replace. We wish them every success in their new home.

The Baptist Church here has called Rev. John Rollins of Niceville, Fla., and he has accepted the call and is expected to move here this week, and will occupy the pulpit at the Baptist Church next Sunday. Rev. Rollins is formerly from Birmingham, having been a member of the Calvary Baptist Church there. Everyone is cordially invited to attend these services next Sunday.

Thorsby is also losing another very fine family. The Rev. Collie Seymour of the Congregational Church has also resigned and will leave some time in Novemger. So far no pastor has been called here to take his place. Thorsby is indeed unfortunate in losiny these two outstanding families. Rev. Seymour will go to Valparaiso, Fla.

Remember to attend your Garden Club tonight at the home of Mrs. Thomas Hayes at 7:30 o'clock.

MORE DOLLARS FOR PEANUT PRODUCERS

A program designed to supply Alabama peanut growers with seed from the new variety, Dixie Runner, is underway.

Working jointly on this program are the Alabama Crop Improvement Association and the Agricultural Experiment Station and Extension Service of API.

To date, experiments conducted by the Wiregrass Substation at Headland show that the new variety gives a much higher yield that Alabama Runners.

Last year, Headland Station records indicated that pure Dixie Runners produced 720 pounds more peanuts per acre than Alabama Runners.

"In addition to this," says Ralph Jones, [illegible] specialist, "the pure Dixie Runner seed produced 239 pounds more peanuts per acre than available farmer-stock Dixie Runner seed."

Analyzing these figures, he points out that if the lower increase of 239 pounds were applied to Alabama's 472,000-acre crop, farmers would harvest an additional 55,904 tons. On today's market, th[illegible]

ALABAMA FARMERS HALT LEAFSPOT ON PEANUTS

Practically every acre in Alabama's peanut crop was dusted three or more times for leafspot this year.

To control leafspot, a leaf disease which causes the leaves to turn brown and drop off, a sulphur dust or a copper sulphur dust was recommended by W. A. Kutun, A.P.I. extension entomologist.

He advised that one or more dustings with cryolite be made to prevent worms from defoliating peanut plants.

KEEP COTTONSEED PURE FOR NEXT YEAR'S CROP

Farmers are urged by O. N. Andrews, A.P.I. extension cotton improvement specialist, to ask the ginner to be sure and keep their next year's planting seed pure.

"JEFFERSON COUNTY SEWER AMENDMENT:

"In addition to any indebtedness now authorized, Jefferson County may become indebted and may issue bonds therefor in an amount not exceeding 3 per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable property in said County in order to pay the expenses of constructing, improving, extending and repairing sewers and sewerage treatment and disposal plants in said County. Said bonds shall be general obligations of Jefferson County but shall also be payable primarily from and secured by a lien upon the sewer rentals or service charges, which shall be levied and collected in an amount sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on such bonds, replacements, extensions and improvements to, and the cost of operation and maintenance of, the sewers and sewerage treatment and disposal plants. Such sewer rentals or service charges shall be levied upon and collected from the persons and property whose sewerage is disposed of or treated by the sewers or the sewerage treatment or disposal plants and whether served by the part of the sewer system then being constructed, improved, or extended or by some other part of such system; and such charges or rentals shall be a personal obligation of the occupant of the property the sewerage from which is disposed of by such sewers or treated in such plants and shall also be a lien upon such property, enforceable by a sale thereof.

"Before issuing any bonds or levying or collecting any such sewer service charges or rentals, the proposal shall first be submitted to and approved by a majority of the voters of the County voting at an election to be called by the governing body thereof. Notice of such election shall be given by publication once a week for four successive weeks immediately prior to such election in a newspaper published and of general circulation in Jefferson County. Such notice and the ballot shall set forth the purpose for which the bonds are proposed to be issued, the estimated cost of the proposed undertaking, the amount of bonds to be issued, the serial maturities thereof, and the maximum rate of interest such bonds are to bear, and a recital that the proposal includes the levying of sewer service charges or rentals to be secured by liens upon the property served. Such elections shall in all respects not herein otherwise provided be conducted and the results thereof ascertained and declared in accordance with the law then in force relating to County bond elections. If at any such election a majority of the voters vote in favor of the proposed undertaking, and the bonds, the bonds so voted may be issued at one time or from time to time as the governing body of the County shall deem advisable.

"With the prior approval of the governing body of any incorporated municipality therein, Jefferson County may take over, own, possess, control, expand, improve, maintain and operate any sewers or sewerage treatment or disposal plants of such incorporated municipality or, if such incorporated municipality has no sewers, Jefferson County may construct sewers therein. Such sewers and plants shall thereupon become a part of a combined and consolidated sewer system for Jefferson County.

"The governing body of Jefferson County shall have full power and authority to manage, operate, control and administer the sewers and plants herein provided for and, to that end, may make any reasonable and non-discriminatory rules and regulations fixing rates and charges, providing for the payment, collection and enforcement thereof, and the protection of its property. Liens for sewer rentals or service charges shall be foreclosed in such manner as may be provided by law for foreclosing municipal assessments for public improvements. This amendment is self-executing.

"The authority to issue bonds shall cease December 31, 1968. The authority to levy and collect sewer charges and rentals shall be limited to such charges as will pay the principal of and interest on the bonds and the reasonable expense of extending, improving, operating and maintaining said sewers and plants; and when the bonds shall have been paid off, service charges and rentals shall be accordingly reduced, it being the intent and purpose of this amendment that the expenses of needed improvements and extensions and maintenance and operation of the sewers and sewerage treatment and disposal plants and no other expenditures shall be paid from such service charges and rentals."

I further direct and proclaim that notice of this election upon Tuesday the 2nd day of November 1948, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama of 1901, be given by publishing the same once a week for four successive weeks next preceding Tuesday the 2nd day of November 1948, in each county in the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

EARLY FARM LOANS BY FHA TO PROMOTE BETTER FARMING

Farm operating loans for next year's crops are being made now by the Farmers Home Administration, instead of waiting until the early spring, Mr. Joe M. Murphree, County FHA Supervisor announced recently.

Mr. Murphree said that commitments for loans now will enable farmers in the FHA program to make their farm and home plans upon a sound basis. Moreover, he said it will enable the borrowers to place their fertilizer and seed orders at an early date, to insure the planting of their crops on time in line with the Experiment Station recommendations.

Farmers who are unable to obtain credit upon reasonable terms from other sources are eligible for consideration for FHA farm operating loans, he said. Applications filed with the County Supervisor are reviewed by a County FHA Committee of three well known farmers and must receive approval of the committee before a loan can be made.

Mr. Murphree said that despite a high demand for operating loans, the funds available are limited this year. Veterans have a preference for the farm operating loans.

DARKNESS TRIPLES YOUR CHANCES OF HAVING A FATAL HIGHWAY MISHAP

Montgomery, Ala. — The chances of your having a fatal traffic accident is increased threefold after dark, according to Capt. Oliver T. McDuff of the State Highway Patrol.

Capt. McDuff said that statistics show that "for every mile of motor travel, three times as many fatal accidents occur after dark than during periods of daylight."

In stressing the need for increased driver precaution after dark, Capt. McDuff added, "Of all fatal accidents, three out of every five occur at night. People seem to be aware of the obvious hazards which darkness might afford, but statistics show that many vehicle operators apparently do not heed these added dangers of night driving."

1. Motorists cannot see as far nor as well as during the day.

2. More drivers and pedestrains are likely to be drinking at night.

3. Drivers and pedestrains are more likely to be tired at night. Fatigue reduces alertness and ability to react quickly.

4. Speeds that are safe during the day may be too fast at night.

5. Pedestrians do not always realize that they cannot be seen.

Respect the night, and protect your life.

PERSONAL PRIVACY MUST SURRENDER TO PUBLIC INTEREST

Montgomery, Ala. — On certain occasions you must relinquish your right of personal privacy if news events of public interest are at stake.

In handing down the above decision, the State Supreme Court held that personal privacy is defined "as the right of a person to be free from unwarranted publicity" or "the unwarranted appropriation or exploitation of one's personality, the publicizing of one's private affairs in such a manner as to outrage or cause mental suffering, shame or humiliation to a person of ordinary sensibilities."

The high tribunal went further, however, to say that "the best protection against tyranny" is the "free disclosure of truth." In certain instances, according to the decision, the public may have an interest in the individual which is more powerful than his right to personal privacy. If such is the case, the radio, like the press, is within its rights in presenting any correct information of public interest to the people at large.

The decision upheld a lower court in its action of dismissing a suit filed by two Tuscaloosa sisters against radio station WJRD. The suit charged that the station, by broadcasting certain events in the life of their deceased father, attempted "to degrade and bring public ridicule to the name and memory of their father. The suit charged further that the station's program also served "to revive certain long forgotten events."

Bellingrath Gardens near Mobile has the distinction of being the world's largest single assemblance of camellia bushes.

The smallest horse in the world was born and raised in Magnolia Springs. She was named Nira by her owner, E. W. Cole. When Nira grew up to be a grown horse, she tipped the scales at a healthy 47 pounds and stood 19½ inches high. Her favorite pastime was riding on the seat of Mr. Cole's coupe between two adults. Her best friend was not another horse, as is customary with horses, but a German Police dog.

For the purpose of promoting the military proficiency and effectiveness of the armed forces of this State, all officers, including general officers, of the Federally recognized active National Guard, except The Adjutant General and all officers of the State Military Department and the State Staff, shall be appointed, and after the adoption of this amendment shall be subject to suspension, discharge, removal, or compulsory retirement as such, solely on the basis of their individual military proficiency, character, and service as determined according to military or naval regulations and usage sanctioned by the law of this State and of the United States and not inconsistent with the provisions and spirit of this Amendment. The qualifications of such officers of the Federally recognized active National Guard shall be prescribed in military regulations promulgated in accordance with specifications of the United States War Department under authority of Federal laws affecting the National Guard; provided that all general officers of the line of the Federally recognized active National Guard shall have had at least six years service as commissioned officers in the Federally recognized active National Guard at the time of their recommendation and appointment as herein provided, and shall be members of the National Guard at the time of their recommendation and appointment, and that officers of the State Military Department and the State Staff hereafter appointed (except when commissioned in the Medical Corps) shall have served at least three years in the Federally recognized active National Guard, Army of the United States, or Officers' Reserve Corps, and they shall have military and civil education, training, and experience particularly fitting them for the positions to which they are assigned.

"Section 2. The Governor shall, subject to confirmation by the Senate, appoint The Adjutant General, who may be commissioned a general officer. The person so appointed shall have military and civil education, training and experience particularly fitting him for the position, and shall hold office at the pleasure of the Governor appointing him. After the adoption of this amendment, in the event of a National mobilization, war, or emergency during which The Adjutant General is ordered, called, drafted, or serves in the Federal Service, the Governor may appoint, subject to confirmation by the Senate, a temporary The Adjutant General who shall serve until The Adjutant General is released from Federal service, after which time the latter shall again asume his office, provided he is physically able and is acceptable to the Governor then in office.

"Section 3. All officers of the Federally recognized active National Guard shall be commissioned by the Governor, as Commander-in-Chief of the Militia, upon nominations made as herein provided.

"Section 4. All general officers of the line of the Federally recognized active National Guard, except The Adjutant General, shall be appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate, subject to the following conditions and limitations: Whenever there occurs a vacancy for any such officer, the Adjutant General (or the Governor if there be no The Adjutant General) shall, within thirty days after the occurrence of the vacancy, call a meeting of the State Military Advisory Board provided for in Section 10 of this Amendment, and, if such meeting is not called within the prescribed time by such officer, the ranking member of said Board shall do so. Said State Military Advisory Board when so convened shall, by a majority vote, recommended to the Governor within thirty days a list of one or more persons considered by it to be qualified as to education, professional training and ability, character, experience, and general ability for the office to be filled, and the Governor shall within thirty days thereafter fill such vacancy by appointment from among the persons so recommended, and, if the Governor fails or refuses to make such appointment within the prescribed time, The Adjutant General (or the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, if there be no The Adjutant General or such officer fails or refuses to act within another thirty days) shall make such appointment from such list of recommended persons, and any such appointment made by any of such officers shall be subject to confirmation by the Senate; provided, that where the appointment of a general officer requires the consent or concurrence of another State Government, the Governor shall not be bound by the time limits prescribed for making the actual appointment. Any person appointed to be The Adjutant General or a general officer at a time when the Senate is not in session shall hold and exercise such office until the Senate next convenes, when his appointment must be immediately submitted by the officer making the appointment to the Senate for confirmation.

"Section 5. The Adjutant General shall select and nominate suitable and qualified officers to fill vacancies occurring in the State Military Department, the State Staff, and the Alabama portion of staffs of commanders who are not members of the National Guard of this State. The officers in the State Military Department and on the State Staff shall serve at the pleasure of The Adjutant General.

"Section 6. General officers, regimental, group, battalion, and squadron commanders shall have the right to select and nominate, subject to the approval of The Adjutant General, suitable and qualified officers to fill vacancies occurring on their respective staffs in the Federally recognized active National Guard.

"Section 7. Commanding officers of regiments, groups, battalions, and squadrons shall be selected and nominated by The Adjutant General from among persons qualified for the appropriate grade and branch with the concurrence of the State Military Advisory Board.

"Section 9. Nominations of officers to fill vacancies in the Federally recognized active National Guard not otherwise provided for in this amendment shall be made by boards composed of The Adjutant General, all higher tactical commanders of the unit involved, and the commanding officers of the unit, if there be one, from persons qualified for the appropriate grade and branch.

"Section 9. Commissions and appointments of officers of the Federally recognized active National Guard shall be vacated or suspended only in the following manners; by resignation; by compulsory retirement at a definite maximum age, or voluntary retirement, as provided by statutes consistent with this amendment and requirements of the United States Government; by sentence of a court-Martial; by suspension, discharge, or retirement for cause upon the recommendations of an Efficiency Board of three superior officers, in cases of officers other than general officers, because of neglect of duty or moral or professional unfitness for further service as a commissioned officer, the accused officer having the right to appear before such board, present evidence, and appeal to higher military authority; upon withdrawal of Federal recognition; upon failure to comply with Federal regulations for continuance of Federal recognition; upon conviction of a felony; and because of physical unfitness, upon the recommendation of one or more medical officers of the National Guard or some other component of the United States Army. General officers of the Federally recognized active National Guard shall be subject to impeachment in the manner prescribed for the impeachment of the Attorney General of the State and upon the same grounds. They may also be removed from office by the Governor upon the recommendation and with the concurrence of the State Military Advisory Board because of neglect of duty or moral or professional unfitness for further service as such officers upon written charges proffered by the Governor or a member of such Board.

"Section 10. There shall be a State Military Advisory Board composed of all active general officers of the line of the Federally recognized active National Guard, The Adjutant General, the ranking Judge Advocate General, and the ranking active line officer of each combatant arm of the service represented in the organized National Guard of Alabama. Such Board shall have such duties as are imposed upon it by law, in addition to its duties as provided for in this amendment.

"Section 11. All affairs of the State Militia shall be conducted by a State Military Department, of which The Adjutant General shall be the head, and the employees of such department shall be appointed by The Adjutant General; provided that nothing contained herein shall prevent the application of the merit system to the employees in such department, other than employees in Active Military Service, in so far as it does not conflict with the provisions of this amendment.

"Section 12. The provisions of this amendment shall become effective immediately upon its adoption, and all of its provisions shall be self-executing. Nothing in this amendment shall be construed as requiring the removal of any officer mentioned herein who is holding office at the time of its adoption. Any provision of the existing Constitution inconsistent with any provision of this Amendment is hereby repealed."

LEO M. HEADLEY ASKS SUPPORT IN RACE FOR TAX ASSESSOR

TO THE VOTERS OF CHILTON COUNTY:

Dear Voter:

This is my first attempt at campaigning for public office and I am anxious to make my first attempt successful.

I am a life time resident of Chilton County and most of you know me. I am a successful farmer and should you see fit to elect me your Tax Assessor I will make you a successful public servant.

You know as well as I know, that it will be absolutely impossible for me to see each and every one of you between now and election day and that is why I am asking you in this manner to support me.

I will see all of you that I can, but if I don't get to see you and ask you personally for your vote, you will know that it isn't because I forgot you; it is because it is impossible for me to get around to see everyone.

Give me your support for this office and I will promise you six years of competent service in your tax assessor's office.

Sincerely,
LEO M. HEADLEY.

(Pd. pol. adv. by Leo M. Headley, Clanton, Ala.)

CLANTON PLAYS SILURIA HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

The Chilton County "Tigers" really played themselves a football game last Friday night when they took the strong Montevallo High School team to defeat by the score of 25 to 6. The visitors came to Clanton boasting a four game winning streak, and were all set to add number five to their list. Before the game was over the visiting Bulldogs were completely subdued.

To mention some of the Clanton boys without naming all of them would not be fair, however, Coach Waters said the following boys stood out for their good performance: Buddy Roberts, Byron Lowery, Hershel Smith, Billy Mims, and Bradley's passing to Royce Seales was a thing of beauty. Montevallo had a big team, well coached, and showed flashes of good football. Baker and Galloway were two of their best men.

Clanton takes on the Thompson High School of Siluria here Friday night. It will be recalled that Thompson was the first team to hand Clanton a defeat last year. The Tigers will be out to even this score.

Prominent Elmore Countian Passes

Mr. Fred Smith, age 59, passed away at his home at Elmore Sunday, October 17th. He was a brother of Judge J. Lee and Van Smith, and Mrs. R. W. Lowe, all of Clanton. Besides the relatives here, he is survived by the widow and three daughters of Elmore and one other brother. Funeral services were held Monday from Mt. Nebo Church near Elmore.

THIS IS UNITED NATIONS WEEK

The United States, which began as a dream in the minds of men, celebrates another dream come true as we dedicate this week to the United Nations. All over the world, millions, still shattered by the last war, look hopefully to the UN as their protection against another, and greater disaster.

The UN has accomplished much in three short years. Sometimes we forget the many incidents—the dispute between Russia and Iran, the British-Albanian quarrel, the squabble over Trieste, the tension in Korea—any of which might have flamed into World War III.

We should remember, too, that commissions on refugees, economic and social advancement, world health and many other vital matters are hard at work.

If justification of the UN were needed, these achievements alone would serve. But there is more on the record. In its draft proposals for an International Bill of Human Rights and for a Convention against Genocide, the UN has continued the work begun at Nuremberg, creating a body of international law and morality that will strengthen human rights everywhere.

The International Bill of Human Rights would extend freedom of worship, speech, press and assembly to all people in all lands.

The Genocide Convention, if ratified by member nations, would outlaw assaults on any group—racial, religious, cultural or national, making the guilty subject to swift and severe punishment by the Security Council.

Thus, the United Nations would guarantee the essentials of a decent life to all men, while safeguarding them against unjust death.

How to Choose a Tenant

Most tenant farmers in our county have been in their homes for years—because farm owners have been careful whom they've picked.

Take Bert Childers. He chooses family men with children—the more children the better—because he's found they're stable, temperate, industrious—the kind who'll settle for a moderate glass of beer at night and be ready for a good day's work next morning.

And from where I sit, the brewers are pretty particular whom they have for "tenants" in their industry—that is, the retailers who sell beer. They do everything they can to see that they're temperate, law-abiding good citizens.

And under their program of Self Regulation, any beer retailer falling short of those high standards is first warned, and then reported to the right authorities. Yes, good tenants make a mighty big difference, in a farm or in a retailer. It's worth being choosy!

1½ Billion Dollar Road Block!

RAILROADS MUST OPERATE around the clock every day and night of the year

Although they know this, leaders of 16 railroad unions are demanding a five-day, Monday through Friday, week for one million railroad employes.

They want 48 hours pay for 40 hours work —in itself a 20% wage increase.

They also demand a minimum of 12 hours pay for any work performed on Saturdays, and 16 hours pay for any work performed on Sundays and holidays.

On top of all this they want an additional increase of 25c an hour for every employe!

You'd Pay the Bill!

Summing up these demands, they mean that these union leaders seek to force the railroads to give one million employes an annual raise which would average $1500 per employe!

The total cost of this would be no less than 1½ billion dollars per year, which is more than twice the expected net income of the railroads this year.

You'd pay the bill, because if these increased costs are forced on the railroads, they must have still further rate and fare increases.

Demands Unreasonable

These employes have had substantial raises during and since the war. Their average weekly earnings are higher than the average weekly earnings of workers in manufacturing industries. They have more job security than the average worker in American industry. They also enjoy paid vacations, a retirement system and other advantages more generous than the average worker receives.

In contrast with the demands of these 16 unions, which add up to the equivalent of 48c an hour, the Conductors and Trainmen recently settled their wage request for an increase of 10c an hour.

Railroads Run for Everybody— Not Employes Alone

The railroad industry must serve not one but many groups—producers, businessmen, shippers, passengers and the general public—night and day, every day of the year. These unions are proceeding in utter disregard of this important difference between railroads and other industries. Industrial plants can be shut down over weekends and holidays, but freight, mail, express and passengers must continue to move. Everybody who enters railroad employment knows this.

Strike Threat

On September 18, 1948, the leaders of these 16 unions began taking a strike vote. But the threat of a strike will not alter the opposition of the railroads to such unreasonable demands!

The 1949 FRAZER

Trailblazer-of cars to come!

Once in a blue moon the stylists and engineers outdo themselves. They create a car that goes beyond today and sets the pattern for cars of the future.

This is what they have done with the FRAZER for 1949!

Low, sleek and differently handsome it is the trailblazer in style of cars to come. Its exclusive colors and fabrics have made the world's leading fashion designers fall in love with it. They call it "the dream car".

The same car, the FRAZER for 1949, has even won the hard-to-win hearts of the test drivers who must relentlessly punish a car mile after mile for weeks on end. They say the Frazer makes such driving no punishment for them. Its driving ease and riding comfort "make 600 miles a day a breeze," they say.

There's a thrill waiting for you at your dealer's today. With 100 new features, improvements and refinements, the 1949 FRAZER is ahead of its time . . . out front—trailblazing the way for all the cars to come. First to break clean and scrap tradition, the cars from Willow Run have done it again. Because unlike other "new" cars built since the war, they've road-proved their dependability—2 billion miles worth! Value-proved to a quarter-million justly proud owners. See and drive the new FRAZER now! It's at your dealer's. Kaiser-Frazer Corporation, Willow Run, Michigan.

'49 Manhattan Makes Bow

A DISTINCTIVE HONEYCOMB grille dominates front end styling of the 1949 Frazer sedan, which is now being introduced by Kaiser-Frazer dealers. Flanked by large parking and directional turn lamps, the grille is shielded by twin bumper guards which rise from the one-piece, wrap-around bumper.

'49 FRAZER

Has 12 Per Cent Increase In Power With No Gain In Fuel Consumption

WILLOW RUN, Mich., Oct. 18—In developing 112 horsepower in the six-cylinder engine which powers the 1949 Frazer and Frazer Manhattan, Kaiser-Frazer Corp. engineers achieved one of the auto industry's most sought after objectives.

They succeeded in boosting performance by 12 horsepower without any loss in the outstanding fuel economy achieved in the same engine which formerly delivered 100 horsepower.

It was accomplished through a unique but simple adaptation of the principle of dual throat carburetion and dual-intake manifolding.

K-F engineers found the answer by diverting the flow of the air and gas mixture from a single carburetor through two, autonamous manifolds. This creates a more efficient mixture of air and gasoline, and, because each of the high-speed jets serves only three instead of six sylinders, each cylinder receives a balanced supply of vaporized fuel.

For the motorist, it means a surge of power that can whisk the car from 10 to 70 miles per hour within 30 seconds. It means a horsepower per cubic inch displacement, according to published figures, that is the highest of any standard, mass-produced car in America.

The Frazer engine compression ratio, an important feature in gasoline economy, is 7.3-to-1, also highest of any standard, mass-produced car.

In all, 15 engine improvements were incorporated, including nine per cent more cooling obtained by new shrouding of the radiator core; new three-point rubber engine mounting; improved tappets, more efficient crankcase ventilation, and greater engine accessibility through installation of new splash shields.

K-F engineers also accomplished an apparent contradiction by achieving a lower-appearing silhouette without reducing headroom and while actually increasing road clearance and lengthening front coil springs.

The rakish lines are the result of longer-skirted fenders and deeper side body panels. A fully re-engineered chassis provides a substantial gain in road clearance and permits use of a greater spring range.

A new clutch mechanism, introduced after two years of research and road trials, eliminates 52 parts and reduces the units in the linkage to 16. The result is softer pedal pressure, with only one "wear" point and one simple link adjustment.—Adv.

> "JEFFERSON COUNTY SEWER AMENDMENT:
>
> "In addition to any indebtedness now authorized, Jefferson County may become indebted and may issue bonds therefor in an amount not exceeding 3 per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable property in said County in order to pay the expenses of constructing, improving, extending and repairing sewers and sewerage treatment and disposal plants in said County. Said bonds shall be general obligations of Jefferson County but shall also be payable primarily from and secured by a lien upon the sewer rentals or service charges, which shall be levied and collected in an amount sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on such bonds, replacements, extensions and improvements to, and the cost of operation and maintenance of, the sewers and sewerage treatment and disposal plants. Such sewer rentals or service charges shall be levied upon and collected from the persons and property whose sewerage is disposed of or treated by the sewers or the sewerage treatment or disposal plants and whether served by the part of the sewer system then being constructed, improved, or extended or by some other part of such system; and such charges or rentals shall be a personal obligation of the occupant of the property the sewerage from which is disposed of by such sewers or treated in such plants and shall also be a lien upon such property, enforceable by a sale thereof.
>
> "Before issuing any bonds or levying or collecting any such sewer service charges or rentals, the proposal shall first be submitted to and approved by a majority of the voters of the County voting at an election to be called by the governing body thereof. Notice of such election shall be given by publication once a week for four successive weeks immediately prior to such election in a newspaper published and of general circulation in Jefferson County. Such notice and the ballot shall set forth the purpose for which the bonds are proposed to be issued, the estimated cost of the proposed undertaking, the amount of bonds to be issued, the serial maturities thereof, and the maximum rate of interest such bonds are to bear, and a recital that the proposal includes the levying of sewer service charges or rentals to be secured by liens upon the property served. Such elections shall in all respects not herein otherwise provided be conducted and the results thereof ascertained and declared in accordance with the law then in force relating to County bond elections. If at any such election a majority of the voters vote in favor of the proposed undertaking, and the bonds, the bonds so voted may be issued at one time or from time to time as the governing body of the County shall deem advisable.
>
> "With the prior approval of the governing body of any incorporated municipality therein, Jefferson County may take over, own, possess, control, expand, improve, maintain and operate any sewers or sewerage treatment or disposal plants of such incorporated municipality or, if such incorporated municipality has no sewers, Jefferson County may construct sewers therein. Such sewers and plants shall thereupon become a part of a combined and consolidated sewer system for Jefferson County.
>
> "The governing body of Jefferson County shall have full power and authority to manage, operate, control and administer the sewers and plants herein provided for and, to that end, may make any reasonable and non-discriminatory rules and regulations fixing rates and charges, providing for the payment, collection and enforcement thereof, and the protection of its property. Liens for sewer rentals or service charges shall be foreclosed in such manner as may be provided by law for foreclosing municipal assessments for public improvements. This amendment is self-executing.
> "The authority to issue bonds shall cease December 31, 1958. The authority to levy and collect sewer charges and rentals shall be limited to such charges as will pay the principal of and interest on the bonds and the reasonable expense of extending, improving, operating and maintaining said sewers and plants; and when the bonds shall have been paid off, service charges and rentals shall be accordingly reduced, it being the intent and purpose of this amendment that the expences of needed improvements and extensions and maintenance and operation of the sewers and sewerage treatment and disposal plants and no other expenditures shall be paid from such service charges and rentals."

I further direct and proclaim that notice of this election upon Tuesday the 2nd day of November 1948, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama of 1901, be given by publishing the same once a week for four successive weeks next preceding Tuesday the 2nd day of November 1948, in each county in the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama, at the Regular Session 1947, ordered an election to be held by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which said amendment is herein set out, and ordered that said election be held the day of the general election next succeeding the final adjournment of the session of the Legislature at which the amendment was proposed; and

WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment is required by law, and by the provisions of the act submitting the amendment, to be given by a proclamation of the Governor to be published in each county in the State of Alabama once a week for four successive weeks next preceding the day appointed for the election:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, James E. Folsom, as Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that on Tuesday, the 2nd day of November 1948, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama, in the manner and form provided by law, upon the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama of 1901:

"Section 1. For the purpose of promoting the military proficiency and effectiveness of the armed forces of this State, all officers, including general officers, of the Federally recognized active National Guard, except The Adjutant General and all officers of the State Military Department and the State Staff, shall be appointed, and after the adoption of this amendment shall be subject to suspension, discharge, removal, or compulsory retirement as such, solely on the basis of their individual military proficiency, character, and service, as determined according to military or naval regulations and usages sanctioned by the law of this State and of the United States and not inconsistent with the provisions and spirit of this Amendment. The qualifications of such officers of the Federally recognized active National Guard shall be prescribed in military regulations promulgated in accordance with specifications of the United States War Department under authority of Federal laws affecting the National Guard; provided that all general officers of the line of the Federally recognized active National Guard shall have had at least six years service as commissioned officers in the Federally recognized active National Guard at the time of their recommendation and appointment as herein provided, and shall be members of the National Guard at the time of their recommendation and appointment, and that officers of the State Military Department and the State Staff hereafter appointed (except when commissioned in the Medical Corps) shall have served at least three years in the Federally recognized active National Guard, Army of the United States, or Officers' Reserve Corps, and they shall have military and civil education, training, and experience particularly fitting them for the positions to which they are assigned.

"Section 2. The Governor shall, subject to confirmation by the Senate, appoint The Adjutant General, who may be commissioned a general officer. The person so appointed shall have military and civil education, training and experience particularly fitting him for the position, and shall hold office at the pleasure of the Governor appointing him. After the adoption of this amendment, in the event of a National mobilization, war, or emergency during which The Adjutant General is ordered, called, drafted, or serves in the Federal Service, the Governor may appoint, subject to confirmation by the Senate, a temporary The Adjutant General who shall serve until The Adjutant General is released from Federal service, after which time the latter shall again asume his office, provided he is physically able and is acceptable to the Governor then in office.

"Section 3. All officers of the Federally recognized active National Guard shall be commissioned by the Governor, as Commander-in-Chief of the Militia, upon nominations made as herein provided.

"Section 4. All general officers of the line of the Federally recognized active National Guard, except The Adjutant General, shall be appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate, subject to the following conditions and limitations: Whenever there occurs a vacancy for any such officer, the Adjutant General (or the Governor if there be no The Adjutant General) shall, within thirty days after the occurrence of the vacancy, call a meeting of the State Military Advisory Board provided for in Section 10 of this Amendment, and, if such meeting is not called within the prescribed time by such officer, the ranking member of said Board shall do so. Said State Military Advisory Board when so convened shall, by a majority vote, recommended to the Governor within thirty days a list of one or more persons considered by it to be qualified as to education, professional training and ability, character, experience, and general ability for the office to be filled, and the Governor shall within thirty days thereafter fill such vacancy by appointment from among the persons so recommended, and, if the Governor fails or refuses to make such appointment within the prescribed time, The Adjutant General (or the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, if there be no The Adjutant General or such officer fails or refuses to act within another thirty days) shall make such appointment from such list of recommended persons, and any such appointment made by any of such officers shall be subject to confirmation by the Senate; provided, that where the appointment of a general officer requires the consent or concurrence of another State Government, the Governor shall not be bound by the time limits prescribed for making the actual appointment. Any person appointed to be The Adjutant General or a general officer at a time when the Senate is not in session shall hold and exercise such office until the Senate next convenes, when his appointment must be immediately submitted by the officer making the appointment to the Senate for confirmation.

"Section 5. The Adjutant General shall select and nominate suitable and qualified officers to fill vacancies occurring in the State Military Department, the State Staff, and the Alabama portion of staffs of commanders who are not members of the National Guard of this State. The officers in the State Military Department and on the State Staff shall serve at the pleasure of The Adjutant General.

"Section 6. General officers, regimental, group, battalion, and squadron commanders shall have the right to select and nominate, subject to the approval of The Adjutant General, suitable and qualified officers to fill vacancies occurring on their respective staffs in the Federally recognized active National Guard.

"Section 7. Commanding officers of regiments, groups, battalions, and squadrons shall be selected and nominated by The Adjutant General from among persons qualified for the appropriate grade and branch with the concurrence of the State Military Advisory Board.

"Section 9. Nominations of officers to fill vacancies in the Federally recognized active National Guard not otherwise provided for in this amendment shall be made by boards composed of The Adjutant General, all higher tactical commanders of the unit involved, and the commanding officers of the unit, if there be one, from persons qualified for the appropriate grade and branch.

"Section 9. Commissions and appointments of officers of the Federally recognized active National Guard shall be vacated or suspended only in the following manners: by resignation; by compulsory retirement at a definite maximum age, or voluntary retirement, as provided by statutes consistent with this amendment and requirements of the United States Government; by sentence of a court-Martial; by suspension, discharge, or retirement for cause upon the recommendations of an Efficiency Board of three superior officers, in cases of officers other than general officers, because of neglect of duty or moral or professional unfitness for further service as a commissioned officer, the accused officer having the right to appear before such board, present evidence, and appeal to higher military authority; upon withdrawal of Federal recognition; upon failure to comply with Federal regulations for continuance of Federal recognition; upon conviction of a felony; and because of physical unfitness, upon the recommendation of one or more medical officers of the National Guard or some other component of the United States Army. General officers of the Federally recognized active National Guard shall be subject to impeachment in the manner prescribed for the impeachment of the Attorney General of the State and upon the same grounds. They may also be removed from office by the Governor upon the recommendation and with the concurrence of the State Military Advisory Board because of neglect of duty or moral or professional unfitness for further service as such officers upon written charges proffered by the Governor or a member of such Board.

"Section 10. There shall be a State Military Advisory Board composed of all active general officers of the line of the Federally recognized active National Guard, The Adjutant General, the ranking Judge Advocate General, and the ranking active line officer of each combatant arm of the service represented in the organized National Guard of Alabama. Such Board shall have such duties as are imposed upon it by law, in addition to its duties as provided for in this amendment.

"Section 11. All affairs of the State Militia shall be conducted by a State Military Department, of which The Adjutant General shall be the head, and the employees of such department shall be appointed by The Adjutant General; provided that nothing contained herein shall prevent the application of the merit system to the employees in such department, other than employees in Active Military Service, in so far as it does not conflict with the provisions of this amendment.

"Section 12. The provisions of this amendment shall become effective immediately upon its adoption, and all of its provisions shall be self-executing. Nothing in this amendment shall be construed as requiring the removal of any officer mentioned herein who is holding office at the time of its adoption. Any provision of the existing Constitution inconsistent with any provision of this Amendment is hereby repealed."

I further direct and proclaim that notice of this election upon Tuesday the 2nd day of November 1948, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama of 1901, be given by publishing the same once a week for four successive weeks next preceding Tuesday the 2nd day of November 1948, in each county in the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

We don't know who wrote the song but we found out that calling everybody darling is a good way to get your head knocked off.

"He was a lovable Christian gentlemen," is our sincere feeling in respect for Mr. C. Reese Mullins who died Sunday. The multitude that called at his home and attended his last rites were solemn proof of the life well spent here on earth. We deeply regret the loss to the family and our sincere sympathy goes out to them.

We had a cat and dog fight Friday night at the postoffice. Somebody's stray cat took shelter from a persuing dog in I. D. Armstrong's car and the tight was on. The cat clawed it's way up behind the dash board straddle of the steering wheel, with nothing showing but it's tail and there it remained for what we thought was the rest of the evening. At first I. D. couldn't get the cat out, then he couldn't get the cat and dog out. After several minutes and a small crowd had gathered to watch the festivities, we suppose the two culprits decided that the show was about over, so with the aid of Mr. John VanDerveer's walking stick the cat was dislodged and all went on their merry way—especially the dog and cat.

Two burglars had broken into a downtown store and were sorting out some men's suits when one of them came across one marked $85. "Bert, look at the price of that one, he said, "Why that's downright robbery."

Coming in late the other morning, we told the young lady who serves as our secretary, that she should have been here at eight o'clock. "Why?" she asked. "What happened?"

* * *

And speaking of the lady reminds us that a request comes from that department that all of our readers remember to call their news of the week end in to her. Just call 32 and ask for Mrs. Cox and she will gladly take your news item, thus assuring you of a more enjoyable column of local happenings each week.

Couldn't the powers that be at the high school athletic field make a larger gate for the crowds to exit through after the games? The gates serve their purpose well for the lines going in, but after the last whistle has blown and the mad rush starts it seems it would be a lot more comfortable if we had a larger gate to exit through.

SUPREME COURT REVERSES WILSON WILL CASE

A few years ago upon the death of the late Andrew J. Wilson, his will was contested by his daughter, Addie Payton, and others, charging that the execution of his will had been procured by undue influence, and charging that he was of unsound mind and lacked testamentary capacity. On last Thursday the Supreme Court of Alabama, deciding an appeal from the ruling of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, reversed the Circuit Court and held that there was no evidence whatever that the execution of this will had been procured by undue influence, and that the Court should have so instructed the jury.

The Supreme Court of Alabama further held that after having considered, with great care, the evidence in the case, on the subject of the soundness of mind and testamentary capacity of Andrew J. Wilson, that they were of the opinion that it was so overwhelmingly favorable of his testamentary capacity at the time he executed his will, that the trial Court committed reversible error in not setting aside the verdict of the local jury, and the Court further held that the preponderance of the evidence against the verdict was so decided that the verdict was clearly wrong and unjust.

We are glad to publish this statement to correct any erroneous impression that may have been created by any former news item in respect to this case.

J. P. WILSON,
J. O. WILSON.

New officers elected Wednesday at the Farm Bureau annual meeting at the Clanton airport were: J. Archie Ogburn, pres.; R. H. Davis, 1st vice-pres.; Tom Littlejohn, 2nd vice-pres.; Lonnie Messer, 3rd vice-pres.; and S. A. Jones, secretary-treasurer.

A good crowd was reported attending the meeting.

WHO BROKE THE LOCK? WHAT LOCK?

The padlocks on the doors of Old Pleasant Grove Methodist Protestant Church on October 13th after we had announced through the papers and other the radio a meeting of the Methodist Protestant Conference, and preaching to be held on Sunday, October 17th, at this church. But, what happened? An "evil-spirited" Methodist preacher applied padlocks to all doors and all windows securely fastened down. On entering the church we found our group of people and our president and two Methodist Protestant preachers locked entirely out.

As we talked this situation over, this same evil spirit appeared, being driven up in a big automobile, parked directly in front of the church. I approached this preacher and asked him to open the church or give us the key, which he flatly refused to do. This congregation, the president and a number of preachers bowed in front of this church, asking God for His Guidance.

There He came on the scene and with faith in God man's hands opened the doors. Never in the history of Pleasant Grove Church has such a glorious meeting been held.

No other time in history has Pleasant Grove been locked from any people; a sad and pitiful scene, but true. You had as well padlock the heart of Christ as to padlock His churches from His people.

O God, come into the stony heart of this preacher and make it soft with love.

When the storm is over and the sun shines in old Pleasant Grove Church, we will tell you what its all about. — From a life-long member and one who dearly loves the Methodist Protestant way of life. May God bless His people.—A Member, H. Headley.

In the northern tip of Baldwin County is located the ruins of old Fort Montpelier, a frontier barricade established by Andrew Jackson. Montpelier's most destinctive claim to fame comes from the fact that it was there in 1821 that Gen. Jackson resigned from the U. S. Army and once again became a private citizen shortly before taking up political life.

Tigers Host To Selma Friday Night

The local high school football boys kept up their winning stride by defeating Thompson High School of Siluria last Friday night by the score of 12 to 0. Clanton was not up to its usual pitch in this game and missed clicking on several plays that should have gone for good gains. It is understandable that the team was due for a let-down after playing an excellent game the week before against Montevallo.

Friday night of this week Clanton goes against the team from Parrish High School of Selma. The slogan in Chilton County High School this week is "BEAT SELMA." Clanton has not won from Selma since 1929 and it goes without saying that Coach Waters will be doing everything in his power to add one more loss to the Selma column come Friday night.

Clanton came through the Thompson game with only minor injuries and barring accidents this week in practice the boys should be in condition to give a good account of themselves against Selma.

Two special officers have been employed to patrol the grounds around the school and field during the game Friday night. This should discourage people "tinkering" with automobiles while the ball game is in progress.

COLLINS CHAPEL P.-T.A.

The Collins Chapel P.-T.A. met Friday night, October 8th. A nice crowd was here. Look for announcements next week. Come on and hot coffee will be served.

The services will be conducted at night only, beginning at 7 o'clock. Special music will feature every service. Make your plans to attend this revival.—Pastor A. T. Hickman.

REV. LUTHER W. WOODWARD TO BE AT FLOYD CHURCH

Rev. Luther W. Woodward will be at Floyd Baptist Church for the 11 o'clock service Sunday, October 31st, and begin a B.T.U. Study Course at the evening service and continue thru Friday evening. Everyone is invited to attend. All church members are urged to be present.

HERMAN LECROY CLAIMS FIRST

According to Herman Lecroy Santa Claus reached his store first this year. Chilton Home & Auto Supply has a full stock of toys of all kinds and has a handy lay-away plan to enable you to buy your Christmas toys now and pay for them between now and Xmas.

Mr. Lecroy stated Tuesday: "We certainly do not have to apologize for our toys this year. They are of better construction than ever before and the customer has a bigger choice than has been offered in the past."

Clanton Home & Auto Supply also has a large stock of modern conveniences such as washing machines, electric refrigerators, radios, etc. See their bargains before you do your Christmas buying.

TWO WEEKS TO GO

You still have two weeks to buy that 1949 automobile tag according to information received this week from the Office of Probate Judge W. L. Parrish. The deadline date is midnight of November 14th. However, the earlier you get your tag the better—you can avoid that last minute rush by buying your tag NOW!

Message From Your P.-T.A. Council Pres.

This is the time of year when Parent-Teacher Associations everywhere are getting down to the business of enlisting members, putting on programs and raising funds in various ways to help their schools. You could not lend your support to a more worth while organization than the P.-T.A. If you are a parent it is your duty to join your local P.-T.A. and attend the meetings. If you are not a parent it is your privilege to join and work with the P.-T.A. in the interest of the children of your community. It is a mistaken idea that only parents and teachers may become members. Any interested adult may join. Let me urge you to carry your membership card with you at all times as your badge of service in the interest of children and youth, our most priceless possessions.

Let's resolve to make 1948-49 the best year ever in P.-T.A. work in Chilton County and to help the Alabama Congress of Parents and Teachers reach the goal of 150,000 members by April 1st. — Mrs. Lloyd Howard, Council President.

Art Meeting At High School

In 1940, he won the Guggenheim Fellowship for abstract painting. He has exhibited in numerous galleries, among them the Duncan Phillips in Washington, D.C., Queens College, New York, and the New York Artists' Gallery. His background is both academic and abstract art.

All people in the county who are interested in art are cordially welcomed to hear Mr. Cimino speak on the subejct, "A Comparison between Chinese and Western Painting." His talk will be illustrated with slides.

BE AN AMERICAN, VOTE

Let's all show our appreciation of our freedom and our heritage next Tuesday by taking time to go to the polls and vote. You have no more important duty to yourself or your country.

For us in Chilton County there is but one course to take if we have our county's progress at heart—the Democratic ticket. What earthly benefit could a Republican officeholder be to us in Chilton County with every other officeholder in the State a Democrat?

Don't mistake us. We have no quarrel with the member of the Republican party who votes a Republican ticket next Tuesday. But, we do wonder how any Democrat could vote a Republican ticket knowing the past history of the Republican party and the South. The South has prospered more and progressed further in the past 16 years under democratic administrations than in the fifty years before. We will never get the North's heel off our neck under Republican rule and the sooner we learn this the better off we will be.

With less than a week to go it appears that the House and the Senate will be controlled by the Democrats. Surely all of our seats from Alabama, both House and Senate, will be filled by Democrats. What will it profit us in Chilton County to vote anything but a straight Democratic ticket?

Our local Democratic candidates are all g[illegible] [illegible] they are friendly to our District, State and National officials. Our federal aid funds come through our Senators and our Congressmen and our State Government. If we are to continue to grow and progress here in Chilton County our best bet will be a cross under the rooster next Tuesday when we go to the polls to cast our vote.

FIDELIS CLASS MEETING

The Fidelis Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church met Thursday night with Sarah Nell Sessions. The co-hostess was Sara Nell Minor.

Extension Telephones Are Available Now

The Southern Bell Telephone Company can now install extension telephones on a current basis, P. J. Kreis, Jr., manager of the Company, announced today.

Mr. Kreis said the announcement was being made in response to many inquiries being received by the Company regarding the availability of extension telephones.

"Orders for main telephone service are not being held up for lack of instruments, but only for lack of additional central office equipment, cable and other outside plant facilities," Mr Kreis said. "We are making rapid progress installing main telephones as these facilities become available.

"Southern Bell is still pushing forward its program to provide the additional facilities needed to furnish every applicant the type of service he wants, when and where he wants it.

The installation of extension telephones will not delay that program in the least, but in fact will result in faster, more improved service by making subscribers with extensions easier to reach."

HOMECOMING AT ISABELLA

Friday, November 5th, has been named as homecoming day at Isabella High School. This is an annual event and this year the program will be better than ever before. Many festivities have been planned for the day. Parents of the students, friends and alumni are invited to be present. Guests will be registered in the auditorium.

One of the main features of the day will be the selection of "Miss Homecoming." Girls from all grades in the school have been nominated for this honor. Final voting will take place on homecoming day.

During the afternoon there will be a football game between Isabella and Plantersville. This promises to be a very exciting game.

Program Of Music Presented By M.A.C. Tuesday

The Clanton Music Appreciation Club presented a program of music from motion pictures last Tuesday, October 19, at Mrs. Raymond Mims' home. Mrs. Burt Snead was co-hostess.

Mrs. Erle Ellis, club president, introduced music from the film CARNEGIE HALL, which the club hopes to help bring to local theatres. She also sang, "My Heart At Thy Sweet Voice," from the picture. Occurring in the same film are Chopin's "Polonaise" for piano, which Miss Helen Hayes played, and "The Swan" and Tschaikowsky's "Concerto," which Mrs. Carlisle Miller played. These last two were violin compositions. As a piano solo Miss Elinor Warr played "Fur Elise," selected from THE OTHER LOVE, another motion picture featuring music. And during the social hour club members listened to a recording selected from the film, I'VE ALWAYS LOVED YOU.

To conclude, Mrs. Ellis reported that the motion picture can, and eventually will, raise the cultural level of music in America.

Guests at this meeting included Mrs. Albert Lockwood, Miss Loyce Baker, Mrs. Herman Robinson of Thorsby, and Mrs. Frank Johnson.

MRS. OWENS TO SPEAK TO THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL P.-T.A. NOVEMBER 2ND

The Clanton Elementary School Parent-Teachers Association will have as their guest speaker on November 2nd, Mrs. R. E. Owens. Her subject will be "Higher Standards Of Wholesome Living."

She will deal with this most important subject in her usual charming way so that it will not only be interesting to those who listen to her, but will give each listener something real and tangible to take home with her. So you will be the richer by attending the meeting next Tuesday afternoon.

The Leader Organized Here 30 Years Ago

Thirty years in business in Chilton County would be a long time to look forward to, but according to Mrs. S. Lande, of The Leader, it doesn't seem so long.

Mrs. Lande came to Clanton in 1919 with her husband and organized The Leader in the building now occupied by Levine Dry Goods Company. Within three years the business outgrew the floor space and The Leader moved to the building now occupied by Chism Drug Store. Within a year and a half fire gutted the store and the move was made to their present quarters where they have remained for a quarter of a century.

If you think there isn't romance in merchandising you should talk to Mrs. Lande. She has helped clothe Chilton Countians from the cradle to the grave—the baby, the school boy and girl, the young graduate, the brides and grooms and the man and woman. She has grown to dearly love her work and the people with whom she comes in daily contact.

Thirty years of buying for, and selling to, the same customers in Central Alabama is quite a record and the Chilton County News, along with her many other friends, compliment her and wish for Mrs. Lande and The Leader many more years of service.

We think there was something definitely good in the idea that the profit should be taken out of war.

It is a good idea to make up your mind to live agreeably with human beings that you cannot approve.

Every nation has a percentage of citizens who are willing for somebody else to save the country.

The payment of taxes is the price that the citizen must pay for the inherited blessings of civilization.

Personally, we read with regret about the unfortunate hunters shot in the bushes by their careless brethren in arms.

Progress: The old man who used to brag about doing thirty miles an hour has a son who brags about 350 an hour.

We are repeatedly amazed by the speed with which street corner professors give out the answer to human problems.

DEWEY SAYS YES, TEACHERS NO

Dewey's claim of state aid to schools in New York are disputed by New York educational authorities. Last month, Dewey announced that state assistance had been increased 80 percent during his governorship and that New York teachers' salaries were the highest in the world. James A. Cullen, state director of the NEA, and Arvie Eldred, executive secretary of the New York Teachers Association, quickly took issue with the statement. They say that state aid to schools last year represented an actual payment increase of only 28 percent over the year before Dewey took office and that the average teacher's salary in New York is less than in California. Cullen also pointed out that a recent NEA study on the adjustment of her pupils expenditure to rising costs between 1940 and 1947 shows New York state trailing in 37th place and that state aid to schools in Proportion to local support dropped from 32.2 percent in 1940 to 31.5 percent last year.—Education Summary.

RACKETEERS OPFRESS FARMERS

Farmers, who grow crops for city markets will be interested in a legal proceeding in Philadelphia, where the Government charges three individuals and three unions with conspiracy.

A vegetable-growing farmer, who attempted to haul his produce to market, testified as to conditions that confronted him. Two men, who identified themselves as union delegates, prevented him from unloading cucumbers and when he threatened to carry his cargo to New York, threatened to slash his truck tires.

Asked whether he finally joined the union, in order to unload his cucumbers, the farmer said he was allowed to unload his truck but had to pay $10.00 to a union man, although he had a boy on the truck with him.

This trial strikes at a union custom which has been reported upon numerous occasions. Farmers and truck growers who carry their produce to the markets of metropolitan cities have been repeatedly compelled to pay high prices to an alledged union man for unloading. In some instances, they have been met at the outskirts of the cities and compelled to employ a union truck driver or, upon occasions, to pay a fee to the union for the privilege of driving their own trucks to the markets.

The government is on the right track in attempting to break up this racket. While we are in favor of the legitimate activities of labor unions, we do not think that they have a monopoly in their respective fields or that they should be allowed to coerce an individual from doing his own work.

Folks and Things About Town

Let us take this means of thanking the accomodating Mrs. Cohen Stapp for the most appreciated favor she showed us the other day in the Probate Office. We left without thanking her but it was because we always get excited when we are spending money and not because we didn't appreciate the favor.

Wonder if the merchant who is rude when asked for help by some of the ladies from our schools or churches ever stopped to think that the ladies who were doing the asking had a much harder job to do than he who was being asked? It is absolutely no fun to have to visit the overworked merchants asking for donations, no matter what the cause may be. It is no fun to the merchant who is constantly asked. But it is a means to getting things that are needed for our public institutions and who is more able or has a better right to support these little public functions than the merchant who makes his living in the community. It all comes under the head of publicity and advertising. We speak with authority on the subject, because no one is called on more than the newspaper. We can survive only through the success of our community, city, county, etc., so it is only right that we get behind these things and cooperate and help see them through. The next time some of our school mothers or church workers come to see you, just remember that their job is bigger in having to ask, than yours is, in having to give.

Was down at Jimmie Bell's this week looking at one of his new large kitchen sinks. No, we weren't getting ready to buy one we were waiting to talk to Jimmie and were just looking around while we were waiting. But this is what struck us: It used to be that you just bought a kitchen sink if you wanted one. Now the one we were looking at contained everything but the kitchen sink. No, by the way, it contained a sink too. But it was loaded with fancy drawers, cabinets, slides and chutes. They have made kitchen sinks beautiful things.

Would you believe that two of our businessmen would be dumb enough to do a thing like this? While on a trip to Florida last summer they drove up to Pensacola one night from down the Coast a ways. Finally locating a parking place each deposited their money in a parking meter and strolled off up the street window shopping or seeing the night life of the town, whichever the case may be. After a short while each would go back to the place their car was parked and insert another coin in the parking meter. On the third trip imagine the embarrassment when they discovered that plainly marked on the meter was the line, "From 7:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m." That was about nine o'clock at night we understand.

The new fellows at the postoffice are learning their job right along. Morris Mims, Hobson Searcy and Hughie Carroll are the added attractions down there now and with three young guys like those three on the job we should get some real service. Anyway, we wish them well in their new jobs and hope that neither rain or snow shall stay the couriers from their appointed rounds.

Guess it's the quiet before the storm but things, politically speaking, are mighty quiet this week throughout the county. Naturally both sides are predicting success but naturally we believe the Democratic ticket will be the winner. At any rate, all of you guys and gals get out next Tuesday and vote your conviction and let's keep this thing in the "I am an American" column.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL; CRIME PREVENTION

The Sunday School is as much an American institution as our public schools. Though the Sunday School originated in England, it has had its greatest growth and development in this country. The Sunday School has truly made or helped make America a free country, as much as America has made the Sunday School. The two have grown up together like big brothers. And like the story of the "Twin Oaks," when one die, the other one will die also.

To keep our way of life here in America, we must keep live the Sunday School and the church. Let us notice how the Sunday School works in combatting the evil of crime. Quoting the words of J. Edgar Hoover, "97 per cent of all crime committed by the youth of our land, it is committed by boys and girls that never have been to Sunday School. The other 3 per cent is committed by those that attended, but irregular and soon dropped out."

In one state penitentiary where there were 900 boys and men, upon investigation it was discovered that only 10 out of the whole number had attended Sunday School as boys; 85 said they attended irregularly; 809 said they had never been to Sunday School at all. . . In the city of Chicago there were over 1500 criminals in one year between the ages of 13 and 23; none of these had ever been Sunday School pupils. In New York City the Police Captain said, "In 25 years I have never had a man or woman brought for trial that I did not ask the question, Did you attend Sunday School? Not one had attended Sunday School regularly. If I could get the parents of America to keep their children in Sunday School regularly until 15 years of age, I believe they would be saved.". . Out of 12,562 prisoners examined by the police captain of one of our Mid-west cities only one was a Sunday School pupil.

Judge Lewis J. Fawcett of Brooklyn, N. Y., said when boys are brought before him for their offense he always asked them whether or not they were Sunday School pupils, and attend regularly. His own testimony is this, "Out of 2,700 boys that have come before me not one of them was a Sunday School scholar," and he added, "The Sunday School scholars do not come before me."

Goversor J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina said these words on November 3rd, 1946: "The best hope of improving crime conditions in South Carolina lies in the churches and Sunday Schools. In my years on the circuit bench, not one person who attended Sunday School has ever been convicted of crime before me."

A pastor in a neighboring state spent two weeks in the state penitentiary, visiting the prisoners, preaching and ministering to them. He conducted a poll for his own information. One of the questions he asked each prisoner, "Did he ever attend Sunday School?" To this question every male prisoner replied, "No." Among the women, only four had ever attended Sunday School, and their attendance had been irregularly."

And quoting from Mr. J. Edgar Hoover once more, the Director of the F.B.I., he said, "If more American homes had the knowledge of the leading role which the Sunday School, Young People's meetings, and similar groups have to our youth, we would not now be confronted with the rising tide of Juvenile delinquency." Mr. Hoover urged church organizations to take an active interest in the problems of young people.

A Judge in one of our Western cities when trying a boy sixteen years of age for keeping money he had found, said to his father and mother, "You ought to have kept this boy in Sunday School. Never have I known a boy to be charged with crime in this court who attended Sunday School with his parents. And I have been Judge of this court good many years. Sunday School boys do not come here. I have never had one before me, and I do not expect to have one."

Friends, with these facts before us. Facts that cannot lie. We of Alabama and of this country should invest more time, and more money in our church and Sunday School programs. . And every full-blooded American will do what he can to promote the cause of righteousness through these most powerful sources.

Youth Will Observe Community Day

Under the direction of Mr. Morris Moatts, the young people of the Clanton Methodist Church will observe World Community Day.

All young people of Clanton are cordially invited to this special service on Sunday, November 7th, at 5:30, at the Clanton Methodist Church.

The special project for the youth is "Pack-A-Wash Cloth." It is suggested that the youth pack the wash cloth with little things so prized by the youth overseas. The wash cloth can be closed by safety pins. Perhaps include handkerchiefs, a tie, or a scarf, hairpins, ribbons, hair clasps or tie clasps, perhaps a knife. Be sure nothing is breakable or spillable. Mark whether for a boy or a girl.

Perhaps the various organizations of young people will sponsor the packing of a towel or the packing of several wash cloths.

If you care enough to share, come to the Methodist Church November 7th, at 5:30, and share in this special service, and in the fellowship hour.

Don't forget to attend the Hallowe'en Party on Saturday night, October 30th, at the Junior High School auditorium sponsored by the Thorsby Garden Club. More details contained in this column.

Mrs. John Johnson of Fairfield, Ala., spent a couple of days visiting with Mrs. J. O. Johnson and the Ernie Hansons.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid held their regular monthly meeting on last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Nelson. This was a delightful party as there were several visitors present. Added to the regular program was two duets sung by Mrs. James Nelson and Mrs. Herman Robinson, with Mrs. Charles Cleckler at the piano. This was a treat that everyone enjoyed. After the program the hostess served delicious refreshments.

On last week Mrs. J. O. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hanson enjoyed the company of some friends from Kewanee, Ill., former home of Mrs. Johnson. They were en route to Miami, Fla., and spent several hours here, long enough to enjoy a wonderful dinner prepared for them by Mrs. Johnson. We've been told that they were fed that famous southern dish, "Chicken Pie," and they write that they are tempted to come back for more. No wonder Mrs. Johnson is so popular and has company all the time—we are beginning to understand why. We were about to forget to mention that these people were Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Gusch and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stafford.

Mrs. Fritz Boockholdt is spending some time with her mother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Phares Raybon, in Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Mrs. J. W. Champion and little son, Ricky, of Fairhope, Ala., are visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Cleckler.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Clardy and infant son, Thomas Eugene, of Montgomery, Ala., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Cleckler. Mrs. Clardy will be remembered here as Miss Virginia Dorminey, a former student of Thorsby Institute.

We want to see you at the masquerade party next Satuday night at the Junior High School. There'll be lots of fun.

Mrs. J. Dudley Collins of Clanton, Ala., visited with Mrs. Susie Benson last week.

Mr. C. D. Smith of Panama City, Fla., visited friends here for several days and returned to his home on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Vesker Aycock of Birmingham visited here this week end.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Cleckler and daughter, Mrs. J. W. Champion, shopped in Birmingham last Thursday.

Mrs. James Headley is spending a few days in Birmingham visiting with her sisters, Mrs. Chapel and Mrs. Patrick.

There are quite a few cases of chicken pox among the school children here, though all seem to be very mild cases.

Mr. Roy Raybon and son, Bruce, made a business trip to Birmingham last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Cleckler are the proud parents of a fine baby girl, born to them on October 19th, at the Central Alabama Hospital. The little girl weighed 9 pounds and 5 ounces, and her name is Cathey Sue. Congratulations to this happy couple.

Congratulations are also being received by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth O'Barr of Birmingham, Ala., (Lucile Howard), on the arrival of a baby girl born last week at the West End Baptist Hospital. She weighed 6½ pounds and her name is Judy Ann.

Mrs. Owen Carter was admitted to the West End Baptist Hospital on Tuesday and underwent an operation Wednesday. Her many friends here wish for her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Ogburn enjoyed a number of visitors from Birmingham last Sunday and his mother, Mrs. F. M. Willis, remained here for a two-weeks visit. Mrs. J. A. Matthews, sister of Mr. Ogburn, and son, Rex, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Matthews and sons, Bill and Michael, were Sunday visitors.

Mrs. Estelle Hayes, popular beautician, is on the sick list and is confined to her home with a severe case of sore throat. We hope she will soon be her old lively self again, as she is greatly missed when not seen out among her friends.

American Education Week November 7-13

Schools of Chilton Couny are observing with all schools throughout the nation National Education Week, November 7-13. All patrons and friends are urged to visit the schools of their community particularly during that time.

Obviously, the children of today will be the America of tomorrow. America's survival as a free nation depends upon good schools, the bulwarks of freedom. Tomorrow's citizens should develop our resources, advance science and industry, make laws, create works of art, and cope with international issues. How well they face the complex problems before them depends in a large part upon the kind of education they are receiving now.

Will America continue to be a land of freedom? Will it continue to show that democracy is the best hope for humanity? Will we be able to banish illiteracy, prejudice and disease?

The answers to these questions depends on the knowledge and skill, wisdom and vision, now being developed in our growing children. Our schools must be strong enough to meet their responsibility to keep America strong and free.

How are the schools trying to face this responsibility? Are they succeeding? What is happening in our public schools? What do our boys and girls do there each day?

Visit the schools your children and your friends' children attend. Learn what teachers are trying to accomplish with them. See what happens to the nation's children during the greater part of their day.

Go to school during NEW, November 7-13. Your principals and your teachers welcome you to visit your schools any or all days throughout the week, and special programs are being planned for your interest.

Go to school again. America's future depends upon American schools. Let's make our schools strong!

Our Pilgrim Faith

(By Collie Seymour)

"BELIEFS"

Almost everyone has a theology, for one's theology is what one believes about religion and God. The Congregational Christian fellowship has always encouraged each man to think out his own theology. The Congregational Christian Churches have never had an authoritarian creed to which all persons were asked to pledge allegiance. They have had several statements which represented the beliefs in the group that formulated them. None of these statements were ever used as a test; for each church is free to adopt its own statement of belief. The basis of the local church is a covenant, not a creed.

This does not mean that we are indifferent to matters of faith, although we do not believe that anyone needs to be told what he believes. "What in general, do Congregational Christains believe? Dr. William E. Barton gives us an answer. "There is no man or ecclesiastical body that has any right to put the Congregational Christian denomination on record in answer to that question, but broadly speaking, Congregational Christians hold the evangelical faith common to Christian churches and have from time to time expressed that faith in confessions that they use as a testimony and not as a test."' The Statement of Faith of this church is not a test but an expression of the faith most surely believed among us.

What I have to say today by way of interpretation is my own personal belief and does not necessarily represent the views of our fellowship nor of all the members of this church. According to our By-laws regarding doctrine: "This church recognizes the Bible as the sufficient rule of faith and practice, and holds that living in accordance with the teaching of Jesus Christ is the true test of fellowship. Each member shall have the undisturbed right to follow the word of God according to the dictates of his own conscience, under the enlightenment of the Holy Spirit." So you have the right and privilege to your individual interpretation of the Bible, "under the enlightenment of the Holy Spirit."

Of course this freedom of interpretation has its dangers and has caused differences within our fellowship, but due to the flexibility of our doctrine we have been able to weather the storms of theological change without any break-up or split.

The Half-Way Covenant, which provided that children whose grandparents were members but whose parents were not members could be baptized, but not received into full membership in the church caused some controversy, but nothing serious.

The most serious controversy concerning doctrine led to the "Unitarian Department." The central problem was over the divinity of Christ. When the division occurred, of the 361 Congregational Churches in Massachusetts, 126 became Unitarian. Their meeting houses, funds and many of their pastors were lost to the Congregational fellowship. Congregationalism was a long time recovering from this controversy, however, Unitarian and Congregational churches work together in fellowship today.

The Congregational Churches have exerted a powerful influence in behalf of social justice. The term 'social gospel' is considered by some as a perversion of the Christian gospel, but to us it means 'applied Christianity,' the application of Christianity to social, political and industrial life. The church has come to see that the gospel we proclaim has just as real a message of salvation for society as it has for the individual. The gospel is not only to save people from hell, after death, but it is relevant here and now to help man create a good decent society and to meet the problems we face. If we are to have a Christian social order the church must assume the responsibility of bringing it about. Our Statement of Faith declares that the business of the church is to "labor for the promotion of justice the reign of peace and the realization of human brotherhood. . . to work and pray for the transformation of the world into the kingdom of God." The Congregational Christian fellowship stands foursquare for the rights of all mankind. Our Council for Social Action was creatd in 1934, "to help the churches make the Christian gospel more effective in society, national and world wide, through education, research and action."

Horace Bushnell laid the foundations for religious education with his emphasis on Christian Nurture. Bushnell said that "The child is to grow up a Christian and never know himself to be otherwise."

These are some of the things most surely believed and practiced among us. We have always had the open sacraments; the mode of baptism is left to the preference of the candidate, and all Christians are invited to the Lord's table.

The fact that we have no official creed does not mean that we have no common, positive, definite faith; for we do. Dr. Nathaniel Micklem states it this way: "We are intellectually free IN the gospel but not FROM it."

World Community Day

Friday, November 5th, is World Community Day. "This day has come to stand for certain definite things in the minds of Protestant Christian women in this country. Since 1943 the day has been observed in many towns and cities of the United States. There has been a sequence of thought running through the themes. Recall them —1943, "The Price of Enduring Peace," 1944, Political and Economic Price of Enduring Peace; 1945, The World Charter; 1946, The United Nations; 1947, The World Is My Community; and 1948 will help us to face the fact that peace is our responsibility."

The Church Women of Clanton are making plans to observe this day. We will join hearts and hands with women throughout the entire United States on this occasion,—to promote Peace.

The special project for the World Community Day is "Pack-A-Towel," for the teen-ager in Displaced Persons Camps in Europe and Asia. No group in Europe or Asia has suffered more, physically and spiritually, than the young people. The call is for 500,000 "Pack-A-Towel" bundles. They are for boys and girls 14-21 years of age.

What a wonderful opportunity for our women to extend a helping hand across the waters. We invite all women's groups to share in this program —share by attending. Share by giving.

Mark November 5th on your calendar, and make plans to unite with the women of your churches as w[illegible] World Community Day [illegible] will be presented Friday, November 5th, at 9:40, at the Chilton County High School Gymnasium. One of the highlights of the program will be the participation of the Chilton County High School Glee Club. Also at this service the 'Pack-A.Towel" bundles will be dedicated.

The Planning Committee: Mrs Joe Campbell, Mrs. Joe Mullins, Mrs. B. F. Reeves and Mrs. John R. Smith. Full [illegible] "Pack-A-Towel" project are given.

"PACK-A-TOWEL"

How To Put The Plan In Action

Start with a pretty bath towel 22 inches wide. On one end of the towel fold new or good-as-new garments —as complete an outfit as you can.

Include: Bedroom slippers (do not put hard-sole shoes in the towel); new material for dress, (or yarn) sewing kit; soap, comb, tooth brush, hair pins, hankies, socks, stockings, neckties, scarfs packed into a pocketbook, pouch or washcloth (nothing breakable or spillable); writing materials.

Include a friendly note with sender's name and address.

Flap other end of the towel over the pile; pin edges together with a dozen assorted safety pins.

Pin firmly to it a piece of cloth with large crayon letters B (Boy) or G (Girl) and size.

Bring your bundle to the church for dedication on World Community Day —November 5, 1948.

Make Your Offering Generous

Your sacrificial gift will be used to speed the bundles overseas, and furnish vitamins and medical supplies Your offering will also help to continue our work for peace and peace education that humanity may be spared a third world war.

On Friday night of October 22nd, Mr. Harvey Mull of Stanton and Mrs. Delene (Durbin) Hardy of Route 4, Clanton, were united in marriage by the Rev. E. C. Hand at the home of said minister. The single ring ceremony was used in a very impressive way.

The groom's suit was of navy blue and the bride's suit was of gray with black accessories.

The ones present to witness this couple in taking the solemn vows, were two Burnett brothers, both of Stanton, and Mrs. E. C. Hand. We wish for this splendid couple the best that life has to offer along the marital voyage of life, and we are sure that the many friends of this couple will be wishing them success and happiness in their home life. They will be at home near Stanton.

Chairman Mims Writes Republican Voters

To The Voters of Chilton County:

At this time I desire to recommend all the candidates on the Republican ticket to you.

On our county ticket we have young men of affairs who are clean, energetic and have made normal success in their business affairs. They have never held office. They can and will attend to the affairs of the offices to which they aspire with credit and honor to themselves and to the county.

As chairman of the Republican Executive Committee of Chilton County, I do hereby invite and extend a hearty welcome to all Democrats of the county to come in, as Democrats if you please, and help us elect young competent men for our president and vice president. We have in the persons of Mr. Dewey and Mr. Warren as fine a pair as have ever been nominated for the offices of president and vice president. At the present critical time it behooves every American citizen to assist in electing them.

The Republican party has always stood for States' Rights and does now. Mr. Dewey in effect, says if Alabama wants the non-segregation law with the evils that go with it, let Alabama enact those laws to her own notion.

If Mr. Dewey and a Republican Congress are elected, Alabama will not be bothered with those objectionable laws. If Mr. Truman and a Democratic Congress are elected, we will, is my prediction.

I call upon all law abiding citizens of this county to co-operate and assist in having a fair and lawful election.

Let us not abuse the absentee ballot law.

If you work out of the county, or if in the regular line of your business you are compelled to be out of the county on election day, you may and should vote an absentee ballot.

As I understand the law, merely being out of the county on a visit, pleasure trip or vacation, or being physically unable to go to the polls, does not entitle you to vote an absentee ballot.

That he has not voted in the election to be held on the 2nd day of November, 1948, and is entitled to vote therein; that he will be absent from the State or from the county of his residence on the day of the election by reason of his regular business and in the performance of his regular duties.

Judge for yourself. Making a false affidavit is a criminal offense punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary.

Let us not purge ourselves. This is a federal election and you could get into trouble.

And above all I urge all qualified citizens to go to the polls next Tuesday and vote.

If we pray for peace, harmony and prosperity, let us vote for candidates who stand and work to that end.—J. Z. MIMS.

(Pd. pol. adv. by J. Z. Mims, Clanton, Ala.)

"This special provision of the Selective Service Act of 1948 allows young men, who are 18 years of age, to enlist for one year in the Army or Air Force, and during this one year period of active duty the Selective Service Law provides that they will not be sent outside the Continental limits of the United States for duty," Sgt. Aussant stated.

After completion of this one year enlistment period, these young men will not be drafted provided they serve four years in an organized unit of the Reserve or National Guad or six years as a member of the inactive reserve.

ADD TO FARM INCOME; RECLAIM IDLE ACRES

Auburn, Ala. — There are seven million acres of Alabama farm land lying idle.

"To put these acres to work at a profit, they must be smoothed," says J. B. Wilson, API extension engineer.

He explains that this job is important because soil preparation, planting, cultivation, and harvesting of these acres must be done, not by extra labor that can't be found, but by machinery.

It will take a long-time program to reclaim Alabama's idle acres, perhaps only a single field on each farm every year. "But," says Wilson, "when this work is finished, Alabama farmers will realize income from over 14 million acres instead of the seven million acres now in production.

GET AND HOLD A MARKET

In order to get and hold a market, make successive plantings of turnips, cabbage, and other crops this fall.

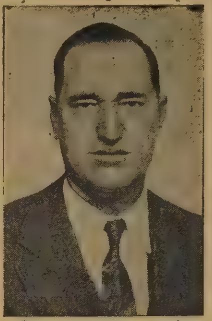
HOLD SOIL WITH TIMBER

Top soil from many Alabama farms is being washed into streams. With this soil goes the fertility of the land. Trees can help anchor soil on the steepest slopes if they are given a chance.

MEAT FOR PIGS

Pigs need the equivalent of meat in their diet. A good meat substitute for pigs is made by mixing equal parts of tankage and cottonseed meal. A small amount of this mixture should be fed along with corn to growing and fattening pigs.

Leo Headley Writes Voters



LEO M. HEADLEY

I am taking this means to thank the voters of Chilton County who have offered their help and confidence in me within the past few weeks, and to assure those who I was unable to see of my appreciation of their support.

It has been physically impossible for me to get around to see you all, but I have done the best I could in the short time that I have had.

When you go to the polls on November 2nd, to cast your vote, if you can see fit to support me, I will assure you of a term of fair play to everyone with no favorites shown to any special group or person. I will direct the office to the very best of my ability.

Sincerely,
LEO M. HEADLEY.

$5 A BUSHEL FOR CORN SOLD THROUGH TURKEYS

This should not happen in 1948 when farmers have the largest corn crop on record. Turkey farmers who grew corn and are looking for a good market should remember that a turkey will gain one pound for each four and one-half pounds of corn fed.

"This," says Mr. Ivey, "Makes corn worth over $5 a bushel when turkeys sell for 45c a pound."

BRAND CATTLE ON NECK OR SHOULDER

When cattle are branded, the branding iron should be very hot, but the brand should not be burned too deeply.

W. H. Gregory, API extension livestock specialist, recommends that brand mark be placed on neck or shoulder if possible, thereby protecting the hide.

STATE DAIRY SHOWS

Alabama dairy shows have made it possible for 4-H and FFA boys and girls, as well as adult farmers, to see the best dairy animals in the state.

LETTER OF THANKS

In the death of my husband, I feel that my loss is Heaven's gain. My heart, of course, is sad, but my desire is to thank not slightly, but from the very depth of my soul: Dr. Joe Moore, Clanton Hospital, nurses, Rev. Stuckey, Rev. Carroll and everyone who administered to us in any way. Words of sympathy were never spoken more tenderly.

The favorite songs of my loved one, as sung by our friends, were never more beautiful except when rendered by him who slept. The flowers that were clustered about the casket were never so beautifully tendered by hearts so kind and so true.

May you be visited with much comfort and joy, and ever remember that I am at your service in similar seasons. Signed: Mrs. Howard Roper and Mother, Mrs. Holdsombeck.

HERE'S HOW TO MAKE HANDY PRESSING PADS

Auburn, Ala. — There is a variety of shapes and sizes that aid in pressing curved seams, darts, sleeves, shoulders, and armscyes.

According to Levice Ellis, API extension clothing specialist, a convenient size can be made of two pieces of press cloth six inches wide and 17 inches long. Curve the ends and cut one piece one and one-half inches narrower than the other.

After this is done, seam up, leaving one side open for stuffing. Stuff tightly with dry sawdust, ravelings or finely cut pieces of fabric.

"One side of the pad may be covered with wool for steam pressing," adds Miss Ellis.

WHEREAS, the general election next suceeding the adjournment of the 1947 Regular Session of the Legislature at which such amendment was proposed will be held on Tuesday, November 2, 1948; and

WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment is required by law, and by the provisions of the act submitting the amendment, to be given by a proclamation of the Governor to be published in each county in the State of Alabama once a week for four successive weeks next preceding the day appointed for the election:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, James E. Folsom, as Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that on Tuesday, the 2nd day of November 1948, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama, in the manner and form provided by law, upon the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama of 1901:

> "JEFFERSON COUNTY SEWER AMENDMENT:
>
> "In addition to any indebtedness now authorized, Jefferson County may become indebted and may issue bonds therefor in an amount not exceeding 3 per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable property in said County in order to pay the expenses of constructing, improving, extending and re[illegible] sewers and sewerage treatment [illegible] disposal plants in said County [illegible] said bonds shall be general [illegible] ions of Jefferson County [illegible] be payable primarily [illegible] by a lien [illegible] or service charges which shall be levied and collected in an amount sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on such bonds, replacements, extensions and improvements to, and the cost of operation and maintenance of, the sewers and sewerage treatment and disposal plants. Such sewer rentals or service charges shall be levied upon and collected from the persons and property whose sewerage is disposed of or treated by the sewers or the sewerage treatment or disposal plants and whether served by the part of the sewer system then being constructed, improved, or extended or by some other part of such system; and such charges or rentals shall be a personal obligation of the occupant of the property the sewerage from which is disposed of by such sewers or treated in such plants and shall also be a lien upon such property, enforceable by a sale thereof.
>
> "Before issuing any bonds or levying or collecting any such sewer service charges or rentals, the proposal shall first be submitted to and approved by a majority of the voters of the County voting at an election to be called by the governing body thereof. Notice of such election shall be given by publication once a week for four successive weeks immediately prior to such election in a newspaper published and of general circulation in Jefferson County. Such notice and the ballot shall set forth the purpose for which the bonds are proposed to be issued, the estimated cost of the proposed undertaking, the amount of bonds to be issued, the serial maturities thereof, and the maximum rate of interest such bonds are to bear, and a recital that the proposal includes the levying of sewer service charges or rentals to be secured by liens upon the property served. Such elections shall in all respects not herein otherwise provided be conducted and the results thereof ascertained and declared in accordance with the law then in force relating to County bond elections. If at any such election a majority of the voters vote in favor of the proposed undertaking, and the bonds, the bonds so voted may be issued at one time or from time to time as the governing body of the County shall deem advisable.
>
> "With the prior approval of the governing body of any incorporated municipality therein, Jefferson County may take over, own, possess, control, expand, improve, maintain and operate any sewers or sewerage treatment or disposal plants of such incorporated municipality or, if such incorporated municipality has no sewers, Jefferson County may construct sewers therein. Such sewers and plants shall thereupon become a part of a combined and consolidated sewer system for Jefferson County.
>
> "The governing body of Jefferson County shall have full power and authority to manage, operate, control and administer the sewers and plants herein provided for and, to that end, may make any reasonable and non-discriminatory rules and regulations fixing rates and charges, providing for the payment, collection and enforcement thereof, and the protection of its property. Liens for sewer rentals or service charges shall be foreclosed in such manner as may be provided by law for foreclosing municipal assessments for public improvements. This amendment is self-executing.
> "The authority to issue bonds shall cease December 31, 1958. The authority to levy and collect sewer charges and rentals shall be limited to such charges as will pay the principal of and interest on the bonds and the reasonable expense of extending, improving, operating and maintaining said sewers and plants; and when the bonds shall have been paid off, service charges and rentals shall be accordingly reduced, it being the intent and purpose of this amendment that the expences of needed improvements and extensions and maintenance and operation of the sewers and sewerage treatment and disposal plants and no other expenditures shall be paid from such service charges and rentals."

I further direct and proclaim that notice of this election upon Tuesday the 2nd day of November 1948, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama of 1901, be given by publishing the same once a week for four successive weeks next preceding Tuesday the 2nd day of November 1948, in each county in the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

LATEST FACTS ABOUT X-DISEASE IN CATTLE

Answers to the main questions coming up about X-disease in cattle are given by Dr. R. S. Sugg, state veterinarian, Auburn.

It is called X-disease because it is unknown. More than 30 states, including Alabama, have reported the disease. So far as is known, it only affects cattle. A survey of beef and dairy animals just completed in five southern states shows that one animal out of 10 affected was a dairy animal.

Dr. Sugg states that early symtoms include a watery discharge from the eyes and nose. As the disease develops, the animal's appetite fails. The skin gets thick, wrinkled, hard and leathery. Large wart-like projections often occur on the tongue, cheeks and palate.

"Until it is found what causes X-disease, take the following precautions against it," urges Dr. Sugg. "Practice sanitation, feed balanced rations, keep new animals under quarantine until you see if any disease develops, and if you think the disease has broken out in your herd, apply voluntary quarantine to entire herd and call a veterinarian."

THINGS WE SEE AND HEAR

CCHS — By "Tuck" — CCHS

I am writing this column for the benefit of those who want to learn about their friends and other people. I will try my best not to write anything that will interfere with or hurt anyone's feelings if I can possibly help it. My column will be published weekly unless something holds it up. So here goes:

The football boys played a wonderful game Friday night, didn't they, fans? One thing I noticed about the game was that spectacular snag which Royce Seales caught so calmly. And another thing was when Buddy Roberts plowed through the center of the line for that nice gain. But no fooling, boys, you played a good game and we're all proud of you, I'm sure.

Well, that's enough football for now, except this, I'll imagine we are going to have some pretty tough opponents next week, so you guys had better look out.

Hey, Mrs. Griffin, how about easing up on those tests in Civics. You're really wearing those Jr. III's out.

Oh, by the way! That second period Phys. Ed. class, boys that is, sure are having fun in class, especially on Mondays, Thursdays and Fridays.

Annette, did you have fun on that hay ride the other night. Brother, you should have!

I guess I'm going to have to get in good with the scouts on Friday night, so I can get a good seat at the game without getting out seventh period and going straight out to the field. No, I was just kidding! But it does get a little crowded every once a while.

By the way! Whoever that was with the cowbell at the game last Friday night sure was having fun.

Everybody had better steer clear of Sonny Gaylor. He told me at church Sunday that he was on the road of having the flu. (You did say that, Sonny), remember? I'm just quoting.

Boy! Those Civics tests are getting harder by the day, aren't they mates?

Oh, yes, you guys and gals had better watch that letting up in the lunch line. Mrs. Palmer caught me Friday.

Those hall monitors at school sure won't let you by without a pass under any circumstance, or maybe I just don't go about it right.

Mrs. Snead, that first period science class is almost uncontrollable, isn't it? Hey, Shaw, I wonder why?

By the way, when are we going to have another dance after the football games? That first and last one (so far) sure was fun.

I'm talking to the first period science class now about someone in the class being teacher that period. I think Mrs. Snead had better watch who she chooses, as if it were any of my business, but it is kind of rough on some people when the one appointed holds a grudge because they really pass it on.

Joe Doug, that was some pretty good football you played Friday morning.

Oh, Myron, you'd better be careful what you put in the gossip column in the Chit-Chat.

I think I'll start wearing a hood or something to school because every time I go in a class I have to fight my way through (You guessed it) "Spit Balls." You guys with rubber bands had better be careful, some people seem to be having a hard time getting their lessons the third period.

Jearlyne Studdard, I think you'd better be careful in that sixth period study hall. (And that's no joke).

Sure looks like a promising "B" team we have this year, doesn't it?

Miss Perry, looks like some of those Jr. III boys were disappointed in their report cards this six weeks, but I don't believe it was your fault, was it? You just gave them out.

Harold Parr, who was that girl I saw you with Wednesday night? It couldn't have been - - - - - - -, could it? I wouldn't give you away, Harold.

Hey, Virgil, that sure was a nice kick you got off Friday in Phys. Ed. But just look what a line you had. Ha, ha.

I hear Jo Anne Scott is going to have a hay ride soon, or maybe that was just some rumor I picked up.

I sure, or should I say, we sure, do wish you teachers would let up on that homework. Boy! We're really getting it.

That sure is a nice looking girl Carolyn Mims is running around with, isn't it, boys?

The Truth About Atomic Hazards

Ever since the Japanese surrendered, medical officers of the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force, have been studying and evaluating the hazards to humans of an atom bomb explosion.

In order of their importance, these hazards are:

1. Fires caused by the heat of the bomb itself, together with fires started by blast damage.
2. The force of the blast.
3. Radiation.

Only 15% of the deaths at Hiroshima and Nagasaki were caused by radiation. This radiation lasted but an instant. No significant amount of radiation appeared to linger after the explosions. A far greater problem to physicians is prompt and effective treatment of injuries from blast and burns. To forward such information to the doctors of your community, the Armed Forces Special Weapons Proecjt is sponsoring a ourse in atomic medicine. Six hundred physicians have already profited from this course, your own family doctor may be one of them.

During the coming year hundreds more will carry facts and understanding to far corners of the nation.

Many physicians and allied scientists now on duty with the Medical Department are sharing in the formative stage of this study. In this and allied fields expanded facilities can accommodate additional professional talent. For information write the Surgeon General, Pentagon Bldg., Washington 25, D.C.

Mr. Jim Wade has just about finished his new brick building on Second Avenue that will house several new and old businesses. Cafe Royal, old Bus Station, has been redecorated. C. C. Polk is building a bowling alley at his place on Second Avenue. Studdard & Vinson have revived the Recapping Company and are doing rushing business.

You could go on and on naming new and improved business coming here. Within the not too distant future we can be sure of a fruit and vegetable experiment station at Collins Chapel. A Trade School, possibly on the Selma Highway, modern in every way. A new landing strip at the airport and a National Guard building that is not a dream but a reality, State officials having visited here last week on an inspection tour of the property already donated.

These are but a few reminders that Clanton is fast becoming a thriving little city, and having realized that, we will have to plan as a small city. The time when we could take things as they come and do as we please is past.

Clanton is booming.

61,296,000 JOBS

Many readers will recall the sensation produced when the goal of sixty million jobs in the United States was proclaimed as a necessity to economic well-being.

There were those who hooted at the idea, but the Census Bureau reports that civilian employment in June reached a record high of 61,296,000 Americans working for pay, profit or benefit of the family. This does not include house-working wives.

It is interesting to note that farm employment at 9,296,000 was nearly 1,000,000 below a year ago. Non-agricultural industries, however, with a total of 51,899,000 employed, were up 2,221,000 above the figure for last year.

The less work some laborers perform the more pay they expect.

The danger of inflation may not worry everybody at this time but it will.

Not every trash basket catches all the stuff that should be thrown into it.

The trouble with stock speculation is that you either sell too soon or too late.

Folks and Things About Town

--By BEN

Come on. Tell us. Who was the lady who cooked the wonderful spice cake that was at the Grammar School Hallowe'en Party last Thursday night? We are offering a valuable reward for the name of the lady who cooked the cake. We want the recipe for the wife. Mrs. Jack (Alice) Hayes passed a piece of the lucious stuff to the wife, the wife was too busy to do anything about it and later passed it on to her old man, he partook and is therefore hunting the lady who cooked it. Remember, the person who gives us any information leading to, or resulting in, the securing of the recipe, get a valuable reward—namely, a piece of the cake.

Congratulations to the new Mayor and City Councilmen. They are really putting the work where it is needed most and shows up the best—on our streets. The widening of Third Avenue between 6th and 7th streets and on Sixth Street between the courthouse and Fourth Avenue will really improve both the appearance of our little city and our traffic problems. We notice several other outlying streets being hard surfaced too.

James Dennis and his new Checker Board Store, "Dennis Farm Supply" really got off to a good start last Saturday. There was a big crowd there during the day and you can't say folks in Chilton County don't know where the new store is, or what they sell.

Spent Sunday afternoon picking up pecans. Did you ever spend Sunday afternoon picking up pecans when you weren't used to the exercise—that is, in that certain way? And then try to get up Monday morning? Boy, you find you got muscles you didn't even know you had, or even existed. And twenty-four hours later when we just about had the kinks ironed out and was able to walk straight again the madam asked: "When are you going to help us pick up the rest of the pecans?" And do you know the first thing we thought? Aw, nuts.

Birmingham reports quite a bit of rowdyism Hallowe'en night. Or for that matter, the week end. We in Clanton, were much luckier. Seems the younger generation was on their good behavior and things ran pretty smooth for the city officers and the populace in general. As a whole we have a mighty well behaved bunch of kids here abouts.

Little Steve, six, was a profanity addict, which caused his mother no end of anguish. One day Steve got an invitation to a birthday party. As he left the house, his mother's final caution was, "Steve, I've asked Mrs. Wilson to send you straight home the minute you use one bad word." Twenty minutes later Steve was back home. His mother was very angry so without asking him a word she sent him off to bed. His attempts at explanation were ignored. A little later, however, his mother softened and went upstairs to see how Steve was taking it. Sitting at his bedside, she inquired, "Tell mother, Steve, just why Mrs. Wilson sent you home. What did you do?" Little Steve, humiliated but still wrathful, replied, "Do? Do, hell! I didn't do anything. That d— party ain't until tomorrow."

Wallace Cox tells us that we will be able to drive over the new bridge on Selma road Christmas Day. That's what we been waiting to hear.

THINGS WE SEE AND HEAR

CCHS——By "Tuck"——CCHS

Well, Kinney, I hear you are a free man now. Good for you. But I'm glad I'm not.

Pat Huddleston had better quit throwing paper in 5th period Civics because Mrs. Griffin is going to wise up if she's not careful.

That was a good game Friday even if the score was 18 to 12, in their favor, wasn't it, fans?

Buddy Roberts, you played a good game the other night. At least, I think so, and I guess everyone else does.

Russell Williams' new nickname is "Stitches" since he cut his head at the game. That is tough, though Russell, but maybe it will heal up some time soon.

That was a swell hay ride we had Saturday, we went all the way to the back of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Snead seems to have gotten that 1st period Science class under control, after so long a time.

Billy Christenberry, Shelby Studdard sure does go for you in a big way.

Hey, Joe Douglas, we sure are glad you're back in school. I think a certain person was really missing you.

Mr. Lecroy, I'm sorry about what happened to your car Thursday, but I still didn't do it, and neither did Shaw or Richard. (I just thought I'd tell you.)

Hey, Pyron, you play too rough, you almost hurt one of Selma's players Friday night, but you did play a good game.

Eugene Murr, this is for you, personally, I think you and Frank had better lay off.

That gym sure was hard to clean up after that party last Thursday night. (Voice of experience.)

Oh, Phillip, how are you and Jo Ann getting along?

By the way, what happened to that dance we didn't have Friday night?

Frances Jones, did you have a good time at the Hallowe'en party Thursday night?

Grace Lawrence had better be careful, Kinney's out of hand, isn't he?

Now I know who that was with the cow bell at the game Friday night. It was Rosie Kinney. (As if everybody didn't know it.)

Virgil Lowery was more interested in the grand stand Friday night than he was in the game. Now I wonder why?

Boy, those civics tests are getting to where we have one every day, but there's not much we can do about it.

John Schmith, who was that girl who saw you out of your seat in 4th period study hall?

Joe Blair, why not play more attention to Annette? You're playing too hard to get.

Bobby Kinney, Ann's sore at you, and I don't think I blame her.

That B team had better get in shape. That Maplesville bunch is pretty good.

Lenore, how are you and Sonny Gaylor doing? Looks like pretty good.

Mrs. Palmer, I'm going to tell Mr. Hicks about you playing with balloons in class. (I wish I could.)

I want to know what to do when you forget the combination to your locker. (Don't get any ideas, it wasn't me.)

That was an unusually good show the other night, wasn't it, Jearlyne?

I sure wish somebody would have some kind of party, so it would seem like old times.

MORE ABOUT THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

When we consider the Sunday Schools of our churches, and the great work that is being done in them, it is easy to see that the Sunday School program of the church is the greatest one program of the whole church. Other departments of the church organization are doing a great work, and all these are needed, but it is plainly seen that the Sunday School is the strongest arm of the church. Through it more people are reached with the Gospel of Christ from week to week. No one is barred out of the Sunday School, whether old or young, saint or sinner, married or single, rich or poor; all have a welcome in the Sunday School. This wide welcome to one and all may not exist in other departments of the church organization.

A. T. HICKMAN

Statistics have proved that the Sunday School is the most powerful soul-winning agency of the church. It is the channel through which the incorruptible seed is sown into the hearts of all ages. This is done carefully and prayerfully from week to week. The result is this: 80 per cent of all our Protestant churches in America owe their origin to the Sunday School. 95 per cent of all our Protestant ministers and missionaries on the field preaching the Gospel of Christ were first Sunday School pupils, and came into the ministry from the Sunday School rank. 85 per cent of the increase of our church membership comes from our Sunday Schools. And 60 per cent of those making their confession of faith in Christ from the Sunday School remain true to their confession, and find their place of responsibility in their churches, and go on letting their light shine for Christ. While on the other hand, those converted under the high tide of high pressure evangelism who are not formerly Sunday School pupils only about 13 per cent stand true to their confession. The Seed more readily fall on stony grounds where there is a lack of moisture and deepness of soil.

The Sunday School is the whitest harvest field in reach of any church. The Sunday School is doing the greatest work in the world; teaching the greatest Book in the world, in the greatest institution in the world, viz. The Church of Jesus Christ on earth. The King of kings is the General Superintendent.

Friend, if you are not at present a Sunday School pupil, may I urge that you go join some good wide awake Sunday School next Sunday. Put yourself into this great work.

RIGHT HAND WOMAN

Your Army and Air Force serves the nation and mankind in war and peace. The nurse is the physician's right hand. Without her, our high standard of health and speed of patient recovery could not continue.

The professional relationship of physician and nurse is important wherever medicine is practiced. But nowhere is it more vital, nor more stimulating, than in the far-flung hospital network of your Army and your Air Force.

Nurses backed up Battlefields of Tunisia, Italy, France; the beaches of New Guinea, Tarawa, Siapan, and many more. They worked ankle-deep in mud. They fought stifling storms of dust. They comforted thousands of helpless patients during air raids, or during night-long, ear-splitting barrages of artillery.

Such experiences came as no surprise to the nurses. They had volunteered for the job. Such conduct came as no surprise to the physician, who had come to expect his good right hand to share his anxiety and relief, troubles and triumphs.

This team is still at work. The days are no longer clouded with the danger or discomfort of wartime. But both in flight and on the ground the job is just as challenging to keep our world-wide Army and Air Force in top fighting trim.

In service to humanity and to the nation, there is no higher calling for young women than nursing in the Army and Air Force. New opportunities are open to qualified graduates. Write the Surgeon General, Pentagon Building, Washington 21, D.C.

This message is brought to you through the courtesy of the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Service. Your local recruiting station is located in the New Wade Building, Clanton, Ala.

WAYS TO SAVE AND USE OUTER CABBAGE LEAVES

There are saving ways to use outer leaves of cabbage that so often get thrown away.

They can be saved and even used in cooked cabbage dishes or cole slaw if you treat them right. Just trim away any spotted or bruised places, sprinkle with water and crisp in the hydrator or other covered pan in the refrigerator.

"Remember," says Mary Hulsey, A. P.I. extension nutrionist, "that cabbage contains a high amount of vitamin C."

The Dixie Bowl

Birmingham, Ala. — Birmingham's Dixie Bowl, an artistic and financial success in its inaugural, is looking to bigger, better things this season.

Scouts are combing the football fields of the nation Saturday after Saturday with an eye out for a worthy successor to the Arkansas-William and Mary thriller won by the Razorbacks, 21-19, here last January 1.

Enlargement of the seating capacity of Legion Field, where the post-season classic will be played, has made possible a reduction in prices. They'll scale from $4.90 down. With that, sponsors of the game are sure they'll send upwards of 30,000 into the big Municipal Stadium for the contest. The park will seat 45,000.

With no Southeastern Conference eleven available for the Bowl this season, Dixie representatives headed by General Manager Holt Rast are concentrating their search for talent on the wide-open Southern Conference, the Southwest, the Midwest and the East. Likewise, the Big Seven, a good bowl field in the past several seasons, lists a number of top-flight prospects.

The Dixie Bowlers feel that they had on January 1, 1948, perhaps the nation's No. 1 football game. Certainly none other topped it for spectator thrills. Authorities are sparing no effort, no expense to see that January 1, 1949, sees another great show for Birmingham and Alabama.

Fans from all over the state are expected to swell the attendance. Mail order tickets reservations are being accepted at Dixie Bowl headquarters, 1014, Protective Life Building here.

More than $20,000 already is in the till from sale of "priority reservations," spectators who had reserved seats for the first game and exercised an option to purchase them for the second. That doesn't begin to exhaust the supply of first-rate seats. A bigger stadium has lots more of 'em.

An idea popular with civic clubs and similar organizations over the state last season was the purchase of blocks of tickets. Some used them to send their high school football squads to the game, a great climax to the gridiron year for the prepsters. Others attended in groups to watch the fun.

Ticket orders should be addressed to Dixie Bowl Headquarters, 1014, Protective Life Building, Birmingham. Tickets may be bought in Birmingham at E. E. Forbes.

* * *

Mr. W. H. Raybon spent the week end in Tuscaloosa with his son and family, the Phares Raybons, and saw for the first time his new grandson.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lambert and son of Montgomery week ended with relatives.

Mrs. Anna Phalin returned home Friday night after having spent the summer in the North visiting with relatives. We are happy to welcome Mrs. Phalin back into our midst, as she is always greatly missed while away.

Miss Ruth Ford of Birmingham spent the week end visiting with friends.

Mrs. Carrie Matthews of Birmingham visited a few days here with her daughter, Mrs. Irene Peterson and her many friends here.

Miss Marguerite Davison was here last week for a few days and left on Saturday for Garden City where she went with Miss Annie Campbell.

Mrs. H. A. Anderson of Birmingham spent the week end here with her mother, Mrs. Chas. Peterson, while her sister, Mrs. Roy Raybon, visited with her daughters in Birmingham. Mrs. Peterson continues on the sick list, but is able to be up and around at times.

Mrs. Inga Anderson is sick in bed again with a back ailment. Her friends hope that she will soon be able to be up and about again.

Miss Betty Joe Gaston of the University of Alabama, and Betty Wright Taylor of Montevallo, Ala., were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Porter.

Mr. Owen Carter is spending some time in Birmingham in order to be near his wife who is confined to the West End Baptist Hospital where she under went an operation a week ago. Mrs. Carter's friends here are glad to know that she is recovering nicely and will soon be able to come back home.

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Martin, Jr., spent Monday in Montgomery, Ala.

Miss Carolyn Welch of Chattanooga, Tenn., occupied the pulpit at the Congregational Church last Sunday. It is possible that Miss Welch will be called to this church, since Rev. Seymour has resigned and there will be a vacancy here.

A very interesting program was enjoyed at the Institute on Friday night when Miss Annie Campbell was the guest speaker of the evening. Miss Campbell is an ordained minister and spent the past year in England as assistant Pastor of one of the Congregational churches there.

The Parent-Teachers Association gave a Hallowe'en Party last Friday night that was a credit to those who planned this affair. The whole thing was carefully planned so that the older folks had as much fun as the children, and also a nice sum was realized for the P.-T.A. They had a country store where one could fish and get a nice bargain, cake contests, house of horrors, fortune telling, a lunch counter, where cakes, pies, hot dogs and coffee were sold. They also chose a king and queen from one of the Junior grades. This was a keen contest and was won by Masueda Price and Jimmy Robinson.

* * *

If you were not present at the Masquerade Party given by the Thorsby Garden Club on Saturday night, you missed a peck of fun, and if you don't believe it, ask some of those who attended. Buck Littleton, the inimitable Master of Ceremonies, was there, with his boys and Mr. J. G. Connell and his boys, all furnished music that really made you enjoy being present. Mr. Wilbert Marcus, our No. 1 comedian, furnished plenty of fun in between times.

The party started out with a jolly group doing the grand march, followed by the Virginia Reel and then the remainder of the evening was spent enjoying the old fashioned square dance. This proved a lot of fun for many who took part, as well as for many who were spectators.

We are grateful to our friends throughout the Community who helped make this a success, and we hope they will join us again. We wonder where the biggest number of our Club members were, since they were in the minority, and there were "not too many" Thorsby people present either — we could do lots for the betterment of our town if everyone would get in there and help "push."

Now, why don't we all join hands and work for the good of our community—when just a few have to do it all, it is hard to accomplish anything.

* * *

This town, as well as the whole community, was saddened when the news came announcing the death of Mrs. William Each of Birmingham, perhaps better known to her friends here as Juanita Connatser.

Mrs. Each leaves a husband, a two-weeks old baby boy and two other very young boys, besides five sisters, three brothers, a lot of other relatives and a host of friends, who mourn her passing.

Among those who attended the funeral in Birmingham were: Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ekblad, Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Cox and Inez; Mr. David Vines, Mrs. Horace Franklin, Mr. H. R. Maddox and Miss Naemi Turnquist.

Funeral services were held at the Hunter Street Baptist Church. The church was packed, and we dare say that never have we seen so many beautiful floral offerings. Juanita was always bright and cheerful and made friends wherever she went—this was evidenced at the largest funeral we have ever witnessed. Our deepest sympathy goes out to the bereaved families.

Mr. J. Archie Ogburn is attending a convention of the Farm Bureau Association being held at Biloxi, Miss., this week. Mr. Ogburn has again been made President of the Chilton County Farm Bureau.

In selecting roasting and baking utensils, look for materials sturdy enough not to warp when exposed to high oven temperature. Few seams, smooth edges, and rounded corners all make cleaning easier. Whenever possible, select utensils which can be used for both range top and oven cookery.

- Our Pilgrim Faith -

WE BELIEVE IN GOD

This sermon and the others in the series are based upon our Statement of Faith which follows:

"We believe in God the Father, infinite in wisdom, goodness and love; and in Jesus Christ, his Son, our Lord and Saviour, who for us and our salvation lived and died and rose again and liveth evermore; and in the Holy Spirit, who taketh of the things of Christ and revealeth them to us, renewing, comforting and inspiring the souls of men."

We are striving to know the will of God as taught in the Holy Scriptures, and in our purpose to walk in the ways of the Lord, made known or to be made known to us.

We hold it to be the mission of the Church of Christ to proclaim the gospel to all mankind, exalting the worship of the one true God, and laboring for the progress of knowledge, the promotion of justice, the reign of peace, and the realization of human brotherhood. Depending, as did our fathers, upon the continued guidance of the Holy Spirit to lead us into all truth, we work and pray for the transformation of the world into the kingdom of God; and we look with faith for the triumph of righteousness and the life everlasting.

This morning we are directing our attention to the first sentence of our Statement of Faith: "We believe in God the Father; infinite in wisdom, goodness and Love."

How do you think of God? As a person on a throne, who pouts if you do not worship him, or will punish you if you do not praise him? Or as a benevolent grandfather who is indifferent to what you do, and only wants you to have a good time and enjoy life? There are many ways of thinking of God, but I think that our Statement tells us the best way.

I. GOD AS A FATHER. Jesus taught us that God is a Father, the father of all mankind; for he "hath made of one blood all nations of men." Jesus taught that God is a LOVING Father. He loves us, cares for us and guides us more than the best father ever did. He has hopes and plans for the world, just as a good father has hopes and plans for his family. He wants us to be happy and live together as brothers.

Jesus taught that God is a FORGIVING Father. When a person repents, changes his life, it helps him to understand what Gōd's love is, the love of a heavenly Father. Accepting God as Father does not mean that we will have an easy life or that God will easily forgive anything we do. He does forgive all who repent, but we still have to accept the consequences of wrong-doing. This healing grace of forgiveness is available to anyone, who repents and turns to God. If we believe in God as Father we will try to do his will for our faith in him as Father is shown by the way we seek to do his will.

II. NEXT WE SAY THAT GOD IS INFINITE IN WISDOM. There is no end to his wisdom. He knows all things. If God is the creator of the universe, and we believe that he is, then he certainly knows all about what he has made. We believe that God knows all that he needs to know as the Ruler of the universe. Anything that pertains to the welfare of his children is known to him. How does God know all things? He may have ways of knowing that we do not understand, his knowledge may transcend our human way of knowing. "For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the Lord. For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways and my thoughts than your thoughts." (Isaiah 55:8-9.)

III. THEN WE BELEVE THAT GOD IS INFINITE IN GOODNESS. God is good, He does no evil. He wants us to be good, like him. Were God not good he would not be a proper object of religious faith. The goodness of God includes what God is in himself and what he is in his relation to others. Goodness will work in our world, but bad will not, because a good God made our world. If God is good, why does he let people suffer, especially good people? Much suffering is caused by people themselves, and much is caused by the hatred and selfishness in the hearts of people. We believe that the source of man's capacity to be good, must also be good, and that source is God.

"And in the maddening maze of things, when tossed by storm and flood, to one fixed ground my spirit clings, I know that God is good."

IV. WE ALSO BELIEVE THAT GOD IS INFINITE IN LOVE. "God is love." Divine love is good will, the love of benevolences. It is objective, it seeks the welfare and the redemption of all men. Jesus taught that God was a God of redemptive love. The Holy love of God redeems from sin and loneliness. Love is the fulfilling of the divine law and justice. This love operates without our deserving it. Love is properly directed only toward persons. Love itself is personal. To have love there must be a person; a person is incomplete without love, and without a person love does not exist In our worship we develop along lines of love.

God is more than we can know or think, but we can say that he is like Jesus. "He that hath seen me, hath seen the Father," said Jesus.

God has been here from the beginning; before there was a world, God was here. God is in his world now, and will remain in it. After everything else is gone, God will still be. God was in the beginning, He is now, He ever shall be. "We believe in God the Father, infinite in wisdom, goodness and love."

—COLLIE SEYMOUR.

The flavor of apple sauce generally is better if the apples are peeled before cooking. If the apples are cooked unpeeled and then strained, the sauce may have a bitter taste from the peeling. Apples should be cooked rapidly in a covered pan, for long, slow cooking may destroy the delicate flavor and may even darken the sauce.

SCHEDULE

Of Events For Christmas Carnival

The complete schedule of events for Birmingham's enlarged 1948 Christmas Carnival was announced for the first time this week by General Chairman Raiford Ellis.

The festive Yule celebration will outshine in color, gaiety and international pageantry anything the South ever has witnessed, Chairman Ellis predicted in releasing the 1948 schedule.

Highlight of next month's Carnival will be the visits to Birmingham of U. S. Ambassadors and ministers from each of the 16 Marshall Plan nations. Each of the 16 European nations also will be represented by an official princess.

In addition to the events listed below, the famed ABC radio feature, "Ladies Be Seated," will be broadcast to the nation daily from Birmingham during Christmas Carnival Week. Featuring a cast of stars headed by Tom Moore, "Ladies Be Seated" will be a part of the Carnival program and will be heard November 22-26 at 2:00 p.m. daily.

Chairman Ellis listed other activities of the official program as:

Wednesday, November 24—

7:00 a.m. (EST) Departure of official diplomatic delegation from Washington, D.C. via chartered airplane.

10:30 a.m. (approx.) Arrival and greetings in Birmingham.

12 noon City of Birmingham welcome luncheon.

COTTON CLASSING TO BE STEPPED UP

To remedy this situation, the U.S. D.A. Cotton Marketing Branch located in Birmingham has been authorized to expand its facilities. Four additional classers have been assigned which brings the total number of classers up to 15.

With the help of the extra classers, it is believed that the Birmingham classing office will catch up and be able to class cotton samples the day they are received.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

This month the following farmers have a soil and water conservation farm plan drawn up on their farms. Alton Murrah, R. S. Crow, Charlie Bell, Ollie Smith, Ivan Marler, John Watts and Howard Chism. All of these plans call for meadow outlets, new terracing system, pasture improvements and better rotation with a re-seeding legume to be worked in.

* * *

Julius McCraw states, "I have applied 600 pounds of 4-10-7 fertilizer to my Kentucky 31 Fescue grass. It should pay off in gazing this winter. Next spring I plan on top-dressing with a nitrate and will gather seed.

* * *

Otho McKinney is a firm believer in Soil Conservation. Otho received $100 cash award this past August for having the best District Soil and Water Conservation farm plan in the State of Alabama. This fall Otho has picked 12 bales of cotton averaging over 500 pounds per bale on 10 acres. one of the bales graded middling with a staple of 1 1-32 inch. This bale of cotton brought 36.89 cents per pound in the government loan. Otho contributes the high yield of cotton to good conservation practices.

* * *

G. U. Mims sowed his 10 acres of Kentucky 31 Fescue grass and white dutch clover Saturday.

* * *

O. H. Lawrence states, "I want a plan on that new 100 acres of land I have just bought. I want more sericea and kudzu.

* * *

Don't forget a reseeding winter legume can still be planted in October. Caley peas, Mangenese bur clover, hard seed crimson clover, button clover, and others are good if managed so seed are matured before turned in the spring.

* * *

Claude Glass states, "I have planted my Fescue grass and Caley peas on my sericea."

* * *

L. T. Evans states, "I want the rest of my terraces run by the '5th of November. That will give me time to build them before next crop time." L. T. will cut and thrash his kobe lespedeza to enlarge his acreage of oats and lespedeza. The oats have already been planted and grandifloria vetch added. Lespedeza will be seeded next spring.

* * * *

Bob Borden is sowing a seven-acre seed patch of Hord seed Crimson Clover. He plans to harvest his sericea lespedeza seed this week. Bob plans on building his pasture program around sericea lespedeza and reseeding crimson clover. Kudzu will provide the temporary grazing.

* * * *

J. N. Dennis has proven you can have plenty of manganise burr clover seed if you will try. The proof can be seen by going over his farm when he has seeded the clover. In addition to the clover on the farm, a nice pile of seed was harvested for sale. Mr. Dennis planted 50 pounds on one and one-fourth acre the fall of 1946. This past spring 2,250 pounds were harvested from this seed patch. Multiply 2,250 times 30 cents per pound and you will get a nice income per acre, and a good re-seeding legume and soil conservation crop.

* * * *

Walter Kendrick of Pilgrim Rest Community, has ten acres of sericea that he wants to harvest. These seed if harvested, will be used to plant a larger acreage on his farm.

* * * *

J. Sam Johnson, W. A. Williams and C. R. Childress are busy harvesting their sericea seed. Most of these seed will be used to expand the acreage of sericea on each of their farms.

* * * *

* * * *

Ben Brinker has seeded alfalfa on one acre to find out for himself its value as a winter grazen.

NATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK TO BE OBSERVED NOV. 7-13

The week of November 7-13 has been set aside throughout the nation as National Education Week, and the schools of Chilton County are urging parents and friends of the schools to visit one or all of those days.

Patrons are asked to actually spend a day in school to see what their children are doing the greater part of their day. There parents will observe our future citizens being trained for their part in the democracy which is their heritage.

Our future depends upon how well our young people meet the challenge which will be theirs in a very short time. If our way of thinking in America survives, it will be up to the students of today to see that the ideals of their forefathers are preserved.

At no time in previous history has the role of education been so important to American society. The schools of today are attempting to train the youth to carry on by teaching them the basic skills, the sciences, and the ability of getting along with each other and with the citizens of our one world.

Go to school next week. Your superintendent, supervisors, principals and teachers welcome you to your schools to see how your children are preparing for life.

Go to school during National Education Week, November 7-13.

WILLIAMS - MOORE

Miss Doris Williams and Leonard Moore were married Saturday evening, at 7 o'clock, October 30th, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Williams, near Clanton.

Mr. Moore is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Moore.

The Rev. Carlisle Miller read the wedding vows before an improvised altar of pink and white chrysanthemums banked with greenery.

Soft violin music was presented by Mrs. Carlisle Miller.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Elnora Jones and Miss Peggy Williams as brides maid.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gray suit with black accessories. Her corsage was of white chrysanthemums.

Allan Williams was best man.

The bride's table at the reception was covered with lace and centered with a three-tiered cake surrounded by pink rose buds.

After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home in Clanton.

WINTER CARE FOR WASHING MACHINE

Stella Mitchell, A.P.I. extension home management specialist, Auburn, warns that if this precaution is not taken, the oil or grease in the machine may be so stiff that the starting load will be heavy enough to blow a fuse in the circuit.

Also, she emphasizes the fact that porcelain enamel tubs need to have the chill off before using. If hot water is poured into a very cold tub, the enamel may crack.

To protect washing machine, buy or make a plastic or rubberized hood to cover machine when it is not in use. The cover should be used even if the machine is kept in the house as it prevents scarring.

GRAZING FOR HOGS

Green feed for pigs to eat in the field makes grain feed go further, pigs fatten faster, and makes pigs healthier and freer from parasites.

Neeley is a Senior and is preparing for a Bachelor of Science Degree in Education with a Major in Social Studies. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Neeley, Clanton, Ala.

CORN SELLING FOR OVER $3.00 A BUSHEL

However, many hog growers have proven that six to seven bushels of corn and about 50 pounds of a protein supplement will produce 100 pounds of live hog. With hog and feed prices like they are, this means that good pigs can make every bushel of corn consumed worth $3 to $3.50.

"Legume grazing will cut the amount of tankage and cottonseed meal mixture needed at least one-half," declares G. B. hillips, A.P.I. extension hog specialist, Auburn. "Moreover, cottonseed may be swapped for cottonseed meal to cut the cost and increase profits."

Use the ice-cube mold out of your ice tray to cut biscuits. This way you will have nice neat squares to serve, and there'll be little wasted dough.

Dairying Marches On

DAIRYING moves to Alabama's agricultural front as surely and steadily as cows trod to the barn at milking time.

This fact stood out in every section of the state when some of the country's best dairy animals came from local farms to pass on parade this fall. Junior showmen and adult breeders exhibited cows in six district shows and a state event. More than 6,000 spectators saw exhibited approximately 1,250 animals, a large majority of which were registered Jerseys and Guernseys.

J. R. Parrish, A.P.I. extension dairyman, is well pleased with this year's circuit of shows and looks forward confidently to a more prosperous system of dairying in the state.

"Interest in these shows," says Parrish, "indicates very definitely that Mr. and Mrs. Average Alabamian is eager to assist in the advancement of this all-important enterprise."

"What they have seen this fall," he continues, "gives them the inspiring knowledge that dairying is definitely on the up-grade. The type cow found in Alabama herds today shows more improvement than has been noted at any other time in the history of Alabama."

Better Showmanship

It is pointed out by H. E. Logue, state 4-H Club leader, and others that improvement is being shown not only in dairy cattle, but in the showmen and breeders as well. Logue, as assistant county agent, attended with a group of 4-H members the first district show held at Demopolis five years ago, and has been in position to observe the progress since that time.

"The improvement in the way boys and girls show their cattle, the way they fit them for show and the way they can judge and select a dairy cow is hard to believe," he says, "unless you saw them then and see them again today."

In efforts to improve the training given these boys and girls the A.P.I. extension service and department of vocational agriculture added judging and showmanship contests as special features in the shows this year. Demonstrations were given at Demopolis and Montgomery to demonstrate for junior showmen the fine points of showing an animal in the ring.

Trip To Columbus

Time was taken at each of the shows for judges to give detailed reasons for the placings in each class. Parrish points out that no better way could be found for teaching participants and spectators what to look for in choosing a dairy animal.

In rounding out the series of dairying events for 1948, agricultural leaders selected some 20 boys and girls to attend the All-American Junior Jersey Exposition in Columbus, Ohio. There, again, youngsters proved that Alabama is becoming well-known in dairying.

Working enthusiastically in their 4-H clubs, hundreds of Alabama youngsters, like Ann Thompson above, are learning to deal with problems found in modern dairying. They are receiving supervised training in the fine points of selecting, fitting and handling of dairy animals.

How Much Does It Help?

DO you know how much your grazing program really helps in carrying your livestock through the winter? Do you know how much feed winter grazing saves you?

J. C. Lowery, A.P.I. extension agronomist, asks farmers these questions and suggests that they take steps to learn the answers. They can do this, he believes, by checking such things as the number of animals grazing, how long they graze, how many acres they use and what effect the grazing has on milk, meat and egg production.

"Most farmers will be surprised," says Lowery, "when they make these checks and find the true value of their winter grazing."

Too Much Corn?

DON'T let Alabama's record corn crop fool you into looking for a market before you are sure that you have a surplus of grain on hand.

It is true that with a record supply of grain and a limited number of livestock in the state, we may expect difficulties this fall and winter in marketing surplus corn. However, Ralph R. Jones, A.P.I. extension seed crops marketing specialist, points out that careful and complete study may reveal thousands of unfilled markets on Alabama farms. He explains that this has been true during the past several years.

Jones predicts that local corn prices may drop as low as one dollar per bushel, but reminds farmers that corn fed to livestock at present market prices will bring $2 to $3.50 per bushel.

PLANNING FOR A BETTER ALABAMA: Industrialists, educators and agriculturists gathered at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute recently to formulate program plans for Alabama's industry and agriculture. Approximately 200 prominent Alabamians met here at the invitation of the Associated Industries of Alabama and heard an address by Harold V. Miller, executive director of the Good Government Group, Knoxville, Tennessee.

Fence Posts Need Seasoning

AFTER fence posts are cut and peeled they need long seasoning periods before treating. It is a good practice to place them in open piles or stacks so air will circulate freely around each one.

J. T. Gaillard, A.P.I. extension specialist in marketing facilities, advises that the bottom of the pile or stack be raised at least one foot above the ground to provide better ventilation.

It takes green posts and timbers 60 to 90 days to dry and season thoroughly after being cut, Gaillard says. He warns that they should not receive treatment before this seasoning period ends.

"It is best for the posts to be left in the open during the seasoning period because there they will dry much better than if left in the woods," he declares.

* * *

Eighty-five per cent of all farm fires are preventable; the best time to stop them is before they start.

* * *

With unusually high corn yields on most farms and a scarcity of hogs, farmers will find it profitable to continue hogging off corn in the field. Selling corn wrapped up in a pig skin rather than in a bag is a sure way to get highest returns from the corn.

* * *

Wise poultrymen will construct dropping pits in order to conserve poultry manure. It is best to construct the pits before pullets are placed in the house.

* * *

Better Water Control

By J. B. WILSON
Extension Agricultural Engineer

DURING 1947 and '48, Alabama farmers have definitely increased their efforts toward the control of water on their farms.

Water control involves terracing to slow up runoff water on the field and pasture and drainage to remove excess water from low lands. About 44,478,000 linear feet of terraces were constructed to PMA specifications, and 941,287,000 cubic yards of dirt were moved in the construction of drainage ditches during 1947. This is an increase over what has been done during the war years and years since the war. In fact, Alabama farmers constructed 12,888,000 feet more terraces in 1947 than in 1946. They also moved 307,209,000 more yards of dirt in the construction of drainage ditches during the same period of time.

It is anticipated that during the next few months, or before next spring, more terracing and drainage work will be done than in any year since the war.

Terrace construction is now being done with farm tractors, track type tractors, and graders and motor-graders. Drainage is being done with blade graders, draglines, and explosives.

There is yet a big job to be done in the state. Water run-off is taking too much soil out of fields and depositing it on the flat lands below. It, therefore, is destroying the productivity of the hill land and the bottom land. The hill land by loss of soil, water and fertility; the bottom land by water logging.

Water control then consists of both terracing and drainage. Farmers, when planning water control on their farms, should take both the hill land and flat land into consideration, and do the job so that the soil can be kept on the rolling land and the flat land drained to keep it in production. It saves soil, time, and money to plan the complete water disposal system, including terraces and drainage ditches.

Thousands Of Gardens

TWENTY thousand garden projects were completed by Alabama 4-H'ers last year according to records compiled in the state office at Auburn.

Hanchey E. Logue, A.P.I. extension 4-H Club leader, says most of these gardens were for home use, but that 1,000 projects were used in producing food for market.

Fruits and vegetables from 4-H gardens were sold through local curb markets, stores, and road-side stands. Some products were sold through co-ops for sale in distant cities.

"One of the important discoveries made by 4-H'ers who grew gardens for home use this year," says Logue, "was the extent to which they cut the family grocery bill. Four-H gardeners reported that in most cases the bills were cut 30 per cent or more."

Prune - Spray Orchards Early

FRUIT trees that need pruning may be pruned as soon as the leaves shed in the fall, or anytime from then until sap rises in the spring.

However, J. C. Ford, A.P.I. extension specialist in gardens and orchards, reminds farmers it is best not to delay and get caught in the rush of early spring work. He suggests that they see the Home Orchard Bulletin, Extension Circular 138, and follow its suggestions on pruning.

Peaches, plums, apples and pears should also be sprayed for scale between the time the leaves fall and growth starts in the spring, Ford points out.

"An oil emulsion spray, 66⅔ per cent oil, is highly satisfactory for apples and pears," he adds, "but if peach trees had leaf-curl this year, it is better to spray them with lime-sulfur solution." Local merchants can supply farmers with the right material and the manufacturers' direction for its use.

Bill Wintermeyer, extension dairyman from Washington, D. C., is shown above spading the ground to climax the ground-breaking ceremony held recently for the district livestock coliseum at Dadeville.

Wintermeyer stated that the building of this livestock show barn is a result of a long series of advancements in livestock farming in this section of Alabama.

The coliseum will include a 50 x 85 foot show ring surrounded by seating facilities for 1,500 people. It will have rest rooms and lounges for both colored and white, one large exhibit room and office space necessary for its attendants. It will be 100 feet wide and 150 feet long and will be located in the arena between the night barns already constructed on a hill overlooking the town of Dadeville.

Land Use Maps Available

YOU possibly know that more than 50 per cent of Alabama is in timber. But do you know where the timber is located? Do you know those areas that should be used mainly for the production of row crops and those areas that should be used for grazing crops or pasture? Are you sure you know the location and extensiveness of the Black Belt and other soil regions in Alabama?

These questions and remarks were received from L. G. Brackeen, Chief Soil Survey, Alabama Department of Agriculture, when asked about a recently published map of the state.

Through the cooperation of the State Planning Board, W. O. Dobbins, Director, and the Alabama Department of Agriculture, Haygood Patterson, Commissioner, a map showing the above and giving additional information was made possible.

The map shows, in colors: 1. row crop land, 2. row crop or pasture land, 3. pasture land, 4. timber land, and 5. urban areas. The map is 22 x 17 inches in size.

Copies of it may be obtained from the Alabama State Planning Board, 102 Church Street, Montgomery, Alabama, or from L. G. Brackeen, Alabama Department of Agriculture, Auburn, Alabama, without cost.

With the development of dairying as an industry in Alabama comes the need for more detailed training among our youth in preparing them for meeting problems and competing with other sections.

In meeting these needs John Parrish, A.P.I. extension dairyman, and others concerned with dairying development in the state arranged for showmanship and judging contests to be held at all district and state dairy shows this fall.

Pictured above are three of the district winners who participated in showmanship contests this year. They are Howard Teel, top, Elmore County 4-H member who won the showmanship contest at Dadeville; Glenn Hood, Marshall County, who won the 4-H contest at Decatur; and Joe Minter, Tallapoosa County, winner of the FFA contest in Montgomery.

New Parity Formula To Be More Flexible

IN the last issue of this publication A. W. Jones, A.P.I. extension marketing specialist, explained in detail the meaning of parity and its operation for upholding farm products prices. In more recent reports Jones explains that the new parity formula, which will become effective January 1, 1950, will be a more flexible one and will serve better to keep certain farm prices in line.

The new formula, Jones declares, should lift the parity of livestock and livestock products which have, under the old formula, had a fixed relationship to other commodities. The relationship between commodities, becoming flexible with the new formula, will make this increase in supports possible.

Under the old formula parity is based on prices received for individual commodities in the base period, and on the current index of prices farmers paid.

According to the new set-up they will be based on the general level of prices received by farmers in the base period (1910-1914); on the current index of prices farmers paid (taking prices paid by farmers in the base period as equal to 100); and on the relationships which have prevailed among prices of farm commodities during the most recent 10 years.

Ossa-Win-Tha--A Dream

OSSA-WIN-THA Camp near Guntersville is a dream come true for S. A. Edwards and his wife.

This beautiful recreational area, set deep in a pine grove, beside a picturesque lake, is the fulfillment of a lifelong ambition to own a spot where people might come for relaxation from everyday cares.

A special feature of entertainment at Ossa-win-tha is the marionette show put on by Mrs. Edwards and daughter, Patricia. They make the marionettes themselves and perform playlets in a small outdoor theater, much to the delight of all the children present.

Mrs. Edwards, who has had 13 years dramatic training, began making the lifelike marionettes in order to provide wholesome recreation for the children while their parents enjoyed the swimming, fishing and boating at Ossa-win-tha.

These make-believe characters are not Mrs. Edwards' only claim to fame. The lodge is becoming well-known for the delicious meals she serves, and it is a favorite gathering place for civic groups from Guntersville and nearby towns.

Along the Way

with P. O. Davis

P. O. DAVIS
DIRECTOR, API EXTENSION SERVICE

IT was for a little food produced the hard way that our pioneering ancestors inaugurated Thanksgiving in the United States in 1623.

From the soil they had wrung enough food that summer to get them by the following winter. They had worked hard and accomplished little. But that little was enough food to supply until they could plant and cultivate and harvest the next year. To them enough bread meant enough to "keep the wolf away."

Slowly They Learned

Time passed and these pioneers learned slowly. Their children and their grandchildren, too, learned slowly; but they learned. The first few generations, however, were able to produce enough for themselves, provided they didn't expect too much of enough.

Even when George Washington was president it took 19 farm families to produce enough for 20 families to eat and wear in those days.

But things are different now. Each farm worker in the United States produces enough farm products for himself and more than 13 others. A quarter of a century ago (1920) a farm worker supplied himself and nine others; and a century ago one supplied himself and three others.

Most Progress In Past 50 Years

Greatest progress has come the last half century. And progress is now at a greater rate than at any time in all history, with indications that farmer accomplishments will be speeded up from year to year as scientific information is applied with adequate power and equipment for a man to do more per hour, per day, per year.

Instead, therefore, of giving thanks this year for just enough to eat, we are giving thanks for an abundance of food, fats, and fibers from American farms.

With fewer people on farms we have made more in 1948 than in any other year in history. Aggregate production is up six per cent over the previous high.

The corn crop, for example, is the biggest ever made; wheat second; cotton, on less than half as many acres as grew cotton the peak year, is the seventh biggest crop ever made.

So the story goes. It's a story of progress by farmers everywhere. The essence of it is sound knowledge applied efficiently by skilled hands operating machines adequately powered.

This is why we can feed more people year after year. U. S. population is now 10 per cent above a decade ago. The same is true of world population.

But the story with food is different. Outside of the United States and Canada, food production is seven per cent below that of 10 years ago, while in these two countries it is 40 per cent more.

Fewer People Now Feed The World

Instead of giving thanks for a little food, we're giving thanks this year for much food, plus all other things with which we are so abundantly blessed.

In these United States we have six per cent of the people of the world but we're producing 12 per cent of the world's food supply; and half of the world's industrial products.

We are doing this food job with one-fifth of our people on farms against three-fifths in the rest of the world.

We're giving thanks, also, for Divine blessings and the American way of life because these have contributed greatly to our success as they did to the success of our forefathers.

This American way of life is based upon democracy and democracy is based upon Christianity.

Since our way of life is so superior to any other anywhere it is in order that we give thanks always for it; and keep working diligently to preserve and improve it.

Hybrid Pine Seedlings Outgrow Others

HYBRID pines which may mature 30 to 40 years sooner than regular sawtimber pines have been grown by the Institute of Forest Genetics in Placerville, California.

According to recent releases from the United States Department of Agriculture, the most successful work has been done by crossing Western white pine with Eastern white pine. Seedlings from this cross were twice as tall and three times as heavy as either one of the parent plants when 4½ years old.

The Institute of Forest Genetics was started in 1924 by James G. Eddy, a Seattle lumberman, and was turned over to the Forest Service in 1935. Details of these experiments with hybrids are found in USDA Miscellaneous Publication No. 659. Copies of this publication are available from the Forest Service on request.

Clothes Make The Child

By LEVICE B. ELLIS
A.P.I. Extension Clothing Specialist

WHEN the baby outgrows the simple three-cornered folding garment worn in infancy he soon becomes conscious of what he wears in the way of clothing. Many mothers fail to realize that the clothing of their child is equally as important as that worn by older people.

For people of all ages clothes serve to release abilities or to hamper them, to increase attractiveness or to detract from it. For a child, whose character and disposition are being moulded, these things are particularly important.

The child's clothes can comfort him or irritate him and thereby definitely affect his disposition. Too, it is possible for clothing to interfere with activity which is a vital part of every child's life. Personality and social relationships are sometimes affected by what others think about the clothes children wear and by the reactions shown in the child's presence.

Important For All Ages

Children's clothing covers a wide age range; from infancy to adolescence, no group should be overlooked. The pre-school age, the kindergarten group, the grade school student, the junior high school boy and girl—all of these are important when mothers are planning their wardrobes.

Mothers who like to sew have a real opportunity to put this interest into practice during the fall days. With the demand for so many garments and the high cost of children's clothes, they will find in sewing a method of saving two-thirds of the cost of each child's garment. Another good reason for sewing at home these days is that we can make allowances for growth which is seldom found in the average priced ready-made garment.

Simple Clothes Are Best

Simple clothes are always the wisest choice for children of early ages—good standard patterns with as few pieces as possible. Garments that allow for movement and growth will certainly need sufficient fullness across the shoulders and chest, looseness through the waist line, ample length in the crotch, enough room to allow easy bending and stooping, loose neck lines, especially in front, and the right size arm holes and sleeves.

Before cutting it is advisable to plan for ways of lengthening the garment when the child outgrows it. This practice saves time and money.

It's not enough that Mrs. Goat must feed the calf his dinner—the little beggar wants her to climb onto a bench to give still better service. However, they seem to be on friendly terms; if they don't complain, why should we? They are owned by L. G. Brackeen of Auburn, Alabama.

The wonders of modern farming methods are continuously being displayed on the Cunningham Brothers Dairy farm in east Lauderdale County.

In the lower picture Barnett and the Cunningham brothers appraise the fruits of planning and hard work. Today the hillside is well terraced, thoroughly prepared, well fertilized and planted to grasses and clovers. It bids fair to becoming one of the richest fields of winter grazing in the state.

Mechanized Farming Does Not Wreck Human Lives

USE of machines for producing and harvesting is essential if cotton growers are to have an adequate income.

High income per hour of work is the No. 1 goal of cotton producers, just as it is of those engaged in other work. High income per hour of work can come only from high production per hour; this cannot be done with human hands alone.

These statements were made by P. O. Davis, director, A.P.I. extension service, when he addressed the Cotton Mechanization Conference at a recent meeting in Lubbock, Texas. He continued by saying that high production per hour applied to a big number of working hours per year will produce a high annual income, which is what we must have for a prosperous South.

"The heart of the South's economic problem," said Davis, "is low income per hour of work plus the fact that cotton work is seasonal. Cotton still consumes more hours of human labor than any other crop or farm product, except milk. Yet cotton work lasts only about six months in the year."

Mr. Davis concluded that mechanization does not wreck human beings. Instead, it enables them to lift themselves from drudgery and poverty into abundant living with greater safety and more security.

Top-Dress Now!

J. C. Lowery, A.P.I. extension agronomist, cautions farmers not to wait too long about top-dressing crops to be used for grazing livestock this winter.

"If winter grazing crops such as crimson clover and rye grass or oats and vetch have not already been top-dressed, with nitrogen," Lowery says, "it is important to take care of this job early in November."

He explains that this is necessary in order for plants to get good growth and strong root systems started before severe cold sets in.

A Poultry Flock Pays

BOTH beginning and old experienced poultrymen would open their eyes upon visiting the Odell Waters poultry farm at Clopton, Alabama, in Dale County.

Citizens of the county were given this opportunity this summer on one of their farm tours—they were invited to visit the Waters poultry project. There they saw four ages of New Hampshire Red chickens on the yard, including nine one-year-old hens, 60 young pullets started in January, 50 fryers, and approximately 100 baby chicks. Mrs. Waters told them she would have more than 100 layers before Thanksgiving. She now says she is sure of reaching that goal.

A Yard Well Planned

Mr. Waters built a new brooder house before the project was begun last January, and in the spring added a laying house. He painted all the poultry buildings dark green. The poultry yard is well located with an arrangement of gates and fences that makes it possible to alternate the garden and poultry yard every other year.

Since she has kept accurate records, Mrs. Waters knows what the chickens are costing. She says they cost 60 cents per bird up to frying size which is reached at about eight weeks of age. In order to cut down on cost, Mr. and Mrs. Waters keep patches of green feed growing for the chickens at all times.

Freezer Storage Used

Using a home freezer, this family is getting maximum benefit from the poultry flock by killing, freezing, and storing cockerels when they reach frying size. The deep freeze enables Mrs. Waters to freeze eggs while they are at a low summer price and use them in the home while fresh egg prices are high.

"I have learned the importance of buying good chickens and keeping the yards and house in sanitary condition," says Mrs. Waters. "These practices are making my poultry project pay dividends."

Trapping Adds To Farm Income

TRAPPING on the farm can yield extra cash, according to Earl F. Kennamer, A.P.I. extension fish and wildlife specialist.

He points out that practically every marsh, stream, or timbered area is a fur production unit for the farmer. In Lee County last season a farmer sold his three-months', part-time catch for over $1,000.

Trapping is a hard game, but profits are high. Come cold, rain, or freezing wind, trappers have to be out on the trapline at daybreak. Miles of territory have to be covered and new trails broken. The catch must be skinned, traps re-set, new sets located and pelts fleshed and stretched—all in one day.

"Yet," says Kennamer, "trapping is worth far more than the money and effort you put into it. Think of the sport, exercise, and outdoor life to be had—these in addition to a supplemented income."

Storage Space Makes The Kitchen

TO make work in the kitchen easier, Stella Mitchell, A.P.I. extension home management specialist, says there should be a work counter and storage cabinet for every work center.

Equipment, supplies, and food used at a particular work center should be stored there. Stack large dishes, supplies, and equipment one row deep. Use two rows for small items. Place heavy stacks of plates and dishes within elbow reach. Do not stack different sized dishes together.

"If work centers are far apart," says Miss Mitchell, "use a service table on wheels to carry things between them."

More Profit Per Hen In Farm Flocks

By D. F. KING, Poultry Husbandman
A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station

NEARLY every farmer keeps chickens. However, few farm flocks could be considered efficiently operated. How can these flocks be managed more efficiently?

More Layers Per Man

Chickens for the most part have been a sideline business for most farmers. You cannot be a part time operator and be most efficient. You need a big flock to justify the equipment necessary for efficient operations. Years ago big profits per hen or per dozen eggs were common. Competition has now made it necessary that farmers make less per hen, while research has shown how they can keep more chickens per worker. Today it is not uncommon to find one man who, with proper equipment, cares for 5,000 hens.

More Efficient Operation

Reorganization of poultry houses into larger units makes for more efficient use of labor. Instead of pens being 20 feet by 20 feet in size, they should be 20 feet by 60 feet or 30 feet by 30 feet to accomodate 300 birds per unit. Keeping layers in confinement does away with the necessity of yards; this allows poultry houses to be placed closer together, minimizing labor. The use of automatic water fountains, deep litter to avoid house cleaning, feed tracks, tunnel or community type nests, and egg cleaning machines all go to reducing labor and increasing efficiency.

Brood Chicks More Often

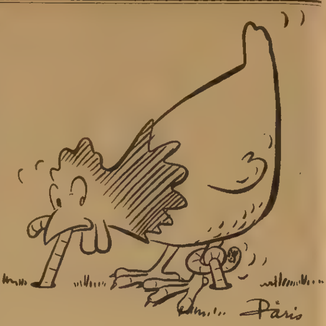
The common system of replacing the flock by obtaining baby chicks each spring usually means that the laying houses are either only partly full during the late spring and summer or the flock is not culled very closely. All modern poultry plants brood chicks for future layers at least 4 times each year and some start chicks every month. This makes more uniform use of labor and better use of brooding equipment, keeps laying houses to full capacity at all times, and allows strict culling, which results in a higher egg production per hen and a lower mortality.

Higher Production Per Hen

There are three things that will add greatly to the average number of eggs laid by the flock. Obtaining better bred stock is the first requirement. There are now many strains that have been bred to lay at especially high rates. More systematic culling would also be of great help. On efficient farms this is done every week. Greater use of artificial lights too will add considerably to the production of the flock.

Greater Use Of Fresh Green Feed

Research has now shown that liberal use of fresh green feed cut daily and fed to the flock will increase production, reduce mortality, and reduce the feed cost per dozen eggs. With large flocks proper equipment enables this practice to be less time consuming. Irrigated areas will insure high quality green feed even during dry periods.



Better Marketing

There are two market opportunities that should be taken advantage of in this state. Many hatching eggs for the production of broiler chicks are being imported into Alabama every month of the year. With little effort those keeping large flocks of layers could produce hatching eggs for local hatcherymen at a uniform guaranteed price throughout the year. The other is greater use of home dressing plants for cull hens and cockerels. Inexpensive equipment is now available which will allow poultrymen to sell their poultry table-dressed. In this way greater income is obtained from nonproducing hens.

Disease And Parasite Control

Several new drugs are now on the market that aid greatly in the control of many common poultry diseases. These drugs, together with vaccination, are very helpful in reducing poultry losses. Another big item in controlling diseases and parasites is the practice of raising future pullets entirely in confinement. In fact, many good layers are now being brooded and grown to maturity without ever touching the ground.

Any poultryman who wishes to put these new but fundamental principles into practice can surely increase his profits per hen to the extent of two or three dollars per bird per year.

Hunting Commandments

EARL F. KENNAMER, A.P.I. extension wildlife specialist, points out that there would be no accident if every hunter followed the ten commandments of hunting safety prepared by the Sporting Arms and Ammunition Manufacturers' Institute:

1. Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun. This is the cardinal rule of gun safety.
2. Carry only empty guns, taken down or with the action open, into your automobile, camp, and home.
3. Always be sure that the barrel and action are clear of obstructions.
4. Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle, even if you stumble.
5. Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger.
6. Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot.
7. Never leave your gun unattended unless you unload it first.
8. Never climb a tree or a fence with a loaded gun.
9. Never shoot at a flat, hard surface or the surface of water.
10. Do not mix gunpowder and alcohol.

Good Head Lettuce Can Be Grown In Alabama

By C. L. ISBELL, Horticulturist
A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station

"WILL you please tell me how to grow head lettuce?" This is the question most often received at the Alabama Agricultural Experiment Station about lettuce.

Results obtained at the Agricultural Experiment Station, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, show that there are four very important requirements for producing a home supply of good head lettuce in Alabama.

Select Heading Varieties

Many varieties of lettuce cannot produce heads because they are leafy types. Among the crisp heading varieties that do well under Alabama conditions are Imperial No. 847, New York No. 12, Imperial No. 44 and Great Lakes. Big Boston is the best of the oily or butter heading types, and Paris White Cos is one of the best of the upright looseheading crisp sweet French varieties. Actually nonheading or looseleaf types have somewhat more food value than heading varieties. Grand Rapids and Black Seeded Simpson are good leafy varieties.

Time Planting Dates

For any variety of lettuce to head well it must reach heading age when the nights are cool. Seed planted in a cold frame about December 1 or in a hot bed January 1 to 15 in central Alabama should grow plants large enough to transplant about February 15, after the hardest freezes are over. Plants transplanted February 15 should reach heading age during the cool nights in April and early May. There is a tendency for headed lettuce to remain in good condition later in the spring on heavy soil than on sandy soil. In southern Alabama plantings should be made about two weeks earlier and for northern Alabama about two weeks later than those for central Alabama.

Fertilize Highly

For lettuce to yield best and be of best quality it should make steady rapid growth. Usually it is necessary to apply a liberal amount of complete commercial fertilizer such as 6-8-4 to the soil at the rate of ½ to 1 gallon per 100 feet of row about 10 days before planting or transplanting. This should be supplemented with one or two side dressings of the same kind of material when necessary to keep plants growing well. Side dressings of nitrogen are also usually beneficial. Quite heavy applications of well rotted manure applied at any time before the seed is planted until the plants have made considerable growth usually encourage larger yields of better lettuce.

Thin Plants Properly

Unless plants are thinned to stand at least 12 to 18 inches apart each way, a month or six weeks before reaching heading age, heads of good quality and size will not be formed. Nearly all gardeners make the mistake of leaving lettuce much too thick. It may be permissible to plant it thick with the idea of thinning and using the small plants; but, this is a good practice only when one remembers to thin often enough to prevent even the outer leaves of one plant from crowding those of another.

Good posture helps to prevent fatigue. Working at a table that is too low requires four and a half times more energy than standing erect.

Old Home Made New Inside

By MRS. MAX WEEMS
Clopton, Alabama

THIS year has meant the accomplishment of a dream on our farm. We have had a new home planned for a long time—now we live in it.

Ever since we lost our home by fire some years ago and returned to my husband's home place to live, we have hoped some day to build a new home. However, after very careful figuring, we decided this year that, with high cost and scarcity of materials, it would be wiser to remodel the house in which we live. It was a one-and-one-half story house with a hall down the center on the first floor and with a bath which had been added at the very back off the kitchen and porch.

We spent many hours in planning, with all members of the family joining in the fun and making special requests for a big closet, a basement, a workshop, lots of windows or whatever they had been wanting most. When our plans on paper were finally complete the actual work of remodeling was begun.

We rearranged the rooms, making a small entrance hall with guest bedroom to the left and a living room to the right. My favorite room is what I call our all-purpose room directly beyond the entrance hall. The stairs go up from here to the two upstairs bedrooms. The two downstairs bedrooms, bath, and kitchen all open into this room. It will serve as dining room and everyday living room. It has some nice closet space and a door leading directly into the yard.

We put new walls in all the rooms on the first floor, sheetrocked the living room and guest bedroom, and paneled other rooms. We have new baseboards and window frames upstairs. We sheetrocked walls of the upstairs hall and painted over wall paper in the bedrooms.

With all the improvements, however, our greatest is the addition of a wonderful basement under the back part of the house. It measures 10 feet by 20 feet and will serve as a storage cellar for canned goods as well as a basement for Mr. Weems.

Our remodeling is still incomplete and for the present we are not changing the outside appearance of the house, but we are delighted with the changes we have made. Our home is much more livable, attractive, and convenient.

Warm And Cool Colors

INDIRECT light entering a room sometimes tends to create a cold effect. When this is true color can be used to advantage in decorating. A warm color on the walls makes the room inviting and cozy in appearance.

Alice Peavy, A.P.I. extension home management specialist, makes these statements in explaining the use of colors in interior finishing.

"On the other hand, if light causes a very warm effect, cool colors will tend to temper it," she adds.

Those who prefer a cool color, such as blue, in a room that has a cold light, may produce a warm effect by using ivory on the walls and sheer, dull yellow curtains on the windows. "Then, adds Miss Peavy, "a rug with tan background and a good bit of blue in the figure will satisfy the desire for blue."

"Colors in the home are important in more ways than one," she concludes, "and should be selected to fit the individual needs of the house."

H.C.L. And Farm Prices

CONSUMERS continue to demand increased quantities of the more expensive foods.

"This is one of the chief reasons for the high cost of living," says B. L. Collins, state executive officer of the production and marketing administration.

He explains that the average consumption of cheaper foods, such as potatoes, sugar, and wheat, is five to seven per cent under the prewar average, while consumption of meat, poultry products, and dairy products is 15 to 27 per cent above the prewar level.

Franklin County Show Features Farm Of '49

ONE of the leading attractions at the farm and home equipment show held near Russellville, Alabama, recently was a model farm which demonstrated the use of modern labor-saving machines in everyday living and farming.

This farm, along with dozens of other exhibits, was on display for two days at the Hester Livestock Yards and was seen by hundreds of Franklin County farmers and their wives. The two-day show was designed and sponsored by the county extension workers for the purpose of bringing farm people up-to-date on labor-saving equipment now available for their use.

County Agent M. L. Ferguson pointed out that local power companies and equipment dealers contributed greatly to the success of the show with their enthusiastic cooperation and support.

Special demonstrations in the use of farm and home equipment were staged at intervals throughout the two-day event. Land preparation, tractor post hole digging and lime spreading were some of the farm demonstrations given. Home demonstrations on the use of laundering and food preparation machines were held for the ladies.

Franklin County extension agents were well pleased with the interest shown in the county-wide show and believe it will help the hundreds of people who attended to do an easier job of farming and homemaking.

A better standard of living keeps young people on the farm; a good system of farming keeps soil there for them to live on.

Alabama Farm Women Enjoy Two National Meetings

Ladies Attend National Meeting

HOME demonstration members from 16 rural Alabama communities spent a week in Tulsa, Oklahoma, recently attending meetings of the National Home Demonstration Council and the United States section of the Associated Country Women of the World.

The theme of the National Council meeting was "The Rural Woman—A World Citizen." The ladies heard talks by various national leaders, gave reports on the home demonstration work in Alabama, and assisted with making plans for a coordinated national program. At the closing session of the meeting new council officers were installed for the year 1949.

The meeting of the Associated Country Women of the World presented talks by visiting ladies, one of whom was from Holland. The women were given reports on what the organization is accomplishing in other countries, and made plans for improving their work in the United States.

The Alabama delegation was composed of Mrs. P. E. Youngblood, Minter; Mrs. John Miller, Camden; Mrs. Hunter Compton, Demopolis; Mrs. William McDonald, Livingston; Mrs. Howard Fite, Weaver; Mrs. J. H. Price, Star Route, Tuscaloosa; Mrs. Jack Montgomery, West Greene; Mrs. Aubry Smith, Clanton; Mrs. Tom Sharman, Blanton; Mrs. T. F. Holloway, Falco; Mrs. Robert Wise, Kinston; Mrs. Grady Davis, Route 1, Tuskegee; Mrs. John Seibold, Guntersville; Mrs. Tom Russell, Valhermoso Springs; Mrs. George A. Hollman, Remlap; and Mrs. B. L. Rich, Rt. 1, Harvest.

Extension workers accompanying the women to the Tulsa meeting included Miss Margaret Oliver, Mrs. Oenone Cook, Miss Louise Gause, Miss Elizabeth Wheeler, and Miss Alma Holladay.

New Call For Scrap Metal

ALABAMA farmers never fail to rally when called on to help in increasing the country's production. Now they hear the call again—this time for scrap metal. The State U. S. Department of Agriculture committee is appealing to them to turn in all available iron scrap.

American steel production is at an all-time high but it still fails to meet the requirements of farms, homes and industry. The committee has pointed out that scrap collected on farms is particularly desirable since it is of the cast iron grade. Scrap cast iron is more scarce and sells for a higher price than ordinary steel scrap.

Farmers furnish about two million tons of scrap iron each year. Each ton, when combined with other materials produces between three and four tons of new steel; this is equivalent in weight to the average size farm truck.

Agricultural leaders say that farmers made an enviable record in scrap drives during the war; they believe that the Alabama farmer will respond wholeheartedly to this new nation-wide appeal.

Breed Better Hogs. For thrifty, fast-growing and easy-feeding market hogs, cross two standard purebreds. The next best thing to do is cross a purebred boar on good native sows.

Patrolmen Ask Cooperation In School Bus Law

Luther Kendrick has asked that we notify Chilton County motorists that the school bus law in regards to "stops" will be enforced by the patrolmen and for all motorists to take heed to this warning.

Several complaints and tag numbers have been turned in to his department because the motorist did not stop when the school bus was unloading, this is a State law and must be enforced. Whether the driver is following the school bus or driving toward it, the car must come to a complete stop so long as the "stop" signal is out on the bus.

AAUW Fellowship Program Receives $40,000 Bequest

A new fellowship has been added to those offered by the American Association of University Women through a bequest of $40,000 from the late Miss Mary Anderson of Madison, Wis., a former president of the Madison AAUW Branch and of the Wisconsin State Division.

This is the largest single gift yet made to AAUW fellowships. It brings tht Association's Million Dollar Fellowship Fund to within one-tenth of its completion with contributions reaching a total of $953,250.

For 58 years the AAUW has carried on a fellowship program to help women scholars conduct projects in advanced research. The program started in 1890 with a single fellowship carrying a stipend of $500. For the coming academic year of 1949-50, the Association offers 27 fellowships with stipends totalling $42,000. Endowment funds for most of these fellowships have been raised by AAUW branches. Last year the membership raised $103,-35 for8 AAUW fellowships and international grants.

Since V-E Day, the Association of University Women has extended its fellowship program to provide grants which enable women from war-devastated countries to study in the United States. This year 55 women from 17 countries have received AAUW grants for study in American colleges and universities.

Thorsby Resident Hit By Auto

Miss Nell Werness was quite badly injured last Friday right after noon, when she was struck by a car pulling a house trailer. The accident occurred at the planing mill when she was coming to town and was hit as she entered up on the highway from a side road. It was storming and the driver of the car claims that she walked right out in front of him as she appeared not to see the car approaching nor hearing him when he blew his horn.

Miss Nell suffered a badly broken leg, a bad head wound and other injuries, the extent of which is not yet known. She was rushed to Clanton Hospital where it was found necessary to rush her to Birmingham, where she is at present at the Jefferson Hospital. No definite news has reached us as to her condition.

Her sister met with a similar accident some two years ago and has been a cripple ever since. This is indeed double trouble for these two sisters, who seem to have had more than their share these past years. Just this past Spring their home was destroyed by fire and they are now living in a trailer. Our best wishes to Miss Nell for a speedy recovery.

PLEASANT GROVE METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday was our regular preaching day. Rev. John Rountree, our pastor, brought an inspiring message and was enjoyed by everyone. We had Sunday School in a group as we did not have any literature, and no money in the treasury at the beginning of Sunday School, but at the close of Sunday School we had a collection large enough to purchase literature for the next quarter. Our newly elected secretary of the Sunday School, Mr. Arthur Henley, will do his best to have the Methodist literature there for the quarter next Sunday. We invite every one to come out and be with us in our Sunday School every Sunday at 10 o'clock and our preaching service every first Sunday and the Saturday night before the third Sunday in every month.

We had several visitors with us Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Verge Culver from Clanton; Mr. Bill Cardon from Auburn; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Coggins and family from Walnut Creek Church; Mr. and Mrs. Reese Baker from Walnut Creek Church. And a large number from Mt. Nebo Church. We invite these visitors back again.

Again we want to remind everybody that there will be Sunday School next Sunday and every Sunday at 10 o'clock. We will have our new literature and teachers for every class. Remember our service and come out each and every time you possible can.—Reporter.

Education Is Big Business

The business of education is a large enterprise in the United States. The truth of this statement is realized when you realize our grammar schools have enrolled 22,797,000 students, our high schools 6,270,000 and our colleges 2,500,000 students.

The total of 32,000,000 Americans, busily engaged in the pursuit of education, not only illustrates the bigness of education but emphasizes the opportunity afforded the citizens of this Republic by State and private institutions.

Highway Deaths Decline

It is encouraging to report that the traffic fatality rate in the country as a whole has dropped to a new low, following the trend established in 1946 and reflecting, no doubt, the intensified publicity campaign that has been conducted to make the people of the nation safety conscious.

Traffic experts and those primarily interested in highway safety follow a program based on four techniques: 1. Educate drivers and pedestrians; 2. Engineer hazards out of vehicles and roads; 3. Enforce the laws, and 4. Energy in applying the three techniques outlined.

It's Just Politics

In the midst of a political campaign like we just finished that attracted the attention of every county citizen, it is just as well to stop long enough to reflect that after all most of us are pretty good people. In the heat of combat and in an effort to win elections, it is human nature for people at times to get overheated and say things that hurt. Let's remember this and let bygones be bygones. Let's pull together.

Too many individuals fail to read their insurance policies until after they suffer a loss.

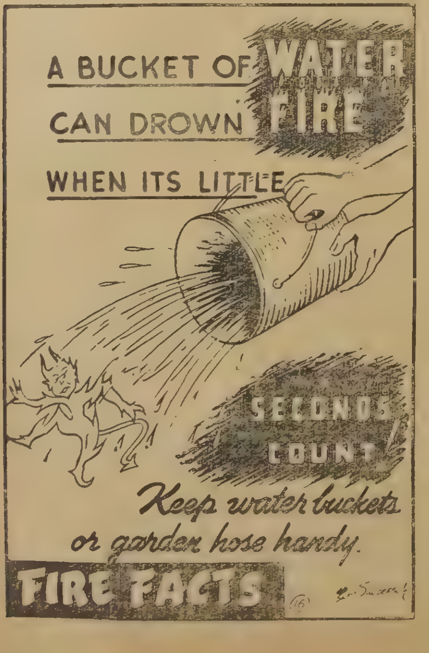
The millions of people in this country deserve more attention than the millions of dollars.

You have heard of the quiet before the storm, well, this is the quiet after the cyclone.

Our president whipped everything but the national guard to stage the biggest upset in the nation's history.

How wrong can a guy be? We told everyone for weeks that it couldn't be anybody but Dewey. Guess we have been reading too many polls.

Had you ever stopped to think that when you spend your dollar in Clanton you have a chance to get some of it back?



Folks and Things About Town

--By BEN

The recent paint and repair work on the Clanton Building Supply Company is a transformation. Replacing the old "country town" front is a new and modern exterior. Adds wonderfully to the appearance of that corner.

Jelly Bean and Reese Mims Barber Shop is in operation now and we can't wait to go down and get a manicure. However, don't know whether it would work or not. Wouldn't be much fun having a girl hold your hand while she dug printer's ink from under your fingernails, would it? And anyway, come to think of it, we don't know who the manicurist is going to be down there.

One of our good friends told us last week that if we would go back and pick up pecans each day we would not be sore. Did you ever hear of a more repulsive thought? By-the-way, now we got pecans for sale—but who in Chilton County hasn't? We understand the price this year is mighty low, that is when you try to sell them. If you are trying to buy them, it seems they become a scarce commodity—and expensive, too!

Our congratulations to the Democratic team that carried the election last Tuesday. John DeRamus, Jim Dunlap, Neal Harrell, Jack Hayes, Victor Heard, Earl Reeves and Buck Roberts. Each did his work well and was given a good majority over his opponent.

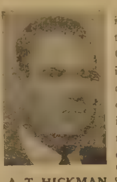
This subject makes us feel a little self conscious, but did you know that we are going to have an Antique Shoppe in Clanton? That's true. It will be located for the time being on Selma Road, 1201 4th Avenue that is. Mrs. Jimmy Warren is the operator. We haven't been out and mingled among the other antiques yet, but we intend to pretty soon. We'll feel so at home.

George Sam Easterling says he is going to do all right with his new Auto Trim Shop. He has opened where the old Tiger Grill used to be and is getting the business. We're glad to welcome the new business here. We need them all, large or small.

Seeking to break himself of the drink habit, Simmons consulted the physician. "The remedy is simple enough," said the medical man. "Every time you feel like taking a drink, just eat something." Simmons followed the doctor's orders and found it worked quite well. One night poor Simmons was due for a terrible shock. Hearing a strange noise in the room next to his own, he peered through the keyhole in the connecting door, and discovered a man attempting to hang himself. The horrified Simmons bolted from his room, leaped down the stairs three at a time and collared the hotel clerk. "S-s-say," he gibbered, "there's a man upstairs hanging himself, I saw him. For heaven's sake, g-g-give me a plate of ham and eggs, quick."

Second Coming Of Christ

"Unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation.". . .(Heb. 9:28). This verse of Scripture tell us of the first coming of Christ, in that he was offered to bear the sins of many. This took place on the Cross of Calvary, but it also reveals the second coming of Christ. Just as sure as the Lord Jesus Christ came and was offered to bear the sins of those that will believe in him, that sure he will return to this earth again.



A. T. HICKMAN

Let us notice the importance of the truth of the Second Coming of Christ in Scripture. It is claimed that out of every thirty verses in the Bible one mentions the Second Coming of Christ. That his Second Coming is mentioned eight times more than his first coming. Out of 216 chapters the Second Coming of Jesus is mentioned 318 times. There are whole chapters, and whole books devoted to this all important subject, and truth. The Old Testament prophets made the Second Coming of Christ their theme more so than the first coming. Jesus Christ bore constant testimony of his coming again. Saying, "If I go away, I will come again. . .And that there would be some standing here that will not taste of death until they see the Son of Man coming in his kingdom."

The angels, who bore such faithful testimony of his first coming, also bear testimony of his second coming. They said, "This same Jesus which is taken up into heaven shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go into heaven." (Acts 1:11). . .The Apostles faithfully proclaimed the Second Coming of Christ. Paul mentions it not less than fifty times. Every writer of the New Testament mentioned the Second Coming of Christ; and the last uttered prayer in the Bible is, "Even so come Lord Jesus."

Friends, the Church of Christ is bidden to look forward to Christ's Second Coming as its greatest hope. "Looking for the blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ." (Titus 2:13). "Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be; but we know that when he shall appear, we shall be like him, for we shall see him as he is." (1 John 3:2.)

The Second Coming of Christ should be proclaimed from every pulpit of this land. This truth will arouse hope in the Christian that will inspire a closer walk with his Savior. . ."Every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure." The day or the hour of his coming knoweth no man, but he that is to come, will come; and will not tarry. . .Be ye also ready for in such an hour as ye think not, the Son of Man cometh.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

November 5, 1948.

Dear Editor:

President Truman's victory was not only a triumph for the man but also for the New Deal.

The people were fed up with two years of Republican control in Congress and the actions the Republicans took and failed to take. The people disliked the aloof, over-confident, evasive attitude of Thomas E. Dewey. They warmed to the friendly but fighting Missourian who faced the issues and told the American voters just where he stood—squarely behind the New Deal!

President Truman's smashing victory over Gov. Dewey, and the Democratic Party's sweep of both the House and Senate prove that liberalism and progress are again on the march in America, and that conservatism and reaction, after a two-year sway, have been plainly repudiated by the voters.

The American people expressed their belief in the social reforms of the New Deal and their desire for the continuation and extension of those reforms by electing Harry S. Truman and giving the Democratic Party control of Congress.

It seems to us that it is now incumbent on every one of Alabama's nine Congressmen and both of our Senators to give President Truman their support in the 81st Congress to pass measures that will be of benefit to the people. We refer to such measures as legislation to halt inflation; an increase in the minimum wage to 75c an hour; a national health insurance program; extension of Social Security to groups not yet covered, with benefits at least 50 percent higher; a housing program that will relieve the terrible housing shortage; and repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act with re-enactment of the Wagner Act to place American labor once again on an equal footing with the corporation powers of our country.

On many of these issues as they came before the 80th Congress, Senators and Representatives from the South voted with the Republicans against the Democratic administration of President Truman.

It is time to stop such an unholy coalition! In the 81st Congress, Congressmen from the South should be Democrats in facts as well as in name. If they cannot bring themselves to this, then we suggest that they become Republicans in name as they have often been in fact. The people gave President Truman a clear mandate and a majority of Democrats in both Houses of Congress on the basis of the President's stand on the New Deal.

The people expect expansion of the New Deal, and no membess of Congress who call themselves Democrats should stand in the way.

Alabama is in the sad and unenvied position of being the only state in the union which denied President Truman a place on the ballot. We do not believe, and said so many times prior to the election, that the people of Alabama were in sympathy with the Dixiecrat leadership that accomplished that denial. It is our feeling that the majority of the people who voted under the rooster on November were doing so not to support the Dixiecrat candidate, J. Strom Thurmond, but because they felt they had a right to expect their vote in the Demorcatic column to be cast for President Truman.

This election has served to discredit even more so the already discredited politicians who were the prime movers in the Dixiecrat movement. It would now seem to us that it is incumbent on any Dixiecrat who holds a position in the Democratic Party, including the State Democratic Party, to resign that position. As Dixiecrats they belong in their own party. They do not belong in the party of Jefferson, Jackson, Wilson, Roosevelt and Truman.

Yours very truly,
CAREY E. HAIGLER, President, Alabama State CIO Council.
EUGENE M. WELLS, Secretary-Treasurer, Alabama State CIO Council.
SAM G. HONEY, President, Alabama State CIO Political Action Committee.

"Only God Can Make A Tree"

...BUT MAN CAN HELP!

Trees are money—or can be. They represent the renewable raw material required by the great paper plants which have located, or will locate, in Alabama.

Pine trees for paper making will grow on poor soils—soils which can't be used for other agricultural crops. So the paper industry in Alabama means cash for the farmer or land owner who has pine trees.

- Nature Can't Keep Up With Demand

The South has the nation's greatest reserve of forests. But nature, by natural re-seeding, can't keep up with man's need for wood—used for lumber, the manufacture of paper and other products. That is, she can't unless man helps. And men are helping. Progressive lumber companies are replanting as many trees as they cut; agricultural agencies, naval stores and paper and pulp industries are encouraging the planting of tree seedlings. Farmers are planting pine seedlings on poor lands, and many, realizing that they are burning money when they are burning the woods, have stopped this practice. Sportsmen are careful not to throw lighted matches, cigars or cigarettes where they are apt to start a fire, and thoughtful motorists no longer toss lighted cigars or cigarettes from their moving cars onto the road side, where a grass fire can easily become a forest fire.

Burning the Woods
is Like Burning Money
Each time the woods are burned, the growth of large trees is slowed, smaller ones and seedlings are killed, and money that might be received for pulpwood in future years has gone up in smoke.
So the wise person will help STOP FOREST FIRES.

Pine trees are a crop — plant them — PROTECT THEM

PIG GAINS CHEAPEST WHEN SUCKLING SOW

The cheapest gains in weight occur during the first eight weeks while pigs are suckling the sow.

G. B. Phillips, A.P.I. extension hog specialist, Auburn, points out that the average brood sow produces more milk per pound of body weight than does the average dairy cow. In addition, the sow's milk is 44 per cent richer than cow's milk.

The amount of milk that a sow gives is influenced largely by her care and feeding. This is why Phillips urges that a balanced ration—and plenty of it—be given the brood sow.

A balanced ration includes corn, green grazing, and a tankage mixture. Keep these feeds before the sow until the pigs are weaned. Also, a mineral mixture and dry salt, fed free choice, are highly important.

EXTRA STORAGE SPACE FOR COTTON AVAILABLE

The Commodity Credit Corporation has arranged to move cotton from congested areas.

This action is necessary so that warehousemen in crowded sections can take care of additional cotton waiting to be placed under loan.

Until crowded conditions are relieved, warehousemen are urged to cooperate with the CCC by keeping them currently informed as to their storage situation. This is necessary in order that storage facilities may be made available at other points.

SWEET POTATO SIZE

The maximum size for U. S. No. 1 sweet potatoes has been reduced this year from 24 to 20 ounces.

IMPROVED SHIPPING

Green field peas shipped from Alabama sold for a good price in Chicago and Cincinnati this year. This is why farmers think that field peas will become a profitable seller in the major markets of the country if pushed and marketed under new and improved methods of handling.

USE THE QUICK WAY TO FIND CORN YIELD

Auburn, Ala. — There is a quick way to determine corn yields.

Farmers may want to ask their county agent for this method of tabulating Alabama's record corn crop.

When crop yields are determined, some growers will discover they are eligible for membership in the 100 Bushel Corn Club sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service of A. P.I. Others, who average 50 bushels of corn per acre on five acres or more, will find they are eligible for a certificate of recognition.

"Why not see the county agent and ask him for the quick way to determine your corn yield," suggests J. C. Lowery, A.P.I. extension agronomist.

FURNITURE NEEDS REGULAR CLEANING

"Proper care of upholstered furniture begins with its selection," says Alice Peavy, A.P.I. extension home management specialist, Auburn.

Fabrics should be suitable to family use, and when small children are in the family group, the homemaker might well select some of the new plastic upholstery which can be wiped clean. Slip covers, preferably washable, help protect upholstered furniture and insure longer wear.

Clean upholstery carefully each week with the proper vacuum attachment. Go over crevices and tuftings and both sides of loose cushions.

Always remove spots as soon as they appear, provided the entire covering is not soiled enough to make the cleaned spots conspicuous. Regular dress cleaning fluid may be used satisfactorily.

At least once a year, before the upholstery becomes too soiled, shampoo your upholstered furniture, using any of the foam shampoos available.

ISABELLA F.H.A.

Future Homemakers of America Week was observed the week of November 1-7 by the Isabella Chapter of the F.H.A. An excellent chapter meeting was held on Tuesday.

Another highlight of the week was a special service at Mulberry Baptist Church on November 7th. The church officers opened the service. A brief talk was given by the president, Jacqueline Smitherman. Group singing was held with Dora Frances Grooms at the piano and Betty Lois Conway leading. The creed was given by the group and a former Future Homemaker led in prayer.

Rev. I. A. Hart from Thorsby Institute delivered the message on the things that make good homes. The altar bouquet was an arrangement of white chrysanthemums and fern contributed by Mary Clay Hayes, a member who was crowned Queen at the homecoming on Friday.

COTTON LOAN

Without the CCC loan program, cotton farmers of the South would have faced bankruptcy with their fifteen million bale crop and a price of 15 or 20 cents a pound.

FOREST FIRES

Remember a fire that spreads to a neighbors land through your fault makes you liable to fines up to $1,000 or confinement in jail up to 12 months, or both.

HOG MANGE AND LICE

Use only one treatment for controlling both mange and lice on pigs and hogs. It's benzine hexachloride, commonly called BHC.

When purchasing a winter coat it is wise to remember that the best linings are usually slippery so the coat will go on and off easily; firm so the lining won't pull at the seams; colorfast; pre-shrunk; and of a material that won't wrinkle or stain.

THIN STRAWBERRY PLANTS NOW

Some growers use hoes to chop out strawberry plants. Others run a small scooter between rows and then use a hoe to thin plants to a six-inch spacing. In very dry seasons it may be wise to do this job by hand.

After cutting fresh flowers from the garden, place stems in water almost up to blossoms. Insert scissors under water and cut off a small portion of the stem. Leave stems under water until they become rigid enough for artistic arranging.

Loose-fitting windows and doors will need weather stripping to make them tight against drafts and heat leakage this fall. Metal weather stripping of either the flat type or the inter-locking type gives the best and longest service.

To make butter or margarine spread smoothly without tearing bread, soften at room temperature or "cream" with a fork. Do not melt because this makes the fat soak into rather than spread on the bread.

Before storing your pressure canner this fall, clean and dry it thoroughly. Crumple newspapers inside body of canner to prevent rust and wrap lid in paper to keep dust out of the gauge. Invert the lid on the canner.

Salt and vinegar or lemon does a good job of cleaning copper. Sprinkle the copper with salt, rub with the vinegar or lemon, rinse well, and dry with a soft cloth.

In home sewing, it's a good idea to finish the bottom of collars with thin, soft bias binding, so that they will not be bulky or scratchy under the neck of dresses.

Gletty, Emily Harding, A. N. Laurell, Misses Eloise West, Sarah Charles Chambers, Prof. C. M. Williams and Rev. and Mrs. Alva Hart.

Mr. William Hicks of Auburn visited with his mother this week end.

Dr. J. D. Vines of Maplesville was a visitor here this past week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Vines.

The new home of Mrs. A. V. Fair has been brought to completion and she moved in last Monday. Mrs. Fair comes here from Bangor, Ala., where she has lived for the past several years. We hope she will be very happy in her new home.

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Collins spent the week end in Birmingham visiting with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wilson.

The Thorsby Independent Basket Ball Team is ready to start their season and want the teams in the community and surrounding territory to know that they desire some invitations to play and want to make engagements with some good teams to come to Thorsby. If any team within a radius of sixty miles, wishes a date with this team, you are asked to contact Thos. L. Bosworth at the Bank of Thorsby.

There will be a "fun fest" at the Thorsby Jr. High School auditorium on Thursday night, November 11th, at 7:30 o'clock. The Thorsby American Legion boys are going to put on a show which promises to be worth your time and a small admission fee. They are going to have comedy skits and a lot of good music. Besides that, they are going to give away a $35.00 electric food mixer. A good many of you perhaps hold chances on this article, so you want to be sure and be present to see if you are the lucky person. A small admission of 50c will be charged, which will also entitle you to a chance on the food mixer. BE THERE—YOU CAN'T AFFORD TO MISS IT!

RECRUITING NEWS

The young high school graduate of today has ability, integrity and the willingness to learn, and those are the qualities needed by the United States Army. For our modern Army is a highly specialized one. One that deals with radar, supersonic missles, electronics and frequency modulation. Nowhere else can a young man fit himself better for the future; nowhere else can he travel and enjoy such close companionship, and nowhere else can he receive such highly specialized training and be paid for it at the same time. Learn the many advantages of an enlistment in the new regular army by visiting your local Army and Air Force Recruiting Station, located on the second floor of the New Wade Building here in Clanton, Ala.

To you high school graduates, the U.S. Army now offers an unparalleled opportunity to select the kind of training you want, before you enlist. Think what that means! From a list of over [illegible] Army technical school courses, you can pick the one in which you are most interested. Then, if accepted, you are assured of attending the school of your choice after enlisting and upon completion of basic training. You'll get the finest modern training possible in the field of your choice. It's your opportunity to get a head start toward success.

You may choose the Army technical school you want before enlisting provided you have a high school education (or its equivalent) and are between 17 and 34 years of age. PRESTON POWELL VISITED PURINA RESEARCH FARM

Preston Powell of Clanton recently visited the Purina Research Farm at Gray Summit, Mo., where he saw many practical operations to increase the nation's meat, milk and eggs.

Powell says it is possible for most farmers to step up their production of these vital and protective foods so essential to the country's welfare simply by following more efficient management and feeding practices. With feeding profits on livestock and poultry operations at an all-time high level, such projects as year round raising and marketing of turkeys and a hog farrowing program under which sows produce an average of 18 pigs yearly on a two-litter-a-year program, attract nation-wide interest.

On this 738-acre farm in the foothills of the Ozarks, Powell saw dairy heifers raised on dry feed ready for breeding at 12 to 15 months. He saw grade Holsteins which for 20 years have increased their milk production at an average rate of 285 pounds per cow per year, which is 17 times as fast as the normal rate of 16 pounds per cow per year.

For more than 20 years, practical research on this farm has developed programs on breeding, feeding, sanitation and management which have steadily increased the production of meat, milk and eggs and at the same time contributed in a substantial way to the farmer's income.

What to do for woman's oldest problem, functional monthly pain? Many a girl and woman has found the answer in CARDUI's 2-way help. EXAMINATIONS FOR SOCIAL WORK POSITIONS

Examinations for social work positions in county welfare offices throughout the State will be held in early December, Miss Margaret Lee, County Director of Public Welfare, said today. Applications for these examinations are now being received, she added. The application form may be obtained from the county department of public welfare or from the Merit System Council, Room 1, Highway Building, Montgomery 4, Ala.

The social work jobs to be filled include those of case worker, child welfare worker, case work supervisor, and county director. College graduates and persons with at least two years in an accredited college and two years of recent experience in social welfare work or a related field are urged to file application for Case Worker II, the beginning position. For the other jobs college graduation is required, as well as varying amounts of social work training and experience.

Salary scales for these positions, effective January 1, 1949, begin at $170 monthly for case worker. Other jobs will pay from $180 monthly upwards to a maximum of $300 for county welfare director in some of the larger counties.

Case workers interview people seeking help from the welfare department, make home visits, and perform a variety of services related to the granting of assistance. Child welfare workers work chiefly with children's problems. The case work supervisors direct the case workers in the larger counties. County directors administer the county welfare programs. The examinations for the positions of county director apply to all but the three largest urban counties.

Miss Lee said she would be glad to furnish detailed information about each type of job to any one interested.

Joe Doug, it looks like someone is trying to beat your time. (I've got a lot of room to talk though.)

The Methodist Church had a banquet Monday night at the church and had a good crowd and a good banquet.

Have you ever seen a boy whistle at a football player? Well, I did, Monday. Of course, I didn't say whether it was a girl or boy, but it was a football player.

Our boys played a good game Saturday night, didn't they, fans? And I do hope they keep up the good works.

Myron Levine, why did you go stag to the dance Saturday night?

Bobby Kinney seems to be a hard hitter down at football practice every evening. (Keep it up Kinney.)

From what I hear those Leeds guys are pretty good, so you other guys had better be in tip top condition.

We always have the pleasure of setting up chairs the second period every Wednesday, don't we, fellows? (That is the second period Phys. Ed. Class.) Boys, that is!

Miss Barton is sure trying hard to get strict on that fourth period study hall. I guess she just can't get the hang of it. (But who are I to tell her?)

- Our Pilgrim Faith -

WE BELIEVE IN JESUS

"We believe in Jesus Christ, His Son, our Lord and Savior, who for us and our salvation lived and died and rose again and liveth evermore."

Our Christian religion centers in Jesus, so we ought to know as much about his life and teachings as possible. The source for our information about Jesus is the gospels. The gospels give us a dependable portrait of Jesus, but are not infallible a to detail. What kind of person do we see in the portraits that the gospels give us of Jesus?

1. First we see a man who is deeply conscious of a sense of mission. He felt that he must give his message to his people. He urged men to count the cost before they decided to follow him. He accepted death rather than compromise with his ideal. And so we who believe in Jesus today must face him. We will follow him or face social and moral disintegration.

2. Next we see one who boldly challenged the accepted standards of goodness of his time. He ate with publicans and sinners and identified himself witr the poor.

He had a penetrating judgment of people by which he could look beneath the surface. "He himself knew what was in man."

4. Jesus also had faith in the possibilities of human nature.

In our thinking about Jesus let us acknowledge his humanity and realize that he knew our kind of life-struggle. Believe that he was not exempted from the spiritual struggle by some supernatural endowment of power. Believing that his temptations were real ones, and that he had to face difficult situations and problems and make decisions as we do; makes Jesus more of a real spiritual leader for us than to believe that he did not have to face things as we do.

What does Jesus mean to us today? The answer must be stated in terms of the values we cherish. Do we really find him at the center of our religious lives? Can we find the answer to problems in our tangled world or the renewal of life through him?

All the advance in knowledge since Jesus lived helped us to appreciate his ideal of life. We know that personality is fulfilled in service; and that whosoever would save his life shall lose it and whosoever shall lose his life shall save it."

There are large areas of our life that this ideal has not touched. Our standard of life, in the face of Jesus' ideal, is condemned. His ideal is bound to no one type of culture or race, nor is it limited by any one age. Every age has had to discover the way to bring the Christian ideal to life in its own society.

Jesus gave no specific rules but principles by which we are to guide our thinking and our living.

The significance of Jesus for us today is found in the concrete embodiment of the ideal in his life. The achievement of the good life fully lived appeals to us more than any words could ever do. The ideal for life that Jesus brought still stands supreme, ahead of our progress and achievement. Through his life he has shown us the way to achieve the ideal. He has gone before us in that way, and he says to us, "Follow me."

Through Jesus we CAN be saved from sin to a life of service and joy.

Jesus saves us from sin by leading us to a better and fuller life and helping us to find the way to live. He shows us what we ought to be. Jesus saves us by helping us to find God. He shows us how much he loves us. In the life and death of Jesus the love of God lays holds on us to save us from our sins.

What do we mean when we say we are saved, when we accept Jesus as Savior and join the church? It means we will be Christian, we will take Jesus' way of life and love as our own. We will do the things he would do. We are ashamed of our wrongdoing and repent and change our way of life.

Through Jesus the world CAN be saved from sin to goodness and happiness. It is only as the nations follow his way of love and turn to serve the Father, that wars, hatred and suffering will cease.

We have said that Jesus CAN save us. He can help us find the way of life, and God; and save us from sin to service. None of this will happen automatically, but only as we come to know him, love him and follow him as Lord and Savior.

The vital question is our personal response to him. As Dr. James Fraser puts it, "Not by theological conflict, but by Jesus-like living can we evidence our allegiance to our Master and present his gospel of love to the world."

"We believe in Jesus Christ, His Son, our Lord and Savior, who for us and our salvation lived and died and rose again and liveth evermore."

HOLD TURKEYS UNTIL THEY ARE FINISHED

On the other hand there is very little demand for a poorly fleshed, low quality turkey. This is why John Weeks, A.P.I. extension poultry marketing specialist, suggests that growers take advantage of lower feed prices and finish their birds before they send them to market.

While lower feed and grain prices as well as a short supply of turkeys exist, no unfinished birds should leave the farm.

Radio Ramblings

(By JESSE CULP)

Here we come with the initial endeavor to bring you a weekly column about the doings in radio, both local and otherwise. One of the main purposes of this column will be to keep you posted on the best listening spots on WKLF, your local radio station.

WKLF has gone all out this week in cooperating with local education officials in observing American Education Week.

Special programs are being heard each day at 12:15 on "Facts for Farmers," and a special program, "Voices In Our Land" has been aired three times. Today at 10:00 the Chilton County Training School is presenting its best talent in a half-hour broadcast depicting the fine points of American Education for Negroes.

One of the better family programs heard on WKLF is the [illegible]lens," a fifteen-minute weekly story about a typical American family. Another "tops" on the local listening line-up comes at 9 o'clock on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday when the four beauty centers of Clanton present "Fashions in Music."

Mrs. Joe Campbell and Mrs. John Smith took to the air last Thursday, as WKLF special events director Paul Reid interviewed them in connection with last week's program on World Community Day.

GAME IS SCARCE HUNT WITH A DOG

[illegible] Those who use a dog when hunting ducks or quail bag ev[illegible] wounded [illegible] dead bird.

"When a dog is not used, a hunter may wound or kill as many as 20 birds before he gets four," points out Earl F. Kennamer, A.P.I. extension wildlife specialist.

Of course a dog won't retrieve a dove. This makes it necessary for a hunter to carefully fix in his mind where a dove falls. After the dove flight slacks off, go directly to the point where the bird lies.

"If the dove is not there, use your hat to mark the spot and walk in gradually widening circles until bird is found," advises Kennamer.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

I'm Glad
We're "Different!"

There's a lot of difference of opinion in our county on the best kind of pasture. Some say alfalfa mixed with brome grass—others say mixed with oats or barley. But all agree that a mixture's better than a single crop.

I sometimes think people are the same way—and the strength of America is its mixture of so many different strains—some from one country, some from another—right down to little differences: like folks who have a taste for beer and those who prefer cider.

From where I sit, so long as we never become intolerant of one another's different tastes—so long as we live together with our differences, and even supplement them the way brome grass does alfalfa, then we're a mighty good crop!

So neighbor—enjoy your cider while I enjoy my beer! Vote for your candidate—I'll stand by mine! But never let our differences divide us!

CHARLES F. BRANNAN TO ADDRESS FARMERS UNION

Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan will address the Farmers Union of Alabama at its annual convention on December 3rd, it was announced today by Aubrey Williams, State President.

The annual meeting will be held this year at Center, Ala. Secretary Brannan will address the Friday evening session of the convention.

On the same program with the Secretary will be James G. Patton, National President of the Farmers Union.

Secretary Brannan's coming to Alabama and the South is looked forward to with great interest by Southern farmers, inasmuch as it is more than likely he will be retained by President Truman for the four year term to which he has just been elected.

Brannan was one of the members of the cabinet who went down the line for Truman, and is credited with having done a great deal in turning the farmers of the Mid-west to Truman.

It is not known what the Secretary will discuss, but inasmuch as his departure is responsible for deciding such vital questions as whether the cotton quota will be re-established, as well as the support price of such commodities as corn, tobacco, peanuts, etc., his presence in Alabama will be of interest to every farmer in the State and the entire South.

"POOR HUBERT"

Hubert is a half-wit of about 21. He doesn't know a thing about women, But his friend, Victor thinks he does, But he doesn't; at the end he finds out, But you come to see November 12, 1948, at 7:30, at Maplesville High School.

The Dixie Hot Shots will play between acts.

TEMPLE CHURCH

The revival services closed last Sunday night with the best of interest. The people witnessed an out pouring of God's Holy Spirit in the morning and evening services. Sinners came to the altar and made peace with God. Backsliders were reclaimed, and the whole church revived. Though the services closed last Sunday night, the revival fire is still burning, and will long burn in the hearts of those who attended this revival.

Next Sunday Pastor A. T. Hickman will deliver his Thanksgiving sermon in the morning service, and Holy Communion will be served to all Christians present desiring to participate. There is no "close communion" held at the Temple Church. The Lord's Table is open to His children, and the denomination is no barrier. So be with us next Sunday. In the evening evangelist service Pastor Hickman will use for his subject, "Where Are The Dead?" Special music and singing will feature all the services. Follow the crowd to the Temple Church.

CIRCLE 3 MET

Circle Three of the W.M.U. met in the home of the chairman, Mrs. Otis Robinson with 11 members and one visitor present. Mrs. Otis Robinson opened the meeting by reading the 138th chapter of Psalms, with Mrs. Russell Williams leading in prayer. Mrs. Horsley White brought a short but inspiring message. Mrs. Russell Williams gave a very inspiring talk on China and other countries. Mrs. Willie Brown closed the meeting. The hostess served coffee and delicious cookies.

Circle 3 will meet with Mrs. J. E. Gowan on December 20th.

ALABAMA FARMERS UP COTTON YIELDS

In the ten-year period from 1923 to 1932, the average Alabama cotton yield was only 172 pounds of lint per acre. But better production methods shot the 1937-46 average up to 261 pounds.

Other records show that Alabama farmers have not averaged under a half bale of cotton per acre any year since 1942. Until 1942, the state had never averaged as much as a half bale per acre since record keeping began in 1867, except for two years, 1937 and 1938.

The record-breaking estimated yield for 1948 is 367 pounds lint per acre. Other eye-opening figures are that three counties in the state have averaged over 400 pounds of lint per acre the last five years. They are Marshall, DeKalb and Cullman.

According to O. N. Andrews, A.P.I. extension cotton improvement specialist, farmers have increased yields by using delinted and treated seed of pure recommended varieties, earlier planting on better land, better fertilization and insect control, and winter legumes in the rotation.

EPISCOPAL SERVICE SUNDAY

The Rev. John L. Jenkins, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Selma, will deliver a sermon and celebrate Holy Communion Sunday, November 21, at 3:30 o'clock in the Clanton Presbyterian Church.

The public is cordially welcomed to this service for which Mrs. Raymond Mims will sing.

AAUW MEMBERS POLLED ON VALUE OF COLLEGE

Members of the Chilton County Branch of the American Association of University Women are participating this week in a nation-wide poll to evaluate college education for women in the light of post-college experience.

"In what way do you feel that your college education is of value in your life today?" is the significant question asked of all AAUW members in a questionnaire which local members are now filling out in response to a request from the AAUW National Committee. The AAUW members are also asked, in the light of their subsequent careers as homemakers or business or professional women, to make suggestions for improvements or changes in present-day college training for women.

"College education in this country was first planned for men only," writes Dr. Constance Warren, President Emeritus of Sarah Lawrence College, who is chairman of the AAUW Education Committee. "When I went to college we were still demonstrating that we could learn everything our brothers could learn. We proved it and we were proud of it. I taught women for many years and later became the head of a woman's college. We tried very hard to plan the work that would be most valuable to our students. But was it? We never knew, nor did anyone else find out from women themselves what any number of them thought about the value of their college education in the light of their subsequent living."

In view of the efforts now being made to fit education more fully into the needs of society, the AAUW survey seeks first-hand opinions and suggestions from the Association's more than 100,000 college-trained women members. This is the largest organized group of women graduates of accredited colleges in this country, and the AAUW survey is expected to yield significant findings in the field of higher education. An analysis of the compiled questionnaires will be, the Committee believes, of particular value to those concerned with the guidance of women students and to college administrators who are planning curricula for them.

Homecoming Game At Jemison High

The students of Jemison High School are looking forward to their first homecoming football game which is to be held Friday night, November 19. Our opponent will be Wetumpka.

The Homecoming Queen will be selected from one of the Senior High Classes or from one of the various clubs in school. We would like for "Miss Homecoming" to be a good representative of our school. She should be loyal, a good worker, be courteous, beautiful, have good manners and rate well scholastically. We have had seven girls nominated to run at the present. The votes for the Queen will be one cent each. The Queen with the largest amount of money by the end of the first quarter of the game will reign as our "Miss Homecoming." The two girls running next highest with votes will be her attendants.

The candidates for Miss Homecoming are: Sr. III, Betty Lou Sundberg; Sr. II, Doris Gilmore; Sr. I, Faye Cost and Norma Jean Glass; Beta Club, Annette Reynolds; FHA, Ruby Jean Davis; FFA, Betty Jean Giles; and the Football Team, Ann Turner.

At the half of the game the Queen, her escort, and attendants will parade over the field. We are all waiting with wild anticipation to see who will reign as "Miss Homecoming."

After the game we are planning to have a dance in the library. The admission is fifty cents a couple or twenty-five cents for stags. The money received from the sale of dance tickets will be used to buy new records. All alumni are especially urged to come to the homecoming game, meet all their old friends and former schoolmates and have a good time at the dance.

Come on, everyone, let's all really get behind our team, as well as our school.

Distinguished W.M.U. Leader To Speak

C. Pattillo.

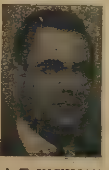
THE ALTAR

The definition of "Altar" is an elevated place or structure on which any religious rites are performed. This may be large or small, according to the need, and place. The first altar of which we have any account is that built by Noah when he left the Ark. (Gen. 8:20). In the early times altars were built, and there the people worshipped All-Mighty God. God would meet people and manifest His presence in some way around the altar. The altar itself was a hallowed spot and invited the presence of the Lord God. In the Tabernacle there were three altars, viz. The Brazen Altar which was installed in the outer courts, on this the people offered their sacrifices which made atonement for their sins. Inside of the Holy Place was the Altar of Incense. This was also called the golden altar to distinguish it from the altar of burnt offering, or the Brazen Altar. Upon this Altar of Incense there were ever-burning coals. The fire never did go out by day or by night. The Priest ministered and served these altars. Then there was another altar within the Holy of Holies, or the Most Holy Place, known as the Mercy-Seat, representing a kind of throne of God, where he would hear prayers and from which he spoke words of comfort. It was the Altar on which the blood of the yearly atonement was sprinkled by the High Priest.



A. T. HICKMAN

Now, since the Coming of Christ he that worship God must worship Him in spirit and in truth, for the Father seeketh such to worship him. God is a Spirit, and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth. But what about the Altar? Personally, I believe an altar should be in every church. A place conveniently installed so people may gather around for prayers and worship to God. Here the Lord's Supper or Holy Communion may be served. It is also at these altars sinners may come confessing their sins to God, and obtaining pardon through the shed blood of Christ. At such altars backsliders may come and weep bitterly like Peter the night the Master looked at him after the cock crew. (Luke 22:61-62). It is to be regretted that some churches do not have an old-fashioned altar. The result is, church membership is substituted for conversion. Let us get back to God by installing in our churches the altar, and then use them.

PLANT 1,000 TREES, RECEIVE $6 PAYMENT

In counties where P.M.A. Practice No. 12 is adopted, farmers will receive $6 per 1,000 trees planted.

To comply with this practice, a farmer must obtain 65 per cent survival of any of the following species: Loblolly, longleaf, slash pines, red cedar, black locus, yellow popular, white oak, white ash and catalpa.

Payment will be made in 1949 for trees planted from December 1, 1948, through March, 1949.

I. R. Martin, A.P.I. extension forester, Auburn, urges farmers to ask local P.M.A. committees to include Practice No. 12 in their 1949 program.

The following is a brief biographical sketch of Miss Kathleen Mallory, much loved retiring Executive Secretary of the W.M.U. of the South, who will be guest speaker during the Week of Prayer for Foreign Missions at the First Baptist Church, Clanton, December 1, at 7:00 p.m. Friends from all over the county are most cordially invited to be present.

Miss Kathleen Mallory was born in Summerfield, Ala., the home of her grandparents. Her parents were Colonel H.S.D. Mallory and Luta Moore Mallory. Both parents were devout Baptists. The spiritual training she received in this Christian home was instrumental in her later decision to enter fulltime Christian service.

She attended grade school and high school at Dallas Academy in Selma. Desiring to make use of and train the talents with which she was endowed, she determined to go to college at a time when few young women in Selma were interested in higher education. She attended Goucher College, Baltimore, then known as Women's College, graduating with honors.

After graduation, she taught in Demopolis, Ala., returning to Selma at the end of the year. She was active in the local church and in educational and civic projects. She was one of the founders of the Parent-Teacher organization in Selma during this period.

Later she became W.M.U. Executive Secretary for the State of Alabama.

In 1912 Miss Edith Crane, retiring Secretary of the Southern Union, suggested her name to Miss Fannie E. S. Heck, Southwide W.M.U. President. Miss Eliza Broadus of Kentucky was chairman of the nominating committee. She, too, had heard of this outstanding Secretary in Alabama W.M.U. through Dr. W. O. Carver, who had met Miss Mallory at the summer assembly. Just before Miss Broadus went to the platform for the presentation of the report of the nominating committee, she sent her card to Miss Mallory, bearing these words: "I think you will like to know that you are the unanimous choice of our committee."

The Alabama Union relinquished its prior claim to her leadership in order that Miss Mallory might undertake the larger work.

After much prayer, correspondence, and the earnest seeking of His will, definite preparations were made for Miss Mallory to attend the Convention, which met in Oklahoma City that year, to accept the honored position.

A remark that was made by a much-loved elderly member of the Union when Miss Mallory came to the platform that summer day dressed in dainty, pale yellow organdy with a lovely hat to harmonize will long be remembered. This lady was heard to say: "I have only one objection to her. She is just too young."

Since then, Miss Mallor has led the Baptist women of the Southland for the past thirty-six years. We thank God for the years of constant loving moment-by-moment giving of herself for her Lord and the Missionary Union. She has always served faithfully, joyfully, radiantly. Clanton and Chilton County may consider themselves highly honored to have the privilege of hearing so distinguished a leader.

Remember The Lessons Of The Past Twenty Years

Thirty years ago today, on November 11, 1918, the world was a seething turmoil of joy and gladness. The "war to end all wars" was over and America and the Allies were victorious.

How things have changed. Since that date we have fought another war with Germany, a war for survival, and now we are facing the possibility of a third world war.

Had we listened to General Pershing in 1918, perhaps the entire fate of the world would have been changed. Pershing, the first man to attain the full rank of general in the American Army since the days of Washington, demanded that Germany be whipped to her knees and forced into an unconditional surrender. He signed the Armistice only on direct orders from President Woodrow Wilson. The ideals of Wilson and other Americans were rudely shattered at the peace conference following the first World War and America retired into its shell of isolationism, only to emerge after all Europe had fallen to Hitler and the German forces.

We entered the second World War after we had been attacked. We fought our enemies until they were so completely whipped there was no fight left in them.

Again had we listened to our generals, we might not today be in the position that we are. Had we kept a large military force ready and in a position to strike, then Russia would not be so "cocky."

As we pause today in memory of those who fought and gave their lives that this country might remain free, take a little time to remember what it was they died for.

We must struggle on, and fight if the need arises, that those lives have not been wasted. We are the greatest nation in the world today. Our people have a freedom that no other people have known. Let's keep it that way. — Northwest Alabamian.

Electors Could Be Re'eased

Quite an important political announcement was launched here this week when M. C. Hester, a member of the State Democratic Committee of Alabama telegraphed the following message to Hon. J. Strom Thurmond, of South Carolina, and Hon. Fielding Wright of Mississippi.

"I trust you and Governor Wright can at this time release your electors from all obligations to you and ask that they support the Democratic nominees for president and vice-president who now have a majority of the electors of the nation. I, too, am a Southern Democrat, but I believe this is the time for all our Democrats to unite behind our duly elected president. I believe this will be the best for our Southland and then trust our Representatives and the Senate and Congress to hold the lines for us."

Of course, there are many who object to the Civil Rights plank in the Democratic platform. Yet, we wonder if these same people ever stopped to think Dewey had already passed the FEPC law in New York, also that he favored "unity" which to us means get along with the other fellow and recognize his rights regardless of color or creed All this is already written into the Constitution anyway. What we really object to is the way the North tries to ram the stuff down our throats.

But, politically, today Alabama is positively out in the cold—freezing, if you please. Compromise, many times, is much better than outright defeat and ostricization. Alabama can suffer both. — Franklin County Times.

We know of very few instances where friendship suffered through the use of complimentary language.

Do a man a favor and he will end up against you; make him work for you and he will probably like you.

The man who plans to do something "one of these days" might as well put his mind on another proposition.

An opposition party is a necessity in a free country but any party in power will tell you that it can be a nuisance.

Folks and Things About Town

--By BEN

Say, that's mighty nice thing Lloyd Popwell is doing for the benefit of the Clanton Methodist Church next Monday night. Here 'tis. The W.S.C.S. is having a Bazaar at the church to make some money for worth while causes. The ladies will sell the dinners. Lloyd's Taxi will pick up and take you to the supper if you have no way to get there. There will be no charge for the taxi fare—you will have to buy your supper. It's a fine service by Popwell Taxi and we are sure one that will be appreciated by those who would like to attend but have no way of getting there.

Have you noticed the corner across from the Willingham Hotel? That corner looks like a city used car lot now. Jimmy McDow has strung lights around the lot and parked a whole heap of good looking automobiles over there. With all the lights burning it gives that corner a cityfied atmosphere, doesn't it?

While we are up thataway let's take a look across and down the street a little. Arthur Taylor is putting up a new building in the middle of that block. We understand that it will be occupied by Yielding Bros., or that is Yielding Bros., of Birmingham is going to open a store there. Tell you the truth, we'll soon be having street cars. Business district will be too big to cover by foot.

A young woman just home from college was very enthusiastic about the wonderful benefits of physical culture. She said to her father: "Just watch this exercise to develop the arms. I grip the rod by one end and slowly move it from left to right." "Well, well," exclaimed the father. "What won't science discover next! If that rod had straw at the other end of it, you would be sweeping."

In case you didn't get that new automobile tag before last Saturday you had better look up Ras Langston and make your peace with him. We are afraid it will cost you a slight fee in any case. But whether or not you see license inspector Langston call around to the Probate Office and take care of that right away. It will save you money and embarrassment.

A friend of ours was telling us the other day of killing more squirrels than the bag limit. That is a shame. It is something we will not put up with. We absolutely refuse to keep his dirty work a secret. We will go to the proper authorities and report him — that is unless he promises to bring us a couple next time. Guess that would be called "hush squirrel."

Our Pilgrim Faith

WE BELIEVE IN THE CHURCH

"We hold it to be the mission of the Church of Christ to proclaim the gospel to all mankind, exalting the worship of the one true God, and laboring for the progress of knowledge, the promotion of justice, the reign of peace and the realization of human brotherhood."

What is the church? It is more than any building, more than a single congregation and more than any one denomination. The word "church" comes from the Greek which means "Belonging to the Lord." It is those of all lands and all ages who belong to the Lord. On the local level we would say that the church is a group of Christian people organized for worship, fellowship, service and instruction in Christian teachings. "The church is an expression of the living Christ." The Christian church is a living church. It is both contemporary and eternal, reaching back to Jesus himself, living in our world today, and we look for it to continue into the future. The church which we know is contemporary and must be built in terms of the 20th century if it is to be effective in our society. The church is important today. The world needs the religion of Jesus and Jesus needs the church to keep his influence alive and to carry on his work in the world.

What is the mission of the church? The church has the Christian gospel, good news, the message of Jesus. The church is to proclaim this gospel to all mankind. By Christian preaching, teaching and living the church is to labor that men shall know the truth, that justice be done throughout the earth, that peace may be established, not only among the nations of earth, but in business, industry and in our homes, and that all men shall come to live together as brothers. Although we live in different nations, and belong to different races and classes, we still belong to "one church," for it reaches around the world.

The church is responsible for teaching the Christian Gospel. This responsibility rests upon every member of the church. Christian living is the most important way of teaching the gospel. To have the spirit of Jesus in our hearts and to express it in our conduct is the highest duty and privilege of the Christian. When we realize that there are many churches which do not receive in one year one single new member on confession of faith, we wonder if we have been doing our job in proclaiming the gospel and in living the Christian life.

We are to proclaim the gospel by exalting the worship of the one true God. We exalt worship by giving it an important place in our lives. Going to churrh is one way of doing that. Regular church attendance is a duty and privilege and should be omitted only for serious cause.

Each person, of course, has the right of deciding whether or not he will accept the invitation of the church to become a member and unite in its worship and service. When you join the church you are entitled to certain rights and privileges; among them, to vote, hold office, and receive the help of the church in spiritual matters. You also accept certain obligations. You are to LIVE A CHRISTIAN LIFE, attend services and support the church regularly; and help in every way with the work of the church. And you should have your church membership in the place where you live.

What can the church do for you? The book MY CHURCH offers some helpful suggestions.

1. "The church can help you to live up steadily to the best you know." We need the help of the church in this kind of living; and the help of people who stand for what is good and pull us up to their level. We may live up to our best for a while without the church, but not for long, because we are not strong enough to go it alone.

2. "The church can deepen your un-

From The University of Ala.

"I'd just as soon see the Chilton County High Tigers play football as to watch Alabama's Crimson Tide lick Mississippi Southern, Cooper Speaks, 18-year-old university sophomore, admits. And then, with a sheepish grin on his face, he quickly added:

"It isn't because Alabama has been losing so much this year though. I guess that I just have too many ties back in high school to be really college hot."

Cooper is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther A. Speaks, Clanton.

He said that perhaps he came to college because it was expected of him. However, he thinks that an education is very important and he is glad that he has an opportunity to get one.

"I believe people who have had the advantage of an education should share their knowledge with the world and not form an intellectual caste system as highly educated people are prone to do," he said.

Cooper spends every week end at home. He said he returns to the University on Sunday night and by Monday morning has begun plans for the trip home the next riday. He thinks this will probably be the last year he'll try this, though, since most of his buddies will finish high school this year.

He denies that any strong feminine attraction figures into these week end visits, but confesses that his mother's cooking may have something to do with it.

He eases his coscience about going home every week end by taking his school work seriously the five days he is on the campus he said.

He hasn't registered for a major and minor yet, but thinks he will probably major in English and minor in music. Music is his outstanding interest, but he doesn't plan to enter the field professionally.

He is proud of his collection of vocal sheet music. He thinks it is perhaps among the best non-professional music libraries in the state. Voice is his specialty, but he also plays the piano some and is at present taking violin.

Cooper said two of his current concerns were Darwin's theory of evolution and the Neo-Platonic theory.

"The introduction to these two theories was astoundingly revealing and somewhat painful, but I confess that I expect the impact of their importance to pass off like most college mental disturbances."

He said his chief out-of-classroom interests at the University were his social contacts in the department of music and his participation in Episcopal student activities.

"I guess that I am what you would call a staunch Episcopalian. In fact, I've had friends that accused me of being more Episcopal than Christian. I don't think this is true, of course.

"Clanton is an exceptional town musically. Our high school glee club is one of the state's best. I have music-loving friends there, but not as many with music interests in common as I have at the University. It has been very interesting to be with these people who have had such splendid opportunities for studying music."

He thinks a student should take as many and varied subjects as he can schedule. He has tried to live up to this opinion and has taken courses in Greek, botany, vertebrate anatomy, Spanish, rench, English, psychology, history, military science and music. He considers a curriculum such as this to be broadening.

Cooper said the possibility of his being drafted doesn't worry him. He looks upon it as something he has to do and will go without complaining when his number is called. However, given a choice, he would prefer the navy to the army.

He thinks Alabama is a sure winner for the Alabama-Auburn football game this year.

"That game is going to settle feuds that have been brewing in Clanton for 40 years. We just have to win. I'll get college hot for that game. Why, I'm even going to be one of the rah rah boys in the pep squad for the Auburn game."

Ladies, don't forget the W.M.U. next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Please come and bring your Sunbeams.

Everyone come to church next Sunday and bring someone with you.

Mrs. J. C. Veazey had an accident last week. Everyone pray for her that she might have a speedy recovery. I am sure she would like visitors or letters, so if anyone would like to visit her, she is now at Mrs. Merchant's home in Thorsby.

Sweet potatoes stored on the farm help to provide what customers and consumers want—a steady and continuous supply. Sales of cured potatoes in late fall and early winter will keep Alabama sweet potatoes on the market practically the year around.

Governor Proclaims November 25th Thanksgiving Day

Montgomery, Ala. — In publishing the annual Thanksgiving Day proclamation in Alabama, Gov. James E. Folsom said, "No finer custom was ever established by the people of any nation, than that of observing Thanksgiving Day in America."

Referring to the exceptionally fine crops this year, the governor said, "The time has again drawn close for all of us to offer up our thanks to The Almighty for His goodness unto us."

"In this season of thanksgiving, it seems proper and befitting," the proclamation said, "that those richly blessed should share their fullness with those less fortunate."

The governor noted, too, that, "The people of this State and this Nation, with all their progress and industry, have remained humble and thankful for the gifts of life," and he urged "All of our people to share in the Thanksgiving Day custom by sharing with those in need and distress."

IN MEMORY

Thomas V. Mims died in the Canal Zone. His body was brought back by his lonely wife, Rena Mims. Oh, how sad and lonely was this trip. We will never know about it with all the heartaches. Here comes a sweet whisper to her, "Darling, forgive me for all I have ever said or done that was wrong. Darling, I love you." I have been praying, so I know that he has been whispering to God just like he was here. I feel that he made peace with God. I don't doubt it the least. There is no one that will take his place in her heart, but God can only reach her sorrower, but our Lord is the only One that can mend this trouble.

He has left here to grieve: Mrs. Fate Downing, Rose Bud Knox, Mrs. Bea Connell, Mrs. Sam Thompson; one brother, Felix Mims. — Written by a Sister, Mrs. W. F. Downing, Clanton, Ala. 1tc

WHY SOME PEACH TREES AND PLUM TREES DIE

In many cases when peach or plum trees die in the early summer, too much water was available the past fall or too much fertilizer was applied late in the growing season.

There is no difference in juiciness and flavor of frozen meats thawed slowly in the refrigerator, and those thawed rapidly at room temperature.

BRIGHT OUTLOOK FOR LIVESTOCK INDUSTRY

Less beef is in prospect for 1949 since the number of cattle on feed for market in the 11 corn belt states is 12 per cent smaller than last year.

A. W. Jones, A.P.I. extension marketing specialist, points out that this reduced supply, along with a strong demand for meat, means a bright outlook for the livestock industry.

derstanding of what is best." We must keep getting a deeper understanding of what is best, for our present ways may be only half right. We need to change our minds in the direction of a deeper understanding of God's will. The church holds Jesus up before us every week and by him we can correct our wrong notions and set our life straight.

3. "The church can help you find yourself in service.' All of us need the chance to be of service. The church is doing us a favor by offering us the opportunity. We are happy only when we forget ourselves in service.

4. "The church can carry you through times of sin, disappointment and sorrow." Some young people may not know about them as yet, but no one escapes. But when they do come where can you turn except to the church? There you find the comfort and assurance of the grace of God promised in the gospel; and the minister, your friend and helper.

5. "The church can help you to a life forever rich and full." It is wrong to think of the chuch as just fitting us for the next life, nor is the value of the church for this life only. The good and happy life which the church starts us on will continue. Then you can help the church with your time, your money, your attendance and your life. A good life helps the church more than anything else and a bad life hurts it more than anything. In your church, are you a living help or a dead weight?

Concert Season Opens November 23rd

Abbey Simon, Noted Pianist, To Appear

The local Community Concert Season opens November 23, when Mr. Abbey Simon nationally known pianist appears at the First Baptist Church.

Mr. Simon is in the front rank of the younger generation of pianists according to frequent comment by music critics in New York, Chicago and Boston. Leading conductors have given high praise and encouragement to the artist, who is rapidly becoming an important figure on the American muscial scene. The Chicago Sun critic said: "Good pianists are so numerous this season that when a new one who is better comes along, the critic's vocabulary is apt to falter. Such a one is Abbey Simon, who made his Chicago debut with outstanding success."

ABBEY SIMON

CARD OF THANKS

I take this means to thank the members of G. C. Walker's Sunday School Class at First Baptist Church, for their liberal contribution to me last Sunday. It was much appreciated and needed.

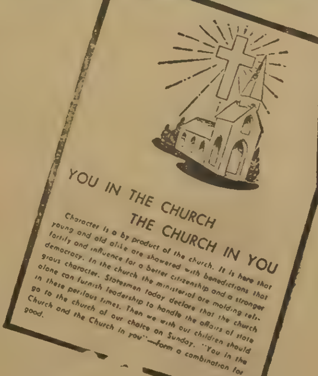
Communism in Russia deserves to be measured over against the intolerable tyranny and oppression of the Czars; it may even be a step in advance of that which it replaced.

But Communism within the United States is quite a different thing. Here it appears as a threat to that great good that we call democracy; and worse still, it seeks to overthrow the Christian religion which has been the sure foundation of our freedom and our integrity. Toward Communism in Russia we may take an attitude of sympathy, hoping that a great nation will move on to higher ground, though we recognize the right of the Russian people to choose their own political and economic system. So we say to each other, "Hands off" of the internal affairs of other nations. But we ought to be mightily concerned with the appearance of Communism in the U. S. A. Perhaps here, however, we ought to be on our guard against the reality rather than the name. It is one thing to belong to the Communist Party, which looks us squarely in the face and announces its position. It is quite another and a more dangerous thing to be a Communist and not let it be known. It is the under cover Communism which threatens us most.

Communism sets itself up as a religion, denying God and the Christian Faith; it would close the doors of the Church. Do you support the Church, or could its doors close so far as you are concerned? There are sixty million people in this country who are not members of any Church; they are the Communists we should fear. Godless women and men, intent on themselves or some political party as the chief good, irreverent and devoted to material ends—these are the Communists whom we Americans should fear and seek to change.



YOU IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you"—form a combination for good.

GIVING FURNITURE AN OILED FINISH

It just takes a little work to give a piece of furniture an oiled finish that won't show spots or scratches.

First, remove all dust and dirt. Then brush on a coat of finish made by mixing two parts boiled linseed oil and one part turpentine. Wipe off all excess oil with a clean cloth. Remember to clean all crevices, otherwise the oil will harden and will have to be removed with varnish remover.

After this is done, rub finish for 5 to 15 minutes, or until a hard, lustrous surface results. Do this at intervals of not less than two days until all dull spots disappear and a uniform clear lustre results. Follow grain of wood while rubbing finish.

Alice Peavy, A.P.I. extension home management specialist, Auburn, says a lighter color results when raw oil is used in place of boiled oil.

ARRANGE NOW FOR 1949 FERTILIZER

Auburn, Ala.— The outlook for nitrogen and potash for 1949 is not much better than it was in 1948.

This is why D. R. Harbor, A.P.I. extension agronomist, advises farmers to make early arrangements for next year's fertilizer. Those who place orders now should be able to get the grades they desire.

Of course, nitrogen for top dressing oats and other small grains will be needed first. Growers should make plans now to store nitrogen for top dressing small grains in February or early March.

Rayon fiber is weaker when wet, therefore needs only a relatively short washing period. Usually two to four minutes of washing is sufficient for rayon.

KILL SCRUB HARDWOODS

A new way to kill scrub hardwoods is to poison them with ammonium sulfamate, a new chemical not poisonous to animals.

THINGS WE SEE AND HEAR
CCHS ——— By "Tuck" ——— CCHS

Hey, Myron, you better watch your driving, you almost ran over that great big transfer truck the other day. Now, Myron, I can't run a transfer truck off the road like you did.

Can you imagine a girl being too tired or too busy to go to the show with a guy? Or maybe she just didn't want to go with that certain fella.

By the way, speaking of shows, how about that new serial at the new show? Some man, isn't he? (Superman, that is.)

It was kinda "cool" on that hay ride the other night, wasn't it, boys? (And girls).

Lee Moore, Mrs. Griffin seems to kinda have it in for you in Civics, doesn't she? Hey, Lee, is it you or her?

Benny Ray Tucker, where were you Wednesday night? (Studying no doubt).

Jearlyne Studdard, you're going to have to quit going to your grandmother's every week end. Some people seem to miss you.

Russell Williams and Janie Lou Wade seem to make a pretty cute couple, don't they? Especially in dancing.

Billy Jean Poole, have you got pnemonia yet, or was Mrs. Griffin just trying to scare you?

The parents had the kids down at the school kinda scared last week. (Especially the Jr.'s.)

Mrs. Griffin, some Jr. III's have been running to lunch, but I couldn't call any names, because I might tell on myself.

It's a shame some of the people down at the high school can't read. The grass isn't looking much better.

Phillip Lawrence, you should hear the way some of the girls are talking about your football playing.

Grace Lawrence, who might be your latest heartbreak? Could it be Bobby Kinney?

Lamar Chancellor, why don't you get some pep into you at Phys. Ed? You look kind of sloppy.

Eugene Williams, you better be careful in Science or Mrs. Snead's going to catch you! (I've got a lot of room to talk, though.)

Sonny Gaylor, you seem to have a keen personality, especially with the girls.

Pat Broadhead, looks like somebody's trying to beat your time.

Ray Yeager, why did you quit playing football second period? Wouldn't Doug throw you any passes?

There are some boys down at the school that are throwing some dangerous passes. (And I don't mean the football kind.)

Mr. and Mrs. John Deadman and son, Joe Earl, spent Sunday with Mrs. W. M. Nelson.

"Shortie" Atchison, who is attending school at Auburn, was home for the week end visiting his mother.

HOME FREEZER NEEDS OUT-OF-ORDER SIGNAL

Auburn, Ala. — If a home freezing unit does not have a buzzer or a warning light, one should be installed.

Lavada Curtis, A.P.I. extension food preservation specialist, says that if temperature inside the freezer rises due to mechanical trouble, it should be known at once. A buzzer or light should signal when this happens.

Reports indicate that a quantity of food has been lost because owner failed to notice freezer was not operating.

Chilton Farmer Given American Farmer Degree

Montgomery, Ala. — Nine Alabamians were among the 214 members of the Future Farmers of America who received the American Farmer degree at a ceremony in Kansas City last week.

PERSONALITY INTERVIEW

"When I started school at the University of Alabama in September, 1939, I'd have laughed if someone had told me that 1948 would find me with a wife, still studying at the University," said Wilford H. Lane, graduate student, and son of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Lane, Clanton.

Bill, as he is better known, is working on his M.A. degree in Latin American History, in the College of Arts and Science.

"I really haven't been attending the University for nine years," Bill explained. "I started college here in 1939, dropped out to work a year in Clanton, and then went back to college for two years, only this time to Howard."

He joined the Marine Corps in 1942, went on active duty in 1943 and was sent to Millsaps College in Jackson, Miss., for four months. After serving three years in the Marines, stationed in the United States and Asiatic and Pacific theatres, he returned to the University in the Fall of 1946.

Bill's favorite pastime, "when there's time for one nowadays," is listening to records. His favorite bands are Dick Jergens, Vaughn Monroe and Sammy Kaye. Tommy Dorsey's "Song of India" is tops on his personal hit parade.

Bill is an active member of Pi Kappa Phi fraternity and belonged to the Alabama Independent Association at the University through the spring quarter of this year. He worked as a grader for the history department in the spring and now holds a graduate assistantship in history for the current year.

"I hope to receive my masters by next March," he said, "and then, if present plans work out, I'll begin work on my doctorate, perhaps at the University of Texas."

Bill was married in June of this year to Wilma A. Monk, whom he met on campus. The wedding took place in Connecticut, his wife's home state. They lived on Northington campus for three months, and then, as Bill said, "We finally found a two-room apartment over on 10th street, which we like much better."

Bill's folks have lived in Clanton for nine years but he has not spent much time there. However, as he says, "It's a good place to live as it's ideally located from a commercial standpoint."

He likes the neighborly atmosphere of the small town, and "Although it is small, it is easily accessible to three of the largest cities of the state, Birmingham, Selma and Montgomery."

He received his A.B. degree at the University in history, and what he likes best about the University is "the excellence of the history department."

His plans for the future, after receiving his doctorate, are to teach history in a college or university. "But right now," he adds, "I'm kept busy trying to keep up with my studies."

And all our friends,
A HAPPY THANKSGIVING DAY!

HIGHWAY PATROLMEN SEEKS AID OF PEDESTRAINS

Montgomey, Ala. — Continuing the drive for added safety precautions on the part of pedestrains, the State Highway Patrol's Captain Oliver McDuff last week warned that every pedestrain has a double-duty safety job to perform if he is to reach his destination without a mishap.

"The driver," Captain McDuff said, "has a big job to do in handling his car safely. Pedestrains can help the driver and themselves by watching out for their own safety."

Captain McDuff listed the following precautions which every pedestrain should take:

1. Do not walk behind or in front of a street car or bus immediately upon alighting; take time to be safe.

2. While crossing a street, don't read the newspaper, or obscure your view with an umbrella or bundle of packages.

3. Use painted crosswalks, safety islands and other safeguards.

4. Never run into or play in the street. Don't make sudden dashes or stops in the street.

5. Don't depend upon the motorist seeing you at night. Wear light-colored clothing or something that will reflect light.

6. Where there are no sidewalks, walk on the left side of the roadway facing the traffic.

Statistics reveal that pedestrain-traffic mishaps take a sharp upward turn during the winter months when darkness comes at an earlier hour.

A Present Need

Chilton needs to get behind the present Christmas Seal Sale.

Tuberculosis kills an average of nearly four Alabamians every day. Buying Christmas Seals this year will help our county bring down the average, because the Christmas Seal Sale is a drive aimed at controlling tuberculosis through the prevention and cure of the disease. This statement was made by J. B. Fort, president of the Chilton County Tuberculosis Association, which sponsors the Christmas Seal drive in this county. The best way we can help control TB is by buying and using Christmas Seals on all our letters and packages. This is the way that we can answer the challenge to stop the killer.

Contributions to the fight against tuberculosis are entirely voluntary, it is emphasized. The sale of Christmas Seals opened Monday, November 22, and will continue until Christmas. Persons who did not receive Seals in the mail are urged to contact the county chairman if they desire them.

Another Clanton Need

There is a wonderful opening in Clanton for a typewriter shop that could handle typewriter supplies and repairs.

Hardly a day passes that we are not asked if we know where this or that can be purchased for a typewriter or if we know anyone who can repair one.

As we have stated often before, Clanton is a big town now and is still growing fast. Some young fellow who wants his own business is missing a bet when he passes up Clanton as a likely place for just such a business as we mentioned.

Thanksgiving

Many, many editorials will be written this year, as every year about Thanksgiving. Many million words will be written by the best feature writers commemorating the day and telling of our progress since that first Thanksgiving Day, and our many blessings.

Their's will out-shine ours in every way but one; it can't be any more sincere. When we say we are thankful for the bountiful harvest that is ours; when we say we are doubly thankful for the democratic nation we live in; and when we say we are very thankful for our way of life and our many friends in Chilton County, it comes from the heart and we mean every word of it. It isn't just an article to fill space or is it an article to sound pretty.

We sincerely mean these things and we feel that no people on earth have a better reason to be thankful or have been more blessed than the people of Chilton County.

Football Thanksgiving

Hooray for the Clanton Lions. That football game that is announced for Thanksgiving night will be appreciated by a lot of football fans who couldn't go out of town for their Thanksgiving football. That game has come to be as popular on Thanksgiving as has turkey.

No organization knows better where to put money to benefit humanity than do the Lions. With their sight conservation program and their aid to the blind and those who need care of an eye specialist, their good deeds are unsurpassed.

Where To For Alabama?

President Truman has won the presidency and, as far as Alabama is concerned, he doesn't owe this state any political favors whatever. The Dixon-McCorvey-Wilkinson combine which was responsible for Mr. Truman losing Alabama's electoral vote has placed us in a position where we cannot rightfully expect favors from either the Democrats or the Republicans during the next four years.

Truly, we might ask, "Where do we go from here?"

One of the most comforting thoughts in the wake of the election results is that, now that it's all over, we won't be receiving those almost daily "news releases" and "letters to the editor" from Chairman McCorvey of the State Democratic Committee. — The Monroeville Journal.

Thanksgiving To God

"Be ye thankful, and in everything give thanks.' (Bible).

Of all the holidays observed in our country, there is none so distinctively American as Thanksgiving. It was established by the Puritans, and we cherish it because of the romance and traditions that surrounds it.

A. T. HICKMAN

Days of thanksgiving in recognition of special favors and mercies from Almighty God have been known from earliest times, and have been common to almost all nations, but thanksgiving as we know it is an American institution.

The Israelites were among the first people to observe a special day of thanksgiving. They observed faithfully, and with much rejoicing, their Feast of Tabernacles; a day of thanksgiving for the bounties of the land, and also commemorating their deliverance from Egypt. This thanksgiving lasted for a whole week. ("Thou shalt observe the feast of tabernacles seven days, after that thou hast gathered in thy corn and thy wine."—Deut. 16:13.

The Ancient Greeks also had thanksgiving days, known as the feast of Demeter. It lasted for nine days, and was in honor of Demeter, the goddess of the cornfield and harvest. A thanksgiving for the richness and bounties of the land.

In England, as in other countries, the custom prevailed to hold special days of fasting and prayer in times of perils. When the crisis were over, and the country blessed again with plenty of food, the people would hold feasts and celebrations. These feasts and celebrations were fundamentally thanksgiving festivals. Although there have been many days of thanksgiving and rejoicing, and many festivals held expressing thanks to Almighty God, America was the first nation in the world definitely to set apart one day in each year for the sole purpose of rejoicing in the good things of life, and giving thanks to Almighty God. We all are familiar with the story that surrounds the first thanksgiving day in America, and with the romance of this festival as we know it today. But let me remind our readers that God has blessed our nation with a bumper crop this year. The corn crop this year will be 3,505,000,000 bushels, the bumper crop of all times.

The wheat measure will yield about 1,284,323,000 bushels, the second highest crop on record. There is also a bumper crop of rice, peanuts, pecans, peaches, apples, live stock, etc.

Here in Alabama alone, corn 57,456,000 bushels. And $30,000,000 crop of peanuts. $77,000,000 of livestock to be sold; and $200,000,000 crop of 'Ole King Cotton. Our people are enjoying the greatest prosperity. Let us give thanks to Almighty God for His blessings upon our land.

Folks and Things About Town

--By BEN

Looks like Cohen Stapp might have put his foot into it when he started this business of building up the Sunday School attendance at the Methodist Church. Of course the idea is good but when you start talking about a woman's age, that is a ticklish question. Wonder if Cohen is going to get enough women to admit they are fifty years old to make a Sunday School class?

Had you ever stopped to think that if a man will talk about others to you—then he will talk about you to others.

Dave Cohen at the Parisian Store is puzzled. He was at Birmingham the other day when a large furniture store caught fire and was practically destroyed (the store, not Dave Cohen). Dave says there was a large sign on the building that stated they were sacrificing a one hundred thousand dollar stock. The day after the fire the newspaper stated that the store reported a one hundred and fifty thousand dollar damage. Now what Dave wants to know is where the difference comes from, or in case of fire, who holds the bag.

Truman Luker, the furniture man, called the other day to tell us how he enjoyed our write-up of the football game. Of course it was pure sarcasm—we didn't have a football write-up. But, Truman had a point. Not being of a sporting nature we are sorely in need of a party to write about the sports at the high school. Now come forward anyone who wants to apply as head of this department. If no one applies we're going to appoint Truman Luker.

We have a mighty lot to be thankful for this Thanksgiving. First, we're thankful just for the joy of living. We're thankful for our health, our happiness and our home. Guess that takes in about everything that is really important in this old war-weary world. When you have those things—nothing else really matters.

This comes from Texaco Town Talk and is worth passing on to you: "Farmer Jones, driving his Model T turned off toward the lane leading to his farm. A car bearing a New York license smacked into him. The New York driver said: "Why didn't you signal you were going to turn left?" "Good heck," was the reply, "Everybody knows I turn off here."

My, my, but the merchants are complaining about the lack of business these days. Usually about this time of year things are humming, but not this year. According to those we have talked to business is away off. We were just wondering if a concentrated advertising campaign on the part of the merchants would change things a bit. We mean as a group, and for the town as a whole, not individually. 'Scuse us for editorialising, but we just happened to think of it.

A most embarrassing thing happened Sunday afternoon. We had a run-in with a little mouse. As you know we mean the kind of little mouse that one would find around the pantry—the four-legged kind. Only this one wasn't around the pantry at the time, he (or she) was running up the drapes in the living room. The wife handed us a broom and then things began happenings. Our first big mistake was in judging the length of the broom and instead of hitting the mouse when we swung, we hit the window pane and smashed a five-dollar bill into smithereens. The next swing was a little better having got our range the hard way and the rodent was dislodged and fell to the floor behind the drapes. By that time the wife had regained her senses and screamed "don't," but excitement was high about then and we took another swing killing the mouse, pulling down the drapes, overturning an end table and playing whaley with the wife's morale. Next time she says she'll do her rat killing while we are away from home.

Our Pilgrim Faith

THE KINGDOM OF GOD

This is the last of the sermons in the series on our Statement of Faith. I only hope that they have been of some help and inspiration to those who have heard them and those who have read them.

Today we are considering the Kingdom of God, based on the closing section of our Statement of Faith, "Depending as did our fathers, upon the continued guidance of the Holy Spirit to lead us into all truth, we work and pray for the transformation of the world into the Kingdom of God, and we look with faith for the triumph of righteousness and the life everlasting."

Jesus came to establish the Kingdom of God on earth and in the prayer he taught us, we say, "Thy kingdom come; thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven." The main idea about the kingdom is God's rule or kingship; the rule of truth, righteousness and love. The kingdom comes in the lives of people, wherever life is based on the teachings of Jesus. God's kingdom has been coming through the years, and we look for its continued coming as more people accept God's rule in their life and yield their lives to him. For that kingdom all true Christians and the church works and prays.

At times Christians think of the Kingdom of God as a creation of the Almighty, external to themselves and independent of life as they know it. They picture a new order of society into which we may enter or be excluded at pleasure of the king. The first followers of Jesus looked for a material kingdom; we have put aside that notion as crude and materialistic and accept in its place a future kingdom and think that our conception is spiritual. There are those who expect the kingdom to APPEAR and think it will consist of institutions, orders, and classes of society to be entered from without. But the kingdom does not come in that way, as G. H. Hubbard, states: "It is a spiritual condition of the soul WITHIN, not an institution either material or spiritual to be entered from without." "The Kingdom of God is within you." It consists of the values with which God is concerned and seeks to realize in the world of men.

Some Christians believe that the kingdom cannot come on earth, but it is beyond history and we may enter it after this life ends. The kingdom cannot come on earth because sinful man cannot obey the law of love and do what he ought to. He can only hope to be forgiven; and the hope of a Kingdom of God on earth is an illusion. If the Kingdom of God cannot come on earth then let us stop praying the Lord's Prayer, and we need to change our Statement of Faith.

Did Jesus believe that the will of God could be done on earth? By kingdom, Jesus meant the righteous rule of God on earth as it is in heaven. For Jesus the kingdom was not only future but present, already beginning to come. According to Mark Jesus came into Galilee proclaiming the good news from God, saying: "The time is fulfilled and the Kingdom of God is at hand." It has come. Matthew 12:28, "The Kingdom of God is come upon you." Jesus thought of the kingdom as a present reality and power in the world. For Him the Kingdom of God was central. He preached about it, taught about it, worked for it, lived for it and died for it. He called his followers to seek first God's kingdom. What does it mean to seek the kingdom? The book, "My Church," has some good suggestion.

1. "It means we are to think more about the kingdom than anything else." How much time do you spend thinking about sports, clothes, parties, movies, etc.? Is it too much to ask people to think more about the kingdom than their own pleasure?

2. "It means we are to work harder for the kingdom than anything else." How much time do you spend now in working for the kingdom? All work in which we are trying to do God's will could be included. Is it too much to expect people to work harder for the kingdom than for themselves?

3. "It means we are to put the kingdom at the top of the list of things we want in life." What is the list that you want? A good time, popularity, success, money? What do you want more than anything else in the world? Is it too much to expect people to put the kingdom at the top of the list of their interests and desires?

4. "We are to keep the kingdom in mind as we meet the ordinary situations of life.' In making day to day decisions let us ask ourselves, what way of acting is most in accord with Gods will? What way will bring nearer the day when Gods rule will be acknowledged by all?

5: "We are to bear the kingdom in mind as we choose a life work." What occupation can you follow and feel that you are doing God's will and helping to bring the day nearer when the kingship of God will be acknowledged by all?

6. "We are to bear the kingdom in mind when we join the church." The church is the place where God's will is being done and people work for the day when it will be done more perfectly. To be a full member of the church means to seek the kingdom more than ever.

7. "We are to find our greatest joy in losing ourselves in some good work." We never know true happiness until we forget ourselves in good work or service. When we utter the petition, "Thy kingdom come" it makes us sharers with God in his work. The Kingdom of God has partly come; in its fullness it is still to come on the earth. Only redeemed men who remain conscious of their need of divine mercy and help can be 'sharers with God in his work.' Each one must realize the kingdom in his own soul through the use of the opportunities that come to his hand. The kingdom will have fully come when all men accept God as Father and Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior, and seek to live according to the teachings of Jesus.

Distinguished W.M.U. Leader To Speak

The following is a brief biographical sketch of Miss Kathleen Mallory, much loved retiring Executive Secretary of the W.M.U. of the South, who will be guest speaker during the Week of Prayer for Foreign Missions at the First Baptist Church, Clanton, December 1, at 7:00 p.m. Friends from all over the county are most cordially invited to be present.

Miss Kathleen Mallory was born in Summerfield, Ala., the home of her grandparents. Her parents were Colonel H.S.D. Mallory and Luta Moore Mallory. Both parents were devout Baptists. The spiritual training she received in this Christian home was instrumental in her later decision to enter fulltime Christian service.

She attended grade school and high school at Dallas Academy in Selma. Desiring to make use of and train the talents with which she was endowed, she determined to go to college at a time when few young women in Selma were interested in higher education. She attended Goucher College, Baltimore, then known as Women's College, graduating with honors.

After graduation, she taught in Demopolis, Ala., returning to Selma at the end of the year. She was active in the local church and in educational and civic projects. She was one of the founders of the Parent-Teacher organization in Selma during this period.

Later she became W.M.U. Executive Secretary for the State of Alabama.

In 1912 Miss Edith Crane, retiring Secretary of the Southern Union, suggested her name to Miss Fannie E. S. Heck, Southwide W.M.U. President. Miss Eliza Broadus of Kentucky was chairman of the nominating committee. She, too, had heard of this outstanding Secretary in Alabama W.M.U. through Dr. W. O. Carver, who had met Miss Mallory at the summer assembly. Just before Miss Broadus went to the platform for the presentation of the report of the nominating committee, she sent her card to Miss Mallory, bearing these words: "I think you will like to know that you are the unanimous choice of our committee."

The Alabama Union relinquished its prior claim to her leadership in order that Miss Mallory might undertake the larger work.

After much prayer, correspondence, and the earnest seeking of His will, definite preparations were made for Miss Mallory to attend the Convention, which met in Oklahoma City that year, to accept the honored position.

A remark that was made by a much-loved elderly member of the Union when Miss Mallory came to the platform that summer day dressed in dainty, pale yellow organdy with a lovely hat to harmonize will long be remembered. This lady was heard to say: "I have only one objection to her. She is just too young."

Since then, Miss Mallor has led the Baptist women of the Southland for the past thirty-six years. We thank God for the years of constant loving moment-by-moment giving of herself for her Lord and the Missionary Union. She has always served faithfully, joyfully, radiantly. Clanton and Chilton County may consider themselves highly honored to have the privilege of hearing so distinguished a leader.

A "flying machine" was manufactured in Alabama almost 50 years before the Wright Brothers made their successful flight at Kitty Hawk, N. C. The heavier-than-air contraption was built by Joseph Arrington, a Mr. Norville, and a Dr. Davidson not far from Livingston in the days just prior to the Civil War. Dr. Davidson attempted to fly the craft from the crest of a steep knoll known today as Grampian Hill. The doctor, however, with fame and fortune riding on his wing tips, suffered a broken leg and the jeers of the onlookers when the "flying machine" collapsed without taking the breath-taking jaunt into 'wild blue yonder.'

How to Celebrate Your Wedding Anniversary

The "Dutch" Millers celebrated their Tin Wedding Anniversary Saturday. Everything had to be tin. Folks even ate off tin plates, and drank coffee out of tin cups.

When it was time to drink a toast to the "bride and groom," out came the final touch: ice cold beer in cans And come the Millers' 15th anniversary (glass) I expect we'll be toasting them with sparkling beer in bottles!

And I couldn't help thinking that there was a lesson for married folks in the way Dutch and his missus have got along together—in their policy of live-and-let-live, with never a criticism of each other's differences in taste.

From where I sit, it's due to two things: Temperance—as that moderate preference for beer suggests, and Tolerance—for their own differences of opinion—and for the tastes of others, whether applied to beer, to politics, or how to celebrate an anniversary.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

ATHLETE'S FOOT

Though some people think of athlete's foot as a summer ailment, it actually continues the year round. Ringworm of the feet is the way doctors speak of it, and it is carried by human beings in places where they walk barefoot, such as showers, baths, and gymnasiums.

Athlete's foot is a fungus disease, and the fungus which causes it thrives in the atmosphere found in shoes. This atmosphere is one of stale air which is warm and damp. A mild case of ringworm of the feet will take the form of a few cracks in the skin between the toes, but it can be a severe case with raw skin, blisters and pus.

Under proper treatment athlete's foot can be cleared up very easily. The greatest trouble is that when a case of athlete's foot is taken to the doctor, it is usually in the severe stage of development and has usually been irritated by one home remedy after another.

Only the mildest cases should be treated at home. When there is much redness, moisture, or pain, see your doctor. Hygeia, health magazine of the American Medical Association, says to treat the mild case by dusting between the toes with 10 per cent boric acid in powdered talc. If it does not clear up in two weeks, see your doctor. Use nothing except boric acid powder and never use any medicine containing iodine, mercury, sulfur or sulfa drugs.

Prevention of athlete's foot is easy and prevention is what we should try to get. Keep feet clean and dry, especially between the toes. Air shoes and socks when not wearing them. Select shoes that are as light and as well ventilated as possible, and every night and morning dust feet with 10 per cent boric acid powder.

If, however, a case of athlete's foot is picked up and treatment with powdered boric acid does not cure it, go to your doctor after two weeks. Thus he will be able to treat the disease before it goes too far.

TRACTOR SCHOOLS HELD FOR ALABAMA FARMERS

Last year county agents reported that approximately 1,500 farm people attended demonstrations to learn how to properly service and maintain tractors.

J. T. Gaillard, A.P.I. extension engineer, Auburn, thinks that attendance will go higher this year. Alabama farmers own approximately 28,000 tractors. He points out that many of these tractors are operated, maintained, and serviced by the farmers themselves.

For efficient service, the owner of a new tractor should learn why such jobs as changing the oil and oil filter are necessary. Many dollars are spent needlessly each year for fuel, lubricants, and repairs due to lack of proper maintenance and service of the farm tractor.

"Those who have not found out how to avoid this expense, may want to see the local county agent and plan to attend the next tractor school," Gaillard adds.

Even Fish Stories Can't Beat This

Monroeville's Sam McCall believes he has a story about a cat that will outdo any fish tale he's ever heard.

In April, 1946, when Mr. McCall and family moved to Monroeville, a tiny kitten took up at his home on Mt. Pleasant Street. Very little attention was paid to the kitten until a few months later, by some unknown means, it became completely blind. Then it was accepted as a regular pet of the family.

When the McCall family moved several months later to their present home on Pecan Street, the cat went along with them. There it remained until Hallowe'en Week in 1947, when the entire family was out of town for a period of a week. Back home again, they found the cat had disappeared. In the weeks that followed no sign of the feline was found.

One year after its disappearance, however, the cat reappeared—back at the home on Mt. Pleasant Street, now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lee. No one knows how it got there.

In the space of a year's time, the blind cat had traveled a distance of only about 1200 yards. —From The Monroeville Journal.

ALABAMA'S PRISONS

Montgomery — Alabama's prison population, with a 1948 increase of 357, reached a total of 4,580 as of October 1, it was stated in an annual report submitted by Prison Director Frank Boswell to the governor. It is estimated this figure will jump to 5,000 within 12 months.

Cash expenditures for the department were $4,151,000 during the 12-month period. The legislature appropriated $471,000 of this amount, and the remainder was derived from prison labor.

As of September 30, 1,011 of the inmates were working on highways throughout Alabama, and the Highway Department has been paying into the prison treasury approximately $30,000 per month for these services. "This revenue is greatly needed," Boswell stated, "and it is hoped that by next spring this total revenue will amount to $400,000 per year."

Boswell ended the fiscal year with a cash balance of $211,356. In addition to this, $99,000 was spent to purchase fertilizer for next year's crops.

One of the department's largest single incomes was derived from the two prison operated mills at Kilby and Draper. Together their cash earnings totaled $1,099,270, and of this amount, the report stated, $800,000 was net pofit.

The prison lash is still being used. "It has been used less this administration than in previous years," Boswell said, and added, "I am hopeful that the 1949 legislature will come to our rescue and provide means of proper segregation and punishment whereby the strap can be abolished."

Only 51 prisoners escaped this year, compared with 106 last year, and 188 the year before.

A bumper crop year was reported. The prison system harvested 109,884 bushels of corn, 860 bales of cotton, 33,070 bushels of sweet potatoes, 44,188 100-pound bags of Irish potatoes. Slaughtered to feed the prisoners were 375,562 pounds of beef and 202,005 pounds of pork.

The report stated that 250,224 gallons of vegetables were canned for prison food.

Two revival meetings were held at each prison institution during the year, and 76 inmates were converted and baptised.

NEW 'HOT SPOTS' FOR BOVINE T.B.

Too many people think that tuberculosis of cattle is a thing of the past in this country.

True, this disease has been pretty well beaten—thanks to an intensive 25-year fight by veterinarians, the Bureau of Animal Industry and livestock owners. No county in the nation reports a ratio of more than one case in every 200 cattle.

Cattle should be tested periodically.

But the menace is not dead. New centers of infection have been reported recently and veterinary authorities are afraid we may slacken up too quickly in our efforts to control the disease.

As long as a single infected animal remains, there will always be danger of spreading tuberculosis to a disastrous number of cattle. The last source of infection must be eliminated before we can let up in this fight.

Periodic testing of herds, on a herd or area basis, is the only way to be sure that new and serious flare-ups of bovine T. B. will not occur. In areas where tuberculosis has appeared in recent years, veterinarians are advising yearly tests. In areas long free of the disease, it may not be necessary to make tests oftener than every two or three years.

Following the tests, reactors should be slaughtered. Government funds are available to compensate the owners of the cattle thus destroyed.

Livestock health authorities throughout the country are active in efforts to finish off the fight against tuberculosis. With co-operation from stock owners, they believe the job can be done. In the meantime, every cattle owner should make sure that his own animals are tuberculosis-free. By doing so, he not only protects his livestock but the health of his own family.

A new and better way to dehorn a calf is recommended by the U.S.D.A. Regional Animal Disease Research Laboratory, Auburn.

The dehorning material resembles clear fingernail polish and is applied in the same manner.

USE DELICIOUS PECANS WHILE THEY ARE CHEAP

Alabama housewives are finding pecans aplenty in all food stores at this time.

With a total crop nearly two and one-half times larger than last year in prospect for Alabama, budget-minded homemakers will want to keep pecans at the top of their food list for awhile.

On October 1, the U. S. Department of Agriculture set the prospective crop of improved variety pecans in Alabama at 14,400.000 pounds and the seedling crop at 3,600,000 pounds. This adds up to 18.000,000 pounds. Last year's crop totaled only 7,440,000 pounds.

HOW TO MAKE FULL USE OF LIGHT IN THE HOME

"Dirt and dust cuts down efficiency of bulbs," says Stella Mitchell, A.P.I. extension home management specialist, Auburn.

Because of this, she recommends that bulbs and shades be dusted along with the furniture.

Another tip is to choose light colors for walls and ceilings because they reflect more light than dark ones. However, remember that dirt will reduce light reflection even though walls and ceilings are finished with a light color.

STATE PECAN GROWERS MAY TAKE PRICE BEATING

Montgomery, Ala. — A sharp downward surge of prices has painted a very dark future for the state's pecan growers, at least, as far as this season's crop prices is concerned, according to the State Agriculture Department.

Pointing out that prices are probably at an all-time ebb considering the cost of production, Jack Jones, director of the market news service, explained that the decline in pecan prices was undoubtedly due, in a large part, to the above-average size of the present crop.

Jones added that the market is also flooded with large crops of other nuts, and this, he said, would have a tendency to bring pecan prices down. Large quantities of chestnuts and Brazil nuts, Jones stated further, are being shipped into Alabama along with large shipments of California walnuts.

At the present time seedlings are selling for approximately eight cents per pound, while the Stuart variety is bringing growers nine to 14 cents. This is in sharp contrast to previous years when seedlings brought between 20 and 30 cents with Stuarts bringing growers 34 to 45 cents on the market.

Good sandwiches have enough filling to balance the bread, but not enough to bulge over the edge at the first bite. Remember, too, that lettuce in sandwiches is likely to become limp before the noon whistle blows, and tomatoes may soak and soften bread as they stand. The best thing to do is to wrap a wedge of cold lettuce in waxed paper, and quarter a tomato, then wrap in waxed paper. In this way crisp lettuce and tomatoes may be eaten along with the sandwich.

$35,000 Cancer Study Fund Is Granted

Another $35,000 was added today to the more than $100,000 already being spent by the American Cancer Society on cancer research in Alabama.

Mrs. Lillian G. Meade, exetive director of the society's Alabama division, announced a new grant in that amount to the Medical College of Alabama at Birmingham.

The grant raised the total allocated to cancer research within the state in the last six months by the American Cancer Society to $135,259—the largest amount being spent by the society on research in any Southern state.

At the same time, it removed a block that had threatened to stall the college's ambitious research project indefinitely.

The college's researchers will attempt to evaluate various simple mass screening tests proposed for cancer, or to uncover new tests.

The project at the Medical College of Alabama is the fifth in the state being financed by the American Cancer Society. Others are: Alabama Association of Pathologists, $34,000; Alabama Polytechnic, $19,000; Southern Research Institute, $40.172; and Highland Baptist Hospital (Birmingham) $7,087.

Only 32 Labor Strikes In State Last Year

Montgomery, Ala. — State Labor Director R. R. Wade has disclosed that of the 223 labor-management disputes investigated by his office during the fiscal year just ended, 32 developed into strikes.

Had all of the 223 cases resulted in strikes, Wade said some 68,722 workers would have been affected. As it was, the labor director explained, the number of employees losing man hours of work was reduced to 28,085.

Saying that a total of 6,231,328 man-hours were lost during the last fiscal year in Alabama, Wade pointed out that the large number of man-hours lost could be laid in the main to two strikes. The mine dispute at Birmingham cost 4,960,[illegible] man-hours, while the building trades battle in Mobile resulted in the loss of 1,120,000. A new low would have been reached in man hours lost had it been possible to avert the above two deadlocks.

The labor director said his department spent $32,717 last year in its efforts to mediate labor-management disputes over the state.

Alabama 4-H'ers Win Chicago Trips

Jimmy Warbington

Fred Neighbors

Clara Brownlow

Nancy Bayard

SUPERIOR records of achievement in National 4-H Clothing, Farm Safety, Field Crops and Food Preparation programs have won 1948 state championship honors for four Alabama club members. Each received an all-expense trip to the 27th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, Nov. 28 to Dec. 2. The winners, who were selected by the state club office, and brief outlines of their records follow:

By eliminating accident and fire hazards around his farm and home, and community, Jimmy Warbington, 17, of Marion, has won top State honors in the National 4-H Farm Safety program. In addition to extensive safety work on his home farm, Jimmy has worked enthusiastically in the community's drive to reduce automobile accidents. During nine years of 4-H work he has completed 17 projects, including five in Farm Safety. He has served his local club as president and secretary, and his county club as secretary. In recognition of these achievements, General Motors provided Jimmy an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago.

An outstanding youthful farmer, Fred Neighbors, 16, of Goodwater, has won State honors in the National 4-H Field Crops awards program. This year, Fred planted and tended 10 acres of corn, five acres of oats and vetch, and one of clover, and learned much about seed bed preparation, use of fertilizers, and approved cultivating and harvesting methods. As a part of his 4-H work, Fred took over the farm while his father was working away from home, and built it up to a state of high production. During six years in 4-H he has completed 23 projects and served both his local and county 4-H clubs as president. In recognition of his achievements, International Harvester Co. provided Fred with a National 4-H Club Congress all-expense award.

Preparing tasty, nutritious home meals is an art, well mastered by Clara Brownlow, 18, of Alpine, who has been named State winner in the 1948 National 4-H Food Preparation program. Clara has prepared and served 2,099 meals and 939 separate dishes during her six years as a 4-H member. She has also grown a 3¼ acre garden from which she has canned 4,068 jars of fruits and vegetables. As a recognition of her 4-H achievements, Clara was awarded an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago, provided by Servel, Inc.

Getting that well-known "new-look" was little trouble for Nancy Bayard, 16, of Greensboro, who selected, sewed, made over or mended 200 garments for herself and other members of the family during seven years of 4-H club work. In addition to completing 36 4-H projects, of which seven were in clothing, Nancy served as reporter, secretary, treasurer, and junior leader; gave 24 4-H talks at club, community and school meetings and over the radio; wrote 20 stories about 4-H tours, camps or special events, one of these to be published in Progressive Farmer. Named State winner in the 1948 National 4-H Clothing Achievement program, she was awarded an educational trip to the Chicago Club Congress provided by Spool Cotton Educational Bureau.

All of these activities are conducted under the direction of the Extension Service of the State Agriculture College and USDA cooperating.

AVOID SURPLUS MILK

Many Alabama farmers avoid surplus milk in spring and early summer by breeding some cows to freshen in late summer. Cows bred this November will freshen next August and September.

MULCHING THE WINTER GARDEN

If the winter garden stays too wet to work over a long period of time, weeds may starve out vegetables. Why not use a mulch?

WORTH OF WINTER LEGUMES

A two-year rotation of cotton and corn with vetch planted in the middles is paying off. This rotation, over an 18-year period at the Sand Mountain Experiment Sub-station, increased the yield of seed cotton 249 pounds per acre. It increased the yield of corn 11.4 bushels per acre.

(By JESSE CULP)

WKLF is once again "up with the roosters," and will be all winter long, thanks to special permission from the FCC to begin broadcast operations at 5:45 throughout the winter months. We hope that we can better serve you in this new operating schedule.

The biggest thing that we have to tell you about this week is the new talent show on WKLF, called "Vocals by Locals." The show, which will be heard each Saturday at 9:00, will feature local talent entirely. If you play the piano, sing, or have any other such talents and would like to participate, get in touch with the station right away. I would like to see you folks cooperate in this show, because it's always great to boost local talent as much as possible. Some of the biggest stars in radio today get their start on local radio stations. Paul Reid is producer and emcee of "Vocals for Locals." Listen for it this Saturday at 9:00.

Had a swell "thank you" note from Pilot Club prexy Faye Wooley this week regarding radio publicity for the recent azalea-planting drive which that club sponsored here. Mrs. Simpson tells me that the drive went over fine, so we'll be looking for some azalea blooms around Clanton in a year or so.

Information and entertainment are afforded in "Rhythm and Reason," which made its debut on WKLF this week. The program is produced by the National Safety Council, and features popular music on transcription, along with important safety tips. It's heard each Tuesday at 11:00.

Guest announcers on "Club 980" last week included Betty Tippett, Edwina Williamson, Paula Gore and Joan Royal. Incidentally, there was a slight coincidence in that respect. Paula's mother, Mrs. Gene Gore, was the very first guest announcer, way back several weeks ago.

Newest thing on "Club 980" is a "Letter of the Week" contest. Prizes are given to the two listeners who write in the best letters to the program each week. Deadline on letters is between Friday midnight and Tuesday midnight on the week that they are judged for.

Ramsay meets Woodlawn on Thanksgiving Day in the sixth annual Crippled Children's Clinic football game, as Legion Field becomes "Happiness Bowl." WKLF will join 22 other Alabama stations in broadcasting the game on the largest network which has ever carried the game in its six-year history. Red Barber, sports director of the Columbia Broadcasting System will direct the play by play broadcast, with the assistance of WAPI's Maury Farrell. It should be a thrilling contest; you'll want to listen. Broadcast time is 1:45, with the kick-off slated for 2:00. WKLF is happy to join in with neighboring stations in promoting this worthy endeavor.

The Crippled Children Clinic game broadcast is just one of three special programs which WKLF will present on Thanksgiving Day. At 9:30 in the morning we present "Silent Guest," a special quarter-hour show, starring Aline McMahos, Jackie Cooper and Iris Gabriel. Then at 11:15 we present "The Tradition of Thanksgiving." There'll be a full day of good listening on WKLF this Thursday.

I'm going to tell you about the latest thing in television, which, of course, is the latest thing in broadcasting. And you're going to say, "Well, what will they think of next?" The latest thing is phonevision. It's designed for certain proposed pay-as-you-see programs, such as first-run motion pictures and stage plays. Under the plan, these programs would come gabled on all television screens. However, the telephone company, if called, could throw a switch that would bring the image out clear. Customers would be charged for these calls to finance the cost of the programs. Perhaps it seems a little out of our interest here in Chilton County to discuss television. But the fact is that we'll probably be able to get television here in a matter of a year or slightly over, so I think it's well that we keep up with the latest developments in that field.

All you rural folks will be interested in the fact that your County Agent is now back on the air each week. "Red" is heard each Monday morning at 5:45. And of course, he's on "Facts for Farmers" each Wednesday at 12:15 to salute Chilton County's "Farmer of the Week."

Sign off time for this week. Until next Thursday, so long, and good listening.

BUNCH GRAPES MAY BE PLANTED THIS MONTH

Auburn, Ala. — Champanel is the hardiest of the bunch grapes and usually produces well in most of the state without spraying.

J. C. Ford, A.P.I. extension orchard specialist, points out that the Concord variety is better than Champanel but somewhat less hardy. In the northern half of Alabama and on high elevations in the southern part, Concords produce fruit most years without spraying if grown on a fence or trellis out in the open sun.

MANAGED WOODLANDS BRING $3,000,000

This year nearly 2,000 farmers were assisted by eight A.P.I. extension timber marketing specialists in selling almost $3,000,000 worth of timber.

This money was obtained from the sale of timber in woodlands marked for selective cutting. When this practice is followed, woodlands are left well stocked with trees to produce more timber.

Farmers who requested help from the specialists saved 34.605 acres of timber that would have been cut too young. The specialists advised farmers how to improve the stands on 41,000 acres. They examined and made management recommendations on a total of 503,354 acres.

I. R. Martin, A.P.I. extension forester, says that these specialists will give timber owners technical advice and assistance on farm woodland management and marketing problems, assist sawmillers in locating timber for sale, and help any woodland owner who requests assistance from them directly or through the local county agent.

HIS TEMPLES of WORSHIP

PICTURED here are various types of churches, ranging in cost from a few hundred dollars to over a million. The imposing structure in center is one of the most beautiful in America. Its physical equipment consists of almost everything possible for man to build into "HIS Temple of Worship."

Elsewhere on this page are pictured other types of churches in different cost brackets. You'll find in every community in America a church suited to the likes of those it serves.

A community without a church would be a poor place to live indeed. In city or hamlet throughout this land you'll find the rich and the poor flocking to the church of their choice on Sunday with a common faith and a common purpose.

The church points the way to a fuller and more useful life. Resolve to attend your church every Sunday.

YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you"—form a combination for good.

Mrs. A. E. Reagan had as her house guests from Thursday through Sunday of last week four people from the North who lived in Thorsby some forty-three years ago, when Thorsby was in its infancy and these ladies were quite young. There are still quite a few people here who remember them and got a real thrill out of seeing them after all these years, since it was their first trip back South. They were, Mesdames Della Wambem Assorson, Jewell Hylden DuShane, Elizabeth Wambem Eye, and Mary Olson Wallon. The Wambem family were among the early settlers who came to Thorsby from Iowa and built the home now known as the L. M. Jackson home. They enjoyed seeing old friends and visiting the old home and different places, all of which have of course changed almost beyond recollection. While in the South they also visited their father Mr. A. L. Wambem who resides at Huntsville, and before coming to Thorsby they stopped for a visit in Birmingham where they were guests of the Fosses. Mrs. Foss accompanied them to Thorsby and remained through the week.

A most delightful affair was enjoyed at the home of Mrs. A. E. Reagan on last Sunday when friends gathered together for a "Pot Luck" dinner in honor of her house guests. Old time friends enjoying this occasion with these ladies were: Mrs. Anna Phalm, Mrs. Ernie Hanson, Mrs. Chas. Howard, Mrs. Owen Carter, Mrs. J. O. Johnson, Mrs. Marie Peterson, Mrs. Peggy Peterson and Albert, Miss Alma Lefstead, Mr. and Mrs. James Bosworth, Leonard Bosworth, Mr and Mrs. John Brothers, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Foss of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Turnquist and the honor guests. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mason and Ralph Jr. of Selma were also included. Other courtesies extended these visitors were when they were entertained in the lovely new home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Howard on Friday night and on Sautrday night Mr. and Mrs. James Bosworth entertained.

Messers Chas. Howard, Owen Carter and Ernie Hanson made a trip to Panama City last Saturday and returned Monday. It was a business trip but we heard it whispered around that they intended to try their luck at a little fishing.

A "flying machine" was manufactured in Alabama almost 50 years before the Wright Brothers made their successful flight at Kitty Hawk, N. C. The heavier-than-air contraption was built by Joseph Arrington, a Mr. Norville, and a Dr. Davidson not far from Livingston in the days just prior to the Civil War. Dr. Davidson attempted to fly the craft from the crest of a steep knoll known today as Grampian Hill. The doctor, however, with fame and fortune riding on his wing tips, suffered a broken leg and the jeers of the onlookers when the "flying machine" collapsed without taking the breath-taking jaunt into 'wild blue yonder.'

Simon Praised In Concert Here

Tuesday night, Abbey Simon showed himself master of the keyboard in perhaps the most exacting piano program Clanton has heard. His renditions of Brahms and Lizet were exciting and his Chopin numbers were enthusiastically received, but his clever improvisations captivated the audience.

Clanton was fortunate in engaging this exceptional artist for Abbey Simon is the only pianist in the serious music field who has this gift of improvisation.

Clanton Community Concerts Association takes pride in having secured this distinguished musician to initiate the 1948-1949 series.

A STATEMENT OF ENLISTMENT POLICY OF THE U. S. ARMY

Important facts about VOLUNTEERING and the DRAFT. Every able-bodied young American who did not bear arms in World War II has a direct, personal interest in the new Selective Service Law. Here are the facts:

The most important thing to remember is that the U. S. Army will continue to rely on voluntary enlistments as its primary source of manpower. Selective Service will be used only to make up the difference between authorized strength and the number of volunteers. If there are not enough volunteers to do the job, young men between 19 and 26 will be subject to call for 21 months of service, with an additional five years in inactive reserve status.

You may prefer to choose from a number of other courses open to you. First, if you are 18 you may volunteer (within limited monthly quotas) for one year's training with the Army of the United States. Up to 110,000 men in this classification can be accepted. Following active duty you must, if offered the assignment, serve four years in an organized unit of the Reserve or National Guard; or, if not offered such assignment, serve six years in the inactive Reserve. Either of these requirements may be met by enlisting for two or more years in the Regular Army.

Second, if you are between 19 and 26 you may volunteer for 21 months in the Regular Army. Upon completion of this service you must serve for three years with an organized reserve unit or national guard, or serve five years in the inactive reserve. Either of these requirements may be met by extending your Regular Army enlistment another 12 months.

Third, and Best, you may enlist in the Regular Army for three or more years. There are many advantages to this course. Men between 17 and 35 who measure up to high Regular Army standards can enter on a professional career that has few equals in civilian life. Here are the important facts about these opportunities: The Army Technical School Plan, Service Overseas, Continued Education, Officer Candidate School. Veterans have special choices open to them, depending on their experience, and many other advantages offered for a 3-year enlistment. If you have any questions about your status under the new Selective Service Act, stop by your local U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station located in the New Wade Building, Clanton, Ala., and get the full details.

To make brooms last longer, soak them in hot water and let dry before using. Repeat from time to time. If the broom is stood on the handle instead of the straw, this too, will help to preserve the broom's life.

INCREASED COTTON YIELDS

A five-year cotton-lupine rotation made 596 pounds of seed cotton per acre more than cotton that received 300 pounds per acre of commercial nitrogen. The experiment took place at the Wiregrass Sub-station.

To keep the glossy finish on painted floors, walls and woodwork, substitute a little powdered glue for soap the next time they are washed.

DRENCH EWES WITH PHENOTHIAZINE NOW

"Ewes should be drenched with phenothiazine emulsion now before they become too heavy with lamb," says W. H. Gregory, A.P.I. extension livestock specialist, Auburn.

He recommends three ounces of the liquid for each ewe to control internal parasites during the winter.

SERICEA

Sericea is popular with farmers because it grows well on land much too poor and dry to grow permanent pasture plants such as white clover and dallis grass. Those who saved sericea seed this fall should find them a good source of cash income.

PRUNING FRUIT TREES

Fruit trees may be pruned as soon as the leaves have shed or any time from then until sap rises in the spring. Those who practice fall and winter pruning avoid having to do this job during the rush of early spring work.

Parking Meters

Clanton is to have parking meters. That information comes from a reliable source, and so far as the writer is concerned, is good news.

With parking meters operating in our city the parking space now used by one car during a day can be used by thirty, forty or fifty cars. The fellow who is prone to park his private car in the center of the business district where parking space is at a premium, will, after parking meters are installed, think twice and then drive his automobile to a less expensive spot to park it for any length of time.

On the other hand for shopping, the cost is very little. At the nominal fee of 1 penny for twelve minutes a lot of business and shopping can be taken care of at very little cost.

We're for parking meters. Even though now we will have to drive our car to the back alley to leave that space open for shoppers and visitors who need the parking space.

And About Truck Routes

Most other cities do. Why doesn't the City Council set up a truck-route through Clanton to relieve the traffic on the highway?

The truck-route should leave U. S. 31 at South Clanton and turn right into Sixth Street on through town until the Avenue running by Ellis Tourist Court is reached then back into the highway and proceed north. That would do a lot to relieve the traffic in the downtown district. Think it over.

Cloth Tougher Than Steel

A new plastic cloth material, described as "easy to make from common textiles and plastics of the polyster type," possesses tensile strength that is twice as strong as steel on a weight-for-weight basis.

The material is prepared by draping a piece of cloth over a mold and spreading a liquid plastic over it. Alternate layers of plastic and cloth are applied until a multi-layer, "sandwich" of the desired thickness, has been built up.

Consequently, it is said by experts reporting to the American Chemical Society, that the cloth material, in weight equal to one-half that of steel, will offer the same protection. There are other uses for the material, such as molded forms, including automobile bodies, boats, fusilages, furniture, noiseless gear, water pipes and "other types of construction, limited only by man's imagination."

Radio Ramblings

(By JESSE CULP)

Clanton's first and only radio station, WKLF, completes it's first year of broadcasting today, having officially signed on the air last December 2nd.

And with the advent of it's first anniversary, Mr. Robert B. Taber, General Manager, announced today that a full hour and a half variety broadcast will take place this Sunday afternoon, featuring the best local talent it is possible to obtain as well as speeches by many prominent civic and business leaders of Clanton and Chilton County.

Included in the entertainment lineup will be many outstanding local vocalists, hillbilly bands and quartets. Also taking part in the huge broadcast will be such outstanding leaders as Hon. C. Fenn Jones, Mayor; Hon. Lonnie Parrish. Probate Judge; Mr. Ben Rath, Lions Club; Mr. Leo Thompson. Kiwanis Club; Miss Faye Woolley, Pilot Club; Mr. Truman Luker, Chamber of Commerce; Mr. Joe Campbell, Farming; Rev. Carlisle Miller, Glergy, and Mr. Howard Boockholdt, Education. On hand to greet those taking part in the broadcast will be Dr. J. Kelley Robinson and Mr. John S. Robinson, president and secretary and treasurer, respectively, of the Southeastern Broadcasting Company, operators of Radio Station WKLF.

Having only been in Clanton a few months, Mr. Taber, in announcing the anniversary broadcast, which will begin at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, said that he would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone in the Central Alabama area for their fine cooperation. He said that he hoped that Clanton's radio station would continue to progress. Along these lines he also announced the appointment of Mr. Paul Reid to the station staff. Mr. Reid comes to WKLF as program director after graduating from the school of Radio Arts, University of Alabama. "Mr. Reid comes to us with a world of the best radio training possible, having graduated from one of the highest rated radio schools in the country. Under the constant guidance of Mr. Reid we hope to have in the very near future one of the best program schedules of any local radio station," said Mr. Taber.

The local radio station manager also announced that major reconstruction is about to take place at WKLF's transmitter site on the Selma Highway. He said that as soon as materials are made available that twenty thousand feet of copper wire will be installed to make a complete, new ground system as well as several hundred feet of copper wiring. "Most of the materials are on the site now," said Taber, "and as soon as the remainder have arrived and with a good break in the weather construction will get underway." He also said that future plans for the advancement of WKLF are now being considered and will be announced at a later date.

In tracing the growth of Clanton's radio station, members of the Southeastern Company began formulating plans for a radio station in the rich Central Alabama area some two years ago. After several surveys and conferences with consulting engineers, plans were formulated and a construction permit was issued by the Federal Communications Commission on August 14, 1947.

Mr. Lester Carter, a Clanton native, who, with a world of technical radio experience, was selected to be the station's Chief Engineer. He in turn brought in his brother, Mr. Grady Carter, another highly technical radio engineer. Together these two men worked tirelessly day and night until it came time to begin their test runs to bring the station up to it's operating peak. This was on November 20, 1947. During this testing period mail was received from every part of the North American continent acknowledging strong reception of the powerful signal of these tests. The station officially took to the air on December 2nd a year ago.

Since it's first broadcast day WKLF has shown a steady climb until now it enjoys an enviable reputation among the small-station group. It is now a member of the state-wide association of the Alabama Broadcasters Association, a member of the world-wide news gathering facilities of the Associated Press, and a member of the Keystone and World Broadcasting Systems.

REMEMBER

Next week the nation will remember one of the worse tragedies the United States ever witnessed. I say worse, because of what followed. For it was on December 7th, 1941, while the church bells were ringing and the chimes were sounding the call to worship to a people of a free land that the planes flew over Pearl Harbor and poured forth their deadly weapons. This generation will always remember that fateful morning, and the bloody war which followed the attack on Pearl Harbor. But lest the generations to follow forget, or never know, it was announced through the Press, and proclaimed by voice over the radio, and has gone down in history of a modern world, "REMEMBER PEARL HARBOR." The people of a thousand years from now will read and learn of the event of that day, and the bloody war which followed.

A. T. HICKMAN

But let us turn our thoughts toward the Bible for the word "REMEMBER." In Deut. 24:9, we read, "Remember what the Lord thy God did unto Miriam by the way, after that ye were come out of Egypt." Now, Miriam was the sister of Moses and Aaron, and what was it that God did unto her that the Lord wanted remembered. You Bible readers may turn to Numbers, chapter 12. Here you will learn what God did to Miriam, and why He did it. Miriam and Aaron had spoken against Moses, the faithful servant of God. For this sin, God caused Miriam to become a leper, for leprosy covered her body. Aaron rose up and asked Moses to pray for her, that she might not die. Moses did, but God commanded that she be shut out from the camp seven days. If people could only realize that to speak against God's ordained ministers they are sinning against God, and putting themselves open to the judgement of God. "He suffered no man to do them wrong, yea, he reproved kings for their sakes; saying, touch not mine anointed, and do my prophets no harm." When you are tempted to speak evil of a prophet of God, just remember what God did unto Miriam

We pastors who have churches with people that appreciate our ministry, and who are upholding our hands in prayer, morally and financially, should be happy, and I am a happy pastor May God bless every minister of His in this county.

CLEANING YOUR EARS

Everyone has heard the old saying that nothing smaller than the elbow should be put in your ear. That is just a way of saying put nothing in your ear. It refers to the habit which so many people have of cleaning their ears with matches, keys, bobby pins, fingernails and the like. "But," you say, "I'm very careful, and I've been doing it for years without any harm to my ears." It may be true that you are careful and have cleaned your ears with a match for years, but the "without any. harm" may not be true.

There is always the possibility of puncturing the eardrum which is only about an inch from the outer entrance into the ear. Sound waves, carried in the ear, hit this drum and it vibrates, thus carrying the sound to the middle and inner ear. From there the vibration is carried by nerves to the brain, and we have the perception of sound. If the eardrum is punctured, hearing is hurt and may be lost in that ear. Also an opening in the drum allows bacteria to get into the middle ear, thus causing a painful and dangerous infection. Pus from the middle ear can pass into the mastoid and cause serious mastoid disease. Even the brain can become infected, and this can prove fatal.

The skin of the canal leading to the drum is very tender and is easily cut. An infection here is very painful and is very hard to clear up. Even cotton on a stick is capable of cutting this very tender skin.

To clean the ear, wash the outer ear thourqughly and clean the opening to the canal with your finger covered by a soft washcloth. This is too large to go into the canal. Be sure the washing of this opening is gentle.

When a foreign object gets in the ear or when excess wax causes your ear to ring, see your doctor. He can remove these things, for he has the knowledge and the instruments with which to do it. In the meantime you should put nothing smaller than your elbow in your ear.

THINGS WE SEE AND HEAR

CCHS — By "Tuck" — CCHS

Those six weeks tests aren't getting any easier, are they, slaves?

Wiley Jones, what's the idea of running to lunch? You know Mrs. Griffin doesn't like that.

Jearlyne Studdard, you seemed to be pretty popular at that dance the other night. (I wonder why?)

Buddy Roberts, you seem to have certain Jr. I and Jr. II girls in a daze down at the school. Must be that physique.

That sixth period study hall is really getting out of hand. Could it be those Jr. III's that are in there?

Well, football fans, looks like all the fun of going to the games is over until next year, and I'm sure there aren't many people that are glad to hear that.

Some of those Jr. II's seem not to know that you are supposed to walk on the right of the hall. (Just thought I'd tell you guys.)

Joanne Scott, can't you decide on who you want? Or is it him?

Alice Deramus, seems as though some people don't exactly love you. If you know what I mean, and I'm sure you do.

Richard Easterling, why weren't you on that hay ride last Saturday night? Had something more important to do, no doubt.

Hugh Bates, you seem to be pretty popular with the girls, especially the smaller ones. I wonder why?

By the way, some people seem to have gotten the wrong impression of my column. Remember! I said that everything I said was all in fun and some people don't seem to think so.

Marion Deaton, can't you find anybody that will fall for you? Or maybe you just don't want to find anybody.

Pat Huddleston, why don't you pay more attention to Joe Doug? He sure has got it bad.

Fred Thompson, Rebecca's kinda playing hard to get, isn't she? Or is is you, Fred?

We've been trying to tell Mr. Waters that we would get healthier by going out instead of staying in on Tuesdays and Wednesdays and having health, but he seems to have a different opinion of that.

Ann Huddleston, Lee Moore seems [illegible] his eye on you. How about [illegible] Ann?

Marcus Klinner, why do you play so hard to get? You know Kathryn is trying so hard to get a little attention. Why don't you give in?

Phillip Lawrence, who were you taking that candy to the other day? Same place I would have, no doubt.

Shelby Studdard, you sure did look nice Sunday night. What happened to Billy?

Those Thanksgiving holidays were fun, weren't they, guys and gals? We should do that more often.

Billy Powell, you sure have got a pleasing personality. So the girls say. That is, until you get mad.

F.F.A. NEWS

The Clanton Chapter of the F.F.A. is striving to increase its library reading material. We feel that many farming people in this area have good reading material they could pass on to us.

Our library could use any books you have on farming and any that are of educational value. The dates of publication are not too important since the material will be used for reports and to build a better background for modern farming.

If you will let us know that you have reading material to donate, we will be by to pick it up. We have our F.F.A. meeting on the first and third Mondays of each month at 9:40 a.m. in the agricultural building. We invite all those interested in the chapter to visit us on these days at our meetings.—Reporter, Donald Brand.

WALNUT CREEK W.S.C.S.

The ladies of the Walnut Creek Methodist Church met on Wednesday afternoon, November 10th, 1948, and organized a Woman's Society of Christian Service. The pastor, Rev. John Rountree, presided over the meeting and read the purpose of the organization and the by-laws. He was assisted by Mrs. Joe Campbell of the First Methodist Church here, in the explanation of the purpose and by-laws. The election of officers was held with the following being elected:

President, Mrs. Bill Coggins; Vice-President, Mrs. Marion Johnson; Promotional Secretary, Mrs. Ray Enfinger; Publicity and Printing Chairman, Mrs. John Rountree; Transportation, Miss Edna Lane Johnson; Fellowship Committee, Mrs. Janie Johnson, Chairman; Mrs. T. L. Mims and Mrs. J. J. Johnson; Spiritual Life Secretary, Mrs. Euel Johnson.

It was voted unanimously that we should meet each Wednesday afternoon before the second and fourth Sundays of each month. Our next meeting was scheduled to meet at the home of Mrs. Marion Johnson at 2:00 on November 24th. The meeting was called to order by the president after which the secretary read the minutes and called the roll. There were eleven members present. Our program consisted of very interesting talks on "Poland Struggles to Her Feet," by Mrs. Clement Easterling; "War Casualty in Malaya," by Mrs. Ray Enfinger; and "Guile in Honolulu," by Mrs. Euel Johnson. We were then dismissed by our pastor, after which delightful refreshments were served by the hostess. —Mrs. John Rountree, Chairman, Publicity and Printing Committee.

NEW HARMONY

The attendance was a little small Saturday night and Sunday due to the rain, but there was a nice attendance Sunday night, which we were glad to see.

Bro. Oliver preached three very inspiring sermons, which everyone enjoyed.

There were some visitors Sunday night, and as we did not get all their names we will just say, we were very glad to have them and we invite them back at any time.

We are very sorry that the rain knocked out the service Friday night, although Bro. Griffin did come and visited the people in the community.

Let's all keep coming to church and worshiping our Lord.

TURN LIGHT ON AND GATHER EXTRA EGGS

"It seems to make little difference to the hens when lights are used," says John Ivey, A.P.I. extension poultryman, Auburn.

However, he points out that morning lights are the most common and probably the most convenient for the hen.

HUNTING SEASON HAS OPENED WITH A BANG

Hunting season for quail, doves, ducks, geese, deer, turkeys, and coots. opened in Alabama on Thanksgiving or the following day.

Earl F. Kennamer, A.P.I. wildlife specialist, urges all hunters to arm themselves with current hunting regulations in addition to their firearms and ammunition.

He points out that a new federal regulation requires that the unplucked head and the feet of all migratory wildfowl must remain on the bird until it is in the home.

This precaution is necessary so as to preserve the identity of birds.

All hunters, when shooting a repeating shotgun, must be sure that the firearm is plugged so that only three shots may be fired at one loading of the gun. The plug must be made so that the hunter has to disassemble the gun to remove it. If the magazine cap on a repeating shotgun has to be taken off in order to remove the plug, then the gun is considered to be disassembled.

Write to the Division of Game. Fish, and Seafoods, Department of Conservation. Montgomery 4, Ala., for a copy of current hunting regulations.

FARMERS ARE URGED TO VOTE DECEMBER 7th

All Alabama farmers are interested in prices they get for their crops and how to keep up productivity of their land.

This is why B. L. Collins, executive officer of the Production and Marketing Administration, urges eligible farmers to vote during the P.M.A. committeemen election, December 7th.

Committeemen and delegates elected in community elections on this date will have much to do with the progress made in farm production and soil conservation as well as price supports and marketing programs in 1949.

These committeemen represent the farmers in their communities and the county in making recommendations on farm programs. The county committees are charged with the responsibility of administering farm programs having to do with soil and water conservation, production goals, price supports and other programs dealing directly with farmers.

Every farmer who has participated in the 1948 Agricultural Conservation Program, or who is eligible for a commodity loan or other price support, or who has a contract with the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation is eligible to vote.

MAKE AMBER MARMALADE FOR AN UNUSUAL GIFT

Auburn, Ala. — "If you want to make a gift that will ge welcomed anywhere, can a few pints of amber marmalade," suggests Lavada Curtis, A. P.I. extension food preservation specialist.

All you do is remove peel from one orange and one grapefruit and slice it very thin. Parboil peel three times. First add one quart of cold water, bring to a boil, cook for five minutes and discard water. Do this same thing two more times.

Now, cut pulp into thin slices, remove seed and "rag" and combine pulp, juice, and parboiled peel.

Weigh or measure this mixture and add twice as much water. Boil mixture rapidly 40 minutes before measuring for amount of sugar.

Weigh or measure mixture and add equal amount of sugar. Add salt and boil mixture rapidly for 25 minutes, or until jelly stage is reached.

If a thick marmalade is desired, boil longer, but watch carefully to prevent scorching. Let stand until slightly cool. Then stir to distribute fruit. Put into pint jars. Process in a water-bath canner for 15 minutes.

SPRAY FOR SCALE

Peach, plum, apple, and pear trees should be sprayed for scale between the time leaves fall and growth starts in the spring. Use an oil emulsion spray containing 66 2-3 per cent oil. It is highly satisfactory for apples and pears. If peach trees had leafcurl, it is better to spray them with lime-surphur solution.

STANTON

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Latham of Miami, Fla., have announced the arrival of a son on November 22, 1948. Mrs. Latham was Miss Sarah Trussell of Mississippi. Donald is the grandson of Mrs. Mary Hicks and attended school here. Each year since 1932 Donald has returned to this section on vacation.

Mr. S. B. Rogers and Mr. Millard Reynolds left for Mobile, Ala., Thanksgiving afternoon to enter the Pirate Treasure Run. This is an annual affair and motorcycle riders from many states participate. The run was scheduled for November 26 and 27, 500-mile course. On the morning of the 26th, these riders were checked out at 6:00 a.m., in a driving rain, but after 36 or more miles of riding the water in the streams was rising so fast and had gotten so swift that some of the riders were washed down stream and all participants had to return to the Harley-Davidson Motorcycle Co., and report conditions were such that the riders could not go on as scheduled. A banquet was given these men and it was decided that the run was definitely called off due to weather conditions.

Beverly Kay infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Huff, Jr., is back at home much to the delight of her many admirers. The operation performed on Beverly Kay in a Birmingham hospital was successful for which we are truly thankful.

Many, many Thanksgiving reunions during the past week. We do have much for which to be thankful. Mrs. Mattie Woolley had the pleasure of having several of her children during the holidays. Those from afar were Frances and her two children—Glenn, wife and two children.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Fuller of Mobile, Ala.. spent the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Smitherman and Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Fuller. Mrs. Eugene Fuller's health is much better and she has returned to her job as bookkeeper at The Three Sisters.

Mrs. Ellen Shoults is at home at this time with her son, Mr. Sam Shoults, at Lawley, Ala. Mrs. Shoults we are glad to report is doing nicely considering her age.

Mr. Herman Davis and family are moving to Selma, Ala., this week. Herman is stationed at Craig Field.

Walter C. Hand left Washington, D.C., at 9:10 a.m., November 21, 1948, Eastern Airlines, for New York; leaving New York at 3:00 p.m. the same day, by World Transcontinental Airlines for Paris. He will remain in Paris five or six days with his former boss while he was in India. After this visit to Paris he will fly to his destination, Vienna, Austria, where he is with the Economic Cooperation Administration (European Recovery Program). Mr. Hand has recovered from a major eye operation undergone this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rush were called to Lomax, Ala. due to the illness of their mother, Mrs. S. M. Heifner, last week. We wish for this good woman a speedy recovery.

A letter from Miss Helen Heifner, a former resident of this section, gave good news last week. Helen underwent a very serious operation during the summer and has fully recovered and is doing a nice job with her Magazine Agency at Lomax, Ala. Helen sells any and all kinds of magazine subscriptions, greeting cards, Christmas cards, etc. I know that Helen would greatly appreciate her friends remembering her with any business they have, as Helen has been handicapped through life. She is to be commended for her outlook on life—in fact Helen is doing a swell job of helping herself and her family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Robinson spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Gay.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Claud Friday announced the birth of a son last week at the Baptist Hospital, Selma, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Gay and son, Leonard, have a brand new house trailer. 'Tis an extra large one, very nice indeed, and they are at home on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Jim W. Gay.

Thorsby News

(By MISS C. N. TURNQUIST — Correspondent)

Thorsby Institute News—

The Sophomore Class won first place in the Stunt Night Program Saturday night, November 27th, and the Seniors won second place. There was a large attendance for this program. The faculty sponsors who helped the pupils give the stunts were: Freshmen, Mrs. Turner; Sophomores, Mr. Wilson; Juniors, Mrs. Wilson; Seniors. Mr. Williams.

Second Term examinations will be given Thursday and Friday, December 2nd and 3rd.

School will close Wednesday, December 22nd, for the holidays, and will re-open Wednesday. January 5th.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Ogburn and children enjoyed a trip to Birmingham last Wednesday and saw the Kiddie Parade of the Xmas Carnival.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brothers of Birmingham spent Thanksgiving here and joined other members of the family at Thanksgiving dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Erle Ellis in Clanton, Ala. They returned to Birmingham Thursday night and Mr. and Mrs. James Bosworth returned with them and had a nice visit with relatives, returning home on Saturday night. They enjoyed seeing the Xmas Carnival Parade on Saturday morning and reported that it was one of the finest they had seen.

Miss Loretta Peterson spent Thanksgiving here with her mother and brother, Mrs. Albert Peterson and Albert, Jr., and Mrs. Marie Peterson. She returned to Berea, Ky., on Monday where she is studying to be a trained nurse.

Mrs. Irene Peterson and Mrs. Eva Turner enjoyed immensely, a wonderful Thanksgiving dinner on Thursday night with Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Price out in the country.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Reinhardt and two boys were among those who spent Thanksgiving here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Reinhardt, and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Freeman.

Mrs. Marie Peterson had two of her sons with her for Thanksgiving—the Harry Peterson family from Tuscaloosa, and the Jack Petersons of Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Patrick enjoyed the company of Mrs. Zack Pennington of Northport, Ala. Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Nichols of Birmingham and his mother, Mrs. T. L. Patrick, of Billingsley, Ala., during Thanksgiving Day and the week end.

Mrs. Mary Gladys Ray and son, Robert Earl, of Brighton, Ala., weekended with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Marcus.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Marcus had as their guests for Thanksgiving dinner Mr. and Mrs. J. Leonard Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Marcus and Ds. and Mrs. Thomas Hayes. and little Joe Akins.

Dining with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Pate on Thanksgiving Day were Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Marcus and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pate.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Payne, Jr.. and their charming little daughters enjoyed their Thanksgiving Day in Plantersville, Ala., with her mother and other relatives.

Miss Bertha Littleton spent the week end here with her sister, Mrs. Emmett Billingsley, and Mr. Billingsley and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Billingsley had as their holiday guests Messrs. J. W. Littleton, J. G. Billingsley and Mrs. W. H. Goodgame.

Mrs. W. M. Benson, Mrs. Estell Hayes and Paula Margaret, Mrs. Genie Robinson and Mrs. Elwyn Jones made up a party and went to Birmingham Monday on a shopping trip.

Mr. Emmett Billingsley had the misfortune of falling the other day and suffered a few broken ribs which is causing him a great deal of discomfort. We trust that he will recover nicely.

One of the nicest occasions of the holiday season was that of a large group of friends and relatives who assembled together at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Collins, Sr., on last Sunday and celebrated with them their 25th wedding anniversary, besides celebrating the birthdays of several members of the family. A big dinner was enjoyed by the following: Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Collins of Siluria, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. Ward Mays. Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Powell of Birmingham. Ala.; Mr. Ford Reeves, Widowee, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Collins, and all the members of the immediate family. Such a good time was enjoyed that it was decided to make this an annual event, to take place the last Sunday in November.

It is with regret that we learn of the home property as well as business property of Mr. Earl Marcus being advertised for sale. We cannot quite imagine Thorsby without "Earl and Lissie" and we hope that should they sell out, they will still remain in our midst.

Mr. Fred Howard enjoyed Thanksgiving with his daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth O'Barr, in Birmingham, Ala. His daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Sims, of Atlanta, joined him there for a sort of family reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tuton (Eliza Bice) of Gainesville, Fla.. stopped over here Friday evening for a visit with relatives, en route to Tuscaloosa, where they attended homecoming day and saw the Alabama-Florida football game.

Rev. and Mrs. Collie Seymour and children left Tuesday for Valparaiso, Fla., where they will make their home. This fine family will be greatly missed in Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hansen enjoyed the company of Mrs. Anna Phalin and Mrs. J. O. Johnson for Thanksgiving dinner.

Mrs. N. C. Peterson and daughter, Shirley, of Calera, Ala., visited a while here on Monday.

Friends and members of the United Protestant Church gave a farewell dinner for Rev. Collie Seymour and his family on last Sunday at the fellowship rooms in the church. A large crowd of friends enjoyed this affair and a delicious dinner was served.

Mrs. Sam Bailey of Birmingham spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. Chas. Peterson, and the Roy Raybons.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

CLEANING YOUR EARS

Everyone has heard the old saying that nothing smaller than the elbow should be put in your ear. That is just a way of saying put nothing in your ear. It refers to the habit which so many people have of cleaning their ears with matches, keys, bobby pins, fingernails and the like. "But," you say, "I'm very careful, and I've been doing it for years without any harm to my ears." It may be true that you are careful and have cleaned your ears with a match for years, but the "without any harm" may not be true.

There is always the possibility of puncturing the eardrum which is only about an inch from the outer entrance into the ear. Sound waves, carried in the ear, hit this drum and it vibrates, thus carrying the sound to the middle and inner ear. From there the vibration is carried by nerves to the brain, and we have the perception of sound. If the eardrum is punctured, hearing is hurt and may be lost in that ear. Also an opening in the drum allows bacteria to get into the middle ear, thus causing a painful and dangerous infection. Pus from the middle ear can pass into the mastoid and cause serious mastoid disease. Even the brain can become infected, and this can prove fatal.

The skin of the canal leading to the drum is very tender and is easily cut. An infection here is very painful and is very hard to clear up. Even cotton on a stick is capable of cutting this very tender skin.

. . . . . . SECTION OF - CHILTON COUNTY NEWS - CLANTON, ALA. . . . . . .

Ruby Brockway, employee of the First National Bank in Mobile and daughter of County Agent C. J. ockway, is shown above teasing a young domesticated fawn with a Coca-Cola bottle. The baby deer was cked up in Clarke County by the State Wildlife Conservation Service this fall. It was exhibited first at the abama State Fair in Birmingham, and later at the Mobile County Fair where this picture was taken.

otton Yields Climbing In State

N the ten-year period from 1923 to 1932, the average Alabama cotton yield was on- 172 pounds of lint per acre. Better pro- uction methods shot the 1937-46 average up 261 pounds. Record-breaking estimated eld for 1948 is 367 pounds of lint per acre.

Other records show that Alabama farmers ve not averaged under a half bale of cot- n per acre any year since 1942. Until that ar the state had averaged as much as a lf bale per acre only 2 years since record keeping began in 1867. These years were 1937 and 1938.

Another eye-opening fact to be observed is that three counties in the state averaged over 400 pounds of lint per acre the last five years. They are Marshall, DeKalb, and Cullman.

Farmers have increased yields by using delinted and treated seed of pure recommended varieties, earlier planting on better land, better fertilization and insect control, and winter legumes in the rotation.

Timber Brings Millions To Alabama Farmers

ALABAMA farmers marketed nearly $3,000,000 worth of timber during the past year. More than 1,800 farmers took advantage of management practices to get maximum use of woodlands. These statements are made by Ivan R. Martin, A.P.I. extension forester, in summarizing reports from timber marketing specialists.

"These profits were obtained from woodlands which were marked for selective cutting and which are still sufficiently well-stocked with trees to be high producing woodlands," states Martin.

While supervising the work of farmers, timber marketing specialists assisted them in saving 34,605 acres of young timber from being prematurely cut. The farmers improved the timber stand on 41,000 acres. They had a total of 503,354 acres examined for management recommendations.

Thirty-six Alabama counties have eight timber marketing specialists available for giving technical advice and assistance on farm woodland management and marketing problems. These employees also assist sawmillers in locating timber for sale. Woodland owners who need assistance may contact them directly or make requests through extension county agents.

Housewives Grade Market Products Carefully

THE strictest judge and the hardest to please in quality is Mrs. Average Housewife. She grades the foods she buys as systematically, and much more completely, than could any government or commercial grader.

A. W. Jones, A.P.I. extension marketing specialist, makes these statements in cautioning farmers to market on a quality basis.

It is estimated that 70 per cent of food purchases last year were made through self-service stores. Here the housewife does the final grading and leaves poor quality stuff on the counter. Some of the produce she now casts aside was formerly weighed and sold along with high quality products.

As we develop our higher standard of living the consuming public becomes more quality product conscious. Whether buying an automobile or a dozen eggs, the story is the same—he checks on the quality.

"As production for market is increased," says Jones, "farmers must realize that there is no unlimited market standing ready for an increased supply. They must assume that their products will be graded, labeled, packaged, advertised, and sold, on the basis of quality."

He continues by pointing out the need for additional effort in grading and quality improvement through schools for producers and marketing agents.

ON THE CORN FRONT in Alabama exceptional yields are being reported from all sections and overall averages show the best corn crop in history. Above are representative pictures that bear out this fact in various counties.

At upper left Billy Farmer, 15, 4-H boy at Columbiana in Shelby County, shows some of the good ears in his patch of Funks G-714 to Assistant County Agent Buck Clark. Billy made 116.8 bushels on one acre.

At lower right, R. H. Mackey and sons, Curtis and Billy, of Cherokee County, are pictured in a patch of their hybrid corn. They planted their entire crop of 38 acres in hybrids and averaged 50 bushels per acre.

Upper right, corn being harvested with a one-row picker on the farm of Harold and Royce Morris of Bethel community in Shelby County. The picker, being operated by Norb Revis of Wilsonville, picks eight acres of corn a day.

About Corn Yields In Alabama

By J. C. LOWERY
A.P.I. Extension Agronomist

WHAT is happening with the state-wide "more corn per acre" demonstrations in Alabama? We will not know the complete answer to this question until several more reports have been completed and turned in. However, due to the numerous inquiries about yields, we pass on some of the information already received.

First reports come from the big corn festival at Citronelle in Mobile County. This festival was sponsored by the Citronelle Kiwanis Club. County Agent Charlie Brockway was in charge of the program. The counties of Mobile, Clarke and Washington participated in the show reporting twenty individuals who made yields of 60 bushels or more on one acre. The highest reported yield from Mobile County was 91 bushels, made by Gerald Fuller of Wilmer, Alabama. Clarke County's high was reported by H. A. Mott of Coffeeville with 74.8 bushels. In Washington County G. K. Williams was on top with 98 bushels on one acre.

COMMUNITY WORK IN CLEBURNE. Home Demonstration club members, their husbands and workers of Pleasant Grove community in Cleburne County are shown above sodding the community cemetery. Two days were spent by these people preparing the soil, removing dead trees, and fertilizing. Centipede grass sod was set out on another working day.

The work was started as a community project by the home demonstration club. The $200 raised for financing the project includes funds for purchasing a power mower to use in maintaining the grounds. The burial ground is used by all denominations and is adjacent to Chulafinnee Methodist Church.

With whole-farm demonstrations, Perry and Rex Roberts of Mobile County averaged 61 bushels on 200 acres; Irby Hinton and Arthur Garret of Mobile averaged 65 bushels on 10 acres; John Dickey of Washington, 66.5 bushels on five acres; O. R. Platt of Washington, 67.6 on 21 acres; and Douglas Rigned of Washington made 61.5 bushels per acre on seven acres.

Reports from Coosa County reveal that eight farmers and seven 4-H demonstrators produced more than 60 bushels on one acre. Highest yields were reported by Jack Neighbors of Hanover with 103.4 bushels and G. C. Rayfield of Weogufka with 100 bushels. Davis Bryant, Weogufka 4-H boy, was high among junior growers with a 96.4 bushel yield. Kermit Duke was high among whole farm demonstrators producing an average of 63.9 bushels on six acres.

Leading hybrid varieties according to records now on hand are La. 468, Funks G-714, N. C. 1032, La. 1031, and Tenn. 10. Whatley's appears to be the leading variety among open-pollinated varieties.

Yields of 100 bushels and more will be heard from in all sections of the state this year. However, the important thing is the over all increase in yield averages—they will show a marked improvement.

All Year Grazing Feeds Cows In Tennessee Valley

TENNESSEE Valley dairy farmers assembled at the Belle Mina Sub-Experiment Station recently for a one-day dairy school sponsored by the A.P.I. extension service and the Alabama agricultural experiment station.

Two major phases of the day's program included a tour of the station farm conducted by Fred Stewart, superintendent, and indoor conferences led by dairy-minded agricultural leaders.

Charlie King, prominent Limestone County farmer, began the conference by summarizing for the group major problems facing him in his dairying operation. Heading the list of these problems were feeding, breeding, and parasite control. The entire program was designed to give farmers information that would help them deal with these and other difficulties.

High Average Production

Questions about feeding the dairy herd were answered in detail to the satisfaction of farmers present as they toured the sub-station farm, and observed the excellent grazing rotations in progress there. Stewart explained to the group that cows in that herd produced an average of 6300 pounds of milk last year while being fed on grazing alone. This is equal to the average produced by milk cows in some of the best dairying sections of the United States. The big difference is that in most of these sections cows are fed concentrate rations seven or eight months during the year. Best year-round grazing at the station has come from a rotation of sericea lespedeza and hard seeded crimson clover with ryegrass added the third year, Stewart said.

Average production per cow in Alabama is approximately 3500 pounds of milk annually. Mr. Stewart pointed out to farmers, as they visited the pastures and saw the cattle, that these dairy animals were not exceptional in quality but just good grade cows. He made this point clear while stating that the average farmer in the Tennessee Valley can carry on a similar grazing program on his own farm and increase production.

Breeding Also Important

During the day's program J. R. Parrish, A.P.I. extension dairyman, led a discussion on breeding dairy animals. He called attention to the fact that while good feeding is essential to economical production in dairying, it is still important for the dairyman to improve the quality of his cows. One way of doing this, Parrish said, is by using the artificial breeding program available in sev-

We Will Eat More Pork

THE average civilian will consume more pork and less beef in 1949.

He will average about 140-145 pounds of meat which is about in line with the consumption of 1948. However, the proportion of steaks will be lower.

These statements are arrived at through outlook information supplied by A. W. Jones, A.P.I. extension specialist in marketing. Jones predicts that meat prices will continue at high levels through 1949 if the general price level remains the same. This fact can be credited to the demand and supply situation and not to price supports, he explains.

The support price for hogs ($18.20 per 100 pounds) is not expected to be needed, Jones adds.

Hog Shows, Too!

AS our diversified system of farming turns the limelight to livestock in Alabama the hog is there being glamorized in the show ring alongside beef and dairy animals. This fact was demonstrated recently at the Monroeville show in south Alabama.

Some 800 people turned out at Monroeville to visit the regional purebred hog show. The occasion lasted for two days and brought swine breeders from all over the state to exhibit purebred Duroc and O.I.C. hogs.

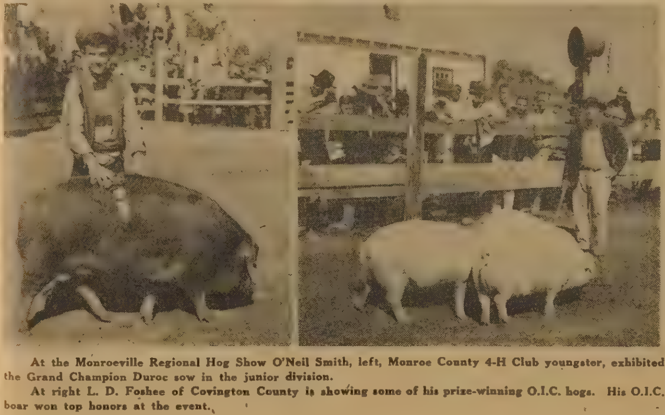
The program was started with a parade of more than a dozen elaborate floats. They passed through town followed by throngs of school children and led by two high school bands.

Throughout the two-day event, generous cash prizes were awarded junior and adult showmen. Coy Jones of Blount County and L. D. Foshee of Covington won top honors in adult competition, while in junior competition, O'Neil Smith, Monroe County 4-H boy, and Foy Lee Byrd, Monroe County, walked off with championships. Other prize winners, too numerous to mention, were flashing ribbons around the show grounds for two days.

Other big features in the show were a greasy pole climbing contest won by Sam Shumock, Frisco City FFA boy, and the greasy pig chase which ended when Junior Smith caught the pig.

In climaxing ceremonies at the close of the two-day event, Eudora Parrish of Frisco City was crowned "Queen of Swine." Congressman Frank Boykin did the honors at the coronation.

County Agent A. V. (Shorty) Culpepper who acted as director of the event, was pleased with the outcome of this year's show and praised highly the businessmen of Monroeville, who cooperated wholeheartedly in putting on the show and who, with generous contributions, raised a total of $880 for prizes.



At the Monroeville Regional Hog Show O'Neil Smith, left, Monroe County 4-H Club youngster, exhibited the Grand Champion Duroc sow in the junior division.

At right L. D. Foshee of Covington County is showing some of his prize-winning O.I.C. hogs. His O.I.C. boar won top honors at the event.

We Say It Again!

HERE is a story farmers have heard before, but it is one well worth repeating. Three dollar a bushel corn is not impossible!

Growers of good thrifty shoats are bearing out this fact today all over Alabama. Many farmers have proved that six to seven bushels of corn fed with 50 pounds of protein supplement will produce 100 pounds of live hog. With pork and beef prices at their present level this means good pigs can make every bushel of corn worth $3 to $3.50.

"Legume grazing," according to G. B. Phillips, A.P.I. extension hog specialist, "cuts downs the amount of tankage and cottonseed meal mixture needed by at least half. Moreover cotton seed may be swapped for cottonseed meal, thereby cutting the cost again."

What Club Work Means To Me

By MRS. DONALD R. PORTER, Member
Gallion Home Demonstration Club

I was city-born and lived in New Orleans until three years ago at which time my husband bought a farm in Marengo County.

At that time I had little idea what to expect on the farm—I didn't know how we would live, but I was soon to find out. Our farm is situated in Gallion community, seven miles from Demopolis.

Not long after we moved to Gallion, my husband's aunt, who is also a neighbor, asked me to go with her to one of her home demonstration club meetings. I said to myself, "Here is another gabfest where I will have to meet people I don't know and can't talk to." I had belonged to many clubs of this type in the city—that's what I thought.

A Friendly Group

I was delightfully surprised to find the ladies were most friendly and congenial, that the current news was interesting. Too, I found it consoling to learn that other people have troubles, too.

Then there was the demonstration—a meeting with a purpose. This was a surprise! It happened at this particular meeting that the leader was showing how to use the attachments which come with all sewing machines. I had always thought those gadgets which got in my way in the drawer had possibly been left out of the motor. When I left the meeting I felt very well versed in their use.

A Challenge

I had learned something at a club meeting. This was a new experience and at first surprising, but I decided that here was a challenge I wanted to accept—to learn to do things with my hands and make my home a better place in which to live. So I proceeded to find out how to join this club. "Join," they said, "you are already in." It was that easy, and they didn't even vote on me. I found this most gratifying.

During the first year we learned to make jelly and textile paint, how to plan a kitchen, and how to use a feed sack. I must explain about the sacks. The women wash them, dye some and sew up others. They make dish towels, aprons, curtains, quilts, bedspreads, and even dresses from them. I have become quite a sack enthusiast. My latest venture in their behalf has been sheet making. There isn't a sturdier bedclothes undergarment on the market. Try one and see.

Extra Get Togethers

Although at first I felt lonely after this sudden change to country life, I have found that there are many friends to meet through my club. Not only are there extra "get-togethers" such as barbecues, wiener roasts, and picnics, but we challenge each other with handiwork, and then go next door to give a helping hand to the one we have challenged. While the club work teaches us it entertains us—while we work we enjoy life.

I have learned that the home demonstration saying, "We make something out of nothing," is certainly a true one.

More Room For Cotton

THE Commodity Credit Corporation has arranged to move cotton from congested areas.

This action is necessary so that warehousemen in crowded sections can take care of additional cotton waiting to be placed under loan.

Until crowded conditions are relieved, warehousemen are urged to cooperate with the CCC by keeping them currently informed as to their storage situation. This is necessary in order that storage facilities may be made available at other points.

Covington Lady Elected H. D. President

AT the 22nd annual meeting of the Alabama Council of Home Demonstration Clubs recently, Mrs. T. F. Holloway of Covington County was elected president.

The meeting, held in conjunction with the Farm Bureau convention in Biloxi, Mississippi, was attended by more than 500 women from the state's 67 counties.

Other officers who will serve the council this year are Mrs. G. T. Sharman, Lee County, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Frank Baker, Shelby County, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Sam DeRamus, Autauga County, secretary; Mrs. G. A. Hallman, Blount County, treasurer; and Mrs. Mack Maples, Limestone County, reporter.

Directors who will represent the four extension districts this year are: District I, Mrs. Tom Russell of Madison County; District II, Mrs. Robert Wise, Coffee County; District III, Mrs. John Miller, Wilcox County; and District IV, Mrs. Jack Montgomery, Greene County.

The program at the annual meeting was highlighted with a dress revue in which some 40 club women from all over Alabama took part.

The club women held panel discussions during their meeting to thresh out problems facing them in community activities, rural youth, citizenship, Farm Bureau activities, and other phases of their work.

One of the principal speakers at the meeting was Director P. O. Davis, A.P.I. extension service. Mr. Davis talked on "The Challenge to Home Demonstration Women Today." Ladies attending the meeting, in commenting on the address, proclaimed it to be informative and inspiring.

Along the Way

P. O. DAVIS

DIRECTOR, API EXTENSION SERVICE

WE'LL start this time in Texas; in Lubbock County away out on the High Plains. I was there recently.

More than 90 per cent of all land in that county is in crops. . . two-thirds in cotton, almost one-third in grain sorghum. All of it is farmed with tractor power. The last mules and horses used for farming in Lubbock County were sold this year.

Cotton acreage in that county is equal to a fourth of all that in Alabama. All of it is snapped either by hand or by machine. None of it is picked as it is in Alabama.

With more irrigation they're making more corn and grain sorghum per acre; and they're adding some alfalfa and truck crops. Water is pumped from wells averaging 200 feet deep; and the average well supplies 118 acres. Cost of digging a well and installing pumping equipment totals $5,000 to $6,000, or about $50 per acre.

They can make cotton much cheaper than we make it but we have other advantages. So I'm still optimistic about farming in Alabama.

* * *

Farmers Turned Out To Vote

The recent national election revealed to me that American farmers are alert to the importance of price support of farm products. Especially is this true in the great agricultural Midwest.

Farmers out there recall dire suffering a generation ago when barns, granaries and elevators were full of farm products.

They had become sensitive to the recent drop in prices of corn, wheat, hogs, and other farm products, as we have in Alabama. They became jittery about the situation; and reflected their feeling at the polls. They shudder about 1928-33.

* * *

Government support of prices of farm products is essential to a sound agriculture; and a sound agriculture is essential to a sound and prosperous nation.

* * *

Farm Bureau Convention

By formal resolutions Alabama farmers, at the recent convention of the Alabama Farm Bureau in Biloxi, Miss., declared to the world that they want good schools in comfortable buildings with modern equipment and that they want good teachers well paid. They want also transportation of children to and from schools.

That educational system, they insist, must include the institutions of higher learning; also research work and extension work through the county and home agents.

And that isn't all. They want a sound and adequate health program, including hospitals, medical care, and other services.

Good roads and more of them are always high on the list of farmer wants and needs because good roads are vital to farmers for markets and other uses.

For all of these things they are willing to pay. While they are alert in their work for economy in government they know that schools and roads and health cost money; lots of it. Thus, they want a sound and adequate program of taxation without waste.

* * *

Sound education is the basis of true democracy and true democracy is the great need of the world today.

Future Bright For Livestock Feeding

The present outlook is bright for feeding livestock and poultry next year, 1949. The feed supply is big with feed prices lower while animal numbers are down with a high demand for meat, milk, eggs.

This doesn't mean profits for poor feeding but it is cheering news for good feeders of livestock and poultry. It is especially cheering for broiler farmers, of which we need many more in Alabama.

* * *

Higher Corn Yields

When a history of Alabama agriculture is written for 1948 corn will have a big spot in it. Our production per acre is the highest ever; and we know that we have the know-how for still more per acre next year.

It's a wonderful story, and very simple. Application by farmers of a few major facts did the job.

But more corn is only part of the story. The next part is more livestock and poultry. For these it is now time for farmers to prepare; to get ready for more and better feeding by having more corn and more animals to eat it.

This calls for saving more animals, for breeding more animals, and for good care of all animals.

Sweet Potato Storage Simplified

THE storing of sweet potatoes, long a problem on the average Alabama farm, may be simplified by the use of storage houses converted from old cribs or other outhouses, reports John Bagby, A.P.I. extension marketing specialist in fruits and vegetables.

Bagby states that sweet potatoes in storage should be held at 50 to 55 degrees F. when in houses. He cautions farmers that higher temperatures may cause excessive drying and loss of weight.

If the weather is warm the temperature in the storage house may be held down by opening doors or ventilators in the day time and closing them at night. Bagby further explains this by saying that cool air enters the storage house at night and is held there during the day by this method.

"Air in the storage house should be kept moist," he says. "However, if drops of water collect on walls or ceilings the ventilators should be opened." He concludes his statement by recommending that potatoes be examined at regular intervals so that those showing signs of spoiling may be sold early.

At upper right is the pecan tree at the corner of Comer Hall as it appeared in 1925. The other picture, drop, was taken November 6, this year. The cars under the tree give some indication of how it has grown.

Orchard Trees Are Life-Long Friends

By C. L. ISBELL, Horticulturist
A.P.I. Agricultural Experiment Station

WHY not give your friends a fruit or nut bearing tree for Christmas? Many families do without fruits and nuts most of the time unless they grow them or their neighbors supply them. Friends who have enjoyed melons and other gifts from farmers or neighbors might like to remember them this Christmas by giving a tree or more of a variety or varieties well suited to the community. Such a gift would be enjoyed and remembered for many years.

With very little effort most farm families can supply much of their fruit and all of their pecan needs by planting a few hardy, well adapted varieties in some fertile spot near the home. This may be well illustrated by an apple tree and a pecan tree on the campus of Alabama Polytechnic Institute. (See pictures.)

The Old Apple Tree

The apple tree in front of the Animal Husbandry Building was planted in 1897. In its early growth and development, the tree had the benefit of manure from a nearby mule lot. Records show that by the time this tree was 10 years old it was fruiting and it has been a regular bearer over the last 40 years. During that time many students at Auburn have sampled its apples. Many grown-ups who have never been to Auburn will perhaps remember seeing the picture of this tree in the Alabama geography while they were in grade school.

The tree has had some care over the years and lots of abuse. College buildings have been placed near it, and it has been subjected to treatment that most public trees get.

The maximum branch spread of the apple tree is now 50 feet and its waistline measurement is 50 inches, which means that during the first 50 years of its life it made an average annual growth of one inch around and one foot limb spread. It is still capable of producing fairly good crops. There are a few pear and apple trees in near-by neighbors' yards that have done well for almost as many years.

Some varieties of apples that may be expected to yield well under Alabama conditions are the Hackworth, Fanny, Carolina Red June and local unnamed varieties.

Another Faithful Servant

The pecan tree now growing at the northeast corner of Comer Hall was started from a nut planted near an old garden spot some 50 to 55 years ago. Records, although somewhat incomplete since it is everybody's tree, indicate that it has averaged about 100 pounds of good nuts annually for the last 20-odd years. Some years it produced nearly 200 pounds. It is now 100 inches around at breast height and has a limb spread of 100 feet. This means that the tree made an average annual increase of two inches in circumference and a two-foot limb spread for the first 50 years of its life. Forty pounds of nuts were harvested this year and possibly more than this amount were picked up by passersby.

Good yields may be expected from these pecan varieties: Stuart, Moneymaker, Frotscher, Teschne, Elliot and many good seedlings.

P.M.A. Payments For Reforestation

IN many Alabama counties this year, planting of trees will be adopted as a P.M.A. practice and farmers will receive $6.00 per thousand for the trees used.

The announcement by P.M.A. states that payment will be made in 1949 for trees planted December 1, 1948, through March, 1949.

In order to comply with the practice, says Martin, a farmer must obtain 65 per cent survival with any of the following species: loblolly, long leaf, slash pines, red cedar, black locust, yellow poplar, white oak, white ash, and catalpa.

Eighteen Buhl 4-H boys are shown here receiving first-hand information about forestry management practices. They are being instructed by O. W. Smith, A.P.I. extension timber marketing specialist, in the woods of Tuscaloosa County.

Plant Seedlings Now

DECEMBER is a good month to begin planting tree seedlings in the southern half of Alabama, according to Ivan R. Martin, A.P.I. extension forester. Martin continues by pointing out that February plantings are most successful in the northern half of the state.

Below are some of the planting suggestions the forester lists as important to follow in reforestation throughout the state.

1. Plant seedlings in idle, open fields not suitable for profitable crops or good pasture.

2. Plant in large openings in the woods where root competition is not too great.

3. Usually space seedlings 6 by 7 feet, which will require approximately 1,000 trees per acre. Plantings in gullies should be spaced 4 by 4 feet or 5 by 5 feet.

4. In planting seedlings, mattocks or grub hoes are suitable for use in heavy soils. Use narrow spades or planting irons in light soils. Plant trees about same depth as they grew in the nursery. Pack soil tightly around roots, especially in bottom of hole. In normal seasons survival should run from 75 to 90 per cent.

5. Farmers unable to purchase pine seedlings should consider digging wild one-year-old stock from their woodlands or from a neighbor's land. This transplanting job can be very successful if properly managed.

6. December is a good month to make thinnings, prune, and to provide for winter and spring fire protection.

7. Farmers should be encouraged to cut logs, pulpwood and other products and offer them for sale on the farm or delivered to the sawmill or railroad. This will add to their forest income.

Dutch Lady Visits Alabama

MRS. REHIA OUD, member of the Associated Country Women of the World and resident of Haarlem, Holland, who is touring the United States to study the life of rural women, spent two weeks in Alabama.

Mrs. Oud came to this country in September. She visited first in Illinois, met a group of Alabama farm women at the National Home Demonstration Council Meeting in Tulsa, Oklahoma, and returned here with them the next week.

The visitor first became interested in touring the United States through a pen friend in Alabama—a farm woman very much interested in home demonstration work.

Mrs. Oud is vice-president of the A.C.W.W. in the province where she resides in Holland. She decided to make her visit at a time when she could attend the meeting of the American branch being held in conjunction with the meeting of the National Home Demonstration Council.

Although the primary purpose of her visit to the United States and Alabama was to study the life of American rural women, the ladies in the areas visited by her have also been making an interesting study of Mrs. Oud and the life of Hollanders. The pleasant, dignified lady gave interesting talks to groups wherever she attended meetings. She told of conditions in Holland today and emphasized the need for home improvement throughout the world.

Mrs. Rieha Oud of Holland, who spent two weeks recently visiting Alabama home demonstration clubs and homes of rural women, is shown above enjoying her association with Alabama leaders.

In the upper picture, Mrs. Oud is shown, second from right, as she enjoys a dinner with extension workers at the Glover Hotel in Guntersville, Alabama. Other ladies in the picture are from left, Mrs. Vergie Gunn, Marshall County home demonstration agent; Mrs. Lillie M. Alexander, state home demonstration agent; and Mrs. Mary E. Coleman, district home demonstration agent.

During her stay in Alabama, Mrs. Oud visited home demonstration meetings, and made personal visits in Marshall, Madison, Cleburne, Montgomery, Elmore, Talladega and Lee Counties. She left Alabama for a scheduled tour in North Carolina.

She will return to her native land early in December—but not in time for Santa Claus because in Holland Christmas comes the first week in December.

Agriculture In '49

By FOY HELMS
A.P.I. Extension Economist

THE outlook for agriculture today indicates a sustained volume of production, increasing foreign competition, moderately lower prices, cost at a high level, and lower net farm income in 1949.

Assuming that peace will be maintained and readjustments continued, the turn of the tide for agriculture has passed. The peak of real income to farmers was reached in 1946, in net dollar income in 1947, in prices received for products in January, 1948, and in the parity index in August of this year.

Net Income To Be Lower

Net farm income in 1948 seems likely to be about 10 per cent below that of 1947. This reduction is due to continuing higher costs of production. Higher costs in 1949, with prices received for farm products averaging somewhat lower, would result in further reduction in net income. The net might drop back to that of the level of 1946 and the real income could be materially less than in that year.

Adjustments are now being made in agricultural prices. Farm prices are down more than 5 per cent from the peak and may be down 10 per cent by the middle of 1949 and 15 per cent at the end of the year. A recession, which is regarded only as a possibility, might result in prices dropping even lower.

Livestock Farming Will Expand

The current high level of purchasing power of consumers is largely responsible for the relatively high prices of most livestock products. As a consequence a high percentage of consumer incomes at the present time is being spent for meat. Expenditures on dairy products also have increased, although more slowly than for meats.

These facts have particular significance for Alabama farmers. The situation regarding cotton and peanuts is much less favorable than in the past. At the same time, farmers are rapidly expanding the production of livestock and livestock products as a means of offsetting changes in demand for these older products. Furthermore, with the present feed situation being extremely favorable for livestock production, Alabama farmers might well plan to continue the expansion of livestock and livestock products, and if at all possible, speed up the trend toward more diversified income.

More Efficient Marketing Needed

Other adjustments are also visible at this time. The prices of many fruits and vegetables have already adjusted to prewar levels. One factor in this adjustment has been the curtailment of export outlets. Another factor is the expansion of production. Any significant recession in 1949 in buying power would let some of these products down to still lower levels.

Another important point in this connection is the great need for more efficient marketing. The need is for reducing waste in marketing and delivering products in better condition to consumers. Eventually the growth of population, increased appreciation of the value of these foodstuffs, and improvement in efficiency in marketing will bring greater returns to fruit and vegetable farm operators.

Extension Dairymen Look To D.H.I.A. Work In Alabama

PETE B. TURNHAM, A.P.I. assistant extension dairyman, is preparing himself to help Alabama dairymen in Dairy Herd Improvement Association (D.H.I.A.) work.

Turnham, who earned his master's degree in agriculture this summer, will work in two particular phases of dairying—D.H.I.A. and artificial breeding. He has special training in both of these fields. After completing his master's thesis at A.P.I. on artificial insemination, Turnham made an intensive study of the D.H.I.A. testing program at the University of Georgia. This school has been outstanding in promoting this work.

He then attended a 14-day short course on dairy herd improvement work at Penn State College. There he received instruction and training under Professor C. R. Gearhart—the nation's most noted authority on D.H.I.A. work. During his visit Turnham observed some of the leading herds in Pennsylvania and discussed official testing with dairymen from other states.

D.H.I.A. work should get underway in Alabama early next year. It is a program for and by the farmers. The associations, formed by the dairymen themselves, will hire supervisors who will test milk, keep records of weights and production and check feed accounts. The supervisors will assist farmers in determining which cows are most profitable in their herds and which should be sold.

Turnham explained that his time will be available through county agents to farmers desiring to organize associations. He will assist them by working with testers, and by passing on other information concerning the functioning of such associations.

He further explained that in the beginning the program will be set up in only five or six counties. Additional counties will be organized after problems and details have been worked out.

Keeping Furniture Clean

By ALICE PEAVY
A.P.I. Extension Specialist in Home Management

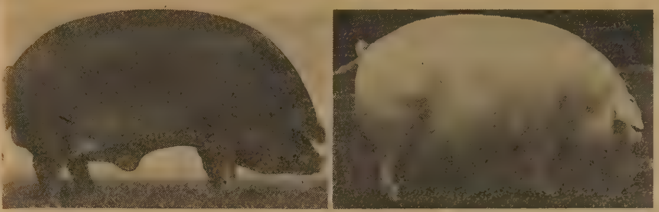
PROPER care of upholstered furniture begins with its selection. All items of furniture become dirty with use but certain types stand cleaning better than others.

Fabrics should be suitable to family use; when small children are in the family group, the homemaker might well select some of the new plastic upholstery which can be wiped clean. Slip covers, preferably washable, help protect upholstered furniture and insure longer wear.

Clean upholstery carefully each week with the proper vacuum attachment. Go over crevices and tuftings and clean both sides of loose cushions.

Always remove spots as soon as they appear, provided the entire covering is not soiled enough to make the cleaned spots conspicuous. Regular dress cleaning fluid may be used satisfactorily for this purpose.

At least once a year, before the upholstery becomes too soiled, shampoo your covered furniture, using any of the foam shampoos available.



A GOOD CROSS for swine breeders who want to grow thrifty pigs is found in the use of good quality type hogs like these pictured above.

G. B. Phillips, A.P.I. extension hog specialist, points out that a cross between a registered Duroc male of the right type (left) and a good registered O.I.C. sow (right), or other breeds of similar quality, introduces hybrid vigor and produces healthy fast-growing pigs. Note the broad backs and loins, the straight, deep sides, and the full hams on these hogs.

Hybrid Vigor Helpful In Swine Breeding

By G. B. PHILLIPS
A.P.I. Extension Hog Specialist

FEEDING scrubby pigs is about like putting lots of high priced fertilizer under sorry cottonseed.

We know that good cottonseed makes more cotton and that good corn varieties increase corn yields. Foundation stock is equally as important in raising hogs for market.

Experiment stations and successful hog growers all over the country have found that breeding affects the quality of carcass, the percentage turnout of high priced cuts, the rate of gain and the cost of feed for each 100 pounds of pork produced.

As early as 1930, J. C. Grimes, of the A.P.I. experiment station, found that "the use of purebred boars on scrub sows results in a marked improvement one generation after another. Scrub pigs require 244 days to reach a weight of 200 pounds, while it takes only 201 days for pigs out of scrub sows and a purebred boar to reach the same weight. Only 187 days is required to make the same gain in pigs carrying seven-eighths of the improved blood.

Perhaps even more important than the difference in rate of gain is the difference in cost of gain. Scrub pigs require 465 pounds of feed per 100 pounds gain; half-bloods require 403 pounds; seven-eighths bloods require only 382 pounds.

Georgia Experiments

After an 8-year test, the Georgia Coastal Plains Experiment Station reports that different boars affect the amount of feed the offspring must have to make 100 pounds of gain. They use hogs weighing 361 pounds and feed them until they reach 458 pounds. Some require 97 pounds more feed to make 100 pounds gain than others. The only difference is in the boar used for breeding.

The facts demonstrated in these experiments are basic. Alabama farmers can step up profits from sales of market hogs by using better boars no matter what the type of their sows.

Too Many "Cat-Hammed" Hogs

Visits to livestock markets in the state reveal too many of the "cat-hammed" variety of hogs going to market. There are also entirely too many short, chuffy, too blocky, too lardy, too short-legged hogs, commonly known as "cob-rollers."

The intermediate type—or a compromise between the rangy big type and the short chuffy type, is best for our use. They finish out to around 200 pounds, with good quality that packers like, in 6 to 7 months. They make more gain on 100 pounds of feed than either of the extreme types and reach tops and are ready for market earlier.

Purebred Cross Is Best

The best pigs for hogging off corn, or for fattening in the dry lot, result from crosses between purebred boars of one breed and purebred sows of another. (See pictures.) Pigs coming from such a cross have a hybrid vigor, weigh more at birth and grow off faster.

There are too few farmer-breeders to supply stock that would be needed for all hog raisers to follow this practice. The next best plan is to cross a purebred boar of the right type on good native stretchy sows. Any farmer seriously in the hog business would do well to settle for nothing less when planning his breeding.

In the county dress revue held at Wetumpka recently Mrs. W. L. Holt of Holtville community was the first place winner. In the picture Mrs. Holt, left, is presented a lovely corsage by Miss Dovie Kennedy, 9, of Eclectic. The flowers were made up for this occasion by the fourth grade of the Eclectic grammar school.

Rainfall A Certainty

NOT every year does irrigation pay with every crop. On the other hand, irrigation does make "rainfall" a certainty. With it, the grower can have "rainfall" at his own chosen time if nature fails.

This year throughout most of the State there was a long dry period in April and May. Less than 3 inches of rain fell at Auburn in the 10-week period from April 7 to June 15. Many early, short-season crops failed, and yields of other crops were greatly reduced where the grower could not furnish his own "rain." The story, however, was different where irrigation was available.

L. M. Ware and W. A. Johnson of the A.P.I. agricultural experiment station have been experimenting with irrigation for several years at Auburn. These experiments bring to light some interesting facts.

Four years' results of irrigation studies show what irrigation may do in a dry season. They also show what may be expected in years of ample rainfall.

Sweet Corn Experiments

In experiments at the station this past spring, 1000 pounds per acre of 6-10-4 fertilizer without irrigation resulted in a yield of 427 dozen ears of marketable sweet corn per acre. With irrigation, the yield from the treatment was 813 dozen ears.

The yield from the unirrigated plots getting 1000 pounds of a commercial fertilizer plus 12 tons of manure per acre was 667 dozen ears. This same treatment when irrigated yielded 1,453 dozen ears.

A yield of 778 dozen ears was harvested from an unirrigated plot fertilized with 1000 pounds of commercial fertilizer and 12 tons of manure plus a crop of vetch turned under. When irrigated this treatment resulted in a yield of 1,773 dozen ears.

Thus, irrigation was responsible for increases of 386, 786 and 995 dozen ears of marketable sweet corn.

A Difference In Years

Increases from irrigation, however, are not always as high as in 1948. This is shown by the results of experiments with sweet corn over a 4-year period. In 1944 and 1948, rainfall was low during the critical growing period. On the other hand, rainfall was adequate during the other two years, 1946 and 1947.

The average increase in the yield of marketable corn from irrigation in the two dry years was 263, 507 and 646 dozen ears, for the three described treatments. For the years of favorable rainfall the increase in yield from irrigation was only 154 dozen ears where a commercial fertilizer was added and only 7 dozen ears where both a commercial fertilizer and manure were added. Actually, a yield decrease of 140 dozen ears per acre resulted from the commercial fertilizer, manure, and vetch treatment.

What Does It Cost

The approximate cost of applying 6 inches of irrigation water per acre to crops at Auburn from a farm pond by means of a portable irrigation system has been $30. At 35 cents per dozen for corn, it would take a yield increase of 86 dozen ears to cover the cost of irrigation.

Grazing Demonstrations Conducted By Farmers

THE use of winter grazing has been shown by the A.P.I. agricultural experiment station to be essential in a sound livestock and land-use program. Demonstrations are being conducted by farmers in every county in Alabama this winter to bear out this fact.

The demonstrations, being conducted under the supervision of county agents on almost 26,000,000 acres, are another step in the effort to get more of the land in the state to producing cash income for farm families, reports D. R. Harbor, A.P.I. extension agronomist.

The farmers will plant all the various combinations of grazing crops, says Harbor, and in the spring will make reports as to costs, how many animals grazed, how long they grazed, and how the grazing affected meat, milk and egg production. Records will be compiled and reports on results will be sent out from the state office.

"We already know," says Harbor, "that milk produced on green grazing contains valuable vitamin A which is not found in milk from cows fed in the barn; we know that it saves labor, makes the animals healthier and protects the soil against erosion; we know too that it is the cheap way to grow livestock.

"These demonstrations on the farms all over the state will give farmers a chance to see what it will do in their own localities," he concludes.

Hold Those Turkeys!

THE turkey crop is small and the price paid for good quality birds is high. On the other hand there is very little demand for a poorly fleshed, low quality turkey. John Weeks, A.P.I. extension poultry marketing specialist, suggests that growers take advantage of lower feed prices and finish their birds before they send them to market.

While lower feed and grain prices as well as a short supply of turkeys exist, no unfinished birds should leave the farm, says Weeks.

Making aluminum trays provides a profitable hobby for Mrs. Bunyan Gibson who resides near Fayette, Alabama, and is a home demonstration club member in Fayette County. Mrs. Gibson is shown here, left, with Miss Kathleen Thompson, home demonstration agent, as they look over the farm woman's collection of hand-made trays.

Mrs. Gibson has sold approximately 40 trays at a price of $5 each. She says it is a good way to make money on the side while enjoying an interesting hobby. She learned the etching necessary for this work through a demonstration at one of her club meetings.

Alfalfa is becoming more popular as a grazing crop with Marshall County farmers. Here W. L. Martin, right, and Paul Cooley observe first year alfalfa on Cooley's farm near Albertville, Ala. The crop was planted for chickens and hogs. It was six inches tall when this picture was made in late October.

More Grain Sorghum Planted

INCREASING numbers of Alabama farmers are using grain sorghum to advantage each year—they are planting more and more acres to this all important feed crop.

According to reports from J. C. Lowery, A.P.I. extension agronomist, very little grain sorghum was grown in the state before 1941. That year, some 5,000 acres were planted on small areas in 12 counties. In 1948, more than 100,000 acres were planted, and the crop is statewide with 67 Alabama counties growing either small or large acreages. On most farms it is grown on a small scale, however some farmers have gone all out in planting as high as 150 acres or more.

Grain sorghum makes its best growth during hot, dry weather; it takes only about 120 days to mature. "This makes it a natural for following such crops as winter legumes harvested for seed and winter grazing," says Lowery.

Order Cottonseed Early

FOR several years there has been too little breeder or first-year cottonseed to go around. Farmers who have placed orders early have been getting the best planting seed. Now is the time to place orders for next year's plantings.

These statements were made by O. N. Andrews, A.P.I. extension cotton improvement specialist, as he began looking forward to next year's crop.

Andrews says many seed for market have already been reginned, treated and stored, and that breeders are ready to take orders from farmers. Some farmers will be able to get seed one year from the breeder by contacting growers in their own communities, he adds, and especially from one-variety cotton communities.

Several one-variety communities in central and north Alabama are producing first-year certified seed. Most of these are of wilt-resistant varieties. Farmers who planted Alabama-grown certified cottonseed this year are well pleased with results, Andrews reports. These certified seed are produced under inspection, reginned and treated, and put in new attractive bags.

The cotton specialist adds another word of caution, "Farmers with wilt-infested land should plant only wilt-resistant varieties," he says. "Although wilt is more serious in south and central Alabama, it is not confined to that area. It may be found on quite a few farms in other sections of the state."

Attractive Christmas Decorations Can Be Made At Home

By ALICE PEAVY
A.P.I. Extension Economist and Home Management Specialist

CHRISTMAS decorations can be more than just a few branches of evergreens over windows, behind pictures, and along the mantle.

With a little extra effort, time and planning, inexpensive decorations that serve their purpose attractively can be made at home with a few pieces of equipment and limited supplies. Here are some tips for making these decorations:

1. Long switches (four or more feet long) of privet, willow, or other plants may be bent and twisted to make a round frame for a wreath. Hold the stripped branch at its thick end, make the size circle desired, and twist the thin end in and out of the circle until all of the branch is used. If one branch is not enough add another for a stronger frame. Decorations of berries, fruits, green leaves and ribbons may then be added easily.

2. A few branches of pine wired together may form the foundation of a spray to be decorated with cones. Use one large cone or several small ones and a bow of red ribbon. Tips of cones may be painted to add color. Candy walking sticks may be used also.

Fall Calves Are Better

BEEF calves born in the fall are more beneficial to the producer than those born other times of the year. W. H. Gregory, A.P.I. extension livestock specialist, emphasized this point in advising farmers to turn bulls back in with the cows now, in order to have calves dropped next fall.

Results at the Black Belt Experiment Substation, Gregory points out, show fall calves to be much more profitable. On August 13 of this year, fall calves on this experiment station weighed 543 pounds while spring calves on that date weighed 363 pounds. Seventy per cent of the fall calves graded choice and only 30 per cent of the spring calves graded that high.

The livestock specialist continues by pointing out additional advantages found in the marketing of fall calves. They are large enough to sell before the market slumps, he points out.

"Calves dropped in the fall are big enough to consume early nutritious spring grasses, and are able to utilize the milk from their dams when grass is at its best in the spring," says Gregory. "Calves dropped in the summer often receive too much milk while very small and develop digestive disorders. They are likely to be troubled from internal and external parasites."

eral counties in the state. In reporting on the progress of the program, Parrish stated that the problems arising in the early period of development have been removed and that associations are ready to move ahead with artificial insemination.

Good Calf Feeding Emphasized

Dr. K. M. Autrey, head of the dairy department at Alabama Polytechnic Institute, discussed calf feeding and management for the benefit of the dairymen present.

"The dairy calf," stated Autrey, "is an infant and should be treated as such. When feeding calves milk from a bucket it is just as important that the temperature be constant at feeding as it is for a baby's bottle to be the same. Too many dairymen are careless with calves."

Sec'y Brannan Meets With State Farmers

The Alabama Farmers Union Convention held in Centre, Ala., Friday and Saturday, December 3 and 4, was addressed by several notable speakers. Prominent among these were U. S. Secretary of Agriculture, Chas. F. Brannan, Governor James E. Folsom, and James G. Patton, President of the National Farmers Union.

Secretary Brannan chose as his topic, "Better Living." In introducing his subject he stated: "Our nation has had a history of which we can all be proud. But never, until now, have we enjoyed an era of truly good living. Never before have we had the industrial and agricultural capacity for such a period. Today we DO have the capacity. Our job is to apply it.".

Continuing his address he added: "I have not forgotten—not for a minute—that many people of the South; many people in ALL parts of the nation—have by no means attained the necessities and conveniences signified by "Better Living." Because they have NOT attained these things I believe we can profitably take time to review past prograss and plan for a future in which all Americans CAN have a "better living."

$35,000 Armory To Be Built At Airport

The Armory Commission of Alabama recently told Lt. Williamson, the Commanding Officer of the National Guard Unit in Clanton, that they have hopes of breaking ground for construction of the Armory Utility Building in Clanton within a month.

The building will cost approximately $35,000.00 and will be of brick veneer, reinforced with steel. It will be 52'x90'-8" and contain an Orderly Room, Supply Room and a Vault.

The location of the armory site is on the north side of Airport Road at end of pavement in Reynolds Addition. It is directly across road from the home of Mr. "Catfish" Eubanks. The site is approximately three acres in size. The Utility Building will be constructed on the northwest corner.

The Utility Building will be used temporarily as an Armory by the National Guard unit in Clanton. Later, it is hoped, the Commission will construct a regular sized Armory Building on this property. Its cost would be approximately $400,000.00 and would certainly be an asset to this community. So, let's keep fighting until we get the large building in Clanton.

Community Chest Organized

The initial meeting of the Chilton County Community Chest was held Monday night.

This organization was formed by the clubs, religious organizations, public spirited citizens, etc., to combine efforts to see that all the county's needy are remembered Christmas.

This can grow into a valuable and wonderful organization for Chilton County. It can do much to bring cheer and good will at a time of year when this human trait is practiced most; when it is expected most, and when it is needed most to restore our faith in one another.

Yes, this can grow into a wonderful organization and will, with the cooperation of all our leaders in worth while things, and with selfishness and hate eliminated. It cannot succeed unless we all get behind the movement and give generously of what we have to help those who have not.

The Family Will Last

The family, probably the oldest institution of the human race, is being challenged and denounced by speakers and writers who do not hesitate to tell us, at times, that modern life is "destroying" the family.

[illegible] reason for anybody in Chilton County [illegible] over the excitement of such pessimists. The family will undoubtedly exist as long as men and women love each other and the nature of human beings includes a love for little children.

It may be that the family life of 1948 is somewhat different from that of 1848, which, in turn, differed from that of 1748 and so on into the past. It would be somewhat foolish to believe that family life in 2048, or several hundred years thereafter, will be identical with that which we now enjoy.

The family, as an institution, serves the needs of men, women and children. It serves, in many ways, to prolong human life. In brief, family life and home life exist for the benefit of human beings and until human nature changes, there will always be those to exemplify the best traditions associated with family and home life.

Minorities can give you many reasons why majorities should be nice to minorities.

Success, despite the experts, is a matter that involves much of what we call luck.

What has become of the idea that everybody should be temperate in everything?

The intelligence of a democracy cannot exceed the average intelligence of its voters.

Want To Join Our Club?

Newcomers to our town are puzzled when they hear talk of "The Barbecue Club." Want to know who can join, and what the purpose is.

Well, the answer is: any one can join who's neighborly inclined. The purpose is simply to enjoy good food, good beer and ale, good conversation—all towards getting to know one another better.

Every other Saturday, at one farm or another, the pit is dug, and the fire started. And by sundown, neighbors from miles around have come together—the women contributing cakes, pies, and coffee, the men contributing the meat for barbecuing, and the beer or ale.

From where I sit, it's this simple wholesome side of country life in America—its spirit of good-fellowship—that makes for tolerance and better understanding between neighbors.

As I say, Neighbor, any one can join up! So come along a week from this Saturday.

Folks and Things About Town

--By BEN

Leo Thompson official phoner upper. . . That's what he tells us. He called us on the phone the other day to inform us of a meeting which is of vital interest to the whole county. After he explained and had finished we asked him what his connection was with the undertaking. Says Leo, and we quote: "I'm the official caller upper."

Speaking of meetings we were at Red Glasscock's office Friday afternoon where they were making plans for the rural residents of Chilton County to have a part in helping the starving children of the world. You've read of it as "CROP," and it was started by the Protestant Churches of the United States and is still run by them. The agricultural department now, however, is lending a hand now to aid the churches in this work. Within the next week or so you will hear a lot about the drive in Chilton County.

Lynn's Bakery has moved across the street with the City Grill. Bob Windham, the owner, says, same quality, same service, same management, different locality. You will still be able to get the good things in life at Lynn's Bakery.

We received forty-some odd mashnotes the other week. About half were from girls and half from boys. They were from the pupils of Mrs. L. C. Warr's room at Clanton Grammar School and were very flattering to say the least. We deeply appreciate the nice compliments contained in the letters and only wish we were capable of deserving half the praise. We must tattle tale on one of our little friends though, and we are sure they will forgive us. In an otherwise very sweet letter, one writer said, "The thing I like best in your paper is 'the man on the corner.' " Darling, how on earth could you?

Burke Allison is a walking advertisement for himself. Last week during the heavy rains we would see Burke going up and down the street with a water-proof hat cover that really took care of a fellow's hat. While most other hats were being badly ruined by the elements his was well taken care of by a cellophane cover that he keeps in stock at his Bargain Store.

What weather! But now since Christmas has crept upon us you'll find us out puddling around, weather or no. We were doing a little visiting this week and find a first class selection of toys and things at Western Auto Associate Store and Clanton Home and Auto Supply. Both Herman LeCroy and Claud Craig have selected their Christmas stock with great care and they have the finest collection of Christmas toys that have been seen in Clanton for many a year. We were going to tell you about some Christmas things at Bell Hardware, but Jimmy made us stop playing with them.

Three monkeys sat in a coconut tree
Discussing things as they appear to be.
Said one to the others, "Now listen you two,
There's a rumor around that can't be true—
That man descended from our noble race;
The very idea is a disgrace.

No monkey ever deserted his wife,
Starved his baby and ruined it's life;
And you've never known a mother monk
To leave her babies with others to bunk,
Or to pass them on from one to another
'Til they scarcely know who is their mother.

Here's another thing a monk won't do—
Go out at night and get on a stew,
Or use a gun or club or knife
To take some other monkey's life.
Yes, man descended, the ornery cuss,
But, brother, he didn't descend from us."

We are proud to call Judge Oakley Melton our friend. He is proving himself a credit to his district as Judge of the 19th Judicial District of Alabama. We cannot compliment him too highly on the manner in which he handled the ticklish case at Wetumpka last week. The order that prevailed throughout the hearing is a fair example of the esteem in which he is held by all. He is an honorable public servant and we respect and admire him very much.

Remember Lot's Wife

These are the words of Jesus found in Luke 17:32. They were spoken to a people that were prone to looking back, not forward. Jesus had to reprove them many times for not taking advantage of their present opportunities. They knew not the "day of their visitation." Before Israel reached the promised land, they were constantly looking back to the things of Egypt. Wishing they had never left that land of bondage. There are people today who are always talking about "The good old days," and wishing themselves back in the horse and buggy days.

But remembering Lot's wife. We take a look back to 4000 years to a community which held twin-cities, viz.: Sodom and Gomorrah. Here the people were very wicked, ungodly and corrupted. God was so displeased with their wickedness till he declared he would destroy the cities. However, God made it known to Abraham his servant. Immediately Abraham interceeded for his nephew, Lot. God promised not to destroy the righteous with the wicked. Angels came to escort Lot and his family out of the city. They were told to escape to the mountain lest they be consumed also. But Mrs. Lot remembering her interest back in the city of Sodom, looked back, and turned into a pillar of salt. Her soul and spirit departed to the unseen world of departed spirits to wait the final resurrection when she will be summoned to the White Throne Judgment where the books will be opened, and the Book of Life will be opened, and every one will be judged according to the things that are written in the books. . .We are not told to remember righteous Lot; nor the destruction of the City of Sodom, but remember Lot's wife for looking back when she was told to escape to the mountain lest she be consumed.

The tragedy of looking back is too much for us to risk. Jesus said again, "No man, having put his hand to the plough, and looking back is fit for the Kingdom of God."—Luke 9:62. The promise is made to those who will hold out to the end. He that endureth unto the end the same shall be saved. Let him that name the name of Christ depart from iniquity. Friend, hold to your Christian profession, and fight the good fight of faith.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

CONSTIPATION

One of the common symptoms a patient gives his doctor is, "I'm constipated, Doctor." What the person usually means is that he is dissatisfied with his bowel habit; it is not following the pattern he thinks normal and necessary.

First it must be remembered that there is a great difference in bowel habits of different people, and still these different people are healthy and full of pep. The fact that your habits are not those of someone else is no reason to become alarmed.

Remember also that how much food you eat and the type of food will have some bearing on the question. The bowel habit of a person who eats very little will not necessarily be the same as the habit of a big eater. The type of food eaten will affect your bowel habit because some foods have very little material that is not digested and taken into the system while others have large amounts of material that must pass from the body.

Bowel habits can be interrupted by not getting the usual amount of exercise. For example, riding several days in a car may change your habit for a day or two. However, do not become alarmed. Allow nature to take its course and soon your body will adjust to the changed circumstances.

The greatest danger arises when strong medicines, called cathartics, are taken. These cathartics empty the bowl tract, and a period of inactivity follows. The person then becomes worried and takes more medicine. The same procedure is followed until the person has to have the cathartic; he is an addict.

So in the matter of bowel habits, do not become alarmed if your habits are not the same as someone else's. Your habits may be normal for you. Set aside a time for your habits and try to follow them. Try to eat some of all types of food. But do not take cathartics. When it becomes necessary, see your doctor and let him give you the medicine you need so that you will not have to have medicine at all times. It is much easier never to depend on harsh medicines than it is to break this habit once it is formed.

Radio Ramblings

(By JESSE CULP)

First off this week I should like to thank everyone who took part in and helped to make our anniversary program a success. We had splendid cooperation from everyone. Many listeners phoned in to offer their congratulations and best wishes.

One of the most valuable programs on WKLF from the public service standpoint is "Swap Shop of the Air," heard each day at 9:45. The program features listings of items for sale and wanted, lost and found. It's done free of charge.

Big news this week from Paul Reid, who produces and emcees the "Fashions in Music" show, heard now on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 9:00. Beginning this week, post cards are filled out in each of the two beauty shops which sponsor the program by customers that come in. These cards, bearing the names and addresses of the ladies, are mailed in to the station. Then each morning on the program, Paul pulls one of these cards out of the mailbag and calls that person to see if she can identify a mystery tune which he plays. If she is lucky, she gets a free shampoo and set from the beauty shop. Listen for "Fashions in Music" each Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 9:00.

Guest announcers on "Club 980" last week included Norma Jean Lawrence, Betty Jean Foshee, Shelby Studdard and Tillie Messer. Writer of the week's best letter was Rose Ann Mims of the Fairview Community.

"Give all you can, but give to the Chilton County Christmas Chest." You are going to hear that line plenty on your radio for the next two weeks. It isn't necessary for me to go into details in telling you what it's all about; you can read about it elsewhere in this paper. But I should like to add my personal endorsement to this worthy drive to provide a decent Christmas for the needy people in Chilton County. If you would like to send a donation in money, you may send it to Rev. A. T. Hickman in care of the radio station. He is treasurer for the drive. Or if you can give foodstuffs or toys, carry them up to the Clanton Motors' show room. That's the collection point. Let's get behind this Chilton County Christmas Chest and put it over.

Auditions for "Vocals by Locals" are now being held each Wednesday afternoon at 5:00 in the WKLF studios. As you know, all local talent in the popular field of music is invited to come up for these auditions. The purpose of this show is to boost local talent as much as possible.

Here's the scoop on that new Saturday afternoon program, beginning this week. It's "The Alabama Jubilee," beginning at 2:00 and lasting until 4:00. The program will feature good hillbilly music, both on record, and by the best local talent. For the benefit of those individuals or groups who would like to get on the program, I should like to emphasize here that you must see me several days ahead of time about an audition. No one will appear on the program without first having taken an audition. Tell all your neighbors to tune in for "The Alabama Jubilee" this coming Saturday at 2:00.

Don't forget to listen each Saturday at 12:15 as "The Country Editor Speaks." And remember, you are invited to send in news items and announcements from your community. Just address them to The Country Editor, in care of WKLF, Clanton, Ala.

Rev. Atchison has about decided that he should have a birthday more often. He was pleased with all the swell birthday cards that you listeners sent him.

Next time I get hungry for candy, think I'll go by to see Mrs. Gene Gore. Mrs. Gore made a big boxfull and sent it up to WKLF as a birthday present. The transmitter didn't get a bite, however; the staff consumed every last piece of it.

That's all for this week. Until next Thursday, so long and good listening.

Hold on a little longer . . .

He's Coming!

You never know what's happening at the other end of the line! That's why it's important to allow about a minute for your party to reach the telephone—and just as important to answer your own calls as promptly as possible. Being considerate pays off in better telephone service for everyone.

STANTON

Miss Peggy O'Neal and Miss Ann Osburn spent several days with the Wilbur Massey's at Sprott, Ala., recently.

"Ronnie," son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Davis, has returned to his home from the Baptist Hospital, Selma, Ala. We are glad that this child is improving.

Mr. Julius Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Davis, who has been stationed at some army camp in Wyoming, is spending a few days here with relatives.

That nice, new, attractive, series 98 Oldsmobile seen up and down the highway belongs to Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Rogers, and are they proud? This is a very showy automobile and one that all of us would be proud to own.

The annual quarterly conference was held at the Methodist Church Sunday at Plantersville, Ala. This was an all-day affair. In the morning the Rev. Preer delivered a wonderful sermon. At the noon hour a bountiful dinner was spread with every imaginable kind of food. The decorations were done by Mrs. Tom Martin, Jr., and were the subject of much talk and admiration. The decorations in the church as well as the table was a beautiful sight to behold, and Mrs. Martin can feel proud that her undertaking was perfected. Everyone reported such a nice, enjoyable day. This church is pastored by Rev. Jones of Chilton County, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sample, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Vann of Birmingham, Ala., visited their relatives here over the week end. Mrs. Dan Vann will be remembered as Miss Nell Ray Sample. They attended the all-day affair at the Methodist Church Sunday and greeted their many friends during the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl O'Neal and two children, Mr. W.M.D. O'Neal and their maid, Jennie Lou Goodwin, left for Florida to spend several days. They will return on the 6th.

The Selma Motorcycle Club came up Sunday afternoon and was the guest of Mr. Millard Reynolds. They thoroughly enjoyed a long ride in the woods during the afternoon.

The Penquin, Selma, Ala., is owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Cooper of Stanton, Ala. They serve frozen custard; also thick milkshakes. They have added a superb line of pottery, the famous Camark brand and excellent Christmas gifts. Mrs. Virginia Cooper and Mrs. Gertrude Stuart returned from Arkansas recently with this line of pottery and the Cooper's will be happy to serve their many friends from this section. Visit the Penquin often.

Mrs. Love R. Terry isn't so well at this writing. We trust she will soon be well again.

TEMPLE COMMUNITY

The attendance at the Temple Church for Sunday School and preaching was real good at both morning and evening services. We were blessed in the study of the Word of God in the Sunday School Hour, and our Pastor, Bro. Hickman, preached a wonderful sermon on the "Love of God," after Sister Hickman sang the song, "The Love of God." At the close of the sermon the whole congregation joined in a warm Christian hand-shake. It was a heart melting time.

We were happy to have visitors from Lay Dam and other communities in the evening services. After the C. A. U. meeting, there was the completion of the organization for our Christmas pageant. This Christmas program will be held on Thursday night, December 23rd. This program will be something different from any Christmas program the Temple Church ever had. The pageant will feature about 35 characters. Andrew J. Hickman is the author of the pageant. Watch this paper for further announcement concerning the program.

At the evening service our pastor preached on "Two Great Benefits of the Lord." Viz.: "Forgiveness of Sins and Healing of the Body."

Other Points Of Interest—

We regret that Mr. George Thompson is not getting along well. He is confined to his bed at his home. Our prayers are for him and his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Blalock dined with Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Baker Sunday.

Miss Mary Alice Mims was the guest of Miss Jane Baker Sunday for dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. William Mims have moved into their new home on the Temple Road.

Mr. Frank Mims is making great improvements on his farm, such as tearing down and rebuilding tenant houses.

Other new houses have recently been built in the Temple Community. This shows that our community is a progressive community, and we are very thankful for God's blessings upon our community.

Pastor and Mrs. A. T. Hickman had supper last Friday night with Mr. and Mrs. Horace Mims.

Welcome to the Temple Church.—Reporter.

CAN PECAN TOPPING FOR CHRISTMAS GIFT

Canned pecan topping is a gift that will be enjoyed long after the Christmas season is over.

Lavada Curtis, A.P.I. extension food preservation specialist, says that now is the time to make it. She suggests that you make your own supply for 1949 at the same time.

First toast enough pecans to make three cupsful when chopped. Make a syrup by mixing two cups of sugar, one cup of water, and two tablespoonsful of corn syrup. Cook this mixture until it becomes thick.

Now add pecans and bring to a boil. Then, add one-half teaspoon vanilla. Pour topping into hot jars and process in a waterbath canner for five minutes.

SCRAPS OF MATERIAL MAKE GAY WRAPPINGS

According to Levice Ellis, A.P.I. extension clothing specialist, Auburn, an original package will result when a gift of sewing equipment is wrapped in white tissue paper and tied with the tape measure. Make a decoration for the package by fastening spools of different colored thread together.

Other items that will make unusual gift wrappings are rickrack used for ribbon, tiny candles tied on packages, bright colored ball fringe, and cheerfully designed oil cloth.

PLACE ORDERS NOW FOR SPRING CHICKS

"Place orders for baby chicks now for delivery on date desired," urges John Ivey, A.P.I. extension poultryman.

He suggests that orders be placed with a hatchery that is following a known breeding and disease control program.

To increase economical egg production, cull and sell non-producing hens. Returns from 30 of these will pay for 300 high-quality, pullorum-clean chicks.

GET READY TO KILL CATTLE GRUBS NOW

They show up in December, January and February. Since all of the grubs do not appear at the same time, W. A. Ruffin, API extension entomologist, recommends that cattle be treated two or three times. Treatments should be made thirty days apart.

The only material that will kill grubs is rotenone. It can be applied as a spray or as a dust. For the spray mixture, use seven and one-half pounds of a material that contains five per cent rotenone in 100 gallons of water. Apply at 400 pounds pressure.

A dust that contains one to two per cent rotenone can be used on dairy cattle, 4-H Club calves, and other animals that are easy to handle. Just apply two to four heaping tablespoonsful of the dust along the back of the animal and rub it into the hair.

FEEDING CHICKENS

Feed costs amount to about 60 per cent of the total cost of raising a pullet or keeping a hen a year. Therefore, good feeding practices are necessary for poultry to be most profitable. See the local county agent about good poultry feeding practices.

COURTEOUS HUNTERS ARE INVITED BACK

"Hunting on another person's property without first asking permission is the same as driving off in an automobile without the owner's consent," declares Earl F. Kennamer, API extension wildlife specialist, Auburn.

Too many hunters barge into a field or woods to hunt without realizing they may be entering private property. Kennamer points out that many farmers, even though their lands are posted, are most willing to grant permission to hunt on their property.

Farmers rightfully become angry when strangers trample down their fall planted oats, leave gates open and let livestock escape, or cause other damage. The fact that a person requests to shoot on private property is a good sign that he wants to do the right thing.

A sportsman becomes a good friend of a farmer when he offers to pay for any damage he might do while hunting on the farmer's property.

HOG PRICES PROMISE TO REMAIN FAVORABLE

Present prospects indicate no increase in the meat supply per person for 1949.

However, hog producers can make money by turning low-priced corn and other plentiful feeds into pork. This is the only way consumers will get extra meat in 1949, according to Foy Helms, API extension economist.

He points out that this is a great opportunity for Alabama farmers to cash in on high corn yields by balancing their corn production with hogs.

WORM CALVES

Calves and other cattle showing symptoms of worms should be treated with phenothiazine. Give 20 grams of phenothiazine per 100 pounds of liveweight. The maximum dose for animals weighing over 300 pounds is 60 grams. Do not give to dairy cows that are being milked.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Turnquist, Mrs. A. E. Reagan and Naemi Turnquist spent Sunday in Birmingham with Mr. and Mrs. Karl Peterson and other relatives.

Mrs. B. L. Davenport has returned from Philadelphia, Pa., where she spent some time with her daughter, Mrs. Hattie McGill, and Mr. McGill.

Mr. and Mrs. William Childress of Selma, Ala., are the proud parents of fine twin daughters born on December 1st at the Selma Baptist Hospital. They have named the little girls Brenda Fay and Linda Kay. This young couple have lots of friends here who were delighted over this news. Our congratulations to them, as well as to the proud grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Childress.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney J. Davenport of Winchester, Tenn., were here for the week end, bringing with them her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Willis, who have been spending some time with them in Tennessee.

Miss Margaret Ward of Birmingham spent the week end at her home here.

The Family Cafe has changed hands again, and has been purchased by Mrs. Turner Gamble. Mrs. Gamble announces that her place will undergo a complete renovation and she will be its operator. She invites her friends in to see her. We wish for her much success in her new undertaking.

Mrs. Estelle Hayes, Paula Margaret and Mrs. W. M. Benson, the Harold Stricklands and many others from here attended the chicken supper given by the P.-T.A. at Collins Chapel on Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Ashcraft of Sylacauga, Ala., visited with his parents on Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Franklin, Dr. Thomas Hayes and Dr. J. D. Vines were among those who attended the Alabama-Auburn football game on last Saturday.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Peterson and daughter, Shirley, are most delighted to learn that they plan to move to Thorsby to live in the very near future. They will occupy the home just vacated by the Chas. Howards. This family has lived in Thorsby several years ago and have many friends here who will be happy to welcome them back.

Mr. Owen Carter has been recalled to the service, and left last Friday to report for duty. It has not yet been learned just where he will be stationed. Mr. Carter will be greatly missed in Thorsby, since he has been very active in the civic affairs of our town. It is with regret that we give him up, but we wish him every success in his new field.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Strickland week ended in Tuscaloosa where they visited with his relatives.

Thorsby has a new assistant policeman. Mr. Thacker, of Parrish, Ala., has arrived and will assist Chief Livingston.

The Lloyd Howard's had as their guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Robert Game (Gladys Martin) and sons, Gene and Clifford.

Miss Rosalie Forsman of Selma Baptist Hospital, Selma, Ala., spent Saturday and Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Anna Larson. Mrs. Larson suffered a slight facial stroke Friday night, but seems to have recovered sufficiently as to be able to be up and around and attend to her household duties. Miss Forsman returned to Selma on Monday.

Miss Naemi Turnquist returned Thursday afternoon from Atlanta, Ga., where she went to attend funeral services of a very close friend. Mrs. James E. Biggs (Anna Berlin) passed away on Tuesday, November 30th, and funeral services were held from Spring Hill Chapel and interment was in West View Cemetery. She is survived by a husband; one son, Jimmy, Jr., of Atlanta; one daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Marks, of New York City; one brother, Carl Berlin, Chicago, Ill.; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Berlin; one sister, Mrs. Thos. G. Rogers, all of Atlanta, and one grandson, Larry IV. Mrs. Biggs lived in Thorsby from early childhood and from High School here, went to Birmingham where she graduated in nursing at St. Vincent's Hospital. After her marriage she returned to Thorsby where she lived for some months with her parents, before moving with her husband to Atlanta, Ga., where she lived for 27 years and until her death. Mrs. Biggs has many friends here who mourn her untimely passing. Our deepest sympathy is extended to the family.

Those attending the Baptist Church last Sunday enjoyed two most inspiring services, morning and evening. A large attendance at Sunday School was also enjoyed, there having been 144 who attended. This is indeed encouraging to the new pastor and it is hoped that a good attendance will continue.

Friends of Mrs. H. L. Walker sympathize with her in the loss of her sister, Mrs. Edna Walker, who died on Saturday and was buried at Coosa River Church on last Sunday. Those from here who attended the funeral were: Mrs. H. L. Walker, Mrs. G. A. Bice, Mrs. R. R. Franklin and Mr. and Mrs. Carl McDowell.

Miss Marguerite Davison spent a few days here with friends.

Messrs. Arnold Littleton, Leonard Hayes and Herman Robinson attended the football game in Birmingham Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Miller of Selma, Ala., visited with the Paynes this week end.

Mrs. Arnold Littleton and her mother made a trip to Montgomery Saturday and attended an all-day singing.

The Thorsby Garden Club will meet at the home of Mrs. A. E. Reagan on Thursday night (tonight) at 7:30 p.m. This will be strictly a business meeting at which time plans will be made for the Xmas Party which they are to enjoy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kendrick. More about this later. All members are urged to be present on Thursday night.

STATE EMPLOYMENT SERVICE

The Clanton office of the Alabama State Employment Service will be honored in an award ceremony to be held in the City Hall, Friday night, December 10. The awards will be presented by Mr. W. I. Reid, State Department Commander of the DISABLED AMERICAN VETERANS.

The certificates which will be given to Mr. W. Walker Allen, Manager of the Clanton office, are in recognition of that office's outstanding work in October in the placing of handicapped persons in suitable jobs. A Silver Pitcher and two Goblets will be presented to Jack Parsons, head of the area in which the plant office is located. Mr. Parson's area has won the award once before.

The program was instituted by the DISABLED AMERICAN VETERANS in an effort to recognize the outstanding work being done by the Employment Service in placing handicapped persons, and in an effort to bring to the attention of the employers in Alabama that handicapped persons are good workers when suitably placed.

Each month the various offices in the State Employment Service compete in the program. The office which places the greater percentage of handicapped veterans receives a certificate of merit and a certificate is given to that office which has the highest percentage of placements of handicapped persons in general. The area which has the highest percentage of handicapped veteran placements receives the Silver Pitcher and Goblets.

PLATE SUPPER

On Saturday night, December 11th, 1948, there will be a plate supper given at the home of Mr. Evans Chasteen, located on the Clanton-Billingsley road just across from M. C. Durbin's store. This supper is given for the benefit of Pleasant Grove Methodist Church. The Chilton County Peach Pickers Band will furnish free music.

There will be a pretty girl cake, an ugly man cake and a guess cake. So, if you are looking for a place to go for a good time, don't forget the time and place as all proceeds will go for the church.

COLLINS CHAPEL P.-T.A.

The Chicken Supper at Collins Chapel Schoolhouse was a success. Mrs. Jewel Smith was in charge of the games. Mr. Stapp of Clanton was master of ceremonies. Jackie Sue Davis was elected Miss Collins Chapel and Mary Clyde Gore the prettiest girl.

Indeed all had a good time.

Give as much as you can, but Give! To the Chilton County Christmas Chest.

A note which has been held against the Chestnut Creek Baptist Church, Cooper, will be burned at the eleven o'clock service Sunday, December 12, 1948. The new pastorium has been paid for and the people are grateful for every one who had a part in it. You are invited to the burning. The Liberty Hill Quartet will sing for the occasion.

Come see the fire and sing with us, "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow."

SARDIS

We had good attendance at Sunday School Sunday which we were proud of, but there wasn't so many at B.T.U. Sunday night. We want to urge everyone to come to church each Sunday and let's don't let the cold weather get our attendance down.

Everyone interested is requested to meet at the church next Wednesday, December 15th, to help clean off the cemetery and church yards. If that is a rainy day we will meet the next pretty day. We would like to see a large crowd out at this working.

Sunday and Sunday night is our regular preaching day. We invite all who will to come worship with us.

PLEASANT GROVE

Sunday was our regular preaching day. We had a large crowd out for our service. Our pastor, Rev. Rountree, brought a wonderful message which was enjoyed by every one present. We had several visitors from other churches with us.

We are always glad to have them with us and extend a hardy invitation to them to come and be with us any time they can. Several of the old members trat haven't been to church in a long time were out with us Sunday. We are glad to see them back taking a part in the service like they used to.

Next Sunday at Sunday School, we will draw names. Then on Saturday night, December 18th, which will be our next preaching service, we will have a Christmas tree combined with our preaching service. Everybody who desires to draw names, be at Sunday School next Sunday or send in your name.

FARMERS MEET

The secretary recommended more diversification, more livestock and further soil conservation work, and increased mechanization of agriculture.

Secretary Brannan arrived at the convention along with Mr. James G. Patton, President of the National Farmers Union and after the convention they returned by plane to Washington together. Before going to Washington, Secretary Brannan was a resident of Colorado, where the national office of the Farmers Union and the home of Mr. Patton is. Mr. Brannan and Mr. Patton are friends of long standing.

Secretary Branan was introduced to the convention by Governor Folsom. In his address to the convention, Governor Folsom renewed his pledge to work for better rural roads and assistance to the old people of the state. He stated that when the legislature convenes again he will ask that legislation for these purposes be passed and that if they did not do this the responsibility would rest with the legislature and not with "Papa" Folsom.

National Farmers Union President Patton made a stirring address declaring that the farmer must no longer be considered a second class citizen. On the subject of parity prices for agricultural products, he stated: "The Farmers Union is not for 60, 70 or 90% of parity for farmers. We are for a full 100% parity." He further stated: "There are two ways organized farmers can compete in the present legislated economy. One is by cooperatives, and the other is at the ballot box."

Patton stated that the reason why farmers had failed to make the gains others had was not because of the failures of the Department of Agriculture nor was Congress responsible for it. The cause lay, he stated, in the fact that farmers had failed to organize to the extent others had. He further stated: "We of the Farmers Union are glad that labor is so well organized. We must work with city folks to see that they have the ways and means to eat and wear what we produce."

Resolutions were passed by the delegates calling for a renewal of the state market program and asking the next legislature to appropriate at least $500,000 a year to a revolving fund for this purpose. On the subject of roads, the convention called for the Alabama Legislature to float a $100,000,000 bond issue for the purpose of building permanent rural roads, stating: "The big highways between cities were paved with bond issues which farm people helped pay. It is now time for black top roads so school buses can travel safely and so farmers can get to market and to church."

Increased educational provision for rural children was called for as well as legislation to promote health. The resolution on health stated: "Promotion of health is as necessary to the public welfare as schools, police and fire protection, public streets and roads; and a really effective health service can only be obtained when paid for on the same basis as these other public services. We call for state and national legislation to this end."

An expansion of Social Security benefits to include rural people was called for and stated: "The present system under which the Federal Government pays more toward old-age assistance for old people in the richer states than in the rura an low-income states should be changed."

On the subject of fertilizer the resolutions stated: "We recommend federal legislation to break up monopoly in any type of fertilizer and a government agency to be set up to produce fertilizer on a "yardstick" basis—in other words, we need a fertilizer "TV A." The resolutions further stated: "The small farmers of Alabama are not receiving their fair share of the nitrate fertilizers and are having to pay excess prices for much of what they do get."

Support of the United Nations was urged and the delegates stated that they believed "ways can be found to win the peace." This resolution stated further: "The people of the world want peace and it is the responsibility and duty of our leaders to find ways to realize this most necessary need of the people they represent."

The resolutions of the convention were concluded with the following statement: "We, the members of the Farmers Union, believe in a Supreme Being and that it is the divine plan that men should give their bodies a living sacrifice for the cause of Truth, Justice and the Golden Rule. We believe that deeds of kindness, love and the promotion of all that brings food, clothing, shelter and medical care to the people needing these things, deserves our attention and support.

"We thank the Divine Creator for our existance and the vast resources He has supplied for our preservation and pray for guidance in our organized efforts to find the solution to the many pressing problems that confront us."

THORSBY P.-T.A.

The Thorsby P.-T.A. will meet this Friday night, December 10th, at 7:30, at the schiol. A Christmas program has been planned and refreshments will be served during the social hour. All parents and friends are cordially invited to attend.

Something new in the way of entertainment is being planned by the .-T.A. as a special Christmas treat. Santa Claus will be on hand at the Thorsby Jr. High School some time within the next week or so to greet the kiddies at the "Sock" Party. Ever of such a party? Each lady (young or old) buys a pair of men's socks and stuffs them both with good things to eat, such as candy, nuts, fruit, cake, or anything she wishes to put in them, then she ties them with a red ribbon with her name on them. The pair of socks is sold to the highest bidder just the same as at a box supper. Of course the donor eats with the buyer and everyone has a good time.

As an added attraction a basket ball game will be played between the men and women from 30 years of age on up. This should be good. Don't fail to see it!

And don't fail to watch for the announcement of the date and time of the "Sock" Party in next week's paper.

"IF YOU KNEW SUSIE"

There is a carload of fun in store for you December 14th, at 7:30 p.m., if you witness the Jr. class play at Billingsley High School auditorium.

This is one of the most promising plays over to be presented. "If You Knew Susie," is a 3-act comedy with plenty of action. So be there if it takes your last dime, you will never regret it.

The cast is as follows:

Susie Simpkins, cause of it all, Sara Bowles; Trudy Van Pane, Susie's rival, Dot Strickland; Bob Barringer, Susie's suitor, Gilbert Green; Fran Tasha, an art student, Elaine Lee; Charlene Cassidy, a model, Virginia Raines; Daisy Jinks, the dumb maid, Imogene Herrod; Arty Allen, a voice student, Hilma Audis Tindall; Mrs. Chase, the landlady, Louise McCullough; Billy Wade, Charlene's fiancee, Tommy Bentley; Cutey Waters, who loses his pants, Alton Earl Williams; Professor Chauncey Clooney, the Dean, Elroe Hood; Aunt Sally, a long-lost aunt, Addie Louise Kirkley.

Be sure you are present when this rib-splitting, side-busting comedy begins! Come early for a good seat. Admission 25c and 35c.

To clean brass and copper, use a solution of vinegar and salt or a dilute oxalic acid with a fine abrasive such as whiting.

John T. Caldwell To Be Inaugurated Sixth President Of Alabama College

Montevallo, Ala. — Alabama College will be host to some four hundred guests on December 10-11 when Dr. John T. Caldwell will be inaugurated as sixth president of the college. Dr. Caldwell came to the college as president in September, 1947, from Vanderbilt University, but by custom was not inaugurated until the end of his first year in office.

A Southerner by birth, Dr. Caldwell is one of three new presidents of the major state-operated colleges and universities of Alabama. Other new presidents are Dr. John M. Gallallee of the University of Alabama and Dr. Ralph B. Draughon of Alabama Polytechnic Institute. At 36, Dr. Caldwell is the youngest of the three. He served in the Pacific campaigns of World War II as Lieutenant Commander in the United States Navy.

Governor James E. Folsom, who is also president of the Board of Trustees of this state college, Senators Lister Hill and John Sparkman, will head a list of trustees, state officials, alumnae, educators and prominent citizens of Alabama and surrounding states invited to the inaugural ceremonies.

The inauguration will take place Saturday, December 11, at 11:00 a.m. with Dr. Austin R. Meadows, State Superintendent of Education, officiating. Dr. T. H. Napier, Dean of Alabama College since 1926, will bring greetings from the faculty to trustees and guests.

The program will include welcoming addresses from Governor Folsom and from representatives of the student body and alumnae. The inaugural address will be given by Dr. Caldwell.

Following the inauguration there will be a luncheon for guests of the college in the dining halls of the school. Guests of the inauguration will also attend a concert Friday evening, December 10, in Palmer Auditorium. Soloist will be Marian Hughes, well known light opera singer, former Powers model, and an alumna of the college. Miss Hughes was graduated in 1941 and has appeared with the Paul Whitman and Sigmund Romberg orchestras.

Classes will be suspended Friday to allow students and faculty to participate in campus discussions on Education in Alabama. Conference leaders for the faculty will be Dr. Melva Lind of Mount Holyoke College, Massachusetts and Dr. Lewis Webster Jones, President of the University of Arkansas. Mrs. Jones will act as consultant for the student discussions.

The management of the College from the beginning has been vested in a Board of Trustees composed of the Governor, who is its president, the State Superintendent of Education, and eleven members appointed by the Governor, one from each of the nine Congressional Districts and two from the state-at-large.

Alabama College has developed to a standard liberal arts college, granting the Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Fine Arts, Bachelor of Music, and Bachelor of Science degrees. Carmichael, Dean of the College since 1922, became the fourth president. The fifth president to be chosen in 1935 was Dr. Arthur Fort Harman and he was succeeded by Dr. John Tyler Caldwell who assumed his duties on September 1, 1947.

CHILTON COUNTY ABSTRACT CO.
M. D. FOSHEE, Manager

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the Title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages and judgments or other liens, affecting the Title, which an Abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an Abstract of Title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an Abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

MT. NEBO METHODIST MEN'S CLUB

The Men's Club of Mt. Nebo Church met on Tuesday night, November 30, 1948. This was the second meeting of the club which is proving to be a big success. The number of members is steadily increasing.

The club was served a very nice chicken supper which was prepared by some members of the club.

The main purpose of this club is to get more men to attend church services. We have set our goal to get 50 or more men to attend church services on Sunday, December 19th. Each member of the club is urged to bring as many men as possible.

Our next meeting will be held on the first Tuesday night in January.—Allan Wiliams, Secretary.

CHRISTMAS CHEST WORKERS URGE THOSE WHO WILL, MAKE DONATIONS NOW

Although the Chilton County Christmas Chest was only a week old last Monday night, hopes for a smashing wind-up of the Christmas Chest Drive were expressed by Rev. Carlisle Miller, chairman. At it's second meeting Rev. Miller announced plans to wind up the drive by next Tuesday night and urged his committees to do their utmost in an effort to get all donations into the chest before the last minute.

Rev. Miller also said that the Boy Scouts would make a door-to-door canvass of every house in Clanton, beginning at 8:30 Saturday morning. He said that the Boy Scouts would be canvassing for both new and used clothing, all usable, but discarded toys, and non-perishable foods of all kinds. The Boy Scout canvass will be under the direction of Rev. John Smith.

During last Monday night's meeting reports were heard from several of the Christmas Chest committees. Included was a report that several civic and religious organizations had pledged themselves to put the drive over the top. At the same time it was pointed out that several hundred dollars has already been pledged by some of these organiaztions and that others are also planning to give a helpful hand before the drive comes to a close next Tuesday night. All money donations should be sent to Rev. A. T. Hickman at Radio Station WKLF.

In an effort to give the drive further momentum, arrangements have been made for 15-minute interviews at 9:30 a.m. each morning over WKLF until the drive closes. Those to be interviewed include Miss Faye Woolley, secretary of the Christmas Chest; Miss Caroline Montgomery and Miss Mattie Foshee. These interviews are designed to bring to the attention of everyone the great need for help to the needy of Chilton County to make it possible for everyone to have a visit from Santa Claus.

Mrs. Frank Scott, president, presided over the meeting, which was opened with the club collect by the members. Reports were made by the various officers. Mrs. Erle Ellis, the program director for the afternoon, presented a most inspiring playlet, "The Giver of Gifts," by Alverta Hinds Tate. IT'LL BE A BUSY CHRISTMAS SEASON

Here's a short reminder of the things that you should give your support to this Christmas Season. First there's the Christmas Chest—make that contribution today. Then there is a CROP campaign in progress. This is for the starving children of Europe and is certainly deserving of our support. The Kiwanis Minstrel will be at the City Hall Thursday and Friday night of this week.

The MYF Christmas play will be presented next Tuesday night at the Methodist Church. Don't forget to attend the White Christmas program at the Methodist Church next Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

That along with all your other plans for the Christmas Season should keep you busy.

EPISCOPAL SERVICE SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The Rev. John L. Jenkins, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Selma, will celebrate Holy Communion and deliver a sermon Sunday, December 19th, at 3:30 o'clock, in the Clanton Presbyterian Church.

Everyone is cordially welcomed to this service.

200 Will Sing In Yuletide Concert

On Monday night December 20th, the combined glee clubs of Chilton County High School will be presented in a program of Christmas music under the direction of Lois Thompson Mims. The Girls' Glee Club, the Boys' Glee Club and the Junior High Boys' Chorus will be heard jointly and as individual groups. The mass chorus includes more than 200 young people.

The program features new distinctive choral arrangements of such favorites as White Christmas, Silent Night and Ave Maria. Gesu Bambino is one of several new additions to the usual Christmas repertory.

Although C.C.H.S. glee clubs regularly give annual Spring programs, this is their first full Christmas program. The young people under the leadership of Johnnie Sue Collins, Jimmy Stroud, and Larry Minor, their respective presidents, have enthusiastically prepared this program and are cordially inviting all friends of music to hear their concert. The time is 7:30; the place, the high school gymnasium. No admission.

Hickman Named Head Of Ministers Association

Rev. A. T. Hickman, pastor of the Temple Church was elected president of the newly organized Clanton Ministerial Association. Rev. Carlisle Miller was named secretary. This group has been organized for the purpose of bringing the resident pastors of Clanton into closer fellowship and cooperation as they carry on with the leadership of their respective churches. The Association will meet every first Monday at 10 a.m. The Clanton Methodist Church was named as the place for the meeting in January. All resident pastors of Clanton are urged to participate in the Association.

The first action of the group was the endorsement of the Chilton County Christmas Chest undertaking. It is the sincere hope of the Clanton Ministerial Association that the church people of Chilton County will respond generously to this effort to make Christmas a joyous and happy time for the needy. In this expression the Clanton Association follows the lead of the Chilton-Unity Baptist Association who endorsed the Christmas Chest at their meeting this past Saturday.

Chilton's Christmas Chest

Each and every citizen of Chilton County should appreciate the opportunity to give to the Chilton County Christmas Chest this year.

The Christmas Chest in a smaller measure has been operated here in Chilton County for many years. The Kiwanis Club, The Lions Club, the Pilots and several others have made it a Christmas duty to see that those who weren't quite so fortunate could enjoy the good things at Christmas time.

This year the same idea is being applied on a larger scale. All of the Clubs, organizations and businessmen, are concentrating their efforts in one big Christmas Chest, in an effort to see that no family is entirely forgotten or through error is remembered by one, two or three, different groups.

Through the combined effort of all the present setup can grow to be a wonderful thing. It can give us all a chance to help where one, alone, could not do much to relieve the situation. It is your duty and my duty to get in touch with Rev. A. T. Hickman and make our contribution.

Let's make our watchword: "I have made my contribution to the Christmas Chest — have you made yours?"

Other Towns Have It

Why doesn't Clanton have Christmas decorations like most other towns and small cities it's size? We honestly believe it would bring big returns to our merchants. Clanton is a prosperous little city and our county is one of the richest in the state for her size, but we can't afford to decorate our streets with Christmas lights and banners to supply the spirit that is so necessary to the full enjoyment of the Yule Season.

After taking a look at Hayes Chevrolet Company's lot on a Sunday afternoon one would think that automobiles are a dime a dozen—that is, the way they tear them up week ends.

Just because a man makes money isn't necessarily a sign that he is a success.

Planes Muster at 'Annapolis of the Air'

The busy flight line of the Naval Air Station at Pensacola will roar into action shortly as Naval Aviation Cadets jump into their fast, sturdy SNJ trainers and taxi out for a practice hop. Pensacola Naval Air Station, the "Annapolis of the Air," is the focus of the recently reactivated Naval Aviation Cadet training program, which is open to healthy, single young men between 18 and 25, with at least two years of college. Upon graduation they are commissioned ensigns in the Naval Reserve, or second lieutenants in the Marine Corps Reserve, are awarded their wings and assigned to two years' active duty. Folks and Things About Town

--By BEN

Wallace Cox hasn't long to make good on that promise he made that the overhead bridge would be open for the public on Christmas Day. Things look mighty good up there, though, and we are looking forward to driving over that bridge on said day to make pop-calls and wish friends greetings of the season.

We don't understand why a man, or woman, would mind spending a penny to put into a parking meter. The time has come when they won't buy anything else.

This is about as good a time as any to tell our Santa Claus joke. Two little boys were talking after Sunday School one morning when one little boy asked the other little boy if he believed what they told him about the devil. "Naw," said the first little boy, "It's just like Santa Claus. It's your daddy."

Have you ever heard of anything to beat the Wadesonians? Just as soon as possible after Charles and Minnie Wades' babies are born they start them flying—and they stay up-in-the-air from that time on. And we mean literally. Sunday morning Peggy made her first solo flight. Now besides the parents, three children have soloed, Buddy, Elizabeth and Peggy. We nominate the Wades Clanton's Flying Family.

Surely must not have had our mind on our business last Monday night when we attended the meeting at Radio Station WKLF. When we walked in about thirty minutes late, Rev. Carlisle Miller who was acting chairman of the meeting, told us it was to be known as the Chilton County Christmas Chest, but we wrote it Community Chest for some reason and it stuck. Now we wish to apologize for our error and straighten things out; it will be known as The Chilton County Christmas Chest and it's purpose is just what we said it was last week. Have you made your contribution yet?

Several years ago Pope Payne of Thorsby, had a faithful Negro employee who was badly burned while building a fire and later died. According to Pope, who later told the tale to John DeRamus, who later told the tale to us, a conversation took place in the kitchen at the Payne home between their cook and a negro man who had attended the funeral. Mr. Payne and his family had attended the funeral and through courtesy and affection for a faithful employee Mr. Payne had made a few brief remarks complimenting the deceased and urged others of his race to live as he had lived. To be strictly honest, etc., etc. Back to the conversation in the kitchen. The Payne cook had asked if her visitor thought the deceased would go to Heaven. "Yes" he said slowly, "I think so; Mr. Pope recommended him so highly."

Well, the time has come to send those Christmas cards again. Seeing as how we have been known for our laziness, we are skipping sending any this year. We are going to tell all our friends "Merry Christmas" right now. All our friends read this column and we weren't going to send any to our enemies anyhow.

MERRY CHRISTMAS, EVERYBODY!

Thorsby Jr. High P.-T.A.—

The P.-T.A. met last Friday evening, December 10th, in the school lunchroom. The outstanding feature of the program was a very beautiful reading, entitled, "The Uninvited Guest," given by Mrs. John Rollins. It touched the hearts of all who heard it.

The room mothers made plans to entertain the pupils in each room on December 21, when the school dismisses for Christmas holidays.

At the close of the meeting delicious refreshments were served to the group by Mrs. Gilmer Gwin and Mr. Thomas Manning.

Sock Party—

Everyone is cordially invited to come to the Thorsby Jr. High School Saturday night, December 18th, at 7 o'clock when the P.-T.A. will sponsor the "Sock" party you read about in last week's weeks paper. Just buy a pair of men's socks (any color), stuff them with good things to eat, such as nut, fruit, candy, sandwiches, or anything you wish—tie them at the top with your name on them. They will be sold to the highest bidder. So come, bring some socks and join in the fun.

As an added attraction at the "Sock" party a basketball game will be played between the men and women with the "Fats" vs. the "Leans." Anything for a laugh! It's new! It's different! It's all in fun.

Admission will be 10c for everybody and free coffee will be served. Proceeds will go toward the purchase of a motion picture machine for the school.

Mrs. Ira Sorrell was called to Birmingham last week on account of the death of her brother-in-law.

Thorsby is beginning to put on the "Xmas look" with the little cedar trees along the railroad all lighted and the business houses decorated beautifully. Now wouldn't it be nice, if we could have a little less parking of cars and trucks along the railroad, so that people passing through our our town, could easily see the Xmas trees and the decorations all along the street. There are side streets on which to park. Won't you try and leave that space open — during the holidays? Please do.

Our basketball season is in full swing now, and we are having some nice games. On last Friday night our team played Clanton, and though they were defeated by a close score of 26 to 24, it was a thrilling game for those who saw it. On next Friday night they are scheluled to play Billingsley. Our Juniors are playing some good games too, and you should see their swanky new suits. Come out and see some of these games—you'll be proud of the boys.

Radio Ramblings

(By JESSE CULP)

Christmas is really getting in the air these days. Show windows all over Clanton are brightly decorated with yuletide symbols, and Christmas songs are becoming more and more in demand in request programs on the air. Even the WKLF studios are beginning to look like Christmas. Studio visitors during the next few days will see a lighted tree in the front lobby, and bits of holly and brightly-colored candles here and there. The latter was Ruby Morgan's idea, and not such a bad one, either.

WKLF is planning to give you a lot of good Christmas listening this year. I'll tell you all about it in "Radio Ramblings" next week.

An important piece of news in the radio business this week is the lifting of the recording ban. As you probably know, most all of the records that you've been buying and listening to were originally recorded over a year ago. Pretty soon though you'll be hearing more records by established artists, and less by newcomers.

Guest announcers on "Club 980" last week were Ann Horn, Paula Gore and Betty Comer. Winners in the "letter of the week" contest were Bobby Griffin of Clanton Route 2, and Minnie Mae Davenport of Thorsby Route 1.

You don't have much more time to discover the joy of being Santa Claus. Tuesday is the deadline on contributions to the Chilton County Christmas Chest. Remember that the Clanton Motors show room is the collection point for commodities. Anything non-perishable that you can give should be left there. Send your cash contributions to Rev. A. T. Hickman at the radio station.

The local Boy Scouts will begin a house-to-house canvass in Clanton at 8:30 Saturday morning. If your have any clothes, usable toys, or anything else that you can give, please have it ready at that time. "Give as much as you can, but GIVE to the Chilton County Christmas Chest."

Two of the nation's major radio networks—NBC and CBS—are engaged in a terrific talent battle that is unrivaled in radio history. Most of the programs involved are the Sunday night programs, largely comedy shows. Jack Benny's switch to CBS cost that network plenty of money, but it cost NBC plenty of listeners. Edgar Bergen has announced that after his December 26 broadcast he will leave the air temporarily. That leaves NBC in another hole. All this is going to mean better radio listening in the long run, because competition always means improvement.

I'm just trying to think who it was here in town that told me they doubted the effectiveness of radio. I want to tell them that the Lutheran Church is going to spend $1,400,000 on radio programs during the next fiscal year. Do you think they would spend that much from a limited budget if they didn't know from past experience that it was going to have a terrific effect on the minds of people? I don't.

Birmingham is getting another new radio station. The Magic City Broadcasting Co. was last week granted a Construction Permit for a 1,000-watt daytime outlet on 1220 k. c.

Don't forget the "Alabama Jubilee" Saturday afternoon from two to four o'clock. You are invited to witness the broadcast here in the studios. Your admission to the studio will be a jar of canned goods, a sack of pecans, or any other such contribution to the Christmas Chest. There will be a box by the studio entrance for depositing the contributions.

That's about all for this week. Until next time, so long and good listening.

THINGS WE SEE AND HEAR

CCHS——By "Tuck"——CCHS

That girls' football game was most exciting, wasn't it, folks?

Jearlyn Studdard and Annette Broadhead seem to be all time favorites in school. I wonder why? (With everybody, that is.)

Joe Doug, I see you've finally gotten that sling off your arm. (I was beginning to wonder whether or not you were going to keep it on there because you liked it.)

I see James Pyron wasn't at school the day after the "C" Club initiation. I wonder why? No, Pyron, there was a good many other guys absent that day, too.

Eugene Williams, I think you had better quit teasing Betty Summerville, she seems to have blown a gasket or something. (Probabdy or something).

Mrs. Griffin sure does like to talk to certain Jr. III boys at lunch. How about it, Phillip and Joe?

Fred Thompson, you don't seem to be on the good side of Miss Black in Math. (I sure am one to talk though.)

Myron Levine, you sure do have some eye-catching specks. Glasses, that is.

Speaking of Myron Levine, I wonder if he has learned to drive since the last time I saw him. How about it, Myron?

Joe Blair and Annette Broadhead finally got around to — hold everything; I think they've broken up again. (Boy, things sure happen fast around here, don't they?

Jearlyn Studdard, somebody seems to have made you mad the other night at the party. (I wonder who it could have been?) Of course, he made up the next day. So everybody lived happily every after. (Except me.)

I almost can't imagine getting out a WHOLE WEEK for Christmas. It's almost unbelieveable. (Like heck it is.)

Sonny Gaylor, maybe you'd better tell Lenore all about it and get it off your mind.

You know, some Jr. III girls just can't seem to make up their minds. And there's more than one or two down there, too.

Hey, Mrs. Palmer, how did you rate getting a carrot after lunch last Monday when we didn't even have carrots?

Some people seem to think Bobby S., and Phillip Lawrence, etc., are most amusing, in other words, very funny in classes down at the school, but some other people seem to have different opinions of that.

Buddy Minshew, looks like somebody didn't like the arrangement of the fingers on your hand, one of them is kinda out of place, isn't it?

Anybody that thinks Sonny Lowery can't run, just come to see me. I tried to catch him on a slippery field the other day (and, oh, brother!)

We have some of the nicest hall monitors down at school now, don't we, fellas? (I mean girl monitors.)

W. C. Rucker, you'd better watch Betty Sue Bean, she said she hated men, didn't you, Betty?

Billy Jean Poole, can't you scare up an all-timer? Or is that all you do, SCARE 'em up?

By the way, I wonder why some people down at CCHS are too busy minding other peoples' business to look after their own? (And believe me, that will get you nowhere.)

BOWLING NEWS

The bowling season began with a bang two weeks ago with several local firms sponsoring teams.

As more teams are formed and present ones continue to take such a lively interest some very interesting contests are expected to develop during Clanton's bowling season.

One is surprised at the number of good bowlers and how quickly others are developing.

The first contest of the season was Baird Parts team vs. Firestone. The Baird Parts having won two out of three. The second game was a lively contest in which Texaco defeated Baird Parts. Third game results show Luker Furniture defeated by Texaco. Fourth series shows Baird defeated Firestone.

The teams now organized consist of the following:

Baird Parts team — Raymond Popwell, Lawrence Calfee, R. E. Seales, George Bradley and Clarence Shaw.

Luker Furniture team — Mr. Truman Luker, John Luker, Robert Luker and Claude Wood.

Two contests are scheduled for this week. Tuesday night Texaco vs. Firestone and Thursday night, Luker Furniture vs. Baird Parts.

PHONE RATE HIKE HEARINGS END

Montgomery, Ala. — Hearings in an appeal for permission to increase telephone rates in Alabama have been completed in Montgomery Circuit Court. The appeal was made to Judge Walter B. Jones by Southern Bell.

The requested rate increase, which was brought before the court after its denial last March by the Alabama Public Service Commission, would enable the telephone company to collect annually a total of $2,500,000 in additional charges from state telephone users.

Southern Bell claimed that under existing rates it was losing approximately $6,000 a day. The company said it owned $60,000,000 worth of property in the state.

The decision in the case is slated to be handed down in the near future.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

THE WORD "CANCER"

The word "cancer" needs to be more clearly defined. Certain types of cancer in certain organs of the body cannot be cured as yet. And because of this the word cancer has come to carry a dreadful meaning. This, however, is not always true. For example, positive cures can be gotten in 95 per cent of the cases of the basal cell type of skin cancer.

Cancer is a general term which takes in a group of varied and many-sided diseases. The dictionary tells us that a cancer is a growth of tissue which tends or threatens to produce death. It is often a superficial sore that discharges pus and tends to spread, and it is associated with ill health and a progressive loss of weight.

Men of medicine and science have for many years been working on the sures for cancers of all types. Success has been found in some instances and failures in others. There are some characteristics that are found in practically all cancers. There is an uncontrolled growth of cells and a disorganization of tissue structure. Cells do not behave in a normal manner, and diseased cells appear very often in areas not near the one known to be diseased. These diseased cells destroy healthy ones, and the diseased ones do not disappear of their own accord. Also the starting or cause cannot be shown to be the same for all types of cancer.

It is also pointed out that we cannot accept as truth the idea that a cancer will affect two people the same way. In fact one affected organ may not be acted upon the same as would some other organ. Therefore, each patient must be studied and treated as a particular problem, and the doctor cannot make his decisions entirely on what happened to someone else.

The aim of this article is not to belittle the danger of cancer. However, for the peace of mind of some people we should be more specific when speaking of cancer. A basal cell type of skin cancer would not cause the panic that some other types might when it is realized that cure is so nearly positive. Let's be specific and try to reduce some of the unnecessary panic caused by the word cancer.

Methodist WSCS Dinner And Bazaar Was Great Success

As our dinner and bazaar were such a success on December 7th, I wish to take this opportunity to thank every one of the people who helped to make it so.

First, I want to thank the public for their confidence in us to feed them.

Next, our WSCS President, Mrs. Joe Campbell, for her encouragement all along the way. The ladies who baked the lovely cakes and pies, they were just like pictures out of the book.

Lloyd and Bob Windham of the City Grill who did the fine job of baking the hams that were served and cooking the other food.

Our donors: The Clyde Mims Grocery for Betsy Ross rolls and Del Monte coffee; the Taylor Wholesale Grocery for cranberry sauce; the A & P Tea Company for Foremost and Dairy Producers sweet milk and other things; the Popwell Taxi Company for transportation; the Lawrence Sign Co. for signs; Mr. Ben Tucker for tickets; the Farley Drug Company for crepe paper to decorate; all the ladies of WSCS who donated food; the ladies who decorated the dining rooms. It was beautiful in holly, japonicas and Santa Claus for Xmas; the MYF for their splendid cooperation in securing the decorations and decorating.

Mrs. Alma Huddleston and Mrs. Carlisle Miller for music; all the ladies who helped in the bazaar booths and helped to serve; to Mrs. Corbett Carmicheal and Mrs. Lila Shepherd for their beautiful display and commissions on antiques; Mrs. Otto Jones for this idea; Mr. Arthur Broadhead for making the booths; a vote of thanks from all to Janie Williams and Bertha McCall for help in the kitchen; and last, but not least, Pastor Miller; our two fine papers and WKLF for putting us in the press and over the air waves; also Mr. Jim Wade for the ice.

Sincerely,
MRS. LLOYD POPWELL,
Chairman.

WAYS TO RID CATTLE OF CONTAGIOUS WARTS

Warts on cattle are often spread through a group of calves by contact.

W. H. Gregory, A.P.I. - extension livestock specialist, reveals that most warts are clipped off and the stumps painted with tincture of iodine.

Other successful ways to remove warts include the use of a wart vaccine or castor oil applied to warts daily. When the vaccine is used, repeated injections are necessary.

Disinfecting stalls and pens will usually prevent spread of warts.

THE NEW PLEASANT GROVE NEWS

We had our first Sunday School in our new church last Sunday with a large number present. We were glad to see so many present. Let's everyone go back next Sunday and carry someone with us, and see how many we can have in Sunday School.

We are thankful for our new church and also for the ones who have shown so much interest in erecting this building. Especially do we thank the ones who have been so faithful to work day and night in order for us to have Sunday School last Sunday.

We want the public to know this church wasn't built for just the members. It is for whosoever will may come and worship God in spirit and in truth.

Next Sunday is regular preaching day. Let's show our appreciation to our Lord, to our church and our pastor, by being present. So come one and all and let's worship together. You'll never be sorry you did.

Sunday School at 10:00 every Sunday; preaching every first and third Sundays, at 11 o'clock. Everyone is welcome.

OFFICER SCHOOL NOW OPEN FOR WOMEN

Highly qualified young women in Chilton County between the ages of 19 and 28, now may apply for enlistment in the Army specifically to attend the Women's Army Corps Officer Candidate School, Sgt. Aussant said here recently.

Upon successful completion of the six-month course at Camp Lee, Va., Sgt. Aussant explained, Distinguished Graduates will be considered for appointment as second lieutenants in the Regular Army. Other graduates will be appointed second lieutenants in the Organized Reserve Corps.. These officers may be placed on competitive tours for one year, and, if qualified, may be considered for appointment in the Regular Army. Officers commissioned will serve at least two years of active duty.

"Civilian women who enlist for OCS and fail to complete the course," Sgt. Aussant continued, "may be separated from the Army upon request. Civilian applicants who have not had basic training or its equivalent at some time previous to application are given basic training before starting the OCS course. Such candidates hold the grade of sergeant during the basic training period."

To qualify for enlistment for OCS, applicants must be citizens of the United States, have two years' accredited college education, be between the ages of 19 and 28 at the time of reporting to OCS, be single, and pass certain screening tests before an OCS board. Those who do not possess the college minimum, but who are otherwise exceptionally qualified, may establish eligibility to apply by passing an appropriate Army educational examination.

Wedding Of Home Economics Teacher

Miss Mabel Virginia Phillips was married to John Parker Levi, of Signal Mountain, Tenn., on Thanksgiving Day, November 25, 1948, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Routon of Southside, Gadsden, Ala.

The improvised altar in front of the fireplace was marked by branched candelabra and standards of white gladioli interpersed with plumosa fern. The double ring ceremony was read by Rev. B. B. Burkes, pastor of the Soutrside Baptist Church. The vows were exchanged in the presence of close friends and relatives.

Miss Juddy Ann Routon, from Auburn, Ala., and Ralph Gannaway, of Chattanooga, Tenn., lighted the candles. Miss Routon, cousin of the bride, was dressed in a light blue suit and wore a corsage of white carnations.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Thomas M. Gilbert, Jr., sister of the bride. She was dressed in a grey crepe dress with black accessories and wore a shoulder corsage of red carnations.

The bride was dressed in a tan wool suit with brown accessories and wore a shoulder corsage of talisman roses tied with orange ribbon. Mrs. Levi is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. N. Phillips of Bynum, formerly of Southside. She was graduated as Valedictorian in the class of 1943 from Southside High School. She attended Berry College and belonged to the Excelsion Club and later attended the University of Alabama. She was a member of the Kappa Delta Pi, Education Honorary Society and Psi Upsilon Omicron, Home Ex. Honorary Society.

Mr. Levi is the son of Mrs. Edna Levi of Chattanooga, Tenn. He attended Berry High School, Mt. Berry, Ga., and graduated from the Kirkman Vocational High School, Chattanooga, Tenn. His boutonniere was a white gardenia. Mr. Joe Miles, Signal Mountain, Tenn., served the groom as best man. The groomsmen wore boutonnieres of white carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi will be at home with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Reynolds of Jemison.

SAFE METHODS OF BOULDER BLASTING

J. B. Wilson, A.P.I. extension engineer, lists the safest ways to do the job. They include mudcapping, gopher holing, and the bore-hole method.

When mudcapping, load explosives on top of boulder and cover with a good layer of stiff mud. The gopher hole is made by digging a small tunnel under boulder, placing charge in tunnel and tamping well. Those who use the bore-hole method drill a hole near center of boulder, place charge in hole and tamp well.

Fuse with cap or electric exploder may be used but remember that long lead wires are necessary when using electric exploders.

TIME TO GIVE HOMES THE CHRISTMAS LOOK

Auburn, Ala. — "At Christmas time we all want our homes to look pretty and cheerful," says Alice Peavy, A.P.I. extension home management specialist.

She reminds us that the smell of evergreens mixed with the wonderful odors from the kitchen help to make Christmas. No season of the year offers a greater opportunity to decorate the home beautifully with native plants. Some of these are pine, cedar, mistletoe, youpon and holly.

The best thing to do is plan how you want your decorations to look, then work towards that goal. Think of the size and style of your home and furniture. They must all be in keeping with each other. Large homes and furnishings require large heavy arrangements and a small Christmas tree.

Another thing to remember is the table decoration. A cone of chicken wire may be packed with moss and then built into a Christmas tree for a table by inserting stems from evergreens and branches of red berries.

If you have a low basket try filling it with evergreens and using a big red bow for color. Make the streamers long enough to fall on the table leading the eye to other parts of the arrangements. Use red candles to add color and cast a soft light on decorations in the room.

INCREASE IN NUMBER OF PLANES

The recent presidential approval to increase the number of planes in "Operations Vittles" will require the services of thousands of former airmen, Sgt. James J. Aussant, Commanding Officer of the local U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station, stated today.

At least 10,000 former members of the air force are urgently needed for assignment to the Air Lift Task Force ("Operations Vittles") in the European Theatre. In order to provide the proper handling and maintenance of the 66 additional aircraft authorized by the president, former airmen, skilled in one or more of approximately sixty Military Occupational Specialties, are needed to replace those individuals currently on temporary duty with the Air Lift and whose terms of enlistment are expiring.

Applicants who meet the present Air Force enlistment standards and who enlist for a period of three, four, five or six years in the U. S. Air Force, will be accepted for this assignment. Initial assignment will be for the U.S. Air Force, European Theatre. Applicants with dependents reenlisting within 90 days from the date of their discharge, will be accepted in the grade held at time of discharge. Applicants with dependents discharged longer than 90 days must be qualified for the 2nd or 3rd grade.

Announcements will be made periodically as to the numbers and types of individuals needed for service with the Air Lift. All available information may be obtained from any U.S. Army and U.S. Air Force Recruiting (Main) Station or in the New Wade Building here in Clanton, Ala.

HAVE YOU ANSWERED THAT CHRISTMAS SEAL LETTER YET?

"Have you answered that Christmas Seal letter yet?"

That question was asked this week by Mr. J. B. Fort, president of the Chilton County Tuberculosis Association, which sponsors the Christmas Seal Sale in this county.

The Christmas Seal Sale, the chairman pointed out, is aimed at the prevention and control of the disease which kills more people between the ages of 15 and 45 than any other major cause of death—Tuberculosis.

"Christmas Seals are the symbol of our fight against this killer. The money derived from the sale of Seals is used to give X-rays to determine the presence of the TB germ, to provide hospital beds for those who have TB, to educate people in methods of preventing and of curing the disease. Seals carry the message that TB, which causes needless deaths and sickness, can be cured. They tell everyone who gets a package or a Christmas card bearing a Christmas Seal that you have done something in your county to stop this killer.

"Ninety-five percent of the money raised in Alabama stays in Alabama," the chairman stated. "An average of 80 per cent of your money stays right here to fight TB locally. When you contribute to the annual Christmas Seal drive, you are helping to stamp out tuberculosis right at home where the disease is of most danger to you.

"So, if you haven't answered that Christmas Seal letter yet, do so right away. It's your own home and your own family you may be saving from illness or death from TB."

Federal Labor Law Involved In Death Of 13 Year Old Boy

The second case within a year in which a young boy was killed while engaged in a hazardous logging occupation in Washington County, Ala., in violation of the child labor provisions of the Federal Wage and Hour Law was brought to light with the filing of two injunction suits by the Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Division, U. S. Department of Labor, in the U. S. District Court in Mobile.

While at work in the woods near Chatom, Ala., last June 22, J. W. Beech, 13 years of age, was struck on the head by a limb of a falling tree and died four hours later in a Mobile hospital. His 12 year old brother, Robert J. Beech, Jr., who was also employed contrary to the Wage-Hour Law, it is claimed, was struck by the same falling tree but escaped with slight injury. Both boys had been at work only three weeks.

The Federal law bans the employment of minors under 18 years of age in most logging and sawmilling occupations, including any job at the place where trees are being felled, according to Joseph C. Noah, Regional Director of the Divisions, whose inspectors investigated both fatalities.

The latest investigations, Mr. Noah said, disclosed that the Beech boys and four other minors had been illegally employed by the Beech boys' uncles, Edgar L. Beech, owner, and Wister Beech, supervisor of the logging operations. Both were named defendants in the court actions filed by Regional Attorney Beverley R. Worrell. The investigation further disclosed that the defendants had failed to pay some of their employees at least 40 cents an hour and time and one-half their regular rate of pay for hours worked beyond 40 in a work week and had failed to keep proper employment records, all of which are required by the Wage-Hour Law, Mr. Noah said.

Under consent judgments entered by Federal Judge John McDuffie, the defendants were permanently enjoined from any further violations of this nature.

In November, 1947, Jerry Webb, 14 years of age, had been on the job in a Washington County sawmill only a week when he was struck by a piece of timber that pierced his body. He died the next morning in a Jackson, Ala., hospital. This accident occurred near St. Stephens, Ala., a short distance from the scene of the latest reported accident. Mr. Noah said his investigation of the Webb case showed that the boy had been employed in a hazardous occupation in violation of the child labor provisions of the Wage-Hour Law. The employer in that case was placed under a permanent injunction by the same court.

Mrs. Daisy Donovan, Chief Child Labor Inspector of the Alabama State Department of Industrial Relations cooperated in both investigations.

"This latest tragedy very pointedly supports my recent statement to the press that employment of minors in logging and sawmill operations, with all its attendant dangers and perils, is still prevalent in Alabama," the Wage-Hour Director declared. "Violations of the child labor sections of this law and of the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act, which we also enforce, were uncovered in 33 percent of the sawmills and logging operations inspected in Alabama during the year ending July 1. A total of 88 such establishments were inspected and child labor violations were found in 29 of them. In Tennessee, 21 percent of the sawmills and logging operations inspected during the same period were in violation of the child labor provisions. In Mississippi, the record was more than 12 percent. In Georgia, 11 percent.

"Department reports show that many children have been injured, permanently crippled or killed while illegally employed in hazardous occupations around sawmills, logging operations or in other places where machinery is being operated. It is the firm purpose of the Divisions to clean up this situation as rapidly as our enforcement facilities will permit."

Mr. Noah offered immediate help to those employers who want to escape unintentional violation of the law. He cited the Divisions' newest publication, "A Guide to Child Labor Provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act." He said this may be obtained—without cost—from the Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions, U. S. Department of Labor, 1007 Comer Building, Birmingham 3, Ala.

Senators Lister Hill and John Sparkman have announced that Budget Director J. E. Webb, has approved inclusion in the budget for next year a request for funds to begin construction of a new lock and dam at Demopolis, Ala., to cost approximately $16,000,000. The new lock will eliminate existing dams No. 4, 5, 6 and 7.

The proposed lock on the Warrior was authorized in the 79th Congress at the same time approval was won for the Tennessee-Tombigbee, Alabama-Coosa and the Chattahoochee-Apalachicola-Flint Rivers Projects. The 80th Congress refused funds to begin construction of the lock. Senators Hill and Sparkman stated they would do everything in their power to get funds appropriated for all four of these great Alabama river projects as early as possible in the new Congress. They expressed the belief that the New Congress will be much more sympathetic to granting funds for this important link in the development of Alabama's waterway system as well as the other projects. Hill and Sparkman said the new lock is vitally needed to the modernization of the Tombigbee-Warrior River system.

The Senators said that the lock is of tremendous importance in relation to the Tennessee-Tombigbee waterway canal, connecting the Tennessee and Tombigbee Rivers. The canal will provide a protected inland water route of nine foot depth connecting Mobile and all other gulf ports, Birmingham and points on the Tombigbee with the great areas served by the 25,000 miles of inland waterways that have been constructed by the United States.

Hill and Sparkman pointed out that the Tennessee River, the Tombigbee River, the Coosa-Alabama Rivers, the Warrior River, the Mobile River, the Chattahoochee - Apalachicola Rivers will all constitute a magnificent system of waterways in Alabama, tied together and connected through the Tennessee - Tombigbee project with the vast Mississippi Inland Waterway System covering 33 states.

Modernization and tying in of the Tombigbee-Warrior system with the Tennessee River will reduce the water distance from Birmingham to the Tennessee River by 1,246 miles, or approximately three-fourths of the distance. It will place Mobile, Birmingham, Tuscaloosa and Demopolis 1,246 miles nearer to Florence, Sheffield, Tuscumbia, Guntersville, Chattanooga or Knoxville by water transportation, and provde a slack water route for the ascending traffic that will greatly reduce the fuel cost per mile traveled.

"It is an indisputable fact," Senators Hill and Sparkman said, "that water transportation provides the lowest cost means of transportation for farm products, raw materials, and manufactured goods from where they are produced to where they are required for consumption or for use in manufacturing processes."

Santa Pictured By Thomas Nast

Thomas Nast, the famous cartoonist who created our conception of Uncle Sam, the Republican elephant and the Democratic donkey, is also credited with giving America its first modern pictorialization of Santa Claus.

Nast first sketched his notion of Santa Claus in 1873. This Santa was a rollicking, chubby old man smoking a pipe and dressed in what looked like a night shirt with fur collar and cuffs. Since that day he has grown taller and rounder, has developed a full white beard and mustache and has acquired the tradtional red suit bordered in ermine.

Sparkman Says South Has Bright Future

Speaking at the annual meeting of the Alabama Hotel Associatiin in Huntsville, Saturday night, Senator Sparkman, Alabama predicted continued progress for the South.

The Senator pointed out that near the turn of the 19th Century the South actually led the rest of the nation in manufacturing and mining. "However," he said, "the great demand abroad for cotton and tobacco and the ease with which these money crops could be produced caused the South to neglect her industrial potentiality and to enter into an agrarian economy from which she has not completely recovered."

"This development," he continued, "plus the devastation of the War Between the States has handicapped the South severely in its efforts to become an economic and industrial partner with other regions of the country."

Senator Sparkman explained that despite these handicaps, the South has made steady progress toward recovery and cited facts to show that since the early 1930's the achievements of the South have been phenomenal. In this regard he referred to the 157 percent gain in per capita income as against 119 percent gain for the nation, the increase in taxable property from 16 percent of the nation to 26 percent, etc.

In forecasting future developments that will benefit the South, Senator Sparkman mentioned among others:

1. Steady agricultural improvement. Mechanization of farms; diversification of crops; more dairy and beef cattle and more poultry and hog production; soil conservation and reclamation; and price support for basic crops were among the reasons mentioned for his optimism on agriculture.

2. Rapid industrial expansion. In this connection he spoke of the increased building construction; timber growth for paper pulp and furniture; abundant natural resources; and improved technical knowledge of manufacturing the finished products from available raw materials.

3. More research and planning so as to develop new uses for old products; to discover new products; and to give fuller coordination to the many interrelated factors that make for a soundly developed industrial and agricultural economy.

4. New and continued federal aid for such essential programs as TVA; School Lunches; Federal Aid to Education; Roads; Waterway Improvements; and Rural Electrification.

In connection with Federal Aid programs, Sparkman said there would be more State and local administration; and help would be based on the participants' ability to pay instead of a dollar-matching basis.

5. A reform with respect to the election of President of the United States that would abolish the electoral college and substitute for it a plan whereby the popular vote in each state would be transformed percentage-wise into electoral votes which would be retained. In Alabama, for example, if the Democratic candidate received 65 percent of the popular vote he would get 65 percent of Alabama's eleven electoral votes.

Some advantages to the South would be: (a) vigorous and educational campaigns by both major parties, (b) more consideration for Southerners for the posts of President and Vice President, (c) less agitation of the racial question because of the weakening of minority appeal, (e) fairer distribution of projects, aids, etc., from Federal Government.

Sparkman concluded by saying, "Certain we are that the South will continue to forge ahead until she regains economic equality with the rest of the nation. The opportunities are here—with faith and hard work the events of the next several years will prove that our efforts were not in vain."

Merry Christmas

A Statement Of Enlistment Policy By U. S. Air Force

VOLUNTEER for a CAREER: To build the mighty Air Power calls for volunteers. The Air Force is a volunteer Service today, and it will continue to be so. Its standards are high. Only the best type of American youth, mentally, morally and physically, can service and fly the planes that are blazing new trails to peace and security. If you are such a man, your Air Force offers you an exceptional career, with high pay, interesting work, chances for advancement and security that are seldom equaled. Men who volunteer for three, four, five, or six years will receive the world's finest aviation training. They will have the opportunity to become specialists in communications, jet propulsion, mechanics and dozens of other thrilling and valuable jobs. An airman who qualifies for a technical grade can earn the equivalent of $4,000 to $5,000 a year in net civilian pay.

Under the new Selective Service Act, 15,000 18-year-olds within limited monthly quotas may volunteer for service in the Air Force for one year. While it may be necessary to restrict general Air Forces enlistments in coming months, there will be no restrictions on the reenlistments of former airmen who apply within 90 days of the expiration of their current enlistment period. Selective Service defers high school students until graduation, college students until the end of the school year. So finish your education and volunteer for the Air Force.

Here are some of the choices open to volunteers: Choice of the Air Force is open to any young man, 18 to 35 (17 with parents' consent), who can measure up to Air Force standards and who volunteers for three years or more of service.

The Air Force Aviation Career Plan: Enables young men with high school education who enlist for three years to choose and qualify for any available U. S. Air Force Specialist School that interests them most.

The Aviation Cadet Program: Allows any young man from 20 to 26½ years old who has completed two years of college or the equivalent to sign up for the finest pilot training in the world, with a commission as Second Lieutenant in the Air Force Reserve upon successful completion of the course. Men who have ambition and want to get ahead may also choose Officer Candidate School. It is open to men 20½ to 26½, who have completed two years of college or the equivalent. Those who successfully complete the training receive commissions as Second Lieutenants, Air Force Reserve.

Full information about these opportunities for volunteers can be secured at the local U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station, New Wade Building, Clanton.

MADE DEAN'S LIST

Two Chilton County girls, Bena Faye Bonds, of Route One, Maplesville, and Nina Flo Headley, of Jemison, made the Dean's list of honor students for the Fall quarter at Jacksonville State Teachers College. These students must average two quality points per quarter hour. Faye is majoring in chemistry and Nina in English. OPEN LETTER TO SANTA CLAUS

DEAR SANTA:

This is a very special invitation to you and all of your friends to visit our town.

You can reach Jemison via hard-surfaced farm-to-market roads this year, and when you bring your sleigh to a stop in the heart of our town you'll find that the streets have been paved and a lighted Christmas tree is waiting for you in our park.

And if you can stay long enough, we'd like you to see our new City Hall, our well-stocked business houses, our water works plant, and our modern fire-fighting equipment. You can, if you like, make a telephone call from our homes to Mrs. Claus. Our efficient police department and our active American Legion Post will be happy to assist you and your friends, as will the membership of our four churches.

As you are leaving our city en route to the North Pole, take a look at the largest school in Chilton County, with the lighted athletic field adjoining.

Santa, all of this post war progress has been made possible by the co-operative effort of the people of Jemison and their friends in the neighboring communities. So when you're making your rounds this year, won't you say a heart-felt "Thank You" and extend to our many friends a cordial invitation to visit Jemison, a little town with big ideas for progress. Councilmen Seymour Reynolds, Lester Pate, Russell Peterson, Lonnie Cobb and Doc Chandler, City Clerk, Leo Langston, Mayor Fred Smith, and the people of Jemison will be happy to welcome you.

Sincerely,

MERCHANTS OF JEMISON.

Spirit of Santa Claus

SANTA CLAUS is one of the most precious wonders of childhood. American mothers overwhelmingly agree that he should be portrayed as the spirit of generosity, kindliness, and gift-giving.

Although the modern conception of Santa Claus is American, the Spirit of Santa Claus is neither modern nor American. The real Saint Nicholas lived in Asia Minor and ever since his death in 343 stories concerning him have been repeated around the firesides of Europe.

The children of Lapland and northern climates naturally picture Santa dressed in fur and dashing through the snow in a reindeer-drawn sleigh. But in central Europe, St. Nicholas first appeared on his liturgical feast day, December 6, and he was a thin, austere churchman who rode a mule and carried gifts for good children and a bundle of birch rods with which to switch the naughty.

Under Dutch influence St. Nicholas lost his solemnity. The Dutch colonists who brought him to America were very practical people and they decided against two gift-giving days in the same month. Thus, Sinter Klass started coming around only at Christmas time.

Santa Gets a Sleigh.

Eventually, ancient legends were woven into American Christmas traditions. Washington Irving sent St. Nicholas flying through Christmas skies in a reindeer-drawn sleigh in 1809; Dr. Clement Moore's poem "The Night Before Christmas," written in 1822, gave Santa " . . . a little round belly that shook when he laughed, like a bowl full of jelly;" and a series of drawing in 1868 by Thomas Nast added much to the traditional pictures and appearance of the Santa we see today.

In every youngster's life there comes the time when he begins to suspect that the various bewhiskered gentlemen, so numerous during this season, are not exactly the real Santa Claus. Wise parents advance the 'helper' theory as soon as they are asked questions and teach their children to make the Christmas dreams of less fortunate tots and their families come true.

Thus, the real Santa Claus isn't just myth or legend. He is the Spirit of Christmas who lives in the sparkling eyes of children and in the hearts of all grown-ups who strive for peace and good will among men.

Paper clips are very useful in sewing. They can be used to fasten edges of cloth together to save time from basting. These clips are also helpful to hold pleats in place both when sewing and in ironing.

Remember Last Xmas?

Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers was chewing on his fingernails. He had just been indicted by a federal grand jury for perjury at a senate committee hearing.

Donald E. Blodgett of Evanston, Ill., was extending a hearty welcome to two visitors from St. Niklaas, Belgium, Mr. and Mrs. George Smet. They had shielded him from Nazis when, as an AAF pilot, his plane was shot down in 1944.

President Harry Truman was wondering what he should do with a brand new spaniel pup. One of his friends had sent it to him. The dog's name was Feller.

Lt. Glenn Davis (Mr. Outside of the West Point Blanchard-Davis backfield combination) was sulking in his tent. The army had refused to permit him to resign so he could play pro football.

Henry Agard Wallace was being progressive. He announced that he would run for president in 1948 on a third party platform of "peace and abundance for all."

Congressman Clare E. Hoffman of Michigan was being difficult. He set up a barren Christmas tree outside his office and placed a sign on it reading "Nothing for the home folks. They've sent it all abroad."

New Yorkers were calling grumpily for St. Bernards and brandy kegs. They had been presented with 25.8 inches of snow by a 16-hour blizzard.

Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault was beaming with happiness. He had just married a Chinese girl, Ann Chan, in Shanghai.

Pine Cone Legend

Once upon a time—according to Harz mountain legend—a poor miner's wife was gathering pine cones in the forest. It was just before Christmas, her husband was ill, and there was no money in the house for food. So, she gathered the cones and sold them to the villagers for kindling—obtaining enough for the day's necessities.

One morning while she was looking for such cones, a little imp jumped out of a huge fir tree.

"Here, here are the biggest, driest cones of all! Take these," he shrieked, jumping up and down excitedly.

Suddenly, there was such a shower of cones that the poor woman was frightened. She tried to run away, but could not move until the little imp had filled her basket. And, having started home, the basket grew heavier and heavier—she wished the elf hadn't disappeared, he might have helped her.

When she finally reached her hut, she called the children to help carry the basket inside. Emptying the basket, they found that every cone was made of solid silver.

Commemorating these legendary silver cones, gilded pine cones are sold in modern stores, to decorate our homes—to burn and crackle gaily in our Christmas fires.

Soak shredded coconut in sweet milk a few minutes before using to freshen it.

Wall switches in the bathroom should be out of reach of anyone in the tub or anyone using a water faucet to avoid electric shocks.

Our Christmas Date Started By Romans

The first celebration of the birth of Christ on December 25 took place in the fourth century. Before that date the commemoration of Christ's Nativity and Baptism was held on January 6.

The first mention of Christmas is found in a Roman document known as the "Philocalian Calendar" in the year 354, and the first time the festival was celebrated in Britain was in 598, when St. Augustine baptized 10,000 converts.

In the year 567 the Council of Tours declared a twelve-day festival from Christmas to Epiphany, and in 991-1016 the laws ordained that all strife should cease at Christmas. Christmas was established in 813 in Germany and in Norway in the year 950.

Have Tree Base Stand In Water

Christmas trees, like flowers, will respond to being kept with the base in the water. Here are two simple things to do if you want your tree to stay green and fresh.

Buy a tree which has been cut as recently as possible.

Cut off the end of the trunk diagonally, at least one inch above the original cut. This will expose a moist surface which will absorb water. Stand the trunk of the tree in water at once, and, if it is not to be taken into the house for several days, keep it in a cool place.

When making children's shoes or house slippers, make inner soles of old felt hats.

Birthday of Jesus An Uncertain Date

It is not surprising that the day and year of the birth of Jesus are uncertain, for methods of keeping track of dates during the era when Christ was born were not very reliable. For years, eminent scholars have been searching the scriptures, and all possible records, to try to establish an exact date. So far, they have not succeeded.

Matthew states that Jesus was born during the reign of King Herod which helps to establish the period of His birth and this is the starting point from which the scholars attempt to reckon the year.

The statement by Matthew that the wise men from the east, in inquiring "Where is He that is born King of the Jews?" aroused Herod so that he ordered the massacre of all children two years old or less, is very significant. It is taken as proof that Jesus must have been born about two years before this infamous decree was issued.

No less an authority that the Catholic encyclopedia places the birth of Christ in the year which, by our modern methods of keeping track of dates, would be 7 B.C. Thus, Christ's birth does not exactly determine the difference between B.C. and A.D. date.

Most people, however, do not care if the exact day and year of Christ's birth are unknown. What matters most is the deathless vigor of the Christmas Spirit throughout the world.

CHRISTMAS 'MOTHER'S DAY'

In Yugoslavia, the second Sunday before Christmas is celebrated as Mother's day. While mother pretends not to notice, one of the children slips in cautiously and ties her feet to the chair. The other children rush in shouting, "Mother's day! Mother's day! What will you pay to get away!" The mother then buys her release with Christmas gifts.

Maplesville News Items

Birthday Party—

On the evening of November 29, 1948, a surprise birthday party was given for Rev. Clayton Gilbert, pastor of the Maplesville Baptist Church, by the Young Adult Sunday School Class.

Thirty-seven were present, including two out-of-town guests. The party had assembled at Dr. Nix's Lake and upon the arrival of Rev. Gilbert the lights were turned out, and the group sang, "Happy Birthday," by light of the candles on a beautiful three-tiered cake.

The table was decoratel with ivy and various colored balloons, in center of which was the birthday cake.

After eating the tasty supper, prepared by the ladies of the class, Ed Clapp, president, presented Rev. Gilbert with the gift of the class.

Immediately following the presentation and acceptance of the gift, Rev. Gilbert led the group in a number of amusing games, which everyone enjoyed to the utmost.

At the close of the delightful party the group formed the "Circle of Friendship" and the group was dismissed by a prayer of Rev. Gilbert.

Civitan Internationals—

The Civitan Club hopes to arouse the old Xmas spirit in every citizen in this community. They have plans to erect a large Xmas tree in the center of town, decorated with colorful lights and other Xmas trinkets.

The Civitans also announced prizes would be awarded to the person who has the best Xmas decorated home and business establishment.

They are in hopes that the citizens of Maplesville will center this contest and put forth every effort to win one of the prizes to be awarded. In doing so you will assure a much merrier and happier Xmas for everyone.

Maplesville Basketball Team Loses To Verbena—

Maplesville was defeated Friday night, December 3, 17-12 at Verbena.

This game was played on Verbena's new indoor court.

Coach McPherson has given the line-up for this year as follows:

Center, M. Taylor; guards, C. Smith and D. Carter; forwards, C. Chapman and H. Chapman.

The "B" team are: G. Smith, E. Chambes, W. Mathis, W. Walker, J. Huff.

This line-up is subject to change.

In case you are wondering why Frank Brown has not been seen since Saturday, here is the answer: He saw Auburn defeated Saturday and like many others from Maplesville, since he once attended Aubhrn, he has gone into hibernation until next winter.

Stanley Hayes has started speaking with a Northern accent this week. He was up at Macedonia Sunday.

It's A Boy—

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Glasscock are the proud parents of a fine 8-pound boy who made his arrival on Saturday, December 11th, at the Day Davis Clinic in Maplesville. They have named the young fellow Jeff Benny. Both mother and son are doing nicely.

Police Report—

In the past week the police department has arrested seven men. Two were arrested for public drunkenness, three for gambling and the other two were driving without licenses.

Miscellaneous Tea Shower—

Mrs. Theron Watson complimented Mrs. Jack Hampton, nee Marcelle Stough, recent bride, with a miscellaneous tea shower at the home of Mrs. W. L. Hampton December 8th.

In the receiving line were the hostess, the bride and her mother, Mrs. R. C. Stough, Sr.; Mrs. W. L. Hampton, mother of the groom; Mrs. A. L. Cox and Mrs. Josie Watson, aunts of the groom; Jane Shanks received the guests.

Mrs. J. W. Graham and Mrs. Perry Thomas served tea and coffee, assisting in the serving were Miss Tommie Joe Perry, Miss Eva Jo Walker, Miss Johnnye Faye Green and Jimmie Burnette.

A white and pink color scheme was carried out in the decoration, a silver bowl centered the lace covered table filled with white snapdragons and white camillias on each side were burning candles tapered in silver holders. There were 43 guests present.

Yuletime Thoughts

Heywood Broun once said, "Christmas is not a date. It is a state of mind."

No man lives today who does not seek, in some way, to follow a guiding star.

It was Christ who, by his voluntary acceptance of the role of servant, has been elevated to the royal purple and seated at God's right hand.

At few, if any, times since Christ was born have all the people of the earth needed faith, trust, and peace as much as they do now.

When we celebrate the birthday of Christ we ought not to think of Him only as a child. Those who think Christmas is only a festival about a child, for children, veer away from facing Him as an adult.

CHRISTMAS 'PUTZ'

The Christmas "putz" is a decorative feature in many Bethlehem, Pa., homes during the Yuletide season. It is a representation of the birth of the Christ Child in the stable at Bethlehem in Judea.

The residents of Bethlehem, Pa., follow this custom, which was brought to this country by early Moravian settlers, and spend months arranging the exhibit.

The word "putz" is short for the German "putzen" meaning to arrange or decorate.

The Conqueror

Florence E. Wright

He was born in a manger under the Star
For lack of room elsewhere,
But the homes of earth may be glorified
By His gracious presence there.
He built no temple with stately walls,
Yet there are many today
Where weary men may adore His name
As they bow their hearts to pray.

He wrote no book, but His message of truth
Pervades the tongues of men,
He left no riches, although in His name
The wealth of His friends is given.
He founded no kingdom, made no laws
Yet the world will learn some day,
That only those nations can endure
Which follow His matchless Way.

Tree Decorations Symbolize Myths

You may not realize it, but most of the ornaments on your Christmas tree are symbols of myths and legends that were popular three thousand years before the birth of Christ.

At that time the Aryian race, living in the foothills of the Himalaya mountains, saw in the rays of the rising sun, bent as they passed through the humid air, the image of a gigantic tree. These sun poets added to the tree image suggestions from the more distant heavens; the sun, the moon and the stars became the golden fruit that hung on the branches. The larger clouds suggested birds, swans and doves flying in and about the tree. The golden flash of heat-lightning became the mystical flower that grew on the tree, the celestial mistletoe. The showers that watered the tree came from the streams at its base.

From these fragmentary old legends in folklore we get the tree itself, the golden tinsel to represent the rising sun, the golden fruit for stars and the moon, swans and doves for clouds, mistletoe for lightning and showers or streamers of silver tinsel for water.

Animal Costumes For Christmas

Polish children masquerade in animal costumes on Christmas Eve. It's done to honor the legend that attributes the power of speech to birds and animals during the midnight hour of Christmas Eve in recognition of the animals who, sharing the stable of Bethlehem, warmed the Holy Infant with their breath.

DAIRY OUTLOOK

The demand for dairy products and the ability of consumers to pay remains as high or higher than ever.

To delight children and to make a bath more appealing to them add a few drops of vegetable coloring to the bubble suds.

Christmas Eve

The minstrels played their Christmas tune.
Tonight beneath my cottage eaves;
While, smitten by a lofty moon,
The encircling laurels, thick with leaves,
Gave back a rich and dazzling sheen,
That overpowered their natural green.

Through hill and valley every breeze
Had sunk to rest with folded wings;
Keen was the air, but could not freeze,
Nor check the music of the strings;
So stout and hardy were the band
That scraped the chords with strenuous hand.

And who but listened? till was paid
Respect to every inmate's claim;
The greeting given, the music played
In honor of each household name,
Duly pronounced with lusty call,
And "merry Christmas" wished to all!

—William Wordsworth.

Parents Can Spoil Children's Play

Here's a Christmas resolution for parents. It's one that ought to be made before New Year's resolutions are even considered. It goes, "I will keep my hands off the children's toys all day on Christmas."

It'll be a hard one to keep because Mother likes to fuss with Ann's doll. She pretends she is showing Ann how to put on the bonnet, but she's actually having a grand time playing. And once Father gets his hands on the train, or the auto that winds up, the boys can't get near them.

It isn't fair. The children are crying for a little peace and freedom. After all, adults can play with toys for the next 364 days if they want to.

THE HOLIDAY Feast

Christmas dinner tables are loaded with food - and old superstitions, too. If a guest refuses mince pie, there's bad luck in store for him; eat apples at midnight for good health; be sure to have plum pudding lest you lose a friend during the year. The feeding of animals, sending cards, singing carols and paying Christmas gifts are all in superstitious tradition of things to do for good luck.

Thank the early American Puritan pioneers for your Christmas turkey and cranberries. It was they who discovered what could be done to nice, fat turkey and cranberries to make a delicious December 25th feast. Since then turkey and cranberries have been the basis of the American Christmas dinner. Santa Claus, holly, mistletoe and the custom of giving gifts were also brought from the Puritan homeland.

Cannon Fire Hails Christmas in Rome

A cannon fired from the historic Castle of San Angelo at sunset on Christmas Eve proclaims the beginning of the Holy Season in Rome. By nine o'clock everyone is in church to witness the colorful and solemn processions of ecclesiastic dignitaries which precede the elaborate midnight Mass.

Since everyone has fasted for twenty-four hours, festive banquets are in order after the religious solemnities. It is a gala after-midnight in Rome: hotels and restaurants remain open, families and friends gather around sumptuous tables in gaily decorated homes; and in anticipation of the festivities, many people attend church dressed in formal attire.

Between Christmas and Epiphany, the Calabrian shepherds—Pifferani—revisit the homes where they were most cordially welcomed during Advent when they came down from the hills to play their Italian bagpipes before the shrines of the Virgin. The Pifferani play for their Advent hosts during the post-Christmas holidays and receive gifts of wine, dried figs, and small sums of money from their hosts.

Nut-Bowl Filled From Many Lands

Nuts from all over the world go into your nut-bowl at Christmas. Like Christmas traditions, the nuts so popular at this time of year are a mixture of many varieties and different histories.

The English walnut, for instance, is not English at all. It originated in Asia centuries ago and was called "the food of the gods."

The round little filbert and the almond came from the Old World. Other nuts, so familiar at Christmas, the hickory nut, the black walnut and the chestnut, to say nothing of the pecan, are strictly American. The pecan is native to America and is found nowhere else. Two other American nuts worthy of mention are the chestnut and the butternut.

Although many nuts originated in other parts of the world, almost every variety known is now grown on American soil and experts are constantly searching for more kinds of nuts to transplant to this country.

Add a small piece of butter to the saucepan in which macaroni, spaghetti, or rice is being cooked to keep it from boiling over.

To make satisfactory yet inexpensive candy candleholders, push tiny candles into large gum drops then put these on the frosting of the cake.

One way to keep greens fresh is to sprinkle them with cold water or place a small amount of crushed ice in the container with the greens.

Merry Christmas

HERE'S TO YOUR HAPPINESS

As we prepare our Christmas Greetings for you, we wish to also include our most cordial good wishes for your continued happiness and prosperity.

Were You to Lose These Things They Would Be Your Most Desired Christmas Gifts

Suppose that, in this Christmas Season, you were not permitted to go to the church of your choice—that the privilege of worship had been taken away from you—

Suppose that, in this year your right publicly to speak your mind about government and governmental activities no longer existed—

Suppose that, knowing them to be false, you would have to profess belief in untruths or suffer severe punishment—

Suppose that you no longer had the privilege of expressing your choice of candidates for public office—

Suppose that you were not free to change your employment whenever you chose, or go into business for yourself if you wanted to—

If These Rights Were to be Taken Away From You, Wouldn't They Become Your Most Desired Christmas Gifts?

You have those rights — they are both spiritual and material. Cherish them! Let no man take them from you! May they be yours for all Christmases to come!

Pagan Rites Basis Of Many Customs

Strange as it may seem, most American Christmas customs stem largely from Pagan rites practiced long before the birth of Christ.

The custom of exchanging gifts is one of the few that springs from the Christian era. Christmas candles, bonfires and Yule logs arise from the heathen festivals observing the winter solstice, December 21, when the days begin to lengthen. That was a time of great rejoicing for ancient sun worshippers who build bonfires to give strength to the "winter sun-god."

Pre-Christian Romans ornamented their homes with green boughs and flowers for the Feast of Saturnalia which began December 19. Druids gathered mistletoe for that season, while ancient Saxons used holly, ivy and bay. Modern mistletoe and holly wreaths come from those peoples.

Christmas trees, too, spring from the ancient German days when Germanic tribes made sacrifices to the sacred oak tree of Odin. When the missionary St. Boniface traveled to Germany in the Eighth Century and saw these celebrations he persuaded the natives to substitute a fir tree for the oak and to adorn it in a tribute to the Christ Child.

During the Middle Ages the entire Christmas season was celebrated in equal fervor with that now shown on Christmas day. In some lands the celebration lasted from December 24 to January 6—Twelfth Night—and in others from December 21 to February 2. By the year 1644, Christmas in England had become such a wild orgy that the Puritans forbade its celebration by law.

Much Family Fun In Group Games

"Make it a real family Christmas this year by having Santa pack a few hobby supplies or games into his pack that the whole family can enjoy together." This suggestion comes from E. H. Regnier, a recreation specialist at the University of Illinois.

There are many hobbies that can help build companionship between parents and children. Mothers and daughters like jewelry construction and tapestry weaving. Dad and Junior go in for model-making—airplanes, boats, trains and other items of special interest to the male population.

Everyone enjoys operating a printing press. Small presses turn out newspapers that have a real professional look. Shellcraft and woodburning are hobbies that produce genuinely useful articles. For family fun, rubber-tipped darts, indoor plastic horseshoes and marble games are excellent.

"Christmas is a time of 'togetherness,'" says Regnier. "Let's capitalize on the situation by starting a game or hobby that will encourage the same type of companionship the year around."

Mr. H. T. Pipes Receives 50-Year Pin From L. & N.

Mr. H. T. Pipes is sporting a brand new new fifty-year pin loaded with small diamonds presented him recently by the L. & N. Railroad which he served for nearly a half century.

Mr. Pipes started work with the railroad February 17th, 1897, and his active employment ended December 31, 1942. As to his eligibility for a fifty-year pin the letter informing him stated:

"While your retirement from active service on December 31, 1942, ended a period of slightly less than 46 years active service, in view of the policy adopted recently by the management you are entitled to a 50-year service emblem by reason of the fact that your years of service plus less than five years of retirement, equalled a total of fifty years."

The fifty-year emblem was presentsented to Mr. Pipes by Mr. F. W. Kerchner, Superintendent, of Birmingham.

Along with his host of other friends in Chilton County the News congratulates Mr. Pipes on this honor.

March Of Dimes Drive Gets Underway

The annual "March of Dimes" drive will get underway in January according to Rev. Carlisle Miller, who has been named chairman of the drive this year.

Chilton County has been directly benefitted to the extent of thousands of dollars by the Warm Springs Foundation although the per capita average gift from the county is only about four cents. It is hoped this amount will be substantially increased this year. Every precinct will be called upon to aid in raising the quota and the chairman urges every club, civic organization and community to cooperate. E. D. Sledge is chairman of the colored committee.

PASTOR THANKS MT. NEBO CHURCH

Following the preaching service at Mt. Nebo last Sunday morning, Rev. Carlisle Miller returned to his automobile to find it loaded with Christmas gifts from members of the church.

Pecans, canned fruit and vegetables, meat and other nice gifts were found in the car. Rev. Miller has requested a brief space in this week's paper to express his family's gratitude to the good people of Mt. Nebo for their thoughtfulness and generosity.

The bell, the world's oldest and simplest musical instrument, is the world's most universal Yuletide symbol. Each nation has its individual symbols of Christmas, but the bell will be found somewhere in the traditions of every one.

Bell authorities claim that Pope Sabinianus gave us the first church bells in 604. The custom has grown until there is no use of church bells so widely known as the ringing of the chimes to herald the advent of the birth of Christ.

In recent years the ancient bell has "grown up" into the carillon, a highly sensitive instrument on which Christmas carols seem to find their most perfect expression.

Christmas Chest $683.56 Wednesday

Latest report on the Christmas Fund before going to press Wednesday was $683.56. This amount was contributed in cash. The response in fruits, toys, clothes, canned goods nuts, etc., was very good. All who took part in this year's Christmas Chest are to be highly complimented on their efforts.

FISHER SEWING CIRCLE

The last meeting in December of Fisher Sewing Circle was held December 16th with Mrs. Rubye Lockhart.

The rooms where the guests were entertained were decorated with Christmas greenery. Members of the Circle planned a very interesting Xmas program. Old Santa Claus was nice to every member. All received useful gifts.

Refreshments were served to fourteen members by the hostess.

At the conclusion of the program we repeated the Lord's Prayer.

Fisher Sewing Circle meets with Mrs. Bessie Suits January 6th at her home.

PAGEANT AT TEMPLE CHURCH

The Christmas pageant, "Vision of the Great Nine," written by Andrew J. Hickman, will be presented at the Temple Church Thursday night, December 23rd, at 7 o'clock. Following the pageant the gifts from an old-fashioned Christmas tree will be handed out to all Sunday School pupils of the Temple Church. The public is invited. But must come early to get a seat.

Three Seriously Injured In Auto Accident

Three Selmians were seriously injured Tuesday morning about 7:20 o'clock, one mile this side of Maplesville, when their car was in collision with a truck.

J. Mell Martin's ambulance answered the call and rushed the injured to a Selma hospital. The injured are: Mr. and Mrs. John Lapsley and Mrs. A. D. Butler. They were en route to Birmingham when the accident occurred.

THE Christmas TREE

Perhaps the most typical thing about America at this time is the Christmas tree, for with its holiday garb of tinsel and goodies, its religious significance and spirit of festivity, it mirrors the cultural traditions and customs of the world.

JAPANESE FOLLOW WESTERN CHRISTMAS TREE CUSTOM—The Japanese have adopted the Christmas tree and given it an oriental appearance by decorating its branches with Japanese dolls, woodcuts, small tangerines and rice cookies called "sembei," that hold paper slips of fortunes.

CHRISTMAS TREE ORIGINATED IN GERMANY—An apron full of ginger-bread cookies from a German tree, traditionally decorated with ginger-cakes, nuts, apples, marzipans, and candy-filled cornucopias. Chains and baskets made by hand—from ordinary newspaper when nothing more suitable is available—complete its trimmings. Candles have been used to illuminate it ever since the time of Martin Luther, when the custom of decorating trees at Christmas first began.

FRENCH CONTRIBUTE GLITTER TO TREE — Sweet as the bonbon she holds is this French lass in her Normandy dress—and frothy as the sugar-ball hanging from its branches is the French tree.

MANGER SCENE IN ITALY—An Italian girl attaches an angel to a pine branch above the crib, traditional Italian symbol of Christmas. The custom dates back to 1223 when St. Francis of Assisi arranged the first crib in the chancel of the church at Greclo, Italy, using a simple manger with a doll to represent the Christ Child and adding live animals for reality. The manger has become a recognized symbol of religious significance throughout the Christian world.

PLEASANT GROVE METHODIST CHURCH

We had a nice crowd out for Sunday School Sunday. Our Sunday School is growing every Sunday and the attendance has been excellent.

We wish to inform all the people that on the third Sunday our Sunday School begins at 10:30 instead of 10. This gives the ones who desires to attend the preaching service at Mt. Nebo a chance to go down there and come back here for Sunday School.

We had a large crowd out Saturday night for the regular preaching service and Christmas program. We really do appreciate Mt. Nebo MYF Club for putting on the program for us. Gifts were exchanged and everybody had a good time together.

We were glad to see some of the members back at church who have been absent for some time. We invite everybody, whether you are a member of this church or not, to come to Sunday School every Sunday and preaching ever first Sunday and third Saturday night. — Reporter.

Xmas Party—

The Lutheran Ladies Aid Society enjoyed their annual Xmas party at the home of Mrs. A. E. Reagan on last Wednesday afternoon, December 15th. They first enjoyed a program which opened with the traditional Xmas hymn, "All Hail To Thee, O Blessed Morn," sung in Swedish. Then followed a carol sung by the entire group, after which the Xmas story was read by Mrs. Anna Phain.

The President, Mrs. James Bosworth, then caled on Mr. C. R. Foss, who gave a talk on the real meaning of Xmas. Miss Shirley Peterson then played two Xmas carols on the piano. The guests were then favored with a duet, sung by Mrs. James Nelson and Mrs. Herman Robinson with Mrs. Chas. Cleckler at the piano. This trio sang several carols throughout the afternoon.

After the program, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all, the guests were ushered into the dining room to enjoy delicious refreshments which were furnished by the members. The entire house was gaily decorated in keeping with the Xmas colors. The dining table was covered with a lace cloth and a center piece of green and red, and a little miniature pipe organ with organist playing "Silent Night" and little imitation choir boys. The five candles represented the pipes of the organ.

After refreshments had been served, the guests drew numbers and each one received an Xmas gift. The numbers were called, and gifts were distributed by Miss Shirley Peterson of Calera.

There were 28 guests present at this occasion and each one went home with the feeling that Xmas was indeed in the air.

A number of people from here attended the Baptist Church at Clantin on Sunday night and heard the "Messiah," sung by the combined choirs of different churches of Clanton. This was indeed a treat, as the music was beautiful, the voices were all good and the whole program showed that a great deal of time and effort had been put forth by these singers and those in charge. Dahl, a Norwegian, is visiting a daughter in Montgomery, and came here to spend the day just to see what Thorsby looked like and to meet some of the scandinavians here. He claims to have heard of Thorsby so much that he wanted to see it and meet some of its people.

He was first directed to the home of Mrs. J. O. Johnson, where that gracious lady invited him to stay to lunch, and oh, he told the writer that she was the loveliest person, to which we all agree. He then was taken to The Bank of Thorsby where he indulged in an interesting conversation with Cashier Ogburn. The writer then took him to her home where he was entertained by Mrs. Reagan and the Carl Turnquists and afternoon coffee was enjoyed here. He then called on Miss Lefstead where it was found that he was acquainted with some of her people in Eau Claire, Wis. Then he called on the Chas. Howards.

It being a very rainy day, we could not show him around like we would have liked to, but he went away with the feeling that he will have to make another visit to Thorsby. Yes, wherever you go, at the mention of Thorsby, people everywhere have heard about it.

By WILLIAM TREMON

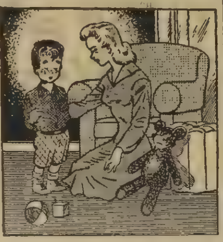
EVERY day for a week old Oliver had been passing their house in his wagon loaded with pine and cedar trees.

"Christmas trees cheap!" he shouted. "Christmas tr-e-es—two dollars. On-l-y-y two dollars. . . ."

He was passing now, and Marge, washing the few dishes she and Denny had soiled at their noonday meal, wished she couldn't hear the sound of his shouting voice.

Joe always bought old Oliver's trees. "Old Oliver needs the money," he'd say. "And our old car just wouldn't take the bumps of a hunt for a tree in the country around here."

Old Oliver hesitated in front of the little house, repeating his chant until Marge through she must go to the door and tell him to stop. She and Joe had explained to him the first time they'd bought a tree just the kind they liked. It had to be so tall and so big around. It had to be cedar with clusters of blue berries on it. Old Oliver always had the kind of tree they wanted.



"Denny, dear," she said thickly, "we're not going to have a tree this Christmas. Daddy isn't here to help decorate it, and besides—Santa will come without a Christmas tree."

Little Denny ran into the kitchen from the front room.

"Mommy, there's ol' Oliver," he said. "Mommy, he has our tree. . . ."

"I know he has, dear," she said, making herself look at him. Since last January when the horrible car accident had taken Joe away from her, she'd had difficulty in looking at Denny. Denny had Joe's rumpled dark hair, his dark eyes, the deep cleft in his chin. A sob caught in Marge's throat. "Denny, dear," she said thickly, "we're not going to have a tree this Christmas. Daddy isn't here to help decorate it, and besides—Santa will come without a Christmas tree."

"I'll help decorate it," Denny said. "I did last year."

Marge pressed Denny close. "I know, dear—" she said. Poignant memories of last Christmas crowded her so that she couldn't talk for a moment. She could see Joe teetering on the ladder to put the star in the top of the tree.

"I can help, Mommy. . . ." Denny insisted.

"You could, dear, but we don't want a tree with Daddy gone. Someday, dear,—oh, I hope it never comes to you—you'll understand why Mommy didn't want a Christmas tree!" She rose to her feet hurriedly feeling a rush of tears. "I'll get your wraps, Denny, and you can play outside in the snow for awhile."

* * *

Shadows lengthened in the little house before it came to Marge with frightening realization that it had been all of three hours since Denny'd left the house.

"Denny—DENNY!" She ran out on the porch and down the steps, her slim unprotected feet and legs sinking into the deep snow that had banked there, "DENNY—!" The echo of her voice came back to her in mocking horror across the white stillness of the little yard.

A cold wind swept against her as she stood at the gate looking up and down the street and calling Denny's name. It was a horrible moment, one in which she knew she must have aged twenty years, and one in which she saw in heart wrenching clarity her unfairness to Denny in harboring a self-centered grief over her loss of Joe to the extent of his safety, his protection, his veritable happiness.

A familiar wagon made the turn at the end of the street, and Marge recognized old Oliver and his load of Christmas trees. His chant rang out again, "Buy your Christmas tree now! On-l-y two dollars. . . ."

Marge shrieked against the wind, "Oh, don't—please don't!" Then she saw Denny—little brown garbed Denny sitting up in the seat by old Oliver!

The wagon stopped by the gate, and old Oliver grinned as Denny climbed down into Marge's reaching arms. "He likka th' ride. He. . . ."

Marge didn't give him a chance to talk. "Do you have our tree, Oliver?" she asked.

Old Oliver chuckled and jumped down from the wagon. "All'a week I've had your tree," he said.

"Just put it in the yard," Marge told him. "Why, Denny and I couldn't do without our tree!"

Radio Ramblings

(By JESSE CULP)

Listeners were probably somewhat surprised Tuesday to hear a new voice on "Morning Jubilee" at 5:45. Yours truly is now conducting "The Jubilee," thanks to a change in announcing schedules which puts Pual Reid on the afternoon microphone duty. We hope that these changes will meet with listener approval.

Beginning on January 5 the WKLF program schedule will get a big lift with the inclusion of programs produced daily by the Radio Arts Department of Alabama College in Montevallo. I'd like to give you a brief summary of the programs that will be heard. I think that many of you will want to listen for some or all of them. On Monday and Friday at 2 o'clock there will be a music appreciation program adaptable for special use in schools; yes, classroom instruction by radio is now being brought to Central Alabama by WKLF. On Tuesday at 9:30 in the morning there will be a home economics program for all the housewives; and at 2 o'clock the Alabama Feature Page. On Wednesday at 2:00 comes the story hour. Listen for these programs, beginning January 25 on WKLF.

Friday and Saturday will be unusually good listening on WKLF. More than half of the broadcast schedule on both days will be directed toward observance of the Christms season. On Friday, the recording made of the Messiah Sunday night will be played back at 2:00.

Who wants to write a column when they are in the middle of the Christmas spirit? Merry Christmas, everybody; see you next week.

Some Safety Rules For Holiday Season

It only takes a small amount of carelessness to turn the joyful Christmas holiday into a tragic event. The Christmas tree is the danger spot. There are a few simple precautions that will assure a safe and merry Christmas

Never burn real candles on your tree.

Don't risk using frayed cords and broken plugs.

Avoid placing powerful lamp bulbs near fancy ornaments, synthetic materials, paper or cotton.

Don't go away and leave your tree lighted.

Be very careful when smoking around Christmas package wrapping material.

Secure the tree by wires to the wall so that tiny tots will not be able to bump or pull it over.

Place your tree so that, standing or fallen, it cannot block a doorway which might be needed to escape from the room.

If you go in for elaborate decorations, better make sure they're all made of incombustible material. Flameproofed materials can be purchased at many stores. Insist on them.

Miss Mertice Baker, Clanton, Ala., has been elected Director of Tennis on the athletic board of Blue Mountain College.

A "Christmas Carol"

The Christ-child lay on Mary's lap,
His hair was like a light.
(O weary, weary were the world,
But here is all aright.)

The Christ-child lay on Mary's breast,
His hair was like a star.
(O stern and cunning are the kings,
But here the true hearts are.)

The Christ-child lay on Mary's heart,
His hair was like a fire.
(O weary, weary is the world,
But here the world's desire.)

The Christ-child stood at Mary's knee,
His hair was like a crown,
And all the flowers looked up at Him,
And all the stars looked down.

—G. K. Chesterton.

The bride is a former student of Lercolator High School. The groom is a salesman for W. T. C. Smith Publishing Company of Atlanta, Ga.

Home-Sick Tailor Cut First Tree

To August Imgard, a home-sick immigrant tailor, goes the credit for introducing the Christmas tree to America.

Imgard came to this country in 1847 to visit his brother in Wooster, Ohio. With the prospects of a dismal Christmas for the first time away from his native land, August decided to bring to his newly adopted home all the Christmas spirit and festivities he had loved so much in Wetzlar, Hessia. To his young nephew and niece he would show how Christmas was celebrated in the old country.

First, he needed a Christmas tree. This is the way he described how he got it: "I walked up Apple creek, . . . When I got to where the trees were I found the water so high I could not get across. So I walked along until I found a tree fallen from bank to bank and crossed on that. I cut a tree and carried it to the fallen log. But to get across this time I had to tie the tree to my neck and crawl on hands and feet. People looked at me with considerable curiosity when I walked through town with my tree."

Adept with scissors, Imgard cut his own paper adornments and a local tinsmith fashioned a shiny star for the top.

Three Islands Have Christmas Name

Although Santa Claus doesn't live on any of them, there are three islands in the world named Christmas.

One is the largest atoll in the Pacific ocean. It was discovered in 1777 by Cook, and annexed by Great Britain in 1888. The island is about 100 miles round and less than 100 people live on it. They earn their livelihood by cultivating the island's coconut groves.

Another Christmas island is located in the Indian ocean, 200 miles south of Java. It is 12 miles long by nine miles wide. Surrounded by ocean depths of 14,000 feet, its own highest ground reaches more than 1,000 feet above sea level. It also belongs to Great Britain and a few hundred Chinese, Malays, Javanese, and a few Europeans are engaged in the shipping of phosphate of lime.

Christmas island in the Little Bras d'Or, Nova Scotia, 30 miles southwest of Sydney, is a tiny fishing island of 1,400 population.

COTTON GINNING REPORT

Census report shows that 9,684 bales of cotton were ginned in Chilton County, Alabama, from the crop of with 6,318 bales for the crop of 1947. 1948 prior to December 1 as compared

"But For The Grace of God. ."

Did you ever awake on Christmas morning to an empty stocking? A barren cupboard? A table with no fruit and nuts on it, and a tree with no presents on it?

We're sure you didn't, so you cannot vision the distress in the hearts of little children who will have that experience this Christmas unless you do something about it.

Could you enjoy a bountiful Christmas knowing that others who are less fortunate have nothing at all? We don't believe you could.

Hundreds of children and grown-ups in Chilton County will go without Christmas this year unless the citizenry as a whole get behind the Christmas Chest and furnishes the needed items to take care of the unfortunate few who cannot take care of themselves.

The response to date has been good, but should have been better.

Let's stop crying bad business for a while and put our thoughts to helping a fellowman and thanking the good Lord that we are able to be the one who is doing the helping instead of the one who is being helped.

Remember: "But for the grace of God, there go I. . . ."

THE PRINCE OF PEACE

"Unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given; the government shall be upon his shoulder, and his name shall be called, Wonderful, Counselor, The Mighty God, the Everlasting Father, THE PRINCE OF PEACE." (Isa. 9:6).

There are many names ascribed to Jesus, our Lord, but this one name, "The Prince of Peace," should be told around the world. Every nation should know that there is no peace outside of this great Prince of Peace. World wars have been fought to establish peace on earth, but all in vain. Leagues of Nations have been formed for the same purpose, but all in vain. The reason that the United Nations is not making any further headway to establish the peace that the world so much desire, the Prince of Peace has been left out of the program.

More than 1,900 years ago the Christ Child was born in the little City of Bethlehem, at that time there were shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid. And the angel said unto them, "Fear not, for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people; for unto you is born this day in the City of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord." And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, saying, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace. good will toward men." The R. V. says, "Peace among men in whom he is well pleased." When man's ways pleases the Lord, there will be peace among them. "Great peace have they that love thy Law, and nothing shall offend them." (Psa. 119:165). Or "They shall have no stumbling block." The stumbling blocks of war and strife, hate and intolerance will be forever gone, when men will love the Law of God. It is then the Prince of Peace will come among men of the nations of the world, and there will be 'Peace on earth, good will toward men."

Thanking every one for their kind remarks and words of encouragement regarding these articles, and I wish every one A Merry Christmas.—A. T. Hickman.

MAPLESVILLE CIVITAN CLUB

The Maplesville Civitan Club met Thursday night, December 16, 1948, at which time they entertained their wives and friends at a Christmas banquet and party. The banquet was held at the Maplesville High School Home Economics Buildings. The building and table decorations, place cards and menu were arranged to emphasize the spirit of Christmas. There were 63 present at the banquet.

During the banquet Mr. F. D. Nix was initiated into the club. The iniation was conducted by President J. W. Graham, Secretary; C. A. Gerlach and Chaplain Clayton Gilbert. Contributions were made by members of the Civitan Club to aid some needy families in our community.

The banquet was prepared by the P.-T.A., who was assisted in serving by the members of the Home Economics Department.

After the banquet Rev. Gilbert had charge of the games and led in the singing of Christmas carols.

It was easy to see from the expressions of pleasure that both young and old had recaptured the spirit of Christmas for another pear.—Frank Brown, Publicity Chairman.

Christmas Flowers

MANY unusual and picturesque tales have been told about the modern usage of Christmas flowers. Although they are legendary, the carefully spun bits of folklore provide a colorful background for present day flower decorations which are used during the Christmas season.

Holly, with its red berries, dark green leaves and needle-like spikes is a light-hearted symbol of friendship and good will when December arrives. According to legend, though, holly originally was used as an instrument of cruelty. The crown of thorns which Christ wore was fashioned from holly. Prior to the Crucifixion the plant bore white berries but after the Crucifixion the berries turned a bloody crimson. Mistletoe, a close associate of holly, is said to have been the wood from which Christ's cross was made.

One of the most beautiful legends woven around Christmas flowers concerns the Christmas rose. While en route to Bethlehem the Wise Men crossed the path of a little shepherdess named Madelon. Enraptured at the wondrous tale about the birth of Christ which they related, she was heartbroken because she had no gift to offer.

While she was crying she detected a sweet-smelling aroma and looked up. Standing next to her was an angel who inquired the reason for her sadness. Madelon explained that while she wanted to pay homage to the newly-born Babe, she didn't even have a single, beautiful flower such as grew in the fields in the summer to give Him. The angel waved her arm and a stunning bunch of gorgeous, snowy white Christmas roses appeared.

Madelon gathered her precious gift in her arms and hurried off to Bethlehem where the Wise Men had gone. After the Wise Men's offerings of gold, frankincense and myrrh, she humbly proferred her flowers to the tiny Infant, who stretched out a hand to touch the roses. His fingers lightly brushed the immaculate petals and immediately they changed to a delicate pink.

Poinsettias which head the popularity list of Christmas flowers, ironically enough do not have any legends attached to them because of their recent introduction. In the beginning of the last century the poinsettia was introduced by J. R. Poinsett, an American politician and diplomat.

For years evergreens have flourished in homes at Christmastide to create a woodsy, outdoor atmosphere. In the aged line "hang up the holly, the box and the bay" it is significant to note that two of the plants mentioned, box and bay, are mentioned in Holy Scriptures as thriving on the mountains of Lebanon in the Holy Land.

Because of its symmetrical leaves, bay has been used for design throughout the ages. The Greeks used it on their coins and the Romans, too, favored it as a beautiful show piece. Today bay shrubbery graces the entrances to many American homes at yuletide.

Cedar, which furnishes greens for Christmas, likewise existed in Lebanon. The people of Lebanon regarded cedar as a symbol of endurance, strength, life and eternity. Recognized by its characteristic, pleasant aroma, cedar also was an emblem of purity because its treetops were frequently covered with snow during a large part of the year.

An old-time favorite of sailors who visited Mediterranean ports was Rosemary because of the aromatic perfume the plant yielded. Familiar to most Americans as a straggling hedge plant, Rosemary droops in massive festoons 12 feet long in its native Italy.

Legend has it that the flowers were colorless until the Blessed Virgin, during the flight into Egypt, hung the clothes of Jesus on Rosemary bushes to dry. Thereafter, Rosemary bushes blossomed forth with their sparkling blue flowers.

The Hawthorn bush with its white or red flowers originally was the May tree of the Old World. Peculiarly, the bush never blooms in May. According to historians, Joseph of Arimathea went to England and on the completion of his pilgrimage at the Abbey of Glastonbury he pushed his staff into the ground where it burst forth leaves and flowers. Since then the Hawthorn bush always flowers at Christmastide, which is out of its regular season.

QUALITY, QUANTITY NECESSARY IN SALE OF COMMERCIAL PRODUCE

To be successful in producing vegetables for market, farmers this week were advised to study carefully the requirements of the produce buyers.

Quality and quantity are the two most important points these buyers look for in purchasing fruits and vegetables, John Bagby, A.P.I. extension marketing specialist, reminded farmers.

He said if buyers are to be able "to resell the products they purchase they must have the quality which their customers want. If they cannot sell the produce they have on hand, they cannot buy more from producers.

"Buyers are attracted to areas where they know they can find enough of a product to supply their needs over a reasonable length of time. The farmer who can furnish a steady supply over several weeks will find it much easier to sell his product than one who only has a small quantity one day in the season.

"This will require plans for production and marketing. These plans should provide for:

(1) Producing those crops best adapted to the available soils.

(2) Using the best practices to produce good quality.

(3) Sufficient quantity to interest the better buyers. This may call for successive plantings."

SALT IMPORTANT

Feed cattle salt daily. Sodium and chloride, the elements of salt, are constantly excreted in the milk and have to be replenished in the body of the cow. There is nearly a gram of salt in a pint of milk. Cows also need salt for maintenance of the body in addition to requirements needed for milk.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

TUBERCULOSIS

Tuberculosis may attack any organ of the body, but the lungs are most commonly affected. This is because the germ is breathed in. Age, sex, or race means nothing to this disease; and it is called communicable or infectious, meaning that it spreads from person to person.

It was once believed that a child could inherit tuberculosis from its mother, but we now know this is not true. As a rule, a tuberculous mother delivers a child free of tuberculosis, and the child will remain so if certain precautions are taken.

In 1900 tuberculosis was the Number 1 killer, but today it is in seventh place. It still kills more people of fifteen to thirty-five years of age than any other disease, and four out of every one hundred persons die of tuberculosis. The rate among infants is especially high because these babies are in contact for such a long time with tuberculosis mothers or nurses.

It has been learned that out of one hundred children who have tuberculosis ninety caught it from their mothers and only ten were infected by their fathers. Children below the age of five almost always get the disease from people at the home, while people over five usually become infected outside the home.

The disease is more common among the poor and underprivileged. A child who is well fed and well clad is less liable to be a victim than is a hungry poorly clothed one. It has also been found that the death rate is high among adolescent girls who are tuberculous. This is believed to be caused by their getting too little food due to dieting.

Prevention should be our aim. There is as yet no vaccination for tuberculosis. The best way to fight its spread at the moment is to keep infected persons away from those who do not have the disease. Entire communities should have regular x-ray chest examinations so that the diseased may be found. Beware of constant coughers, for they may be the ones who infect you and your family.

The search for better treatment goes on every day, and more is being learned all the time. We are looking forward to the time when tuberculosis will be a rare disease in America.

STRAWBERRIES

Fertilize strawberry plants in January with 600 to 800 pounds of 6-8-4 fertilizer per acre, says Lyle Brown, A.P.I. extension horticulturist. This should be put on early in the month in south Alabama and the last part in north Alabama. It is highly important to supply the developed fruit buds with food at that season so they'll give maximum yields in spring. Broadcast over the matted rows and sweep the excess off the plants with a soft broom.

TIMELY PRACTICES CITED BY EXPERTS

Auburn, Ala. — Timely suggestions on feed and soil improving crops were offered farmers this week by Extension Service agronomist of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. He said:

"Get sericea seed to plant on the hillsides and high areas for grazing and erosion control.

"Lespedeza sericea and crimson clover combinations are paying off. You should plan to sow sericea on some good smooth land and save seed.

"Kudzu should be set along road banks and gullies to help stop erosion. There are rough, gullied and eroded areas which, if set to kudzu, would become profitable grazing for hogs.

"If you plan to seed some permanent pasture in early March, try to get the land prepared in January. Land should be prepared well in advance so that rains will settle the soil and give you a firm seedbed.

"Get seed of such pasture plants as annual lespedeza and Dallis grass in January and have them on hand when the right time comes to seed."

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

Soil and water conservation farm plans were prepared on Cecil Chilress, O. C. Roseberry and Earl Hayes' farms. Each of these farmers plan to increase their income by planting kudzu and sericea for hay and grazing. These preninial crops will be planted on the rough and steep land.

If you are one of the fortunate farmers who got your stalks cut before the rain, check and see if each piece of stalk hasn't caught up some of that good top soil.

Leslie Robinson has a nice stand of Caley peas, hand seed crimson clover and mangenese bur clover on his seed patch area. Leslie is out to see which of these reseeders will do the best job for him.

Charlie Patterson has turned cows on his oats. This was done knowing the ground was too wet; but the oats had started to jointing and a freeze would have killed them. Charlie plans on overseeding the oats with Kobe lespedeza.

Farmers who plan on planting kudzu or sericea next spring will be ahead of the game by preparing the land now (weather permitting). These jobs will be out of the way when other farming operations are in progress.

Did your terraces hold during the rainy weather? If not a planned water disposal and reterracing will stop a sod water way or meadow outlets the terraces from breaking. Ask about it the next time you are in town.

REASONS ARE LISTED FOR SHORT GRAZING

Auburn, Ala. — There's something wrong somewhere if winter grazing crops aren't saving a farmer heavy feed bills, raising milk and meat production, and keeping animals in thrifty conditon.

J. C. Lowery, A.P.I. extension agronomist, reminds growers that if grazing isn't plentiful, one of four things could account for it:

(1) Land preparation was not carried out in the right way.

(2) Not enough fertilizer was used on the crop.

(3) The date of planting was too late.

(4) Local weather conditions have not been good.

If a farmer hasn't been successful with winter grazing, Lowery suggests that he study to determine where his possible errors with the crops occurred.

Keep hands clean when putting coal on the fire. This is possible if the right amount of coal is put in paper bags in advance.

To help keep fingers warm and to hasten the hanging-up job on a cold winter day, warm the clothespins in an oven a few minutes before using.

RIGHT TIME

January is a good time to remove sprouts and brush from established stands of kudzu to make mowing easier next season. While you are at it, go ahead and apply phosphate, suggests S. R. Doughty, A.P.I. extension soil conservationist.

CHRIST NATIVITY

One day Queen Victoria said to her Prime Minister, W. E. Gladstone, "What is the most beautiful story you have ever read?" He answered, "The most beautiful story I have ever read or heard, Your Majesty, is the story of Nativity, as given in the Gospel of Luke." This of course is the story of the birth of Jesus, our Lord and Saviour.

At this season of the year, every one should refresh his soul and mind with the beauty of this story. Look up and read the Prophectic Scriptures relating to the birth of Jesus in the Old Testament. Read of the appearance of the Angel to the Virgin Mary. The appearance of the Angel to Joseph in Matt. chapter one. Read the second chapter of Luke as to what led Joseph and Mary to the City of Bethlehem, and the time of the birth of the Holy Babe. The shepherds outside of the city, keeping watch over their sheep by night; the light which shone down upon them, then the appearance of the angel to the shepherds, the multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying, "Glory to God in the Highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men." Then how the shepherds returned to the city to see the thing that the angel had made known to them.

They found Mary, and the Babe lying in the manger. The shepherds worshipped, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen. But Mary kept all these things pondered in her heart. Read of the visit of the Wise Men from the East in Matt. chapter two. Those men were astrolgers, studying the stars, when they discovered the Star of David in the Eastern sky. They followed it to Jerusalem, then on to the little town of Bethlehem to where the young Child was. They too, fell down and worshipped Him, opened their treasures and presented unto Him gifts, gold, frankincense, and myrrh. This story of the Nativity of Jesus is most fascinating. "The Law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul." The Gospel of Jesus is the power of God unto Salvation.

The story is told of Daniel Webster when he was in the prime of his manhood. He was dining with a company of literary men in Boston. During the dinner the conversation turned upon the subject of Christianity. Mr. Webster frankly stated his belief in the divinity of Jesus, and his dependence upon tht atonement of the Saviour. One said to him, "Mr. Webster, can you comprehend how Jesus Christ could be both God and man?" Mr. Webster promptly replied, "No, sir. I cannot comprehend it. If I could comprehend Him, He would be no greater than myself. I feel that I need a Superhuman Saviour."

Great men everywhere have confessed their faith in Jesus Christ. Trusting that others will become great enough to do the same.

RESOLUTION

A New Year's resolution for every farmer in Alabama should be: "I will try to use all my land wisely, treating each acre according to its needs."

FAMILY PLANNING VALUE IS LISTED

Planning is thinking through a situation in advance and deciding what is best to do. That is the opinion of Stella Mitchell, A.P.I. extension home management economist, who explains that if you plan to spend and save for what you want, you usually get more for your money. "It includes looking for a better way to do all tasks and learning to get the best values for your money." Miss Mitchell said planning makes for better relationships in the family and endows the children with greater understanding.

"THE BIG FOOTBALL GAME"

(By ANDREW HICKMAN, JR.)

The Big Game day has come,
The tickets are bought at a liberal sum,
And a grand time is planned
By all, throughout the land.

The day is here,
And the coaches are full of fear,
That their team will not come up,
And win that pretty coveted cup.

The players have practiced hard and long,
They've had no time for wine or song;
But now they are ready for that big game,
As they pray in their hearts that it will not rain.

The players come out and limber up,
Getting ready now to win that beautiful cup,
To remind all in the years to come,
That, after all, they weren't so dumb.

It takes a lot of "stuff" to win games:
Training, strength, will and brains,
Other things too are needed a lot
To pile up scores in the pot.

The folks are now filling the stands,
Along with cheer leaders and the bands.
Boys are selling programs, cokes and nuts,
Looks like everything is in the ruts.

Now the players return upon the field,
The fans are praying that their team will not yield,
Everyone sits up high and tight,
All ready for that great fight.

The ball is kicked and received,
And will get no rest till the end of the eve.
The first quarter is quickly played,
And a score is finally made.

The, second period comes and goes,
Keeping every fan upon his toes,
The players too are in a dither,
As they skillfully run here and thither.

Then the bands come upon the scene,
With fancy steps and peppy themes.
They stay a while, then turn and go,
They too worked hard for their fine show.

The third quarter begins and comes to an end,
Both teams are strong and refuse to bend.
One team, however, managed to make a goal,
And a few more points entered the fold.

The last period is the best of all,
And a beating is given to the ball.
Now, the final seconds have ticked away,
And the weary players have called it "a day."

One team lost, the other won,
Both sides played hard and had a lot of fun,
The spectators rise to leave the stands,
And turn their backs on the field where the players ran.

The game is over and the scores are made,
The field is cleared and the bets are paid.
The game is won and the play is done,
The stadium is bare in the setting sun.

Life is somewhat like that game,
A bitter struggle, all in vain,
If you have no victory to celebrate,
When you've entered Death's wide one-way gate.

The "Victory" that I've spoken of
Is Heaven, the golden city above.
If you are going there, all is fine,
If not, you are simply wasting precious time.

We have no choice, it is a must,
We all must die and return to dust.
Life is a game we all must play,
Play until our dying day.

After that? It all depends,
Upon what you have done with your sins,
If they have been sent on ahead of you,
You'll live in the eternal Blue.
If they've been left to follow up,
Friend, you've lost the game, and the "Cup."

It is reported that this elephant belongs to a Mr. Harr near Section Valley and was formerly with a circus. The elephant it is reported is a highly trained animal and likes and looks for a large gathering of people. It is 72 years of age the paper stated. Don't be alarmed and feel something is terrible wrong if you're driving along and up pops a Pink Elephant.

NEW PLEASANT GROVE

There was a good crowd at church Sunday and Rev. C. N. Graham filled his appointment. His subject was, "At The Forks of the Road," and he brought it up a very touching way that at some time in life each individual comes to the fork in the road, and they have to go one way or another. Which fork they take lies only with each person. I wish every person could have heard his sermon Sunday morning.

Sunday night we met at 6:00 p.m. and after a few Christmas carols, we had our Christmas tree. Santa Claus was there and had lots of presents.

After we had given out the presents Rev. and Mrs. H. M. Sandlin and Miss Jo Ella Sandlin rendered several special songs, which were enjoyed by all. Several class songs were used after which Rev. C. N. Graham brought a short message. Our next preaching day will be the first Sunday in January. Everyone is cordially invited to attend. Sunday School evey Sunday at 10:00 a.m.

Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Culp, Mr. and Mrs. Reedie Culp and Lorene; Mr. and Mrs. Jadie Culp attended the funeral of Mr. Walter Anderson in Montgomery Sunday. Mr. Anderson lived in this community many years and was known to many people who will regret to learn of his passing. He leaves to mourn his death his wife, Mrs. Evie Culp Anderson, several children and grandchildren and a host of friends.

Mrs. Melita Culp spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hayes and attended church.

Sorry to learn of the serious illness of Mrs. Eddie Milford, who is at the home of her son, Mr. A. B. Milford.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Headley of Selma visited Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Milford and family Sunday.

Several from Mt. Nebo attended services here Sunday night. They are invited to come again.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bavors and Hazel and Miss Edna Bavors; also Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Robinson and Estelle Short, of Antioch Community, attended church here Sunday a.m. Misses Edna and Hazel Bavors attended Sunday night.

Dovard Lockhart spent Sunday with Fred Hayes.

We were glad to see Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Blackwell at church Sunday. Mr. Blackwell has been in ill health for several months, but we are glad he is able to be back with us.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Blackwell and children and Mrs. Lucile Collins of Thorsby attended services here Sunday morning. They were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Blackwell after church.

We were glad to see Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Wright and children out Sunday night.

We hope to have a special announcement about the church in the very near future.

So watch your paper every week. You can't afford to miss it. This is especially, all the former Methodist Protestant Churches in this county and all adjoining counties. — Your Reporter, Mrs. M. C. Durbin.

NEW HARMONY

The cold weather has brought our attendance down lots, but we hope to see more start coming out. Let's remember what the precious Word says in Prov., chapter 20, verse 4: "The sluggard will not plow by reason of the cold; therefore shall he beg in harvest, and have nothing."

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Smitherman had as their week end guest Miss Mary Ruth Byler.

The Junior and Card classes will present a short Christmas program at the church Thursday night, after which the Christmas presents will be given out. We will not have a Christmas tree, but the presents will be put in a pile and then be given out. Our pastor will be with us and probably will bring a message before the program begins. So every one has an invitation to attend. I am sure you will enjoy it. Our pastor will be with us this week end too, as this is his appointment.

Remember our services at all times. You are always welcome.

We wish a very merry Christmas and happy New Year to everybody.

BOWLING NEWS

Bowling is speedily becoming one of Clanton's favorite indoor sports. With the new bowling alley only four week old, four teams have already begun to play in a series which is expected to last for a period of 21 weeks. In addition to the four old teams, the City Grill and Clanton Motors are now in the process of forming teams which will be playing in the series before the week's end.

Two contests were played last week. Wednesday night Texaco defeated Firestone two out of three games, making Texaco the only undefeated team thus far this season.

The present high score is held by Ray Clackler, his score being 228.

In the near future this column will give high score, and high average of individuals as well as by teams.

Luker Furniture Company won over Baird last week by default, but Baird Parts won out Monday night two out three.

Clanton Motors played Texaco Tuesday night.

Polk Bros. Motors plays City Grill Thursday night, both teams being newly formed.

Flowers Are Part Of Yule Legends

There are several flowers appropriate during the Yuletide season which are connected with the birth of Christ by the legends of history.

Sainfoin, or "Holy Hay," is said to have cradled the infant Christ in the manger. The snowdrop is the flower of the Virgin Mary, and is said to be the emblem of the candles she lighted on Christmas.

According to legend, the Christmas rose was divinely created. A shepherd maid wept at having no gift to lay before the Babe in the manger. Suddenly an angel appeared to her. On hearing why the maiden wept, the angel touched the ground where her tears had fallen and immediately the place was white with Christmas roses, which the maid gathered and laid in the manger.

The chrysanthemum is said to have appeared first on Christmas Eve near the manger as a sign to the Wise Men that they had reached the spot where the star had bidden them.

ONE OF ALABAMA'S LEADING WEEKLIES

DEDICATED TO SERVE THE CITIZENS OF CHILTON COUNTY AND CENTRAL ALABAMA

VOL. XXVI CLANTON, ALABAMA THURSDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1948 NUMBER 52

Representative Shelton To Propose Honor Camp System

Montgomery, Ala. — Deploring Alabama's prison for youthful delinquents as "too drastic," Rep. J. P. Shelton of Tuscaloosa County has disclosed that he will propose a bill to the 1949 Legislature for the establishment of nine "honor camps" to take care of the state's wayward youth.

The bill will be designed to establish an "honor camp" in each of Alabama's nine congressional districts. Saying that the camps would be set up similarly to the CCC camps of depression days, Rep. Shelton explained, however, that they would serve as correctional institutions in which young law-breakers will be confined. Offenders between 16 and 25 would be sent to these camps rather than the regular state prisons.

The "honor camp" system, which would be financed by a legislative appropriation, would be governed by a nine-member board of trustees.

The program, Rep. Shelton said, would be shaped after California's youth authority program which has been in existence for some time.

10,000 AIR RESERVE AND NATIONAL GUARD OFFICERS WILL BE RECALLED

The Air Force has announced that 10,000 Air Reserve and National Guard officers will be recalled to active duty within the next ten months on a voluntary basis, Sgt. Trimble, of the local US Army and US Air Force Recruiting Station, stated today.

Air Force officials emphasized that no officers will be recalled except at their own request and that virtually all existing vacancies are for those officers listed in non-flying categories.

Vacancies exist in a wide range of professional, technical and administrative fields for officers of all grades through that of lieutenant colonel, a limited number of technical positions for colonels.

The Air Force disclosed that its combat strength has been increased by 1,000 first line planes since January 1, and an additional 500 transport trainers and other types of planes have been added to the active list since that date.

Sergeant Trimble also stated that all interested former Air Force officers desiring active duty may obtain the Air Force Form 125, application for extended active duty with the Air Force, at any US Army and Air Force Recruiting Station. Here in Clanton the Recruiting Office is located in the New Wade Building.

RECRUITING NEWS

Requirements for enlistment in the Women's Army Corps and Women's Air Force have been raised to levels far exceeding those during the last war, it was recently announced by Sgt. Aussant, of the U.S. Army and U.S. Air Force Recruiting Station. Women now making application for enlistment in one of these "Regular" Services must meet rigid requirements. They must be married at the time of enlistment, with no dependents, be between the ages of 18 and 35 years of age, and, if they are between the ages of 18 to 21, must have their parents consent.

They must also have a high school diploma, and must furnish letters of recommendation from local citizenry of their home area. In addition to the raised levels of standards, the WAC-WAF recruiting program has been placed on a quota basis, in order to maintain the two services at a strength of 575 officers and warrant officers, and 7500 enlisted women for the Army, 340 officers and warrant officer, and 4000 enlisted women for the Air Force.

WACS and WAFS are entitled to the same rights, benefits, and privileges as male soldiers, Sergeant Aussant further stated, and promotions follow the same pattern as that of male soldiers. The actual net income, security, and retirement benefits offered by the Services, Sergeant Aussant emphasized, compare favorably with that of women in the higher salary brackets. Applications for entrance into the Womens Army Corps, and the Women's Air Force may be obtained from the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station, located at the New Wade Building, Clanton, Ala.

PLANNING FOR THE 1949 COTTON CROP

Alabama farmers know that price multiplied by production minus cost equals profit.

Here are a few high-yield production practices that do not cost any extra money. Plant cotton on good land, take care of barnyard manure and use it on cotton land, plant cotton early on a firm seed bed, and use pure, delinted, treated seed of a recommended variety not over two years from the breeder.

CHRISTMAS CHEST WORKERS URGE THOSE WHO WILL, MAKE DONATIONS NOW

Although the Chilton County Christmas Chest was only a week old last Monday night, hopes for a smashing wind-up of the Christmas Chest Drive were expressed by Rev. Carlisle Miller, chairman. At it's second meeting Rev. Miller announced plans to wind up the drive by next Tuesday night and urged his committees to do their utmost in an effort to get all donations into the chest before the last minute.

Rev. Miller also said that the Boy Scouts would make a door-to-door canvass of every house in Clanton, beginning at 8:30 Saturday morning. He said that the Boy Scouts would be canvassing for both new and used clothing, all usable, but discarded toys, and non-perishable foods of all kinds. The Boy Scout canvass will be under the direction of Rev. John Smith.

During last Monday night's meeting reports were heard from several of the Christmas Chest committees. Included was a report that several civic and religious organizations had pledged themselves to put the drive over the top. At the same time it was pointed out that several hundred dollars has already been pledged by some of these organiaztions and that others are also planning to give a helpful hand before the drive comes to a close next Tuesday night. All money donations should be sent to Rev. A. T. Hickman at Radio Station WKLF.

In an effort to give the drive further momentum, arrangements have been made for 15-minute interviews at 9:30 a.m. each morning over WKLF until the drive closes. Those to be interviewed include Miss Faye Woolley, secretary of the Christmas Chest; Miss Caroline Montgomery and Miss Mattie Foshee. These interviews are designed to bring to the attention of everyone the great need for help to the needy of Chilton County to make it possible for everyone to have a visit from Santa Claus.

MORE MEN TB VICTIMS IN STATE LAST YEAR THAN WOMEN

Montgomery, Ala. — Today, tuberculosis strikes down more men than women in Alabama. The opposite condition existed in this state three decades ago, according to records revealed by the State Bureau of Vital Statistics.

During 1917, 54.9 per cent of the state's tuberculosis fatalities were women. Last year, the story had a reverse ending when 56 per cent of Alabama's tuberculosis victims were men.

The total number of Alabamians dying of the disease during 1947 showed a slight increase over the previous year—1,116 in 1947 as compared with 1,098 fatalities during 1946.

"Husbands, Wives, and Marriage"

Maybe you read that survey published recently in a national magazine, entitled "Husbands, Wives, and Marriage."

It showed that among happily married couples, those who criticized themselves outnumbered those who criticized the other person. Among unhappily married couples, it was just the opposite—each one tended to criticize the other.

That's the way it is in our town, as I guess it is in yours. Criticism, whether it's of a wife's taste for hats, or a husband's taste for pipe tobacco and an evening glass of beer or ale, is a sure start toward unhappiness.

As for what made happy marriages, companionship within the home was listed most important of all. And from where I sit, a husband and wife who can spend an evening by the fire—with nothing more exciting than a mellow glass of beer, and a friendly conversation—are a truly well-matched couple!

"White Christmas"

Methodist leaders throughout Alabama and West Florida are rapidly shaping plans for this year's "White Christmas" campaign to aid the Methodist Children's Home at Selma.

As this annual appeal goes out to all Methodists and others who champion the cause of dependent children, indications are a generous response again will be made this Christmas season by members of the church's North Alabama and Alabama Conferences.

Much work has been done at the Selma home during the last year and much more is planned to help make strong, useful citizens of the dependent tots being cared for.

Demands on the Home are much greater than present facilities can accommodate, with 51 children admitted during the year and a total of 181 cared for.

Kenneth E. Cooper, Birmingham Attorney, is chairman of the Home's Board of Directors, made up of Methodist leaders in both Conferences. December 19 has been set for the "White Christmas" Sunday to be observed in all churches throughout both Conferences.

Mrs. O. H. Horton, one of the church's most active workers, is in charge of "White Christmas" campaign headquarters, established at 1509 First National Building, Birmingham. Posters, program material, dime card holders, collection envelopes and other information in connection with the drive can be obtained by communicating with her office. Headquarters telephone number is 3-4783.

Contribution checks should be made out to the Methodist Children's Home and sent to Max E. Livingston, its Superintendent, at Selma. Mr. Livingston was chosen Superintendent, succeeding Virgil McCain, who resigned to accept a faculty post at Huntingdon College.

Besides Cooper and Livingston, other home directors are the Rev. S. T. Slaton, Gadsden; Dr. French Craddock, Sylacauga; Roy O. Hill, Dothan; Rev. A. S. Turnipseed, Montgomery; Mrs. W. T. Morgan, Bruce Beveridge, J. E. Wilkinson and R. N. Burson, Treasurer, all of Selma; Mrs. L. R. Nash, Decatur; Rev. S. O. Kimbrough, Mrs. L. C. Branscomb, Rev. Robert Echols, Mrs. L. S. Evins, Rev. Hobson Clark and George Turner, all of Birmingham; J. A. Duckworth, Tuscaloosa; Rev. R. J. Mills, Autaugaville; Mrs. C. S. McDowell, Eufaula; Rev. L. B. Green, Pepperell; Mrs. T. M. Lloyd, Pensacola; O. H. Delchamps, Mobile, and Rev. J. L. Daniel, DeFuniak Springs.

Buy Christmas Seals; Help Fight TB

Tuberculosis hit 17 new people in Chilton County last year, making a total of 59 cases in this county alone.

To stress the importance of buying Christmas Seals to help fight TB, these figures, based on a report issued by the State Health Department, were cited this week by Mr. J. B. Fort, Clanton, president of the Chilton County Tuberculosis Association, which sponsors the Christmas Seal Sale in this county.

Emphasizing that these are only the known cases in the county, the chairman stated that many people who have the disease do not know it. In the early stages, TB gives no warning signs.

"But TB is curable—and it is preventable. And the prevention and cure of this disease is the purpose of the annual Christmas Seal drive.

"Because tuberculosis deceives its victims, and because it means for them a long illness and possible death if it is not found in time, it is our job to discover every case of TB in this county. Chest X-rays for all adults and tuberculin tests for all grade school children could be our program for finding and fighting this disease. Enough money from the Christmas Seal Sale could provide health officials with the assistance they need to carry out such a case-finding program."

The Christmas Seal Sale, the chairman stated, is an organized appeal for funds with which to help prevent and control tuberculosis. Ninety-five per cent of the money raised in the campaign, which began November 22 and will continue until Christmas, remains in Alabama for local TB work.

POLIO CAMPAIGN LEADERS MEET AT TUSKEGEE

Tuskegee Institute, Ala. — E. D. Sledge, Principal of the Colored Training School, was one of the 19 representatives from Alabama who attended the Tuskegee Institute meeting for Negro leaders of the 1949 March of Dimes of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Sixty-seven prominent Negroes from 12 states met with Elaine Whitelaw, the Foundation's Director of Women's Activities; Charles H. Bynum, Director of Interracial Activities; E. D. Davis, Regional Director; and Robert Dobson, Alabama State Representative; to discuss campaign plans for the 1949 polio drive.

Speaking at the meeting, Warren Coss, the National Foundation's Director of Fund-Raising, revealed that nearly 26,000 cases of infantile paralysis had been reported for 1948 throughout the nation.

Mr. Coss said resources for research patient care and education have been seriously depleted. He emphasized the need for the greatest fund-raising effort in the next March of Dimes, January 14-31.

The conference was attended by representatives from the following states: Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Florida, South Carolina, Kentucky, Virginia, Tennessee and North Carolina.

289 ALABAMA MEN ARE DRAFTED IN NOVEMBER

Two hundred eighty-nine Alabama men of draft age were inducted into the army through Selective Service in November, according to W. L. Horn, State Director of Selective Service.

This was Alabama's first induction call under the Selective Service Act of 1948.

In December 403 men will be sent to recruiting area headquarters for induction by Alabama Local Boards, bringing the total inducted by the last of December to 692.

Chilton County has been called to forward no men in December.

HOGGING-OFF CORN

Farmers are finding that six or seven bushels of corn in the field, with a little protein supplement, will make 100 pounds of pork on the hoof. On this basis, corn producing 35 bushels an acre will yield about 500 pounds of live pork per acre.

CORN - KUDZU ROTATION INCREASES CORN YIELD

During the past several years many Alabama farmers have tried a kudzu-corn rotation on eroded land.

S. R. Doughty, A.P.I. extension soil conservationist, Auburn, Ala., says that they report good results. In all known cases the kudzu was allowed to become well established and make a good growth for four or more years corn.

Records show that on one badly eroded field, kudzu was grown for a few years and then every fourth terrace was planted to corn. The yield from these strips equaled the crop produced by the entire field before it was planted to kudzu.

Also, kudzu furnishes hay and grazing. Cultivating the corn does not destroy all of the kudzu crowns. These crowns will grow and cover the land until planted to corn again four or more years later.

PLEASANT GROVE METHODIST CHURCH

We did not have so many out for Sunday School Sunday due to the uncertain weather conditions. But even though the crowd was small, we had a good Sunday School.

Quarterly Conference was held for our charge at Walnut Creek Church Sunday afternoon. Among those who attended preaching service and the business session of the conference from this church were: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Henley, Mrs. Lula Best, Mr. T. J. Headley, Fred Hosey and James Hosey. All enjoyed the wonderful message brought by Rev. Preer, District Superintendent, and the splendid lunch that was served by Walnut Creek Church.

The plate supper given at the home of Mr. Evans Chasteen Saturday night was a wonderful success. The proceeds that was clear after all expenses were paid amounted to $103.50. All the indebtedness has been taken care of and the church is free from debt on the building and the parsonage repair bill too.

Everybody remember our Christmas tree will be decorated Saturday afternoon and gifts will be given away Saturday night. There will be a Christmas program presented by the Mt. Nebo MYF. Also Saturday night following the Christmas tree and play Bro. Rountree will bring the regular message.

Everybody is cordially invited to attend our Sunday School every Sunday and our preaching services every first Sunday and the Saturday before the third Sunday in each month.—Reporter.

EGGS MAY BE WASHED

In the past, farmers have been advised never to wash eggs. But with new developments of the last few years it is now possible to wash eggs very easily without loss of egg quality. The process is based on the use of detergents, commonly called "soapless soaps," and hot water.

TIMBER MANAGEMENT

Farmers who desire to obtain maximum returns per acre per year from their woodlands may request the services of trained foresters. See the local county agent for further details.

It is our holiday wish that this Christmas will be the "happiest ever" and that the New Year will unfold a bright new future for you.

STATE DOCKS PAY OFF $267.500 ON EXPANSION PROGRAM

Montgomery, Ala. — Director Henry W. Sweet has announced that the Alabama State Docks at Mobile has come through with $267,000 payment in principal and interest on the $4,000,000 bond issue expansion which was begun during the early part of the year.

Sweet, who pointed out that the total amount paid off to date amounted to $335,000. Sweet continued that sufficient funds had been set aside at the docks to pay up interest for three years and principal for one and a half years in advance. These two payments came to $718,747.

NUMBER OF UNEMPLOYED ALABAMIANS HITS PEACE-TIME LOW

Montgomery, Ala. — During the past month, unemployment reached a peace-time low in Alabama.

With more Alabamians working last month than ever before during a period of peace, the number of job opportunities showed an expected 11.9 decrease.

In the main, the employment picture remained generally steady. However, slight employment increases were seen in the state's fertilizer manufacturing industry, retail trade and non-domestic services.

DRIVER TRAINING COURSES MAY BE TAUGHT IN STATE SCHOOLS

Montgomery, Ala. — The Board of Control of Alabama Exchange Clubs, by resolution, recently extended congratulations to Dr. A. R. Meadows, State Superintendent of Education, for his efforts toward getting driver training courses established in all of Alabama's high schools.

Pointing out that "an unusually large number of accidents occurred on Alabama highways last year, the resolution stated that "most of these accidents can be prevented by safe and sane driving."

According to the resolution, "safe and sane driving," to a large degree, could be attained through driver education courses in high schools over the state.

Safety programs, conducted by visiting highway patrol officers, have already been established in many of the state's public schools.

ALABAMA HIGHLIGHTS

Industry in Alabama is undoubtedly on the march upward. During the 1946-47 fiscal year, there was 346 factories and mills in the state. Today, there are 831.

* * * * *

From October 1, 1947, through September 30, 1948, some 512,192 vehicles have been registered with the State Motor Vehicle Division in Montgomery. This means that, with an estimated population of approximately 3,000,000 persons, there are enough motor vehicles in Alabama for one out of five people to have one.

* * * * *

Slowly but surely the number of doctors registering for practices within the state is on the increase. Last year, 1,393 physicians were practicing in Alabama. This year, 1,424 have licenses on file with the State Department of Revenue's License Division.

* * * * *

Henry County has the lowest State and County ad valorem assessment rate in the state with $1.85 per $100. Mobile County has the highest State and County ad valorem assessment—$2.80 per $100.

* * * * *

Alabama farmers today own approximately 28,000 tractors, it has been estimated recently by J. T. Gaillard, API extension engineer.

* * * * *

The number of smokers in Alabama must be increasing along with the high cost of living, for the number of tobacco retailers in the state grew from 18,739 last year to 19,936 this year.

* * * * *

On the beach of Mobile Bay at Fairhope is an age-old magnolia tree that was once used as a post office. In a hole high up in its trunk Confederate officers used to hide secret documents for exchange between the various commands operating in the area. There are many such "post office" trees in the surrounding vicinity.

The first modern hard-surfaced road in the state was U. S. 31, the Bee Line Highway running due south from the Tennessee Line through Athens, Decatur, Birmingham and Montgomery to Mobile.

REVENUE COLLECTIONS $1,159,774 AHEAD OF SAME PERIOD LAST YEAR

Montgomery, Ala. — Apparently headed for another record tax collection year, the State Revenue Department, during the last two months, took in $15,513,738, or $1,159,774 more than was realized over October and November, 1947.

In making this disclosure, Revenue Commissioner Phillip Hamm estimated that, if collections keep up at this pace, the department should realize a total collection of approximately $96,000,000. Should this estimate stand up, the revenue department will have collected in the neighborhood of $6,000,000, at the end of the present fiscal year, more than was taken in during the 1946-47 period. Collections last year came to almost $90,000,000.

The sales tax continued to top the list of revenue producers last month, yielding $2,847,217 as compared with $2,523,705 during the same period last year.

The gasoline tax ran second, bringing in $2,487,431 as compared to $2,363,333 in November, 1947.

WOMEN ARE THE DIRECTEST CREATURES

Tell a women that kids are starving, what'll she do? Chances are she'll go to her cupboard, wrap up a big parcel of food and say, "Where do I send it?"

Ever notice the difference between a man and woman will attack a problem? Take an ordinary household—the woman is preparing supper when she notices that the sink has started leaking. She's just about to take care of it when Junior starts yelling his head off out in the back. He's fallen off his bicycle onto his face and his nose is bleeding. The wife yells for the husband to do something about the leaking sink as she runs past him to comfort Junior. Ten minutes later when Junior is on his bike again tearing madly around for another spill, the wife comes back into the kitchen and finds her husband with his whole bag of tools spread out over her kitchen floor preparing to take her sink apart.

"Hey," she yells, "I have to get supper. Get your tools out of here. All you had to do was put a pot under it to catch the drip for now."

There are many big problems and emergencies today which need the men to get out their bag of tools and do some heavy overhauling, but like the leaking kitchen sink, while the men are busy with the long range job, the supper still has to be prepared and the women are needed to put a pot under the leak to prevent a flood on the kitchen floor.

Take the problem of mass hunger in Europe today. Men will work out the long range solution to enable the countries of Europe and Asia to once again become self-sustaining food producers for their populations. But, while they are busy working out overall plans for the next five to twenty years, a lot of kids are going to starve or contract a lot of crippling and deadly diseases for lack of essential foods.

It was the combination of this immediate problem and practical feminine directness which originated a unique idea resulting in a successful program of aid to families in a hunger-ridden Europe last year. The idea was for every American family to entertain a "Silent Guest" at its Thanksgiving Day dinner and to contribute the cost of that serving for hungry families in Europe. In the space of a few short weeks without the high pressure of a big organization or tremendous preparation or a full-scale campaign, the idea took hold. American housewives and their families stimulated by the appealing symbol of the "Silent Guest Committee, Inc.

It took a woman to conceive that idea, an idea at once so direct, so simple and yet so symbolic of hungry peoples' needs as contrasted with an American family's joyous festival of plenty. Miss Iris Gabriel, who originated and carried through the "Silent Guest" appeal, was chosen to succeed the late F. H. LaGuardia for the "One World Award" as a result of her work. The award was a three-month tour of thirteen European countries in the Spring of this year. There she saw at first hand the devastation, the misery and the ever present hunger which she had sought to alleviate. She returned determined to do everything in her power to increase the success of the "Silent Guest" idea.

As we prepare for our holiday season this year, misery and hunger are still the constant lot of the millions of people in the world outside America's shores. There are 230,000,000 children in Europe and Asia suffering from crippling and deadly diseases for lack of essential foods. This year, even more than last year, American families are urged to invite a "Silent Guest" to share in the bounteous repast of Thanksgiving Day. Send the money that such a serving would cost to the Governor of your state or to the American Silent Guest Committee, Inc., New York, N. Y. Let our holiday festival be a festival of Thanks-with-Giving.

Montgomery, Ala. — Conservation Director Bert Thomas last week disclosed that a contract has been awarded for the building of a 26-acre lake at Cullman.

ARMY DEPARTMENT AUTHORIZES ALABAMA GUARD TO BUILD TO FULL STRENGTH

Montgomery, Ala. — State Adjutant General James S. Saliba has received word from the Department of the Army that the National Guard over the nation has been authorized to begin recruiting for full strength — 341,000 men.

Gen. Saliba put Alabama's present Guard strength at 9,000 with an authorized quota of 12,000. Saliba explained, however, that previous strength ceilings imposed on the states are now removed, and that they may recruit at will to achieve the full authorized strength.

"Should the authorized 341,000 men be achieved before June 30th, 1949," Saliba added, "new state ceilings will be assigned to keep the Guard within the figure provided for in its present appropriation."

MORE WOMEN WANTED IN REGULAR SERVICES

The U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force want more women in their Regular Services who will share in the responsibility of keeping our peace and freedom, Sgt. Trimble, of the U. S. Army and Ai Force Recruiting Station, stated recently.

For the first time in history, women of our country now have an opportunity to serve the nation and to build a satisfying career. They demonstrated conclusively in the recent war that there are a great many military jobs which they can perform well and to the increased efficiency of the Services.

Under the new law, Sgt. Trimble further stated, which the President signed on June 12, 1948, a permanent organization of the Women's Army Corps of the Regular Army and Women of the Air Force has been set up. These women will receive the same pay, career opportunities, and benefits as the men in the Armed Forces, with the exception of certain dependency benefits.

Women between the ages of 18 and 35 years are eligible to apply for enlistment. Applicants who have not reached their 21st birthday will be required to furnish written consent of their parents or guardian. Former members of the WAC are eligible to apply provided their age does not exceed 35 plus the number of years of honorable active service since July 1, 1943. Women without prior service must be high school graduates and must be unmarried at the time of enlistment.

Interested applicants for service in either the WAC or WAF may obtain complete information from the WAC-WAF representative at the Montgomery Army and Air Force Recruiting Station in the Post Office Building.

Courtesy Important When Sending Cards

The exchange of cheerful Christmas cards between friends is one of our most delightful Yuletide customs—and like all other social relationships, it is governed by simple, common-sense rules of etiquette.

You may properly send your holiday greetings to almost everyone—business and professional associates, if you wish, as well as social acquaintances and relatives.

Be sure to choose appropriate cards, however. If Aunt Jennie is a garden enthusiast, she'll probably appreciate a beautiful flower print more than a dozen Santa Claus designs.

Special Titles.

Cards with special titles, such as "Merry Christmas, Mother," are available for mothers, wives, sweethearts and practically all relatives, including the in-laws, and are a mark of individual thoughtfulness.

If you can spare a moment or two, pen a brief holiday note on each card. It adds a warm sincerity and a touch of your individual personality to your Yuletide greetings. Christmas time is a sentimental and nostalgic season for everyone, and many a friendship has been kept alive through the years by the annual exchange of holiday greetings.

Colored ink is entirely proper both for signing the card and addressing the envelope, provided it harmonizes with the color scheme of the card itself.

Signatures need not be formal, except on engraved Christmas cards. You may have your name neatly printed if you wish, or take your pen in hand and sign the greetings yourself with a holiday flourish.

"Mr. and Mrs."

Married couples may omit the "Mr. and Mrs." if they prefer and sign their cards simply "Paul and Jenny Wilson." Either the husband's name or the wife's may appear first. Children in the family rate a place in the signature, too.

In addressing the envelopes, it is best to send one card to a husband and wife, and separate cards to other adult members of the family too. As an alternative, one card may be mailed to the whole family if you are careful to write the names of each individual on the envelope, including the children.

Use three-cent stamps for your Christmas cards, following the rule of good taste which says that first-class friends deserve first-class mail. It is entirely proper to write your return address on the envelope, to help friends keep tab on changes of address.

Selecting attractive Christmas cards for each of your friends is a delightful pre-Christmas activity. Don't treat it as a sober social responsibility. Plunge in with a smile and the gay holiday scenes on the cards will soon fill your heart with Yuletide cheer and sentiment.

Santa Claus School Trains Jolly Gents

In a colonial farmhouse at Albion, N. Y., there's a Santa Claus school and it's the only educational institution of its kind in the world.

Graduates wear white wig and whiskers, red suit trimmed in white fur, wide white belt, and black leather boots.

A course at the school prepares the prospective Santa Claus to properly shake when he laughs like a bowl full of jelly, remain calm w a child glares and yells "there no Santa Claus" and maintain pr er diplomatic relations with a p who thinks Santa has given her t the brushoff.

Tinsel

Old and tarnished tinsel car made to look almost as brigl new by washing it in warm so suds to which a few drops of am monia have been added. Dry t with a towel and hang it up to fin drying.

When preparing oranges for am brosia or salad, skins will come o easier and segments will separa more easily if placed in hot wate a few minutes before peeling.

Mr. J. B. Downs Taken By Death Monday Morning

Mr. J. B. Downs died at his home early Monday morning, and Clanton and Chilton County lost one of her best know and most respected citizens.

Mr. Downs' death was a shock to his many friends here even though he was 84 years old. His health had been exceptionally good for one of his years.

He was married in 1888 to Miss Leah Maude Eiland and both were life-long residents of the county. It was just a little more than a year ago that Mr. and Mrs. Downs celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary.

Funeral services were held at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning from the home on Route 2, with Spigener Funeral Home in charge. Surviving besides the widow are one son, J. B., Jr., of Birmingham, and one daughter, Mrs. Ruby Pickens, of Clanton. Three grandchildren also survive.

Pallbearers were: Burt Mullins, Grady Heflin, Monroe Crowson, Jim Wade, Dick Hayes and Charlie Cox. Elder G. F. Cherry conducted the funeral service.

World War II Vets Take Notice

Now that the Local Draft Board is mailing Selective Service questionnaires to all veterans and fathers, between the ages of 19 and 26, many veterans are confused over whether or not they are liable for military service under the Selective Service Act of 1948. For the benefit of these veterans we are quoting below the answer to this question:

"If a man served honorably a year or more between September 16, 1940, and June 24, 1948, he is not liable for service, nor is he liable if he served honorably for more than 90 days during the shooting war—that is, between December 7, 1941, and September 2, 1945. If he served honorably between September 16, 1940, and June 24, 1948, for more than 90 days, but less than a year, he is conditionally deferred if he is one of the Organized Reserve Units."

It is necessary that the Local Board have some record of the registrant's military service in his file in order that the proper classification can be assigned. The questonnaire provides a space for the registrant to record his prior military service without presenting to the Local Board a copy of his discharge.—Zora Guy Smith, Clerk Local Board No. 11, Chilton County.

On New Year's Day

By JESSIE WEST

AMY looked out at the bright day and was about to decide it was the loveliest New Year's Eve she'd seen in years when she saw Clarabelle Carter crossing the street; and then she thought the day wasn't lovely at all.

She could hear Clarabelle talking to Mille as she had that day in the store when she'd been standing behind shelves lined with groceries deliberately eavesdropping.

"I do declare, it does look like Amy Wells could get someone," Clarabelle had said. "I suppose she'll die an old maid."

Clarabelle hadn't said anything degrading of course. But from that moment forward, Amy had wondered if people generally didn't assume that old maids just couldn't find any takers.

She took her eyes from the window and Clarabelle going down the street to look at her reflection in the dresser mirror. At almost forty-five, she didn't think she was being egotistical in appraising herself as actually looking thirty-five. She had very little gray in her dark hair, and the faint lines on her face were unnoticeable against the startling blue of her eyes and general prettiness of her features.

There'd been a time when she reigned as the most popular girl at Obane; she'd been pictured in the college year-book as "the girl all men want but only one can have."

Of course Clarabelle and the populace of Donovan, a little town of three thousand, didn't know these things.

Amy looked out the window again, and not seeing Clarabelle on the street now, the day resumed some of the brightness that Clarabelle's presence had blighted, and she got to thinking about a trip that 20 years ago had been scheduled for tomorrow. Memory of the tryst had come to her with the approach of another New Year, but she had not planned to enact a promise that years of separation had cast into youth's frivolous dreaming, disappointments and temperamental pride. Yet, seeing Clarabelle and remembering what she'd said about her somehow filled her with unexpected sentiment.

She was startled when someone stood at her shoulder suddenly.

She had nowhere to go on New Year's day, and thought of the trip suddenly became entrancing. It would be emotionally uplifting to go back to the old haunts, and no one would know of her foolish living just for a day among memories of a past that through her own foolhardy pride, had led her into her present state of lonely maidenhood.

"If anything ever separates us," Lance had said that night long ago, "it'd be fun just to meet again, sort of a tryst affair, 20 years hence. Maybe in Park Rendezvous where we first met. . . ."

They'd talked like that often, then laughed—because they knew they'd never separate. Someday they'd marry. But they didn't marry. Too soon a trivial misunderstanding had risen between them, and she'd had too much pride to admit that she'd been a little wrong, too.

It was almost noon when Amy reached the Park Rendezvous at Obane on New Year's day. She'd have lunch, she decided, then visit about town. But already she was sensing regret for having made the trip. You couldn't live in the past even for a day without returning to the present with greater pain. How well she knew it now!

She was startled when someone stood at her shoulder suddenly.

"Hello," he said.

Amy's heart fluttered. in recognizing his voice. She looked up.

"Why, Lance—!" It was all she could manage.

He sat by her at the table and covered her hand with his.

"Looks like we both remembered," he said, chuckling happily.

Our Own Advice: Buy whatever you want if you can pay cash for what you buy.

It is comparatively easy to make decisions but it is much harder to put them into effective use.

Printing is a dangerous device to those who do not want their opinions permanently recorded.

Getting-rich-quick has broken more people than any other system devolved by the ingenuity of man.

The human race, for all its boasting and puffing, is merely standing on the threshhold of knowledge.

It's about time for the faint-hearted to plow up the spring gardens that they abandoned in the summer.

The day will never arrive when wars will be fought without trained men or won by yielding to one's foes.

Minorities that organize for power, political or economic, should not object if the majority does the same.

Letters to the editor should be signed by their authors if they are to be published in Chilton County News.

There are many Americans who are sure that the freedoms of the constitution are being used to destroy them.

Highway fatalities in Chilton County, like those everywhere, are often unnecessary and always too numerous.

The 'Goat' Butts Back

Recent rumblings from Washington indicate that some folks are out to make the farmer the goat for the high cost of living; that strong attempts will be made to repeal the Taft-Hartley law, to nullify the Aiken long-range farm bill and return to OPA price controls. Farmers, through their own organization, have been active in securing constructive legislation, and they will resist every effort to turn back. They refuse to be made the goat.

But these efforts will be more successful, the stronger our Farm Bureau is. And that means how strong it is in your own community, for that is where the foundation of Farm Bureau is laid. The Farm Bureau has done a good job, but it could do better if it neared the saturation point in members. We need at least 75,000 in Alabama, and could get them if we contacted a sufficient number of people.

The Farm Bureau is not just a few representatives in Washington or Montgomery. Those representatives simply present the views of the people back home, and the more of us there are the louder our voice will be. President Allan B. Kline emphasized this in an address to the recent national convention in Atlantic City, N. J., when he said of our organization:

"Its real strength is in the country—in state and county units. There the foundation rests and must always remain. Furthermore, it is in the counties and states that much of the work of the Farm Bureau is done.

"The American Farm Bureau is solidly built on this foundation. Farmers have learned to make their compromises inside Farm Bureau. Experience—some of it bitter—has taught them that success can come only from a united front. We don't need an organization for organization's sake. We need a 'voice for agriculture' in the United States to protect and promote the interests of farmers and to speak for farmers in all those other mattrs affecting us, because they affect the public interest."—Alabama Farmers State.

The Old And The New

"Where he leads, I will follow; I'll go with Him all the way."

These should be the words of every Christian as we face the New Year. The old year is now behind us. The record of 1948 is made. It cannot be changed now. If there are things on record which we are now ashamed, only Christ can blot it out. That can only be done as we repent of the wrong things which we allowed ourselves to do during this year. There is much we would liked to have done, and perhaps many things were done which we now regret, but the page is turned, the year is gone, and its record stands for good or bad, for weal or woe, to shame or praise to us, as the case might be. The New Year is before us. Its dawn has come up out of the radiant east. The New Year's record is to be made. It is left up to us as to how the record is to be made, whether it will be good or bad. We are at the top line of the new page. How are we to begin? A good start and right start is a game half won. May we start off the New Year right.

Yes, we are facing the unknown and the untrodden paths which lies out ahead of us in the New Year. Where are these paths going to lead us? We do not know. They may lead some of us beside the sick bed of a loved one; or to the flower-covered new made grave of a loved one. God in heaven only knows where the paths may lead. . . .But where he leads I will follow; I'll go with Him all the way.. "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for thou art with me, thy rod and thy staff they comfort me."

If we follow the Shepherd and Bishop of our souls, he will lead us beside the waters of quietness, and in the paths of righteousness for his own name sake. The knowledge of the future path matters but little, but the knowledge of the companionship of our blessed Lord means everything. I take the greatest pleasure in wishing to all my readers "A Very Happy and Prosperous New Year."

THINGS WE SEE AND HEAR

CCHS——By "Tuck"——CCHS

That amateur contest at school the other day was really good, wasn't it, keeds? Russell Williams and Beaver Bean really did swell.

Looks like cupid got Pat Broadhead the other day. How about it, Joe Phillip? That wasn't an empty box you took her the other day, was it?

I haven't seen many people that said they were glad to get back to school and I must say I am one who isn't.

Just think, kids, we'll soon be having semester exams and that's REALLY something to look forward to.

By the way, Mrs. Griffin sure laid it on James Pyron and I the day we got out of school, but I don't think it was quite a Christmas feeling she had.

I wonder why somebody in the Jr. III Class didn't have a party over the holidays? It was kinda dull before Christmas Day.

It seems like Santa Claus was pretty good to Bill Smith this Christmas, that is, from what he told me.

Fine time to turn cold, wasn't it, folks? Right on Christmas Day.

Shelby Studdard, what happened to you and Billy Christianberry? Did you fall out, or did he?

Annette Broadhead, what happened to you? Are you slipping, or can't you find anybody your age? (Don't worry, Annette, somebody will come along.)

Marion Deaton and Phillip Lawrence don't seem to be on speaking terms these days. I wonder why?

I saw Fred Clackler and Mary Frances Jones going to the show Sunday night, so she must be feeling all right now.

Jearlyne Studdard seems to like to go to her grandmother's pretty often. I wonder why? (How about it Jearlyne?)

I hear or should I say heard that a bunch of boys stayed up Christmas Eve night and shot fireworks. Kinda dangerous waking people up at four and five o'clock in the morning; somebody might break out their shotgun.

By the way, it seems to me the guys in Miss Perry's room had more fun the day we got out for Christmas than any other day of the year.

Joan Aussant seems to be pretty popular with the girls and BOYS down at school, and I can't say I feel sorry for her by a long shot.

FolsomTells Patrolmen To Tighten Up

Montgomery — In a special press conference called for that purpose, Gov. Folsom issued a plea to all Alabamians to use extra caution in their holiday travel excursions as an aid in curbing the state's high accident rate.

Saying that he had already ordered the state highway patrol to tighten up on all traffic law violators, the governor revealed that he recently paid a two-dollar fine in this city because his chauffeur overran a stop street.

"The accident picture in Alabama is growing increasingly dark," Gov. Folsom said. By December 1 of this year 635 persons had been killed in traffic mishaps over the state as compared to 607 for the same period last year.

Safety Director J. D. Mitchell said he will propose that a speed limit be installed in Alabama with the nevt meeting of the legislature. The present highway laws do not provide for a set speed.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

GLASSES PLUS

For a child who cannot see properly, glasses are necessary. However, after getting these glasses for Johnny, you may find he is still making poor marks in his school work. You may also know he is wearing his glasses as instructed; so why are his grades low after you have gotten the greatest trouble removed?

Johnny is still following his old pattern of habits. Suppose he were farsighted. Up unitl now reading was a problem for him, and he naturally developed other habits. He could always see to play football or baseball; so he continues to do the same things. He does not realize that reading can be fun as well as instructive. You, as his parent, now have to introduce Johnny to the pleasures of reading so that he may begin forming the reading habit.

Perhaps the simplest way to get him to begin this habit, which will grow, is to let him begin by reading in some field he likes, probably sports. Once he has begun forming the habit of reading, he will not limit it to just one field.

Suppose now that Johnny were nearsighted. He was becoming a bookworm and would never play games with the rest of the boys. That was because the ball came at him and he could never see it until it was practically in his face. He began to fear the game and to turn from people and games to reading. It is your job to get this nearsighted Johnny to play with balls until he no longer fears them and also get him into other sports such as fishing and camping.

There are other types of eye troubles and other problems to be met by those who have these troubles corrected. Talk with your doctor about all of these new problems so that you may give your child the proper guidance to make him a well-developed all-rounded person—a person able to get the most out of life.

Mr. Callen Alred of Montgomery spent the holidays with his father, Mr. J. Hance Alred.

Mrs. Robert Sprague of Birmingham was the Christmas guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Murphree, Virginia and Gene.

Among the out-of-town relatives and friends who attended the funeral of Mr. J. B. Downs Tuesday were: Mrs. G. B. Blalock, Talladega Springs; Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Downs, Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. Rowe, Sylacauga; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Dennis, Wetumpka; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Baxley, North Carolina; Mrs. Comer Lenoir, Jemison; Mr. J. M. Kicker, Tuscaloosa; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ben Downs, Mr. and Mrs. James Houston, Mr. and Mrs. W. Z. Dennis, Mrs. Sidney Pilgreen, Mrs. Lee Vinson, Mrs. Croell Kicker, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Nunis, Mr. and Mrs. Evan Downs, Mr. Eureka Downs, and Mrs. Stella Parker, all of Birmingham.

Everyone in this community seemed to enjoy the Christmas Holidays. The children having a week off from school enjoyed it more than the older ones did.

Mrs. Thomas Smith honored the Jr. Class of the Sunday School Wednesday night, Decemger 22, with a surprise supper. Also the card class was given a supper by Mrs. Sarah Littleton and Mrs. Turner Bell Cleckler at the home of Mrs. Sarah Littleton.

We were glad to see a nice crowd out Thursday night. The card class looked very good in their white crepe paper dresses and white paper caps as they wished everyone a merry Christmas after which the Choir sang a few songs. Bro. Oliver preached a good Christmas sermon and then the Jr., Class presented their play of the Shepherds and Wise Men, as they visited the Manger where the baby Jesus lay. We think that they all did their parts well in reminding us of that first Christmas long ago.

Our Pastor was not with us over the week end and the attendance was small. We were glad to have Mr. and Mrs. David Byler of Dallas, Texas with us Saturday night. Bro. Byler gave a nice talk which was an encouragement to us all.

Visiting relatives in this Community during the holidays were: Mr and Mrs Eugene Kelly of Birmingham; Mr and Mrs. Andrew Nelson and children Miss Mary Ruth Byler, Mr and Mrs John Deadman and baby, Mrs. Erma Williams and daughter Ernestine, Mr and Mrs. C. J. Williams and daughter, Doris, all of Clanton. Mr Barney Smith and Mr. Robert Smith who are spending the winter in Auburndale, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smith and baby, Juanita, spent Christmas Eve with Mrs. Fannie Byler of Clanton.

Miss Ruby Smitherman spent the week end with Miss Mary Ruth Byler.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Smitherman visited their daughters in Auburndale, Fla., over the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Littleton, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Littleton and children, Terry and Ceretha, and Miss Maggie Littleton visited relatives in Sylacauga Sunday.

On New Year's Day . . .

But, you married, Lance, I heard." She couldn't help saying it.

"That was false news, dear," he said. "Do you think—but you surely know now! I tried to find you, Amy, but I lost all trace of you."

Amy laughed and her cheeks colored. "I wouldn't have come today," she said wistfully, "but for a person named Clarabelle. . . ."

"Clarabelle?"

Amy nodded. "It's a queer little story, Lance," she said, and then she wondered with a little gloating, what Clarabelle, and all of Donovan for that matter, would think when they heard!

The "sock sale" brought a neat little sum and after the sale, an amateur basket ball game was held. A group of ladies, against a group of men. This furnished a lot of merriment for the on-lookers and it was hard fought game. The men won of course. Everyone had lots of fun. The party was sponsored by the local P.-T.A.

SUPPLY OF FERTILIZER SHORTER THAN FIGURED

Auburn, Ala. — Alabama farmers were warned this week that the slight increase in fertilizer supplies predicted earlier have been found incorrect and the 1949 amounts of both mixed goods and nitrogen will be only a bit larger than those of 1948.

Foy Helms, A.P.I. extension statistician, said that instead of previous estimated increase of 10 per cent, supplies of nitrogen for 1949 will level off at about a seven per cent increase. Phosphate fertilizers are expected to be up only five per cent, while potash may be increased by as much as 10 per cent over 1948.

"This situation," said Helms, "indicates tight supplies of both mixed goods and nitrogen for Alabama farmers."

"Recent reports also point out that no part of the U.S. commercial supply of nitrogen is being taken by the Army. On the other hand, 10 per cent of the Army's total production of anhydrous ammonia goes into U.S. commercial channels for the production of fertilizers for domestic use.

"From these reports it is evident that farmers should not wait until the last minute to make arrangements for essential supplies for both mixed goods and nitrogen," advised Helms.

For even consistency when making a pie crust, add water with a clothes sprinkler.

SEED GROWERS MEET IN AUBURN, JAN. 11th

The annual meeting of the Alabama Crop Improvement Association will be held in Auburn January 11, officers of the group announced this week.

Ralph Jones, secretary of the association and A.P.I. extension seed crops marketing specialist, predicted that over 100 members plus commercial seedsmen and agricultural workers will attend the meeting.

Jones explained that the association will review last year's work and make plans for more efficient operation in 1949. He said directors of the group met at Auburn recently and formulated plans for the annual meeting and outlined resolutions for presentations to the assembly.

Will Howard Smith of Prattville, ACIA president, emphasized the need for closest coordination between producers and commercial dealers. He explained that his organization is anxious to work with Alabama seedsmen for the mutual benefit of the two groups.

Robert McDonald of Birmingham, president of the Alabama Seedsmen's Association, will be one of the principal speakers at this meeting, Smith pointed out.

Clothes will be less likely to stick to the lines and freeze during the winter if vinegar is rubbed on the lines before hanging out the wash.

BELL SYSTEM'S 1,000,000th RURAL TELEPHONE

The one millionth rural telephone to be added by the Bell System since the war was placed in service today in the farm home of W. J. Pace, in the bright leaf tobacco section of North Carolina, thirteen miles from Burlington.

The telephone was installed by the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, one of the Associated Companies of the Bell System.

With the addition of these million new telephones, there are now 65 per cent more Bell System telephones serving rural areas than there were on V-J Day. As the result of the record performance of the Bell Companies and the active rural building programs of other telephone companies, about 45 per cent of the farms of the country now have telephone service.

A participant in the ceremonies at the Pace farm was W. Kerr Scott, the Governor-elect of North Carolina, himself a farmer and dairyman.

Also present were U. S. Senator J. Melville Broughton of North Carolina, state government officials, agricultural leaders and representatives of the telephone industry, including Hal S. Dumas, of Atlanta, president of Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, and Frank S. Barnes, of Rock Hill, South Carolina, president of the United States Independent Telephone Association.

Service over the newly installed telephone was inaugurated with calls to Governor Gregg Cherry of North Carolina in his office in Raleigh, and to Leroy A. Wilson, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, in New York.

In brief ceremonies following the installation, Governor - elect Scott characterized the installation as symbolic of the progress being made in eliminating the isolation of the farmer. "Good roads, electricity, and telephones are not luxuries for the farmer; they are necessities," he said. "The farmer must have good roads to get his produce to market. He must have electricity to do the chores and save labor. He must have a telephone for the orderly marketing of the crops he produces." He pledged that in his four years as governor, he would cooperate in the expansion of these facilities.

Mr. Dumas pointed out that of the 1,000,000 rural telephones added, more than 175,000 were placed in service by Southern Bell. He stated that the Bell Companies would continue to push their rural expansion and improvement program but emphasized that large amounts of money would be needed to do the job. 'The rural telephone expansion program, undertaken by the Bell System in 1945, called for the addition of a million telephones in rural areas within five years," he said.

"This was the first postwar step in resuming the active extension and improvement of telephone service in rural areas. The job has been done in a little over three years despite serious shortages of supplies of all kinds.

"To accomplish this task meant adding rural telephones at the average rate of more than 1,000 every working day — over three times the rate of any previous period in Bell System history.

"The attainment of the Bell System's initial postwar objective does not mean that the task of bringing service to rural America is finished, the work wll go right on," Mr. Dumas said.

Another phase of the Bell Companies' rural proram has been the improvement of service. Good progress has been made in reducing the number of parties on a line; improving party line ringing so that the customer hears the rings of fewer parties on his line, replacing the earlier-type telephones with the more up-to-date type of instruments and in other ways modernizin the service.

An important feature of the System's program also has been a substantial increase in the amount of new pole line which the companies will build for each new customer without charge. This construction allowance generally amounts to a half mile of new pole line for each rural customer.

Fast, economical construction methods developed and perfected by telephone engineers in recent years have helped speed the work of extending and improving telephone service in rural areas. Poles are now set farther apart, thanks to a new stronger wire. Better tools such as portable power-driven augers to dig pole holes have helped speed the lineman's job.

WARNING, VETERANS!

Montgomery, Ala. — A warning against solicitors who offer to sell veterans forms for the purpose of obtaining a "refund of all the money they have paid into their National Service Life Insurance" was issued today by Harley A. Smith, Manager of the Alabama Regional Office of the Veterans Administration.

Smith said he had been informed that these fraudulent forms had been offered for sale to veterans in other sections of the country.

"Forms for making application for dividends on National Service Life Insurance have not yet been developed," the VA Manager said, adding that "there certainly will not be any charge for them when they are printed and distributed."

Smith asked that any instances of efforts to sell these fradulent forms be reported immediately to the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Montgomery.

INCOME TAX POINTERS ARE GIVEN BY HELMS

The time to file income tax returns has arrived and some changes in the income tax law that will affect farmers were pointed out this week by Foy Helms, A.P.I. extension statistician.

"Any farmer whose gross income was $600 or more in 1948 is required to file a federal income tax return, even though he may owe no taxes," explained Helms. "If any tax is due it must be paid on or before January 15, 1949, or within 15 days after the end of his business year."

The farmer has two choices as to the filing of returns. He can either file a return and pay the tax on or before January 15, 1949, or he can file a declaration of estimated tax due and pay this amount by January 15, 1949, then file a complete return and pay any balance due on or before March 15, 1949.

Farmers will need the following forms for use in filing returns:

(1) Form 1040F. This is the form on which to summarize the farm income and expenses and to figure the net farm profit.

(2) Form 1040 and Instruction Sheet. This is the form on which to list the net farm profit as figured on 1040F, other income, personal deductions, and to compute the amount of tax due.

(3) Schedule D of Form 1040. This form is used to show gains and losses from sales of capital assets such as farm land, machinery, livestock, dairy and breeding animals.

(4) Form 1040ES. This form is used to declare an estimate of the tax. It is not needed if a final return is made within 15 days after the end of the business year, or before January 15, 1949.

BOWLING NEWS.

The official 21 week bowling tournament got underway Christmas Week with six of the eight local teams taking part. The outcome of the first of the series showed Baird Parts winning over Luker Furniture 2 out of 3. Texaco won over Clanton Motors 2 out of 3 while Polk Bros. Motors won out over City Grill 2 out of 3, having won the deciding game by only 2 pins. Both of the latter teams are newly organized but began with a flying start.

Texaco remains the only undefeated team of the league. However, they are expected to run into some keen competition with rival teams who are getting in a lot of practice.

The schedule for the week ending 1-1-49 is: Monday night, Baird Parts defeated by Clanton Motors 2 out of 3; Tuesday night, Texaco (undefeated) vs. City Grill; Wednesday night, Blues vs. Golds (Girl teams); Thursday night, Polk Bros. Motors vs. Luker Furniture; Friday night, Firestone vs. Chilton County News.

All games begin at 7:30 p.m.

Chilton County News hasn't definately formed their team due to the past week's Christmas rush, but Mr. Ben Tucker advised it was probable that they would begin the first week after Christmas, which will complete the above mentioned schedule.

Captains of four teams met last week and agreed on rules to govern the present team.

Clanton Motors team is made up of the following men: Lawrence Calfee, Captain; Charles Mims, Jr., Singleton and Bobby Vinson.

The girls are in the process of forming teams with several girls having already expressed their desire to form teams. Those listed as possible teams bowlers are: Mary Glenn Brannon, Jean Hocutt, Faith Chancellor, Hazel Powell, Betty Donaldson, Violet Vines, Bobby Fain, Joan Aussant, Etta Jo Mims, Marjorie Ann Niblett, Eleanor Blalock and Bobby Thornton. Only four more girls are needed to begin the girls league. Mrs. Lawrence Calfee, Joan Aussant and Bobby Fain are expected to be captains with their sponsors named later.

All pastors are invited to drop by to mix with Clanton's younger set.
